WISCONSIN RANKS

SECOND IN ROAD

BUILDING PROGRAM

NEW YORK STATE LEADS WITH 166 MILES CONTRACTED FOR THIS SUMMER

MADISON, Wis.—With 159 miles of concrete road surfacing already contracted for this year, Wisconsin is in second place in pushing construction on paved roads, surpassed only by New York state, which has contracted for 166 miles, with California in third place. No other state has contracted for 100 miles. Michigan is in sixth place, while Iowa and Illinois and Iowa are far back in the race. State Highway Engineer A. R. Hest reports that as the result of the pushing of the construction program, on not only concrete, but gravel and earth roads, approximately 5,000 men are now engaged in highway construction, relieving the unemployment situation.

In addition to the 159 miles of concrete surfacing contracted for this year, there are 51 miles of hold-over work contracted for last year, making a total of 210 miles. Contracts have not yet been let for 67 miles, for which plans have been drawn. This year's concrete surfacing program will amount to 250 miles, a record-breaker for Wisconsin.

Equally rapid progress is being made on gravel surfacing and earth road work. Approximately 1,000 miles of earth road construction will be done this year and about 1,500 miles of gravel surfacing. By the end of the year 2,500 miles of construction will have been finished, far surpassing that of any previous year. The highway department has wisely protected itself on all contracts, so that the state will receive the benefit of any reduction in freight rates or fall in prices of road materials.

Some highly important road projects are under way. From the present outlook one may drive from Milwaukee to Oconomowoc at the end of this year on concrete. Contracts for ten miles east from Oconomowoc have been let and bids asked for the five mile stretch to Pewaukee. Work to be done in Washington, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties will enable one to drive the 124 miles between Milwaukee and Green Bay on concrete at the end of this year, all but about fifteen miles in Washington county.

COUNTY EXCEEDS QUOTA FOR CHILDREN'S RELIEF

The committee composed of Judge David W. Agnew, chairman, Postmaster Arthur J. Dopp, secretary, and Edward R. Estberg, president of the Waukesha National Bank, treasurer with the assistance of J. H. A. Lacher and Mayor Kiehl, executive committee checked over the subscriptions and the amounts contributed to the fund from Waukesha county, which show that Waukesha county has contributed $6,247.77 to the fund for the relief of children in Germany. The quota for the county was $5,500. The actual cash received by the committee was $5,246.77; the additional $1,000 was paid directly from the county to the state organization, for which the county is entitled to credit. The amount contributed by each town, village and city has been heretofore published. The total expense in raising the fund was $28.77, which was for postage and printing.

The committee wishes to express thanks to all those who subscribed to the fund and to those who so kindly gave their services in soliciting funds.

THEN SHE HURRIED HOME

Mrs. Jobson had gone away from home leaving Mr. Jobson lamenting. On arriving at her destination she missed her gold brooch and sent a postcard to her servant asking the girl to let her know if she found anything on the dining room floor when sweeping it next morning.

The servant duly replied: "Dear Madam—You ask me to let you know if I found anything when sweeping the dining room floor this morning. I beg to report that I found thirty matches, three corks and a pack of cards."

Mrs. Jobson returned by the next train.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

FROM ADJOINING COUNTIES

East Troy village is contemplating paving some of its streets as a continuation of the concrete work that will be done this season on Highway 61, connecting Mukwonago with East Troy. It is desired particularly to pave the streets around the village square, which would be a great improvement to the business section.

The Vogler-Schillo company, of Chicago, is planning to establish a pickle factory at Lyons, Wauworth county. Farmers of the vicinity have contracted to raise the necessary cucumbers.

In the circuit court at Janesville, Miss Taylor, of Darien, was awarded $1,800 damages against Dr. Rod for alleged malpractice in setting a broken bone in her arm. In a previous trial of the case in the Wauworth county circuit court, the plaintiff secured a $3,800 verdict, but a motion for a new trial was granted.

The shortage of homes in the cities and the prevailing high rents are going to prove a big boom on the summer resort business at Brown's lake, near Burlington, this summer. Practically every cottage around the lake has been rented and several families have already taken possession. People can't find places in the city and are seeking the lakes to spend the summer, trusting to luck to find places next fall.

Work has been started on a substantial addition to the southern home for the feeble-minded between Union Grove and Kanasville. A Green Bay construction company has the contract to erect a dormitory to take care of 100 patients.

The Black Hawk Country club, which laid out a six-hole golf course between Fort Atkinson and White-water a year ago, has placed the reens in fine shape this spring, and the members are anxiously awaiting the opening of the season.

COUNTY TOWNSHIPS TO HAVE SERVICE DAYS DURING YEAR

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT J. F. THOMAS PLANS TO VISIT TOWNSHIPS EVERY MONTH

By the County Agent

Each township in the county is to have a service day. A definite day each month will be set aside by the county agent as service day for that particular township. A temporary schedule has been prepared but without a doubt that will have to be remodeled from time to time. Of course, there will be times when the county agent will not be in the township scheduled for that particular day. However, for the most part, the schedule will be carried out, especially in the faraway townships.

The township headquarters will be at the different banks located in the townships. For example, the Bank of Eagle will be the headquarters for Eagle township. The county agent is scheduled to be there the first Wednesday of each month. He will spend a few hours at the bank, meeting farmers, and the rest of the day will be spent in calling personally on farmers. Probably just before harvest or after harvest, certain farms will be designated and the county agent will spend the entire day at some farm, explaining different demonstrations to the farmers who will call at the particular farm mentioned. Any farmers living in the community surrounding Eagle might leave orders at the Bank and the county agent will call on them. Other townships will be handled in the same way.

In townships having more than one bank, each bank will act as a local leader and any instructions left with these bankers will be followed up. The ten outlying townships are the ones that will be governed by this method. The townships close to Waukesha, such as Brookfield, Pewaukee, Delafield, Genesee, New Berlin and Waukesha, will be handled from the county agent's office, although any calls left with local bankers in these townships will be taken care of.

This does not imply that each township will not receive over one day's services, but each township will have to accept one day's service whether they want it or not. As many more days as possible will be spent in the different townships. The more work the different townships call for, the more of the county agent's time will be spent in that particular township.

Each Saturday will be office day and any farmer can find the agent at the office in Waukesha, at 833 Gaspar street. Telephone No. 697V.

The proposed schedule:

Third Thursday of each month—Menomonee Falls and town of Menomonee.

First Friday of each month—Merton and Sussex and town of Lisbon.

Second Tuesday—North Lake and town of Merton.

Fourth Wednesday of each month—Oconomowoc town and town of Summit.

Third Monday of each month—Dousman and towns of Ottawa and Summit.

First Wednesday of each month—Eagle and town of Eagle.

Second Thursday of each month—Mukwonago and town of Mukwonago.

Third Tuesday of each month—Big Bend and town of Vernon.

Fourth Friday of each month—Muskego and town of Muskego.

Third Wednesday of each month—Delafield, Hartland, Nashotah.

Second Wednesday of each month—Wales, Genesee Depot, North Prairie.

First Thursday of each month—Pewaukee.

First Tuesday of each month—Brookfield.

Third Friday of each month—New Berlin.

Second Friday of each month—Waukesha.

STATE DIRECTOR DOES NOT KNOW "DEACON"

Last week the Association of Commerce made an investigation regarding the good faith of Deacon John Joseph, who asked permission to solicit funds in the city for the Armenian people under direction of the Near East Relief society. The solicitor presented credentials signed by the patriarch of Mesopotamia, the State Secretary of Illinois, and authorities of Waukesha.

The Association was not satisfied with these letters of introduction and wired James W. Thompson, state director of the Near East Relief regarding the Deacon. He is apparently not known to the state director who sent the following telegram:

Milwaukee, Wis., April, 1921.

Waukesha Association of Commerce: There is an impostor now in the state soliciting funds for the Near East relief. Have been unable to locate him. If so will prosecute him to the fullest extent of the law. Do not know anything regarding Deacon John Joseph of Mesopotamia. Desire very much to confer with him in Milwaukee.

SPERINTENDENTS FAVOR RAISE FOR STATE TEACHERS

VOTE TO FORM STATE ORGANIZATION AND AFFILIATE WITH N. E. A.

At the Friday session of the city school superintendents' annual meeting, held at the High School auditorium, the question of forming a state association of superintendents was discussed. It was voted to form such an organization, and a committee was appointed to report on the resolution at 2 o'clock. A resolution favoring affiliation with the National Education association was also carried.

Following a short recess the matter of teachers' salaries was brought up for discussion. The consensus of opinion generally indicated that a raise in certain instances would be recommended. No reductions in wages was suggested.

Drawing up the constitution and by-laws for the new association constituted the afternoon program. President F. M. Longdecker, superintendent of the Racine city schools presided. About forty were in attendance.

Mayor Philip Kiehl opened the meeting with an address of welcome which follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—It is not only a great pleasure but an honored privilege that permits me to extend to you individually and collectively on behalf of all the citizens of Waukesha a sincere and cordial welcome to our city, and we, all of us, fully appreciate the honor you have conferred on our city and its citizens by your presence here today.

The responsibilities you have assumed in your chosen profession as educators is one of the greatest and second to none, as in your case is placed the training not only intellectually but morally and physically as well, the present and future citizens of our great nation. My own education was limited to the little red school house up to the age of 15 years. We did not have such a thing as grades, and undoubtedly some of you here have passed through the same experience. And I can fully appreciate the great advantage that our girls and boys have of acquiring an education at this time, compared with that of forty and fifty years ago.

And I trust that the results of your deliberations at your convention may be both pleasant and profitable. Not only to yourselves but for the cause of education in general. And when you have finished your labors and take leave of our city, may you have only pleasant recollections and no regrets of your sojourn among us, and at this time I extend to you an invitation to come again, for a cordial welcome will always be awaiting your association by the City of Waukesha.

Drawing up of the constitution for the newly organized Wisconsin City School Superintendents' association constituted the work at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the superintendents, held on Friday.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, E. G. Doudna, Wisconsin Rapids; vice president, C. J. Anderson, Stoughton; secretary and treasurer, E. W. Waite, Manitowoc. Directors: W. F. Denbrey, Eau Claire, H. W. Kircher, Merrill; M. C. Potter, Milwaukee, and F. M. Longdecker, Racine.

Superintendents Converse, Beloit, and M. N. MacIver, Oshkosh, members of the committee on the new teachers' pension bill, addressed the meeting on behalf of the bill. They urged the superintendents to support the proposed law, a hearing on which will be held at Madison next week. A vote of congratulation to John Callahan, newly elected state superintendent, was taken, and the members pledged him hearty cooperation. Supt. G. O. Banting was tendered a vote of thanks for his arrangement of the program. The association will meet at Madison next fall.

PRODUCERS HOLD 6,970 CARS OF POTATOES

On April 1, approximately 6,970 cars of potatoes, 26.9% of the 1920 crop, remained in the hands of producers in Wisconsin, states Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin Cooperative Crop Reporting Service (U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates and Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture). This compared with 1,300 cars a year ago, 6.2% of the 1919 crop, and 3,500 cars two years ago, 13.7% of the 1918 crop. Low prices throughout the season has held back the hauling of potatoes. This was particularly noticeable in the fall. On December 1, growers still held 67% of the crop (17,400 cars) as compared to 38% (8,300 cars) the previous year.

Because of the dull market and low present prices, it is doubtful if all of the 25,900 cars of Wisconsin potatoes will ever be marketed. In fact, it is estimated that to date 6.4% of the U. S. Grade No. 1 potatoes have been fed to livestock. In addition, 64.0% of the Grade No. 2 and culls have been fed to livestock.

The prospective acreage for 1921, based upon reports of growers' intentions as regards planting, will be only 93.4% of the 1920 acreage. With ample and cheap seed and lower labor costs, a favorable planting season will undoubtedly see a larger acreage than present intentions indicate.

WILL FIGHT WINE AND BEER BATTLE IN THIS CONGRESS

FORMER WAR VETERAN INTRODUCES BILL TO REPEAL THE VOLSTEAD ACT

WASHINGTON—The battle to bring back beer and light wines will be fought to a finish in this congress, it was declared by both wets and dries today. The fight will come to a head in the house as soon as the tariff and taxation program can be cleared aside.

Preliminary preparations for the clash were commenced today by the dries, whose ranks were bombarded by a new member from Maryland, Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore, who unexpectedly tossed in a bill to repeal the Volstead act.

Representative Volstead accepted Hill's challenge. He is chairman of the judiciary committee that will report on the repeal bill. He made it clear that while hearings will be full and fair, every effort will be made by him to throttle the "booze bill."

Incidentally the new congressman may ruin his own business if he succeeds in legalizing beer and light wines. He owns a drinking water company in Baltimore.

Hill is a fighting world war veteran who won the croix de guerre at Verdun and went through the Meuse Argonne offensive with distinction. He began as a private in the Massachusetts militia some years before the war and came out of the European conflict a colonel in the Twenty-ninth division. He is the author of several standard books on government and has been special lecturer on government at Johns Hopkins university and assistant at government at Harvard university. He has practiced law at Boston and Baltimore and was the Republican nominee for mayor of Baltimore in 1915.

"I want to repeal the Volstead law principally because it is an utterly un-American principle of government," he said.

Hill believes he will succeed for two reasons:

"1—My bill, if passed, will not bring back the saloon but would allow each state to have beer and light wine if the people so voted.

"2—The prohibitionists themselves never thought prohibition would go to the extreme it has. They never would have voted for it if they had known how far it would reach. Most of them are ready now to get away from the drastic limits of the present."

Hill, who was for five years United States district attorney at Baltimore, added that the Volstead act is so widely and flagrantly violated that it is undermining respect for all laws throughout the country.

NO. 10—SOAP AND WATER BEST THING FOR POISON IVY

Poison ivy cases begin to reach for a record as people get out into the open, says the American Forestry association. But poison ivy is not a thing to be fooled with and soap and hot water in wholesale applications comprises the best measures of relief.

The poison, after being deposited in the skin, requires some time to penetrate, and if this penetration can be prevented by thorough washing, eruption and irritation will not result. While exposed parts should be cleansed in this manner as soon after exposure as possible, it is worth while to make the attempt even twelve to twenty hours afterwards in the hope that at least a portion of the poison may be removed. A heavy lather should be continued several minutes. Severe scrubbing with a brush is not advisable, but several swabs or small compresses of gauze may be used, discarding each in turn, so that the poison may not be distributed by the cloth.

Bathing with alcohol diluted with an equal amount of water is also an effective preventative. Where exposure has been more general, a bath for the entire body, followed by a change of clothing, is good preventative measure. The hair should not be neglected. Bathing, if not accompanied by sufficient changing of water or rinsing, may result in spreading the rash to skin that had not been infected. In cases that are at all serious a physician should be consulted. No specific treatment for poisoning from ivy and sumac is yet available. Ointments should not be used in the acute stage of the disease. In the later stages, however, soothing and astringent ointments may be of value in allaying irritation and hastening cure.

WEDDINGS

Palm—Meyers
The marriage of Miss Lucile A. Palm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palm, Arcadian avenue, and Arthur J. Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers, of Genesee, was solemnized Saturday evening at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 908 Arcadian avenue, the Rev. C. E. Bovard officiating.

Miss Alice Eckert and Henry Palm attended the couple. The bride wore a traveling suit with a corsage bouquet of swansonias, roses and sweet peas. A wedding dinner was served, following the ceremony, to members of the immediate families, after which Mr. and Mrs. Meyers departed on a wedding trip.

OF FRESHMEN FAIL, SAYS PRES. BIRGE

TOTAL NUMBER DISMISSED THIS YEAR EQUALS 115 OUT OF A REGISTRATION OF 2240

MADISON, Wis.—"The total number of freshmen 'dismissed' from the University of Wisconsin at the end of the first semester this year approximated 115, out of a freshman registration of 2,240; that is to say, about 5 per cent. A considerable number of the students thus dropped—probably about one-half—are so-called 'holld-over' freshmen; that is freshmen whose work was unsatisfactory last year and who had been continued on probation in order to give them another opportunity. Probably therefore, between 2 and 3 per cent of the students who entered in the fall have made records so poor that the university does not think it wise for them to continue attendance any longer. This is about the usual number; certainly it was no larger this year."

So writes President E. A. Birge in reply to the inquiry of a Wisconsin high school principal concerning the rumor that seven hundred freshmen had been dropped this year for failure in their studies. The reply, which explains the reasons for the failure and which has since been sent to other high school principals, reads in part as follows:

"But many more students leave the university than are 'dismissed', for the percentage of students who enter the university as freshmen and continue through until they graduate is not essentially different from the corresponding number in the high schools. Statistics show that the senior class in the high schools in Wisconsin numbers less than one-half of the students who entered high school as freshmen. In the university, the percentage of seniors is higher, ranging from 70 to 80 per cent of the corresponding freshmen class, or even more; but this high percentage is in considerable measure due to the large number of students who come to the university from other institutions with advanced standing. Probably not more than one-half of the freshmen who enter in any year complete a course for graduation."

"Most of the notably successful students complete the course and a very large part of those who leave are reaching little success in their studies. Most of those who thus fall out do so voluntarily and are not 'dismissed.' But their lack of success is, nevertheless, one of the important reasons for their leaving school; and this statement is equally true of high school and college."

Replying to "what the high schools should do," Dr. Birge said:

"The preparation of students for higher education is one of the 'major industries' of the high school. The number of high school graduates who continue with advanced studies is, I believe, larger than most people think. In 1919, the university received about 1,800 freshmen from Wisconsin; the colleges of the state received about 1,600 freshmen, mostly from Wisconsin; the normal schools probably took in as many as 1,500 high school graduates. Thus more than 4,500 Wisconsin students entered higher institutions within the state, besides a good many who went to college or normal school outside. At a very moderate estimate from one-third to one-half of our 8,000 to 9,000 high school graduates continue study after graduating."

"I was told last year that there was no use asking the high school students in March whether they were coming to the university in September, because it was so early that many would not have decided. Such students are not and can not be really prepared for college and are correspondingly likely to fail."

"High schools can urge students to plan for college, to take a course which definitely prepares them for college, and to work hard on these studies. The student who is to go on with four years of study after high school is in a different situation from one whose high school course is his last regular schooling. Both types need the considerate and intelligent guidance of their teachers."

"Students should understand that they usually waste their own time and their parents' money if they drift into college. Those profit by college who are following a plan clearly marked out and energetically executed. Students should be made to feel that the state is expending large sums of money in providing higher education for ambitious and successful students; that a student is one who studies; and that study means hard work every day. If high school boys and girls are unwilling or unable to pay this price for a higher education, they should not go to college at all, still less should they expect the state to invest money in their half-hearted attempts at college education. It is the business of the high schools to advise such students not to go to college. It is even more their business to send on to college all eager, hardworking, and intelligent students, for in these lies no small part of the future of the state."

CLOSE COURT HOUSE IN HONOR OF WILLIAM DOOLAN

The doors of the courthouse were closed on Monday in honor of William Doolan of the town of Merton whose funeral was held on that day. Mr. Doolan was a member of the county board of supervisors for 11 years.

EGGS! THE METHOD OF HANDLING AND MARKETING THEM

MAJORITY OF EGGS ARE PRODUCED IN THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY, SAYS MARKET

MADISON, Wis.—The state market division of Wisconsin gives the following discussion on the handling and marketing of eggs:

"The lack of proper treatment of eggs by the farmer is a source of a great deal of waste and is an important item in the spread between the price received by the farmer and the price paid by the consumer."

"The cost of handling and transporting eggs which cannot be sold on account of their poor quality is just as great as the cost of handling and transporting eggs of good quality. It is clear that the expense involved in the transportation and handling of unsalable eggs falls on eggs of good quality and increases the price of such eggs. Price paid to the producers must be depressed to cover the expense and this accounts to a considerable extent for the difference between the prices paid for the good eggs and the prices charged the consumers."

"The real cause of this particular item of unnecessary waste and expense is the delay in moving the eggs. There is delay in gathering the eggs on the farm, delay in taking them to town and delay on the part of the storekeeper."

"The majority of the eggs of the country are produced in the section which comprises principally the states lying in the Mississippi valley. They are Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. There are in all these states few farms which can be properly called poultry farms. These farms are devoted mainly to grain growing and live stock, principally cattle and hogs. The keeping of poultry is incidental and the eggs produced are really in the nature of a by-product of the farm."

"The care and attention given the fowls and the product on these farms are, therefore, usually incidental also. The farmer gathers the eggs whenever convenient; sometime each day, sometimes two or three times a week. The eggs are brought to the house and kept until there is a sufficient number to take to the village or until the farmer makes a trip to the village for some purpose and takes the eggs along. No particular attention is given to the condition under which the eggs are kept in the meantime, and no particular effort is made to obtain clean eggs by proper attention to the nests and by frequent gatherings, or to separate the clean from the soiled eggs when taking them to market. Whenever a nest of eggs is discovered in the weeds or about the barn they are usually added to the eggs in the market basket without question as to whether they are partly incubated."

"As a result, the farmer may start for town with a basket of eggs, part of which are perfectly fresh and wholesome, part of them dirty, and part of them shrunken or stale or even wholly spoiled. During the drive to town it is a common occurrence for the eggs to be exposed to the direct rays of the sun for an hour or two and subjected therefore to a temperature greater than the normal temperature of incubation. Those eggs the farmer takes to the village store or to an egg buyer and receives for them a certain price per dozen, regardless of quality."

"The merchant holds the eggs until he has enough to make a shipment to some egg dealer or shipper from whom he gets regular quotations. The delay here may be anywhere from two days to a week or even two weeks. Usually the conditions of shipment of these eggs up to the time they reach the packing house are such as to cause a still further deterioration in the eggs. After they reach the packing house they are assembled in great enough numbers so that more attention and care is given their handling, and although the eggs go through one or more sets of hands from this point before they are placed in storage or reach the consumer, the deterioration which they undergo is not so great proportionately."

"As a result of all these delays and carelessness, there is, in connection with the handling and marketing of eggs in the Middle West, a great loss. This loss is borne both by the producer and consumer but falls mainly on the former. The poor handling of eggs decreases the supply and the consumer suffers in being unable to secure good eggs in sufficient quantity and in consequence there is a decrease in consumption."

"The losses caused both to the producer and to the consumer of eggs can be eliminated to a large extent by the improvements in the methods of handling and buying. Thus the shipper can materially improve the quality of eggs in the market if he persistently buys by quality not simply by count. But even this change in the methods of buying will not bring relief to the producer and the consumer unless the farmer takes care to bring to market as many eggs of good quality as possible."

"The starting point for most of the trouble in handling eggs as well as any other perishable produce is on the farm. Not all the trouble is at the starting point, of course. Good handling must be everywhere from the producer to the consumer if the maximum of quality and the minimum of loss is to be maintained. But perfection of handling at the market center can not compensate for bad treatment at the source of supply, which is the farm."

"It is essential for the farmer to maintain a proper and cleanly condition for the fowls that are producing. He should gather two or three times a day, keeping the eggs in the most even temperature and bringing them to market often."

"But above all it is essential for the farmer to properly grade, pack and candle his eggs. The processes are technical and it is hardly possible for each individual farmer to become an expert in them and to devote to them the necessary time and care. The best way for farmers to establish proper grading, packing and candling of eggs is through cooperation. By cooperation in the grading and candling and hiring a competent manager, farmers will be saved the trouble and the loss of time which these processes involve. The cost of operation will be relatively small because of a large volume of business and the grading will be done more efficiently and more uniformly. But above all, grading and candling by the farmers themselves will prevent all the waste and expense involved in the shipment of ungraded products and will help materially towards the improvement of market conditions."

COUNTY LETS CONTRACT FOR TRUNK HIGHWAY 19

The contract for the 18-foot concrete surface on the Pewaukee-Hartland road, State Trunk No. 19, was let last week to Jacobson & Windig Co., Wauwatosa. The Wauwatosa company was low bidder, with $120,867 or $27,500 per mile. The work constitutes 4.5 miles of construction, beginning at the end of the concrete in Pewaukee and extending to Lake Side bridge. This is the lowest bid that has been received since contracts have been let by the county.

Bids for gravel grading on the Jericho road were rejected by the committee. This strip is 8 miles in length. The lowest bid was $38,000 for the entire job. It was voted to have the work done by labor forces.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Chester Henrzi and Josephine Gettelman, both of Menomonee Falls, have applied for a marriage license at the county clerk's office.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

In his special message to Congress, President Harding takes a stand in regard to certain special interests of women which is very like the stand taken by the women themselves. He "assumes that the maternity bill, already strongly approved, will be enacted promptly, thus adding to our manifestation of human interest" and he urges the necessity of bringing into existence a new department of government.

"In the realms of education, public health, sanitation, conditions of workers in industry, child welfare, proper amusement and recreation, the elimination of social vice and many other subjects", the President states that the government already has undertaken a considerable range of activities. "These activities are handled by bureaus within government departments which logically have no relation to them. To bring these various activities together in a single department where the whole field could be surveyed and where their interrelationship could be properly appreciated would make for increased effectiveness, economy and intelligence of direction."

The President further argues that there would be no danger of undue centralization or of creating a federal bureaucracy by the creation of such department.

The so-called maternity bill, which has really been the first objective of women voters, is officially known as the Sheppard-Towner bill. It provides for federal cooperation with the states for the protection of maternity and infancy. As passed by the senate, several months ago, the amount of money appropriated was $148,400. Of this sum each state was to receive a lump sum of $10,000, and to share in the remainder according to the proportion of its population, to the population of the nation, providing the state legislature appropriated for the purpose a sum equal to that which it might receive from the government.

Wisconsin has a population of about 2,000,000, which is, roughly speaking, one-fiftieth part of the population of the whole country. This state would thus be entitled to one-fiftieth of the remaining sum of $1,000,000, or $20,000. The legislature of this state must appropriate an equal sum in order to receive federal aid. With an appropriation of $20,000 by the state, $20,000 by the nation, and the original appropriation of $10,000, the sum of $50,000 would be available in the state to begin work with.

This seems to the writer an entirely adequate sum to start with, but it is much better to begin now things on a modest basis and develop larger plans on a basis of knowledge gained by experience. In spite of the fact that economy is imperatively necessary in state affairs, it is sincerely to be hoped that the Wisconsin legislature will make the appropriation necessary, if the bill passes Congress in time for this legislature to act. Nothing is so valuable as a man's life and this bill has for its object the preservation of the lives of mothers and babies. It has been absolutely proven by experience that proper education and proper assistance at the proper time does materially reduce the death-rate of both mothers and infants.

The special session of Congress which opened Monday is expected to pass the maternity bill. The federal administration of the bill is placed in the hands of the children's bureau, with power to form an advisory committee consisting of the secretary of agriculture, the surgeon general of the public health service and the United States commissioner of education.

Another measure scheduled for passage at this session permits women married to aliens to retain their American citizenship. Still another is the immigration bill which passed Congress during the final days of the short session and was vetoed by President Wilson. It provides for the annual admittance into this country of a small percentage, 3 per cent, I believe, of each nationality group, resident and naturalized in the United States at a specified date.

President Harding's message touches on another question which seems to this writer to need attention and that is the race problem. One cannot be in the South very long before one is startled by certain conditions, of which one hears only a little but that little appalling. I mean of course the lynching of negroes. While we were south this winter, several of the men staying at the hotel burst into the living room one evening with the statement that there was a "nigger lynching" and rushed over to Bartow, thirty miles away; but missed the excitement, which was all over before they got there. It seems that a negro who was driving along the road had spoken improperly to a white girl, or at least she reported that he had. Her friends immediately gave chase, came up with the offender, took him out of his wagon, told him to run and as he ran shot him down. So far as was reported the word of the girl was taken without any corroborative testimony. I am convinced that lynchings are much more common in the South than we imagine. Some of them are reported in the newspapers, I believe that many are not. It is the sort of thing that is not talked about; it is simply done. Juries are not able to secure any evidence on which to base the arrest of lynchers. Every man questioned says he does not know anything about it and that ends it.

"But it does not seem to do any good", I said to a well-known Floridian.

"It does a great deal of good", he responded promptly. "After a lynching they are all good niggers and they go right to work. While the hunt for a criminal is going on every nigger wants an alibi more than he wants anything else. Especially does he want an alibi from the man he is working for. While they behave themselves the nigger knows we will protect them. When they don't they know what is coming to them." So far as I can see, the white South is pretty solidly behind this opinion.

I have no patience with those northern persons who, without a factual knowledge of conditions in the South, lay down the law as to how southerners should manage their own affairs. This is a southern problem and it must be settled by southerners. But a northerner feels that the present condition is wrong, just as slavery was wrong, and quite as bad for the whites as for the blacks. President Harding recognizes the difficulties of the situation, urges mutual tolerance and understanding, and recommends the creation of a commission made up of both races to study the entire subject.

WAUKESHA COUNTY CATTLE CONSIGNED TO OTHER STATES

Mr. W. L. Baird and L. V. Garvens, secretary and assistant secretary of the Waukesha County Holstein Breeders' association, report that four carloads of high grade Holstein cows and heifers were shipped to La Junta, Colorado. The shipment consisted of forty some cows in milk and the rest of the eighty-two head were 2-year-old heifers and springer cows. The county agricultural agent and representatives of the Libby, McNeill & Libby company selected the animals which are to be sold to the farmers in the Arkansas valley of Colorado, where this company has a condenser. These gentlemen remained in the county several days as they wanted to get the best foundation stock. The farmers of Colorado have just begun to realize that dairying is a money-making proposition. These same people expect to return later as they expect to secure over 500 head during the coming summer. No doubt they will return to Waukesha county because they were well satisfied with their shipment.

Seventy-seven head of high grade calves, ranging in age from 2 to 4 weeks, were selected by E. J. Alexander, secretary of the Missouri Holstein association. These calves were shipped to different points in Missouri. They are to be used in boys' and girls' club-work. Mr. Alexander expects to return again for more calves, as the Missouri State Holstein association expects to place at least 500 calves in calf-club work during this coming summer.

Eight head were shipped to Iowa for calf-club work. J. P. Eves, secretary of the Iowa Dairy association, was in Waukesha county a few weeks ago and made arrangements with W. L. Baird to supply his association with calves which are to be used for calf-club work in Iowa. No doubt Iowa will use at least 200 calves for this purpose the coming summer.

F. E. Fox, secretary of the Guernsey Breeders' association, reports that Prof. L. V. Wilson of the University of Minnesota selected twenty-five head of pure-bred Guernsey calves to be shipped to Owatonna, Minnesota, to be used in calf-club work. These calves will be shipped some time the coming week.

Prospects for disposing of dairy cattle, especially cows and heifers, look good. In addition to the large sale this week, Secretary Fox reports that not over 3 weeks ago three carloads of Guernsey cattle were shipped from Waukesha county to Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska, one carload going to each state. The Iowa Dairy association have also made arrangements with Mr. Fox for grade Guernseys for their calf-club work. A large number of inquiries are being received from different parts of the country.

County Agent J. F. Thomas asked a number of the out-of-town buyers why they preferred to purchase their calves in Waukesha county and invariably the reply was "because we know we will receive good treatment." If they had not purchased cattle in Waukesha county before, they knew of some person or association who had purchased cattle here. Then, they said, "Waukesha County cattle are well advertised and this helps us get started." Many also laid stress on the fact that Waukesha county has more pure-bred sires than any other county, which means a high-bred calf. They also realize that Waukesha County cattle are comparatively free from tuberculosis.

The breed secretaries have been very busy answering inquiries and locating cattle for sale. Both associations have plans laid for their annual spring sale. The Holstein association are going to conduct a 2-day sale on April 25 and 26, at the Sales pavilion in Waukesha. In addition, they have arranged to hold a 2-day

CARY DEFEATED, BUT LOVES THE BADGER PEOPLE

MADISON, Wis.—When questioned by a reporter, State Superintendent C. P. Cary replied: "Yes, I am defeated. But just the same, I love Wisconsin and the people of Wisconsin. My faith is unshaken in democracy and in a democratic administration of schools. The state has given me splendid opportunities for service and these opportunities have been used to the utmost of my ability for the best and highest welfare of the state, as I saw it. I have never consciously shirked a duty or used public trust for selfish benefit, or told the people anything other than what I believed to be true. In other words, I have a perfectly clear conscience as I look back over my eighteen years of service. It has been one constant effort and fight for educational improvement, regardless of personal consequences."

By way of illustration, we are, in the state of Wisconsin this year, under all of the adverse conditions, spending something like $8,000,000 on school buildings. A large percentage of this expenditure is in greater or less degree, to the detriment of this department, varying all the way from mere suggestion and encouragement up to actual condemnation of old buildings. In one exceedingly unprogressive county, in respect to buildings, we condemned in May, 1920, twenty-seven county school buildings to be replaced by new ones by next fall. Not a single district took an appeal as could have been done under the law, for everybody knew the condemnations were just. In this county, I was defeated two or three to one, and the progressive county superintendent of the county was defeated five to one. The story in regard to buildings could be duplicated in regard to equipment for school purposes. In every particular, this department has pushed a most aggressive campaign in the direction of educational progress.

It would have been perfectly easy for me to have obviated the present defeat if I had cared more for office than for the performance of duty. I have known, as indeed everybody has known, that it was usually unsafe to press the people for money for any purpose. And yet I have constantly done so, because I regarded myself as attorney and advocate for the rights and welfare of children. Their best interest was a sacred trust. From a political point of view, this was no doubt suicidal, but from the professional point of view there was nothing else to be done that was right and honorable. If it were to be done over, it would be done in the same way.

We have at this moment the best and most efficient state department of public instruction in the United States, without any exception. Every man and woman in the department has labored from a professional point of view day and night to bring the schools up to the highest point of efficiency. When the Ayres' report came out it showed that for the year 1917-18 there were thirty-two other states that were paying more money for educational purposes than Wisconsin. If along with it we could have had a proper estimation of the efficiency of our schools, we would have stood at the top or near it.

We stand fourth among the states of the Union, according to a recent government report, in the percentage of children attending higher institutions of learning, and there are only eleven states better off than Wisconsin in respect to illiteracy. We have a better and more extensive system of training teachers than any other state in the Union, and we have a better system of supervision than any other state.

Usually, when an election is over it is over and nobody cares to discuss it, but it was not until this election was over that people began to take an interest in it. Many people are dumfounded at the result. Everybody, without exception, to whom I have talked expected the present state superintendent to be re-elected, generally by about a two to one vote. Now they are asking what brought about this result. This is a problem for the people to solve for themselves, and it is worthy of their study. If it shall prove to have been due to a desire for more rapid progress than we have been making, which means almost invariably greater expenditure of money, then the state may well be congratulated. If, on the other hand, it was reactionary, and motivated by a desire to save money and to industrialize education, the state may well pause to consider in what direction it is headed.

I have not the slightest ill will toward the public, and I only hope that the educational affairs of the state may go forward with steadily increasing efficiency. In my mind there is charity for all and malice toward none. What I shall do, I have not determined, but I sincerely hope that my lot may be cast in Wisconsin. I bespeak for the new State Superintendent the good will and cooperation of all citizens in all worthy efforts to improve education, the greatest concern of every civilized people.

RESTHAVEN TO OBSERVE NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

Thursday, May 12, will be generally observed throughout the United States by 8,000 hospitals as a "National Hospital Day," on which special efforts will be made to inform the public as to the services that the hospitals render and as to their relation to the community. May 12 has been selected as the most fitting date, because on that day was born Florence Nightingale, pioneer in modern hospital and nursing methods.

Resthaven hospital, No. 37, of the U. S. Public Health service, was one of the first hospitals established by the Public Health service when congress on March 3, 1919, directed it to care for the wounded and disabled soldiers. It was originally the Resthaven hotel and was purchased by the government and opened for the reception of patients in July, 1919. It is a Neuro-Psychiatric hospital where cases of psychoneurosis, or shell-shock, are treated. Its present capacity is 200 patients, who are cared for by eleven medical officers, two dentists, seventeen nurses, and 113 other employees. Improvements now in progress, or contemplated, will increase its capacity to 300. Like most hospitals its actual population fluctuates from day to day. At present it numbers 198. The weekly turnover is about ten discharges and ten admittances.

The program for May 12 will include receptions and exhibits the details of which have not been decided, but will be announced later.

COMMISSION FLAILS SYSTEM OF ASSESSING

MADISON, Wis.—Eighteen hundred unskilled men, some trying to do their best and others indifferent, are elected each spring to assess property in Wisconsin valued at $4,500,000,000. T. E. Lyons, member of the tax commission told a legislative committee Tuesday.

These 1,800 men assess property owners $96,000,000 annually in taxes but they are not elected because of special qualifications, Lyons told the committee members.

"It is a hodge-podge system", Lyons said, "and eventually it will be changed."

Lyons advocated the Skogmo bill which would abolish the office of town assessor and supplant it with the office of county assessor, placing the latter under civil service to give permanency to the job.

At the outset of the hearing before the taxation committee of the assembly and the corporations committee of the senate, Senator George Skogmo, author of the bill, said he was having prepared an amendment which would eliminate the compulsory feature of the bill and make it optional with counties to adopt either system.

"The amendment is offered for the purpose of trying out the system", Senator Skogmo said. Some counties will try it and if it fails, the law will be abolished, but if it succeeds the compulsory features may be added."

Many objectors to the bill appeared and told the committee the township assessor was better qualified to make an equitable assessment than a county assessor who could not have an intimate knowledge of local affairs.
