

Funeral Rites Held For Joseph H. Crawley Sat.

Joseph Crawley was born in the town of Eagle on November 23, 1871, son of Michael and Rose O'Brien Crawley. At an early age his parents moved their family to the vicinity of Little Prairie and Joe has made it his home since.

He was united in marriage to Helen Clemons Credicott at Palmyra on Oct. 23, 1898. Only last year they celebrated their fortieth anniversary. No children were ever born to them but early in their married life a small nephew (Earl) came to live with them and stayed until his work carried him elsewhere.

Mr Crawley was an industrious man and could turn his hands to many tasks. At one time he ran the Little Prairie store but later turned to farming. The latter occupation he gave up two years ago that he might devote his time to the care of his invalid wife.

Ill health overtook him in the spring of this past year and after other means failed he resorted to an operation from which he never seemed to recover. He passed on to his reward at sunrise on the morning of Oct. 19.

Besides leaving his invalid wife and his nephew to mourn his loss, he is further survived by one sister, Mrs. Geo. Olds and one brother, Willis—both of Eagle. Three brothers and one sister having died before. He also leaves several nieces and nephews.

He was buried in the Little Prairie cemetery with Rev. Edwards officiating.

Those from away who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Compeau, Roy Clemons, Mrs. Sam Clemons, and Geraldine Clemons, New Auburn, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. John Ridge and daughters, Helen and Florence, Gertrude Clemons, Janet Clemons and Mrs. Emily Pester of Whitewater, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clemons, Palmyra, Mrs. L. H. Crawley, Mr. and Mrs. James Crawley and Miss Pearl Crawley of Milwaukee.
