WILLARD B. HAGE

Willard B. Hage, a native of Eagle who has been a resident of San Diego, Calif., for a number of years, died at his home in that city, Friday, February 13th, after a brief illness, according to a letter just received by The Quill.

Mr. Hage was afflicted in a mild form for some time. Mr. Hage was known as the pioneer creamery man of San Diego and for over a third of a century was engaged in business there.

The deceased was born here June 1, 1868, and made his home in Eagle until after his marriage in 1890. Soon after that event the young man took his bride to Arizona where he engaged in farming, but the venture proved disastrous and after sinking practically all his capital, he gave up the occupation and went on west, locating in San Diego 24 years ago.

When he arrived in San Diego in 1891 Mr. Hage's capital amounted to $50 and this he invested in the milk business, buying his stock from the farmers and delivering to customers in the city. For three years he put in seven days a week and built up a good business. Seeing the need of a creamery, Mr. Hage established one and because of the success he had gained in the milk business, the new business grew and prospered, attaining an output of a thousand pounds of butter daily.

Later he took over the management of the Sanitary Ice Cream company in which he was interested and continued in this capacity until a few days before his death when recurrence of heart attacks forced him to remain away from his place of business. The stroke that resulted in his death was suffered at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Hage is survived by his widow, Addie, and four children. The children are: Fred, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Ruth Thomas and W. B. Jr., of San Diego. The deceased served on the city council for a time after San Diego was granted its charter, and was a member of a number of Masonic orders as well as various civic and business organizations.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, February 16th, in charge of Rev. Frank Linder of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Hage was a member.

MINE SCENE IN "LUCK" FEATURING JOHNNY HINES SAID TO BE MOST REALISTIC OF ITS KIND

Truth to Detail Carried Out Impressively

There is no telling these days to what extent motion picture producers will go to obtain realistic atmosphere in the higher grade pictures offered to an exacting public. In "Luck," Johnny Hines' feature comedy-drama which comes to the Rialto theater this week, one of the outstanding scenes is that the interior of a coal mine wherein the hero makes a thrilling scene of Violet Mersereau who by chance has been caught underneath when part of the mine caved in. Since it was impossible to deliberately wreck a mine for movie purposes, the next possible thing to do was to build a "prop" mine at the studio. Accordingly a highly trained technical staff was brought together, who after spending some two weeks at the Buttonwood Mine outside of Wilkesbarre to obtain the necessary technical information, returned to the studio and after two additional weeks of painstaking endeavor built a studio mine that will probably deceive a great many people into believing that it is a real-honest-to-goodness mine. So perfectly constructed was the set that when photographs of it were forwarded to the president of the Buttonwood Mine he declared it to be an exact likeness of his own mine from which the original plans for the studio mine were taken.

REVISION OF INCOME TAX LAW BIG ISSUE

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION TAKES LEAD IN THE FIGHT AGAINST PROPOSED LAW

MADISON, Wis.—Revision of the Wisconsin income tax law will be the paramount issue of the legislature, this week. A bitter fight against the administration bill, already introduced by the taxation committees of the assembly and senate, will be made at the public hearing before the committees, on Tuesday afternoon.

The Wisconsin Manufacturers' association has taken the lead in the battle to defeat the measure, which it charges will commit the state to a policy of "industrial suicide". As individual tax rates in the proposed law remain about as they are now, and as corporation incomes are to be taxed at a 4 per cent rate, the chief objection will be to the repeal of the personal property offset, which if repealed would cause increases in taxes in many cases.

Opponents of the bill also plan to attack the provision increasing the state's percentage of the revenues. Practically all of the additional $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 which the measure will increase taxes would go into the state treasury. The allotments to counties and municipalities, as far as the actual income in concerned would remain about the same.

Administration leaders and other supporters of the measure will put up a vigorous fight for it, asserting that the revised law will materially reduce the general property levy throughout the state. The committees are certain to report the measure back to the legislature with little change, and its supporters are confident that it will muster a majority in each house.

Senator John C. Schumann's income tax bill, based on the committee compromise of the 1923 session, will have a hearing at the same time. Senator Schumann is expected to take the floor in his behalf.

Three Other Bills on Docket

Three other bills stand out among the 100 or more measures slated for committee consideration during the coming week.

The unemployment insurance bill, introduced by Senator Max W. Heck, Racine, will have a hearing before the senate committee on agriculture, labor, and industries, Thursday afternoon. Senator A. E. Garey's old-age pension bill, sponsored by the lodge of Wisconsin Eagles, will come before the senate committee on state and local government, on the same day. And in the assembly, Assemblywoman Mildred Barber's proposal to include women in the pre-nuptial physical examination and to extend it to include mental tests for both bride and groom, will be heard before the public welfare committee, on Wednesday, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Further echoes in the "Blue Book battle" will be heard in the joint finance committee, Tuesday, when the Price resolution appropriating money for distribution of supplements containing the salary lists, sought by Senator W. A. Titus, will come up. Senator Titus' second resolution on the same subject will be taken up at the same time. The Fond du Lac senator cites statutes to show that no special grant of funds is required to carry out the purpose of his original "Blue Book" resolution.

The administration highway bill, including a 2-cent per gallon tax on gasoline, will have another hearing, next week, when it will come before the joint finance committee. The bill has been reported for passage, by senate and house highways committees, but it was re-referred to the finance committee because it involves appropriations.

The "home rule" enabling act, introduced by the senate judiciary committee at the request of Attorney General Herman L. Ekern, will be given a hearing before the committee, Wednesday afternoon. The measure is of tremendous importance to Wisconsin municipalities, as it gives them power to determine their own affairs, limited only by the constitutional and those constitutional statutes which apply uniformly to all cities and villages as a whole.

BUSINESS ON UPGRADE, LOCAL BREEDERS TOLD

WAUKESHA COUNTY STILL LEADS NATION IN THE BREEDING OF GUERNSEYS SAYS MUSSER

Carl B. Mussed, secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club, Peterboro, Vt., was given close attention during his hour talk at the midwinter meeting yesterday afternoon, of the Waukesha County Breeders' association, held in the Congregational church. That the pure-bred Guernsey business is on the upgrade was made evident from the citation of figures of average prices per head through the years since 1915. It was not fair to judge the breed by high individual record sales, he said, such as the $22,500 paid for the famous Shuttlewick Levity, who was sold by her new purchaser for $25,000. The true basis of values as far as the breed is concerned, is in the average prices received by the man who is expecting the cow to make her way through the constant supply of milk from year to year. The average sales per head and number of pure-breds sold through the course of years were cited as follows:

Year	Av. Price	No. Sold
1915	$217	278
1918	366	904
1919	546	1309
1920	508	2459
1921	341	1281
1922	540	966
1923	353	1230
1924	380	2167

High Production Records

Arguing for steady improvement of the breed in uniformly high butter fat production as well as improved form, Mr. Mussed gave some interesting comparative figures showing that the inferior product reproduces far more rapidly than the superior and therefore striving for superior quality was a long patient effort but well worth while. Taking the 100 highest producers during the past six and a half years, in the A class, with an average of 831 pounds of butter fat and matching them with 100 cows at the end of the list, but the same in age, time of calving and similar tests, with an average of 407 pounds of butter fat, the offspring of the high cows was 81 males and 88 females, while that of the low record cows was 104 males and 102 females.

Waukesha county, said Mr. Mussed, leads the state in the Guernsey cattle breeding business and Wisconsin leads the nation and yet it was surprising why it was necessary to beg Wisconsin breeders to come to the annual meeting in the east, where helpful suggestions could be given. Only two states are buying more pure-bred bulls in Wisconsin than they are registering. These are Michigan and Minnesota, adjoining neighbors, the states ranking as to registration in this order: Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York, Minnesota and Michigan.

Restaurants See Value

One of the other speakers on the program was Mrs. C. E. Hatch, sales promotion director for Guernsey milk at Chicago and Milwaukee. She said that restaurant managers begin to appreciate, finally, that it is as essential to their success to sell a patron the finest glass of milk as it is the finest cup of coffee and that restaurant managers are beginning to wonder at the familiarity customers have for quality, in ordering milk, saying "Give me Guernsey, Grade A, or Guernsey 2A, or pasteurized or certified, as the case may be, showing the effectiveness of the educational campaign carried on during the past few weeks.

J. F. Thomas, county agricultural agent, addressed the meeting, on the county tuberculosis area test, pointing out the progress made during the past year and showing the town of Waukesha to be a leader in the work. E. L. Westover of the national Guernsey association, doing promotion work, advocated participation in the co-operative movement for the marketing of Guernsey milk and as a result several members of the county organization joined. The county organization also recorded five new members at the meeting.

Re-elect Officers

All former officers of the association were elected. These officers are President, Gavin McKerrok; vice-president, Goodhand Kingston; secretary-treasurer, F. E. Fox. The three directors whose term of office expired were also re-elected as follows: Goodhand Kingston, F. E. Fox, and W. E. Fisher.

An effort to amend the constitution to permit the association to employ a secretary who was neither a breeder or a dealer of Guernsey cattle was defeated by a vote of 38 in favor and 36 against, a two-thirds vote being required to amend.

The dinner was attended by a record crowd of nearly 200 people, the mercantile and professional life of the city being largely represented at the dinner. Musical numbers interspersed the serious discussions. This entertainment talent included the Rotary Club quartet, which contributed four numbers at the dinner; Anthony Olinger, who directed community singing and who sang several solo songs; Frank B. Hoag, who gave some pleasing readings of a humorous character, and B. F. Rusy, who favored with his delightful Scotch impersonations.

Year's Business $24,088.64

During the business meeting the report of the treasurer, F. E. Fox, was distributed, showing a balance on hand of $267.92, after the year's transactions, during which a total of business amounting to $24,088.64 was transacted and during which the expenditures were $23,820.72. As secretary, Mr. Fox reported the sale of 900 cattle, for members of the association, of which seventy-eight separate shipments were made and the cattle dispersed to nineteen states, as follows: Indiana, 2; Kentucky, 4; Illinois, 21; Minnesota, 3; Iowa, 9; South Dakota, 3; West Virginia, 1; Wisconsin, 18; Ohio, 5; Michigan, 5; New Jersey, 3; Oklahoma, 1; Pennsylvania, 3. Mr. Fox traveled a total of 19,880 miles and made 878 calls. That the pure-bred cattle business is improving, said Mr. Fox, is indicated by the fact that the total proceeds from sales for the final 6 months of 1924 were $21,400 more than the total proceeds for the like period a year ago.

RECOMMEND NO REDUCTION IN POTATO ACREAGE

BUMPER CROP OF LAST YEAR NOT DUE TO ACREAGE BUT TO WEATHER

The feature for the week was the Agricultural forecast for the year 1925 as released by the United States Department of Agriculture. In regard to the potato acreage the coming season the department recommends that no reduction in acreage be made from that of last year, and also asserts that a slight increase might be handled with profit. The bumper crop of last year was not due to increased acreage, but to very favorable growing conditions throughout the country. Had the yield last year been only normal or below, the probabilities are that the nation would have been supplied with only moderate quantities of potatoes the present winter.

Due to the relatively mild weather throughout the country the past week, shipments were somewhat above normal. The United States as a whole moved 4,826 cars of potatoes, of which amount Wisconsin contributed 435 cars. Maine still held the lead with 1,278 cars, although Minnesota was a close second with 1,026. The important shipping states together with the number of cars rolled by each were as follows: Michigan 557, New York, not including Long Island 525, Idaho 310, Colorado 235, North Dakota 163, Pennsylvania 149 and Nebraska 129.

248 Cars to Chicago

Of the Wisconsin shipments 248 were billed to Chicago, 60 to Joliet, 28 to Blue Island, 15 to Louisville, 14 including diversions to St. Louis, 12 to Milwaukee and 9 to Pittsburgh. It is noticeable that the number of cars billed to St. Louis fell off materially, while the number billed to Pittsburgh increased somewhat. A rather heavy percentage of the offering as rolled was probably seed stock which had been previously contracted, and showed destination in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and other southern states.

The weather through Wisconsin was warm which caused some snow to melt and made the roads bad for sleighing. Warehouses at Waupaca paid 60c per Cwt. to growers for bulk Round Whites U. S. No. 1, while other Wisconsin points paid mostly 60 to 70c per Cwt. for the same grade of stock. Carloads delivered freight only deducted at from 83 to 88c, mostly around 85c per Cwt. for sacked Round Whites U. S. No. 1, while a few cash sales were made at from 80 to 82c.

Chicago Market Dull

The Chicago market was dull to steady with little change in price. There was an average of 195 cars on track at the beginning of trading each morning, while arrivals from Wisconsin averaged 42 cars daily. Wisconsin sacked and sold Round Whites in a carlot way at from $1.05 to $1.15 per Cwt., while a few sales of bulk stock were reported at practically the same prices. Arrivals on the St. Louis market for the week totaled 10 cars. Trading was more or less dull with sacked Round Whites U. S. No. 1, moving in a jobbing way at from $1.15 to $1.30 per Cwt. No sales of Wisconsin stock were reported from Pittsburgh, but Michigan Russets were moving in this market at around $2.10 per 150 lb. bags.

JURY FINDS DRIVER OF TRUCK CARELESS FOLLOWING TESTIMONY IN CORONER'S INQUEST TODAY

GERBENSKY, WALTER'S COACH DRIVER, EXERCISES PRECAUTION, SAYS VERDICT

"We, the jury, find that Mrs. Margaret Jones came to her death at 12 o'clock at the Municipal hospital on Saturday, Feb. 7, as a result of injuries sustained when the coach in which she was riding as a passenger, on Highway No. 41, collided with a truck driven by Peter Verburt. "We find that the driver of the coach, Carl Gerbensky, exercised all precaution of safety. We find the truck driver, Peter Verburt, although somewhat a victim of circumstances, was careless in that he failed to promptly remove truck from right of way after two previous minor accidents."

This was the verdict reached by the jury in the coroner's inquest held at the courthouse Thursday in the death of Mrs. Margaret Jones, who died following an accident on Highway No. 41 Saturday, Feb. 7.

The jury retired at about 1:45 and reported its findings at 2:45. Testimony of both drivers was received this afternoon, Verburt stating that the automobiles which struck him were traveling faster than 25 miles an hour and that the vision was fairly good.

All other witnesses testified to the opposite.

District Attorney Herman Salen stated after the verdict was read that he did not know whether a warrant charging manslaughter would be issued against Verburt. A conference with District Attorney Wengert of Milwaukee county will be held.

Evidence, the nature of which is damaging to Peter Verburt, driver of the truck with which the motor coach of Walter's line collided on Highway No. 41 Saturday, resulting in the death of two passengers and injury to six others, was introduced at the coroner's inquest held in the courthouse here today.

Nine witnesses, including three of the passengers, were called to the stand to give their version of the accident. Seven maintained that Verburt had no lights lighted on the truck. Three testified all of the motor vehicles which struck the truck were traveling at a slow rate of speed.

The inquest was held under the supervision of Coroner F. J. Woodhead while Coroner Henry Grundman of Milwaukee county was present; also his stenographer. The courtroom was crowded with spectators and witnesses interested in the case. Several attorneys were present.

The nine witnesses included Dr. R. E. Davies; Lawrence Graham, driver of the Badger Motor Car company bus; E. B. Monahan, driver of one of Walter's coaches; Gerald Smirl, driver of a green bus of the Wisconsin Motor Bus company; Margaret Enders, passenger; Mrs. J. B. Christoph, passenger; Lester Frank, passenger; Carl Gerbensky, driver of the wrecked bus, and Peter Verburt, driver of the truck. The jury is composed of Gus Goerke, E. H. Nowak, Daniel Nickel, W. J. Burrow, Percy Lester and John C. Harris.

Davies Testifies First

Dr. Davies was the first called to testify and told of treating Mrs. Margaret Jones at the Municipal hospital, who succumbed as a result of the accident. Dr. Davies stated that the woman's death was due to internal injuries, several of the ribs having punctured the lungs, a wound on the temple and an injury to the liver.

Lawrence Graham, the next witness and a Badger Bus company driver, told of arriving at the scene of the accident a few minutes after it had occurred and of assisting in taking the injured to the Municipal hospital. Among his passengers was Mrs. Jones who, he said, spoke only once and that was to inquire where she was. Graham was on his way to Waukesha and followed E. B. Monahan, driver of a Walter's coach, west bound.

Gerald Smirl, driver of the green bus, testified that he was the first to strike the truck while driving east. At the Curtiss road Verburt attempted to come onto Highway No. 41 from the north or to the left of Smirl. The two vehicles collided, ripping the running board from the left side of the green bus. Smirl said he drove down the road a short distance and the truck driver stopped his truck on the left side of the road facing east.

Talk of Damages

He and Verburt had some conversation over the damages done when Monahan, driving a Walter's coach, came from the east. Monahan testified that his car struck the truck which was on the left hand side of the road facing east or on the same side of the road where he was traveling. When he neared the truck he saw a driver—who afterwards proved to be Gerald Smirl—whose green bus had just collided with the truck.

When within about 10 feet of the truck he sighted it and turned to the left, a hub cap of his coach striking the truck as his car skidded. Monahan said he drove down the road a short distance and yelled to the driver to come to him. In the meantime, he added, Verburt drove the truck to the right side of the road, facing east. Smirl by this time had proceeded on his way.

While talking to Verburt, Carl Gerbensky approached from the west and collided with the truck which was then on the right hand side of the road with at least two of the left wheels on the concrete and possibly all four, according to the witness.

Lester Frank, one of the passengers, stated Gerbensky was driving slowly, around 15 miles an hour, and that the truck had no lights. Miss Enders corroborated the testimony of Frank, adding that she could not see beyond the hood of the car. She said she particularly watched the speedometer and that the coach was driven at the rate of 20 to 25 miles an hour on the highlands and from 15 to 18 on the low stretches. She added she never saw the truck. Smirl also testified that the truck's lamps were not lighted.

Testimony of the two principal witnesses, Gerbensky and Verburt, was taken this afternoon following a recess.

The jury is to determine when, in what manner and by what means Mrs. Jones came to her death, and if any party, or parties, is believed responsible, the jury is to make known the name.

LOCAL OFFICERS DISFAVOR SEMI-TAX PAYMENTS

SEE NO ADVANTAGE AND DOUBLE EXPENSE IN PLAN UP TO LEGISLATURE

Semi-annual payment of taxes, which is provided in a bill now before the Wisconsin legislature and which was disapproved by the Waukesha county board of supervisors at its last session, is not an improvement over the present system and would entail a great deal more expense, was the opinion of County Treasurer Daniel Pierner today.

"I can see no great advantage in the payment twice a year," said Treasurer Pierner, "and the cost of operation would be doubled. The fact that the payments would be smaller at each tax paying period than when paid but once a year would have no effect on the clerical cost necessary. It requires the same amount of assistance and time and if this expense is to occur twice a year where now it happens but once, the cost in collection of taxes would be just doubled.

"Of course the proponents of the plan contend it is not so great a hardship to pay twice a year in smaller amounts but I believe it makes little difference to the average taxpayer. The system is employed in many states where it seems to set well and once in force in Wisconsin there might not be much objection to it, but as long as there is little demand either one way or the other I should be of the opinion that it remain as it has in the past and thereby save the additional collection expense."

County Clerk William Koehler stated another angle which is of vital importance to the farmers. A semi-annual system would mean that one payment period would come during the summer months. At this time, Clerk Koehler explained, the farmer-taxpayers are extremely busy and the town treasurers, many of whom are farmers, would find it as difficult to find time to make the collection as the farmers would in making the payments. r. Koehler said that personally he did not care which system was employed.

Ross Opposed to Plan

John Ross also expressed an opinion that the semi-annual payments were of no advantage and would not work well, except possibly in the cities. In the rural districts the plan would be a failure, he said. Speaking of other matters of interest, Mr. Ross prophesied that within five years the county would take over all roads in the county, maintain them, and make repairs. The county has the equipment, material and men acquired during the road building program in this county, said Mr. Ross, and can do the work at half the cost which is now required by the towns to build and maintain their own roads.

CODE OF ETHICS WISCONSIN PRESS APPROVED, ADOPTED

The Wisconsin Press association unanimously adopted the following Code of Ethics as presented at its meeting in Madison last week by Professor Willard G. Bleyer, director of the University of Wisconsin course in journalism, and voted to give it as wide publicity as possible through the newspapers of its members:

"We believe that journalism is an honorable profession, essential to the welfare of society.

"We believe that the success of democratic government depends upon sound public opinion, and that the newspaper should aid in creating and maintaining sound public opinion by publishing significant news and editorial interpretation of news.

"We believe that newspaper writers and editors should be adequately prepared for the great responsibilities placed upon them.

"We believe that a newspaper should publish the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth concerning all matters of importance to readers as citizens of the community, the state, and the nation.

"We believe that a newspaper that goes into the home should publish nothing that cannot be read aloud in the family circle.

"We believe that news of crime, scandal, and vice should be presented in such a manner as to deter readers from attempting to imitate the criminal and the vicious.

"We believe that all persons and all organizations are entitled to fair play in the columns of the newspaper.

"We believe in the right of privacy of individuals in all matters not of public concern.

"We believe that no propaganda or publicity matter should be published unless it contains information to which readers are entitled, and that whenever such material is printed, its source should be plainly indicated.

"We believe that editorials should present the truth as the writer sees it, uncolored by bias, prejudice, or partisanship.

"We believe that neither the business interests of a newspaper nor any outside influence should interfere with the publication of the truth in news or editorials.

"We believe that the purpose of newspaper advertising is to create a demand for commodities or services, to inform readers, not to mislead or defraud them.

"We believe that advertisements should be as clean and wholesome as news and editorials.

"We believe that rates for subscriptions and advertisements should be sufficient to insure the publisher a fair profit.

"We believe that all statements of circulation should give the actual number—bona fide subscribers.

"We believe that only such newspapers as maintain the highest standards of truth, honesty, and decency in news, editorials, and advertisements deserve the support of the community."

JOHN ROBERTS TELLS OF CALIFORNIA MOTORING

John Roberts, until lately a resident on Arcadian avenue, this city, who is now residing in California, writes to his friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Linder, Oakland avenue, concerning some of his automobile trips, as follows:

"The last trip we made over the mountains took us three days. We crossed the Rockies, the Mohave desert, the Sierra mountains, and up the San Joaquin valley, to Bakersfield. There we stopped for lunch. In backing out from the curb, Mr. Bean violated the rules of the road, and of course the "cop" was right there to "pinch" us. That cost us $10. We did not care so much for the fine as for the time it required to get started again. We wanted to get back over the Sierras before dark. As it was, we got over the greater part by daylight, but it was between 7 and 8 o'clock when we pulled into Rosamond.

"We stayed in Rosamond over night. Next morning we started for home. We were over the summit and were coasting with fairly good speed, when we saw a bunch of cattle in the road, chewing their cud. I knew they would not get out of our way, and as the driver did not seem to apply the brakes, I called out to 'stop her'. Well, he did, but not in time, so we ploughed right into them. One was knocked down, but I saw her get up again. Both fenders on the auto were bent. We were obliged to stop and straighten one of them as it was scraping the tire. I think we got out pretty lucky. After all, it was a lovely trip.

"I have been over to Chino, to see the Heartlets. They are both well. We have been over to Anaheim, Santa Anna, and all along the coast. It is great to drive through the beautiful groves of orange, lemon and other fruit trees. Visited Pasadena and drove all through the San Fernando valley."

BREWERY AT OCONOMOWOC IS PADLOCKED

JUDGE F. A. GEIGER ISSUES ORDER FOLLOWING HEARING. WITNESS JAILED

The plant of the Andrew Fischer Beverage company at Oconomowoc was ordered padlocked under a preliminary injunction by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger, last week.

The plant was raided by federal agents in January and the temporary closing was ordered yesterday after Martin Klude, truck driver of Fort Atkinson, made an affidavit that a truckload of beer which figured in an accident had come from the Fischer brewery.

A feature of the day long hearing was an order, suddenly made by Judge Geiger, that A. C. Borgen of Oconomowoc be confined to jail immediately "for as long a time as the court sees fit." Borgen, a witness for the beverage company, for several hours had deftly parried questions asked him. Borgen had rented a garage a mile and a half from Oconomowoc and the government was attempting to establish that beer was stored at the garage and that purchasers came there to make their transactions.

Defend Plant's Product

Walter Ross of Oconomowoc, arrested on a charge of conspiring with others in an effort to violate prohibition legislation, contended that only near beer is manufactured at the plant. Klude, the truck driver on whose affidavit the closing order was based, was in a state of intoxication at the time he was arrested, it was maintained. Arthur Barry, attorney for Ross, asserted that Klude mentioned the Fischer brewery as "the first thing that came into his mind."

Borgen was ordered into the custody of United States Marshal Richard J. White after he had been questioned for nearly two hours. Borgen gave plenty of responses, but they were of an alleged evasive nature. He admitted he had been selling beer for nearly two years, but stated that he did not remember more than three of the names of the persons who purchased from him.

Must Answer Properly

"You know more than you will tell," Judge Geiger finally told the witness. "You will be taken into custody if you do not answer truthfully and remain so until you make up your mind to answer questions properly."

The order to shut down the brewery followed a summary of evidence by Warren G. Wheeler, assistant United States attorney, that the brewery had been making real beer and through Borgen was removing it by the rear entrance as fast as it was brewed. About 30 barrels of near beer were kept in the storeroom as a "blind" so as to give visiting prohibition inspectors the impression that the plant was operating legitimately, according to Mr. Wheeler.

AGNEW UPHOLD IN CONTESTED WILL SUIT

SUPREME COURT RULES WOMAN MENTALLY INCOMPETENT TO BEQUEATH PROPERTY

A decision handed down by Judge David W. Agnew in the contested will case of Lavinia M. Williams, widow of Daniel Williams, town of Summit, was affirmed by the state supreme court, it was learned today. Judge Agnew held the woman mentally incompetent to make a will and an appeal was taken to the higher court.

Mrs. Williams made two wills prior to her death, one in 1903 and the second shortly before her death in 1922. In the 1903 document she bequeathed her property to her nieces and their children and a number of specific bequests, one of the American Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless, another bequest to the Wisconsin Home Mission society of the Congregational church and a third bequest to the Protestant Home for the Aged in Milwaukee.

In 1922 she devised her property to her nieces and the children of her husband by a previous marriage. Objections were filed to this, setting up that she was mentally incompetent to make a will. Judge Agnew found she was suffering from senile dementia and had not mental capacity to bequeath her property.

An appeal was taken and the higher court upheld the decision of Judge Agnew. Her property will now be distributed in accordance with the terms of her will made in 1903.

Mrs. Swift—Did I see you on Jack's lap last night?

Daughter—I hope so! The time is drawing near when a witness would be a great help!

The boys attended church in a body Sunday morning and gathered for a march through the town Thursday evening, followed by a lively game of "Capture the Flag," in Clark's woods. At the close of the outdoor activities they were treated to a surprise in the form of a banquet which had been secretly arranged for them by the fathers of scouts, at the Savoy. Covers were laid for 27.

The Parent-Teacher meeting Monday evening was largely attended. After a brief business session Scout Master H. Bartram gave a short talk on scout work with a few demonstrations of the things the boys do, closing with a general invitation to any boy over 12 to join the present group of 17. The scout orchestra, with Emma Bornitzky, pianist, played a number of selections. The fifth annual masquerade under the auspices of the Pewaukee Parent-Teacher association has come and gone, and in passing proved that the event was as well patronized and popular as ever. There were more than an hundred children in costume and again as many spectators. Many make-ups were very original and everyone was interested and there was scarcely any duplication of character or costume, but even among those there were no two alike.
