The Twenty Third Psalm

The Lord is my Shepherd: I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evils:
for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil:
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Thomas L. Reynolds Jr.

Jan. 13, 1936 - April 13, 2013

Thomas L. Reynolds Jr., 77, of Palmyra, went home to the Lord on April 13, 2013, after a battle with cancer, with his family at his side at his home.

Tom was born in Milwaukee on

Jan. 13, 1936, the son of the late Thomas L. and Helen (Means) Reynolds. He graduated from Maysville, Mo., High School in 1954. Tom married his high school sweetheart, Wava Ellen "Polly" Owen, on Jan. 29, 1955, in Fairport, Mo. In 1957, Tom and Polly moved to Wisconsin, where Tom completed a Foundry Apprenticeship program. He was the cupola manager in the Foundry Industry for 30 years. He and his son-in-law started Hoffman-Reynolds Carpentry business. Tom suffered a severe brain aneurysm in 1989. He had two brain surgeries that year. It was during his recuperation from those surgeries that he rediscovered his love for woodworking. Seeing the lighted cross on St. Matthew's steeple each night, he felt that God was sending him a message to make crosses and share with others. He spent many hours on the scroll saw making beautiful wooden crosses that have been sent around the world by family, friends and missionary workers. Tom has been featured in various papers with his woodworking projects. Tom's other passion was coaching his four children in high school track and field during the 1970s and early '80s. His specialty was coaching the pole vault. He loved watching his children and now grandchildren in all of the various sports. Many trips were made to Ohio for sporting events. He is affectionately known as the "Pole Vault Patriarch" to his grandchildren's track coaches. Tom was active in the Palmyra United Methodist Church being involved with the annual turkey dinner and craft sale, as well as the UMC Men's Club. The UMW recently presented him a "Special Mission Recognition" Pin for his many donations of crosses and other specialty items for various events. The church is known as "The Church of the Crosses." Tom was named "The Cross Man." He was a loving husband, father, grandpa and great-grandpa. He was happiest when surrounded by his family. Dad (Papa) loved to play jokes, always had a "story" and had some funny sayings that would crack you up.

He will be dearly missed by his wife of 58 years, Polly; four children, Dennis (Kathleen) of West Chester, Ohio, Dan (Caren) and Dave (Kari) of Whitewater and Diana (Ken) Hoffman of Fort Atkinson; nine grandchildren, Erik (Anna) of Beaverton, Ore., Mitchell (Teresa) of Avon, Ohio, and Jonathon Reynolds of West Chester, Ohio, Katie (Ryan) Oezer of Whitewater and Tyler (Sarah) Reynolds of Lisle, Ill., Sarah, Kailey and Miranda Reynolds of Whitewater, and Kyle Hoffman of Fort Atkinson; four great-grandchildren, Brooke, Mara, Lawson and Espyn; brother-in-law, Ken Ausmus of Cameron, Mo.; sister-in-law, Twila Owen of Maysville, Mo.; and a host of relatives and friends.

John D. Rockefeller's second cousin died in poverty in little Wisconsin town

WILLIAM REYNOLDS

Penniless and in need during his old age, William Reynolds, aged 93, a blood relative to the world's richest man died last week, the little cottage in which he passed away not even his own. Although a second cousin to John D. Rockefeller, who up to date is reported as having given $125,000,000 to charity and for education, Judge Reynolds as he was popularly known, tasted nothing of the oil king's generosity. The relationship to the billionaire of Reynolds could not be disputed, for he had a family tree on which he pointed out with pride to the name of the philanthropist. Of late years, according to relatives, many letters were addressed to the wealthy oil magnate by the aged man, but answers failed to come, and it is doubted now if the letters of the Waukesha county pioneer ever reached the hands of the person to whom they were addressed

Though nearing the century mark, Reynolds death was untimely. Asphyxiation by coal gas caused his death, and his wife, aged 85, narrowly escaped death in the same way. The aged woman is now convalescing at the home Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Richart here, Mrs. Richart being her daughter. Although weak from the effects of the gas and claiming continually that she still smells the gas which caused her husband's death, Mrs. Reynolds was able to sit up in bed and partake of a meal. When asked whether she believed Mr. Rockefeller her husband's cousin, she replied that she thought he was for as long as she could remember her husband had always made that assertion.

But the great grief of the old man and aged woman was not, that help from Rockefeller did not come, but that their wealthy son, manager of a Pittsburgh company, at a salary of $600 a month never aided them and even sent a message saying he was ill when he learned of his father's death. Two years ago according to Mrs. Richart and Charlie Green, son of the late Reynolds, their brother who is almost fifty came to Eagle for a visit. His parents at that time were indeed in dire need. According to his brothers and sisters, he benevolently offered to loan his father $50 if good security was given. With good security lacking and his father grief-stricken over the demand of his son, George Reynolds, the wealthy son left Eagle for Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Richart living nearest to the little Reynolds home acted as the aged couple's guardian. It was arranged that if one of the aged pair was sick, or if they wanted their daughter, Ellen to come over they hoisted a white towel on a flagstaff. No towel appeared, everything was thought well so Mrs. Richart who was washing on the day, the aged couple was overcome did not go over to the Reynolds home until afternoon. While going to the back door, Mrs. Richart heard a peculiar noise and looking into the window she saw the aged couple lying side by side as if dead. The house was filled with coal gas. Immediate care was taken of the two, but Mr. Reynolds died the following morning never having regained consciousness. On the same day his brother died in Minnesota. The woman, although found unconscious, revived, and now physicians declare she will get well.

Judge Reynolds was one of the best known characters in Waukesha county. He was married three times and has lived in the county fifty-nine years. Until he was 92, he was justice of the peace. A former school teacher, he delighted in having the villagers come and solve his problems. He was a farmer and owner of a farm once in Vernon county. But his second wife took the farm into court, and she got the land while he was given $700, but that was many years ago, and the last dollar of it was gone long before he became 85. Mr. Reynolds left nothing to speak of save some newspaper clippings about his second cousin under which in many cases he wrote little stories. Under one clipping from the Milwaukee Journal, captioned, Rockefeller to "Loosen up". Mr. Reynolds wrote, "Charity begins at home and then wrote out the relationship to the oil king. It is thought he intended to send this to the oil king. But death intervened.

Milwaukee Journal, Nov. 5
Eagle, Wi.

DEATHS.

William A. Reynolds.

On Sunday night William A. Reynolds was overcome by coal gas and died from the effects thereof on Tuesday forenoon. He was born in Kinderhook, New York, May 19, A. D., 1817, and was a son of Dr. Edward and Hannah Avery Reynolds and was a second cousin of John D. Rockefeller. He came to Wisconsin in 1846 and lived in the town of Mukwonago until November 16, 1891, when he was married to Susan F. Green at the home of her daughter in Eagle. The couple purchased a fine home here and lived a happy life. Previous to his last marriage he was twice married. He taught school in his native town, held town offices in Mukwonago and Eagle. On public occasions he was a center of attraction in the Martial band playing his flute. In religion he affiliated with the M. E. church. In politics he was a Democrat. His death ends a long and useful career and Eagle folks as well as his family will miss him. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the M. E. church, Rev. W. W. Perry of Milwaukee officiating. Interment in Jericho cemetery. We all extend our sympathy.

William A. and Susan F. Reynolds Asphyxiated by Coal Gas.

On Sunday night William A. Reynolds, aged 93 years, and his wife Susan F., aged 84 years, retired as usual and on Monday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Phillip H. Richart, a daughter, residing a short distance from them made her usual call. To her surprise the house was locked and she gained entrance through the cellar door. She found the rooms filled with coal gas and the aged couple in bed unconscious. Medical aid was summoned but Mr. Reynolds did not regain consciousness and died Tuesday morning. Mrs. Reynolds is still alive and has partly regained consciousness.

The aged couple turned the damper too tight on the coal heater which forced the gas into the room. They have been living happily together for years in a fine home on Railroad and Sherman St. and the relatives have called on them daily to see them. They were in fairly good health considering their age on account thereof no one suspected any harm in not seeing them out and around.

THEODORE FRANKLIN RHODES

Last Saturday afternoon, March 8th, at 2:00 p. m. a large company of people gathered at the Eagle M. E. church to pay their last tribute of respect to one who has long lived in our midst. Theodore Franklin Rhoads was born near Buckstown, in Shade township, Somerset county, Pennsylvania, June 16, 1869, where the first three years of his life were spent. His family then moved to Wooster, Ohio, where he remained until March, 1890, when he came to Wisconsin.

Five years later he married Mertie Eugenia Parsons and they established their home on the farm known as the Parsons' homestead just a short distance from the village of Eagle. Later they moved to Eagle but no matter where the home, there was always the same welcome for friends or for the friendless. It may well be said of him, "He lived in a house by the side of the road to be a friend to man." Theodore, as we all called him, possessed a splendid bass voice and he gave unstintingly of it to the people of Eagle. His memory will ever be associated with music.

He was a member of Robert Morris Masonic lodge of Eagle for many years. Also the chapter of Whitewater and Fort Atkinson council which attended the funeral in a body.

Three daughters were born to the Rhoads' home, Erla, Arlene and Eveline who died in infancy.

Mr. Rhoads lived in this vicinity for nearly forty years. During his last illness he went to live with his daughter, Erla, Mrs. Dexter Badinger, of Waukesha, who with her sister, Mrs. Harold Matteson, gave him all the loving care possible. Many Eagle friends visited him during his last illness thinking to cheer him but instead came away cheered themselves by the fortitude with which he met pain and discomfort. On March 4th he passed into the great beyond leaving an aged mother; a brother, George, of Waukesha; a sister, Mrs. P. S. Hamerick, of California; and his two daughters, previously mentioned, besides a host of friends and neighbors, who will miss him sorely. He needs no eulogy. His life speaks for itself.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. church, conducted by Rev. Perry, of Milwaukee, Rev. Petherick and the Robert Morris lodge of Eagle. Mr. Probert, of Dousman, sang very effectively, "Face to Face" and "Abide With Me." The impressive Masonic ceremony was conducted at Oak Ridge cemetery where interment took place in the family vault. The large number who attended the services gave evidence of the feeling which this community has for him.

David R. Richards

May 26, 1925 – Dec. 4, 2013

David R. Richards of Waukesha passed away on Wednesday, Dec. 4, 2013 at his home.

David bravely battled cancer and other challenging health problems for 15 years, always without complaint and always with humorous exchanges with his family, friends and his special doctors at Froedtert Hospital. He was born on May 26, 1925 in Genesee Depot, the son of Arthur and Mabel (nee Lee) Richards.

He made his final journey with his brother-in-law, Thor Thorsen, who also died the morning of Dec. 4, 2013.

David proudly served his country in the U.S. Army, serving in the European theater in World War II.

On returning home he attended Marquette University, graduating with a degree in business administration. He began his lifelong career in banking, joining his father and siblings in a family-owned bank and later other banks.

David was privileged to travel to Washington, D.C. on Nov. 3, 2012 on the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight with his marvelous guardian Abbie Jackson. They were both thrilled to be on the same plane as the amazing Joe Dean, founder of the Honor Flight. The theme was "Every day is a bonus!"

He was an avid reader and enjoyed doing crossword puzzles, PC games and trying to master Sudoku. David's greatest pleasures were parties and gatherings with family and friends, especially at Christmas.

He was the loving and beloved husband of Nordean (nee Thorsen) for 36 years, whom he married on May 20, 1977. To her, every day with him was also a bonus.

He will be lovingly missed by his children David C. (Jane) Richards and Margaret (Terry) Troemel; grandchildren, Colleen Richards-Peltier, twins Rebecca (Brent) Meissner, Megan Richards and Corporal Campbell Richards of the U.S. Marine Corps; and three great-grandchildren, Creighton, Bryson and Breck.
