VOLUME XXII.

EAGLE, WAUKESHA COUNTY, WISCONSIN, FEBRUARY 7, 1913.

NUMBER 30.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Breidenbach, accompanied him for an indefinite stay. Wm. Rogan, former principal here, but who is now attending Madison university, was shaking hands with Eagle friends Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Pardee were called to Mukwonago Saturday evening on account of the serious illness of Mrs. H. Way whose death occurred Sunday.

Louis Richart of Milwaukee spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Richart.

A basket social and program will be given at the Ward school, No. 3, Friday evening, Feb. 7th. All are invited. Ladies please bring baskets.

Andrew Nold and Tom Rietgemon and family of Dousman attended the Kuetter auction.

W. H. Munger of Palmyra purchased live stock at Kuetter's sale, Tuesday. He reports our friend, Richard Jones, "allright."

Gov. McGovern and the "Bobs" in the state senate are now having a hearing at the expense of the state—why not turn the whole state over to a commission form of government, and do away with these political actors in the senate—what do we elect senators for? Do we expect them to look after Wisconsin or are they drawing pay from Wisconsin to make or break "Bob." This talk about the great reformed Wisconsin which goes abroad has poor foundation at home.

We have for sale the M. J. Keating house and if you want to buy it, call on H. M. Loibl.

Jericho school had a basket social Saturday night and had an interesting and pleasant evening.

The Ward school had a spelling bee last night.

Wm. Knight observed a bluejay Wednesday in the door yard. Is this a sign of an early spring?

Lent commenced Wednesday with appropriate services at St. Theresa church.

W. A. Donahue sold his hotel at Troy Center to Wm. Ritche.

Miss Bessie Hall is very sick at the home in Chippewa Falls.

Miss Emma Margardt and William Hackbarth were married Wednesday at Mukwonago Lutheran church. A reception at the home followed. All join in wishing them much happiness.

This man, F. G. Cowle, son-in-law of the late Dr. J. A. Rice, is on trial in circuit court charged with burning the Spring City hotel at Waukesha two years ago. He has otherwise acquired a large acquaintance in and around Waukesha.

Leo Breidenbach accompanied his uncle, John Breidenbach, to South Dak., Tuesday night. John left here several years ago. He bought farm lands with his brothers Joseph and Henry, and sisters Anna and Katherine; they are all getting along nicely. Wheat is the principal product and 2,000 bushels is the average to a farm—the farmers own the elevators and market their grain in Minneapolis.

Two per cent penalty on taxes paid in February, and this is paid to the town and not to the treasurer.

The ice harvest is on in the village and all are harvesting enough for next season's use, according to estimates.

The Chas. Kuetter auction on Tuesday was largely attended, although it was about four below zero. Geo. Cummings was the auctioneer and Frank Thomas clerk. Cows sold at good prices, going up to $37.50. On March 1st, Mr. Kuetter will move to his new home, the R. & Sprague place.

Ed. Machold entertained neighbors at cards Saturday night in honor of John Breidenbach of Dakota.

Look over your insurance policy and see if you are properly insured. If not, call at the Bank of Eagle for full information.

Miss Lucy Rundle is sick at the family home in the north part of the town.

William Gilbert, better distinguished as White Billie, died Friday and was buried in Siloam.

Mrs. Sylvia Sherman will entertain the Ladies' Helping society, Thursday, Feb. 13th, at the home of St. Valentine. All are invited.

A fire alarm from Grosse's store to telephone central, Tuesday night at about 7:30 o'clock, soon brought many to the scene. It appeared that the large building, being over heated and soon would have set ablaze the woodwork. The early evening hour made it possible to discover the smoke and prevent a general conflagration in Eagle. The adjoining stores and residence buildings eastward, would have been in great danger. There is no fire department of any kind here and when a blaze starts in a favorable locality, it will be hard to extinguish it. A few dollars in advance might save many dollars in arrears.

Grandfather Williams, near Siloam, died Sunday.

THE CONFEDERATE SPY.

(By The Third Assistant)

Repeated at Eagle opera house last Monday night, The Confederate Spy, attracted an audience which although not as large as at the preceding performance, was much more appreciative. The applause was much more demonstrative and frequent.

The players performed perfectly and for home people, who make no pretensions, the play has never been surpassed. It may be safely said it was without a flaw. The artists purpose after Lent to give a performance or two at various surrounding towns.

It is impossible to mention all names. Lila Draper, who was forgotten last time, performed beautifully. Of course everybody knows without our saying it that John Wilton is the star player and he would be wherever he is, or whatever part he plays. He is a born actor and can't help it.

Ben O'Neil, as policeman, was to use the slang of the street, a "corker." We don't want him to arrest us for spitting on the sidewalk which we sometimes do. Isabel Lins as the girl that is courted, acts her part perfectly. How is it, Isabel, have you had a lover and real practice? George Breidenbach has great talent and is eagerly watched by the whole audience. Tena Lurvey makes a model mother. Edith Smoot is so perfect no one would know her unless told.

Young Breidenbach, as the darkey, was unusually good and his song, assisted by Warren Clohisy, was good enough to be sung in Chicago. Archie Gale and the other Breidenbach boys: Henry, Leo and Ben, were hummers and will make great soldiers in case of another war like that of fifty years ago.

Warren Clohisy is entitled to great praise for bringing out and going ahead with such an enterprising performance.

Hello, Clara, I near forgot you, since your singing in the first performance was perfect, you couldn't improve it, but I guess the most of the listeners could sit and hear you sing, all the rest of their lives.

Some ladies in the audience went forward and sang a fine song, it was good.

Having no list of the players, in our haste, some maybe forgotten, but will be remembered later.

Quill Conundrums.

Archie Gale, the general manager of the Eagle Elevator, says that the road from Eagle to Little Prairie is only half as long as the road from Little Prairie to Eagle. Can anyone answer?

Miss Ona Thomas, the happy teacher in district No. 1, says that 'tis a long road from Whitewater to Eagle and a short road back.

Bank assistant, and first assistant editor of the Quill, Miss Isabel Lins, says the same problems confront her as to distances between Eagle and Madison. All right folks, you'll know how it is later on.

This is something different—Last Saturday Clyde Crawley commenced giving three-year-old "Buddy" Whettan lessons in learning his letters and took the Eagle Quill for a book. He soon was able to tell all the letters in the word Eagle and was given a vacation until Sunday morning.

Clyde called his class up Sunday morning and pointing to the letter E said: "What letter is that, 'Buddy'?" and the child answered, "It is either a spade or a diamond," and pointing to a round letter said, "and that is the joker." This youngster is the smartest boy of his age that we know or ever knew.

Monopoly—And so is this something different. E. J. Lins, president of the Eagle Telephone company, and director in many other profitable and public benefit organizations, says that the Co-operative Creamery company of Eagle, owned principally by the farmers, is the worst kind of a monopoly. Mind the words "worst kind" and "owned by farmers." Think of it! How can such things be? They—the farmers, recollect—have gone to Milwaukee and contracted to sell their cream to the Gridley Dairy company, another robber corporation (Oh, how awful), at a higher, (recollect, higher), price than the surrounding butter factories can possibly pay and make butter. The result of this is to draw patrons from the other factories, thus acting in "restraint of trade." What is the world coming to? Emphasize "is."

In the same line we want to say a word or two and more later on about the so-called "ultimate consumer." To begin with we wish they would starve. How in Sam Hill anyone can sit down in the city and complain of the high cost of living is more than we can tell. If they don't like the price what do they pay it for? There are no necessities of life. You can live on anything. Is there any law in nature requiring me to produce and you to consume? The high cost of living, here, I hope it will go higher than "Ghrooy's kite" and stay there until the consumer becomes the producer. High prices and hard times can not come together. You might as well try to stand on top of a mountain and sleep in the valley at the same instant. We have got a lot more to say but we're now tired of writing. Guess we'll get a stenographer.

One word more, though: This week's issue of the Waukesha Freeman, just at hand, gives the writer a very nice write-up. It flatters us too much. The popular editor of The Freeman mentions a partial challenge over progressiveness, corporations, etc., which we gladly accept, although maybe we started it. Mr. Youmans, please get ready for a hard hit and no hard feelings.

Obituary

We are pained to record the death of Mrs. Hiram Way of Mukwonago. Mrs. Way has been an invalid from repeated attacks of paralysis for many months. Last Saturday night, while sitting at the supper table, chatting with her husband, she was suddenly overcome and became instantly unconscious, not recovering before death relieved her at 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon. After services at the late home her body was brought to Eagle and buried in Oak Ridge cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Way was born in Waukesha June 10th, 1863. Mr. Way was her second husband and her marriage to him occurred in October, 1901. The Ways have lived in Mukwonago for thirteen years or more and Mrs. Way was a great favorite there. Being charitably inclined, she spent most of her time helping her neighbors. Death is hard to meet at any time but to her it came as a relief from constant suffering. Mrs. Way is survived by her mother, Mrs. Lambert Colyer, a daughter, Mrs. D. W. Pardee of Eagle, and her husband, Hiram Way of Mukwonago. We extend our sincerest sympathy to her sorrowing family and hope their pangs of pain will soon pass away.

NOT FAIR THAT REPT

Concerning Rural Schools in Wisconsin

MADE TO THE STATE BOARD

County Superintendents Rhoads and Other Superintendents Bitterly Denounce Recent Criticism

(From The Freeman)

"The county school superintendents of the state are up in arms against the published report of the Wisconsin state board of public affairs in relation to rural schools. They have the utmost contempt for it. They consider the report an insult to the county superintendents and a great injustice to them."

In these strong words County Superintendent of Schools George B. Rhoads gave an epitome of the feeling among his associates as it was expressed at a meeting which he attended of county superintendents in Madison last week. All but three of the seventy-one county superintendents in the state were there. Their opinion was practically unanimous concerning the report and they adopted strong resolutions expressing that opinion.

"We held an executive session," said Mr. Rhoads. "Supt. Cary presided and each man was asked to tell frankly about the situation in his own county. It was plain that the extraordinary cases cited in the report were isolated and extreme cases, not in any sense typical."

"The report makes much of one case where a school was held in a private house, and the owner of the house was paid rent and certain other expenses for the use of the room, his own child being the only pupil. This case was in Sawyer county, and the pupil in question, a girl of fifteen, lived ten miles from the village of Winter. The school board debated whether it would be best for the girl to come to Winter and attend school there, or have a teacher sent out to her home. And because it was not considered wise to bring a fifteen-year-old, unprotected girl to Winter, the teacher was sent out to her home. The school room was the second floor of a log house, comfortable and clean, and the girl's father was paid something for the use of the room."

"You remember a similar situation prevailed in the Dietz case. A school was held in his house and his children were the only pupils. Dietz had a fight with some of the school officers over the claim which he made for receiving pay as janitor."

"The incident of the purchase of a wrestling mat for $140 and some other things to go with it, mentioned in the report, also took place at Winter—eight or ten years ago. People at Winter knew there was grafting at that time. The investigators asked to see the books and dug up this old record, without explaining when it happened."

"Another spectacular instance noted in the report happened in Walworth county. There was an old battered building, of which the boys had kicked a hole through the roof, and adjoining it was a $2,000 pig pen. The investigators failed to note that this building had not been repaired because the district was planning to build a new one. Before the report was printed, however, a new $2,500 school house had been erected by that district."

Asked about the investigation in this county, Mr. Rhoads said that one of the corps, H. L. Brittan, had visited his office and remained about a half hour. He did not ask questions about affairs in the county, said Mr. Rhoads, but talked about the qualifications of teachers.

"The young men who secured the data in this state were students of the New York School for Statistical Investigation," continued Mr. Rhoads, "and this was their practice trip. They were sent out to report something and had to find something to report. We feel that it is not fair to judge the schools of Wisconsin from the exceptional and isolated instances reported."

"In my own experience with the school boards I find much inaccuracy in bookkeeping but no dishonesty. Explanation of figures is often needed and always forthcoming. But I do not know of one dollar dishonestly expended by any school board member in this county."

The county superintendents also discussed the recommendation made by the investigators that school affairs be entrusted to county boards of education, elected by the people, who shall appoint the county superintendent after civil service examination. The superintendents voted 42 to 20 against it.

THE STATE SANATORIUM

The following letter by a patient at the State Sanatorium at Wales, printed in his home paper, The Oshkosh Northwestern, gives an interesting picture of life at that institution, and answers some questions that the editor of The Freeman has heard asked a good many times.

Wales, Dec. 8.—I write this article to give all those that have never heard of Wales Sanatorium an idea as to the life we are compelled to lead out here. The great majority of people in Wisconsin have never heard of the Wales Sanatorium. If they have, they have only a remote idea about the life that consumptives have to put up with. People don't take any interest in sanatorium life. I know this to be a fact for if the people took these things seriously there would be more progress made towards the building of a county sanatorium in Winnebago county. Why is it that such slow progress is being made? It is a most humiliating fact that people are indifferent to the fact that tuberculosis has got to be wiped off the face of the earth. Wales Sanatorium is not large enough to admit all those that are afflicted with tuberculosis in this state and the building of county sanatoriums would decrease tuberculosis to a great extent.

I take the liberty of relating my personal experience at Wales Sanatorium. I have been at the Sanatorium two years. When I first arrived at the Sanatorium my condition was very bad and the chances for my recovery were exceedingly precarious. My chances were slim and so was I, being run down considerably in weight. I had one of the severest coughs on the grounds. I could hardly navigate, for I was so weak and short winded that walking a short distance would tire me and I would get out of wind to such an extent that my heart would burn and the everlasting cough would demonstrate that my case was far advanced. My appetite was very bad. I just hated the sight of food. I was compelled to stuff myself with food to keep up my vitality and at times the small amount of food I did eat, I threw up, for I coughed to such an extent that the cough would gag me. Especially after dinner did this occur and I had many a farwell dinner. But I soon got rid of the spells, and after being there two weeks I had a good appetite and commenced to gain in weight.

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince the Most Skeptical Freeman Reader

The test of time is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action. The following case is typical. Waukesha residents should be convinced. The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. Harry Greb, 632 W. Main St., Waukesha, Wis., says: "I began to suffer from a dull, dragging pain in my kidneys about a year ago and whenever I caught cold the trouble was worse. There was soreness across my loins and the kidney secretions were so unnatural that I realized that my kidneys were affected. I knew of other persons who had been relieved by Doan's Kidney Pills and I finally got this remedy at Estberg's Drug Store. The contents of a few boxes drove away the pain and lameness, restoring my kidneys to a normal condition." (Statement given in June, 1907.)

Time is the Test. Mrs. Greb was interviewed several years later and she said: "I have had no occasion to use a kidney medicine since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I gladly re-endorse this preparation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Advertisement-n.

Test is Essential. When we first come here the doctors tell us to get good and lazy, for we're compelled to keep quiet the first two weeks. If our temperature and pulse are normal at the end of two weeks the doctors give us from fifteen minutes to half an hour exercise and gradually increase it if it agrees with us. Our exercise is regulated by our pulse and temperature. We rise morning at 7 o'clock, take a cold shower bath and have breakfast at 7:30. We rest after breakfast until 10 o'clock and those of us that have exercise go out for a walk. We have dinner at 12:30 and after dinner we rest again. We usually sleep during the hours from 1 to 3 o'clock. These two hours are known as "quiet hours" and all talking and noise is forbidden during this time. At 3 o'clock we go out for a walk. We have supper at 5:30 and rest again for a while. Some of us go up to the dining hall after the meal and amuse ourselves by playing cards. We also have music, a piano and phonograph, and manage to pass away the evenings and amuse ourselves the best we can. We go to bed at 9:30. We sleep out-of-doors. Our sleeping apartments are all open in front, some of us having our beds made up in "Klondike style," that is, we take about five heavy woolen blankets and arrange them in the form of a bag. After folding them in this bag-like form we pin them together with large safety pins. This style of bed is very warm and comfortable for it's hard for the wind to penetrate the blankets.

When the weather is real cold we take a two-gallon jug filled with hot water and put it at the foot of our bed and this jug keeps warm until morning. We are supposed to remain outside the entire day. Only at meal-times and when we dress do we remain indoors. We have large lockers in which we have our clothes. All the patients and doctors and nurses eat in one large dining room. We have three doctors and ten nurses. I am more than pleased at the courtesy we receive from the doctors and nurses. We have seven cottages, three for women and four for men, and an infirmary. Every cottage is named; those of the women being called Chippewa, Oneida and Kewau-naw; those of the men being called Calumet, Ontario, Shawano and Wau-shara. Each cottage accommodates twenty patients; that is all save the Wau-shara cottage, which accommodates forty. The Wau-shara cottage has been occupied five months, and is a two-story building. We are given a set of rules when we arrive at the sanatorium, which are to be read over carefully and signed by the patients. We are supposed to conduct ourselves according to these rules and anyone violating the rules will be discharged by Dr. Coon, our superintendent.

Discipline is Strict. The discipline here is rather strict, but such is essential for regaining our health. The use of tobacco and intoxicating liquors is strictly forbidden, and expectorating on the grounds or on the highways is also strictly forbidden. We are furnished with burnable and waterproof sputum cups in which we deposit all our sputum.

We change these sputum cups twice a day. Expectorating in any place but these cups is an unpardonable crime.

We are served with good wholesome food. Milk and eggs are made a specialty of. We have chicken for dinner every Sunday and fish on Friday. We are allowed to go home for a visit every three months if our condition is favorable. We have our sputum examined once every month and when no bacilli or germs are found in the sputum we are pronounced negative. It's necessary to be negative three months in order to be pronounced cured. The germs found in our sputum are classified in classes from 1 to 10. The higher we are classified the more germs we have. We have our lungs examined every two months, after which the doctors inform us as to the improvement we have made.

We are having an amusement hall built, which will be completed in about two months. The scenery here is very beautiful especially in the summer time. The scenes are exceedingly picturesque. The country is very hilly and woody.

I could write more about Wales Sanatorium. I have only related the essentials of the life here. I trust that I have demonstrated all the particulars connected with the Sanatorium, and hope that people will take more interest in Sanatoriums and be reconciled to the fact that all people are in duty bound to assist in wiping out tuberculosis.

Yours for health,
EDWARD KROENIG.

WISCONSIN BIRDS

Listed by a Local Committee at Whitewater in 1912

Whitewater has a voluntary committee composed of adults, boys and girls, who make it their duty to list all the different varieties of bird life that come under their observation each year and it is an organization of which there might well be one in every locality. This committee recently made a report which was published in The Register and as it will have an interest to lovers of birds at Waukesha as well as at Whitewater portions of the same are reproduced here.

The report says: By request and through the kindness of The Register we give below the year's bird list, dating from Dec. 1, 1911. In 1906 we made our first report and had 138 birds. The number in the list has increased each succeeding year until the present contains 198. After discarding all birds of uncertain identity, the general list for the six years has 223 species which represents much painstaking effort on the part of the reporting committee for the Whitewater district. This committee includes all boys and girls interested in birds, and nine adults. Since there is no limit to the number on the committee, we should be glad to have all bird lovers join in the work.

A rare bird visitor in 1908 was a lone passenger pigeon. It is quite doubtful if any have been seen since that year in this state.

The birds listed in 1912 were as follows:

Great, least.
Blackbird—Cow, crow, (bronzed), red-winged, rusty, yellow-headed.
Bobolink.
Bob White.
Brownthrasher.
Bunting indigo.
Chicadee, black-cap.
Chewink, (towhee).
Coot.
Crane, sand-bill.
Creeper, brown.
Crow.
Cuckoo, black-billed, yellow-billed.
Dickcissel.
Dove, mourning.

It is a world's fair on a smaller scale than the World's Columbian exposition but reproducing the scenery and the town and village homes and buildings of a score of the most remote and little known countries of the earth. While the purpose of The World in Chicago is to show the progress of Christian civilization in every part of the world, the nature of the exposition is such that it will be of interest to thousands of people who do not go to church.

A visit to The World in Chicago will be like a trip around the world. The exposition will be made up of life-like scenes of foreign lands, such as Japan, China, India, the various Mohammedan lands, Africa, and sections of the United States in which the work of missionaries is carried on. Each section will be surrounded by beautifully painted scenery reproducing that of each country. Inside these scenes will be reproductions of the structures which a visitor to foreign lands might look upon. In all there will be between thirty-five and forty of these scenes or sections.

Never before has so great an educational and religious enterprise been projected. Thousands of people are being enrolled from nearly five hundred churches in Chicago and vicinity as volunteer helpers. They will impersonate the natives of each country and most of them will wear characteristic costumes. By careful study in training classes they are preparing themselves to give demonstrations of native life, to answer the questions of visitors and explain everything which a person will see at the exposition. Being on duty in the particular section to which they are assigned, they will give to the exposition a touch of realistic native life and color, so that visitors with even the slightest imaginations can believe themselves miles away from Chicago in a distant land or in some far-away part of America.

The great musical feature of The World in Chicago will be the Pageant of Darkness and Light. This will be presented at the Auditorium theatre, which seats 4,000 people, every afternoon and evening during the five weeks of the exposition, each presentation occupying two hours and a half. Beginning in February, approximately 6,000 persons will commence rehearsing for participation in this great musical production, about 3,000 for the grand choir and 3,000 for the dramatic parts. The pageant is a musical drama of the great events in the history of Christian missions. It has been called a missionary grand opera. There are five brilliant episodes or acts, filled with life, action and color, taken from the four quarters of the earth. The music is of high class, rich in descriptive quality. Each episode works up to a thrilling and dramatic climax.

The World in Chicago is incorporated under the laws of Illinois and the officers and directors are Chicago men. The total expenses are estimated at $135,000. Three hundred prominent business men of Chicago have subscribed to a guarantee fund, amounting thus far to $100,000, to finance the enterprise. It is not the purpose of The World in Chicago to make a profit, but to spread accurate knowledge of the great work of Christianizing the world. The expectation, however, is to make all expenses and repay the amount which the guarantors have advanced. Should there be any profit it will be applied to the furtherance of missionary education. Similar expositions have been held in London, Boston, Cincinnati and Baltimore, but The World in Chicago is planned on a larger scale than any. Close to a million visitors are expected to the exposition and pageant during the five weeks they are open.

Got Strong and Well Again at Small Cost.

Miss Alta Abel, of West Baden, Ind., says: "I was a complete wreck, always tired, worn out and nervous. I had to spend about one-third of my time in bed and my life was not worth living. Vinol, your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, was recommended, and it has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took in my life. That nervous and tired feeling is all gone. I have gained in health, flesh and strength, until I feel like another person."

Vinol is the most efficient strength-giver for such women. It is the medicinal elements of the cods' livers contained in Vinol, aided by the blood-making and strengthening properties of tonic iron, which makes it so far superior to all other tonics to build up health and strength for weak, tired, ailing women. It contains no oil and has a delicious taste.

We give back your money if Vinol does not do all that we claim. P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it. Estberg's Drug Store, Hugo Hoeveler, Prop., Waukesha, Wis.—Advertisement

GOOD NEWS FOR THE WISCONSIN FARMER

Quoting A. D. Campbell, manager of the Wisconsin Advancement Association, The Milwaukee News claims the 1911 alfalfa crop in Wisconsin showed an average yield higher than that of any other state, although in 1910 we ranked ninth in this regard.
"Alfalfa growing," says The News, "is a comparatively new undertaking in Wisconsin, and yet, according to an authentic table compiled two years ago, Wisconsin had at that time a greater acreage than any other state east of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, excepting five."
"The average yield per acre in 1910 was 2.77. This year it was 4.4. These figures seem to support the conjecture that this state has probably jumped to first place. The alfalfa acreage in Wisconsin is estimated to exceed 30,000 acres."—La Crosse Tribune.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE RURAL SCHOOLS

Believed It Will Be the Means of Strengthening and Improving Them

"Consolidation is the only way out of the troubles of 95 per cent of the rural schools in Wisconsin," declares Prof. M. V. O'Shea of the department of education of the University of Wisconsin.

"It is more or less idle to speculate on the blessings that would flow to the rural schools of this state from proper supervision unless the schools can be joined together so that the time and energy of supervisors can be economized."

"Effective oversight of the country schools in most of the counties would cost as much as, if not more than, is now expended for the schools themselves; and even then there would be some difficulties which could not be overcome, because the schools could not be graded, they could not be properly equipped for dynamic teaching of various subjects and the requirements for proper sanitation, heating, lighting and ventilation, could not be met in some districts without expending an amount of money which the people could not provide."

"A number of committees and commissions have this year made substantially the same recommendations for legislation, and it is now up to the legislature to go to it, and give us laws adapted to the needs of the hour."

BADGER YIELDS SUPREME

An Editorial of a Kind Which Should be More Common

Fond du Lac Reporter.—For years hundreds have been searching for the land of plenty. Some have found it, others have not. For the benefit of the letter we take pleasure in announcing that Wisconsin is "the land of plenty" in every sense that those words imply. Statistics compiled by the government have proven beyond dispute that the average yield of Badger farms in proportion to their size and products grown far exceeds that of similar farms in practically every part of the nation. The rapid development of scientific farming throughout the state has made this increase in productivity possible and a still greater growth may be expected as more agriculturists adopt the latest and practically inexpensive methods of conducting their farms. True, other states have scientific farming, but lack the other advantages in the way of soil, climate, etc., that Wisconsin affords. It is only natural then, that the Badgers should take the lead and retain it. There is still plenty of farm land to be secured in Wisconsin, but it is going fast as the people realize what this state offers them. The rapidity with which uncultivated portions of Wisconsin are being settled is the best indication needed of the still greater success that Badgers are to derive in the future through their agricultural activities.

All railroad men are prone to kidney and bladder troubles, due to the constant vibration of the cars. Foley Kidney Pills are a bracing and strengthening kidney medicine that will always help. ## Wonderful for Baths

The Palmyra Enterprise says: "Dr. Henry Fleishauer of Chicago was here Monday as the guest of Supt. A. J. Thorne and inspected the soil on the southeast shore of Spring lake, where Mr. Thorne's farm reaches down to the water. The doctor pronounced the deposit the most wonderful he had ever seen, either at the mud bath institutions of this country or of Europe. He had previously examined the soil as shipped to him for test and came out for further investigation of it and the location. A promised report of the composition of the soil has not reached us at the time of going to press but we expect to have it later."
Dr. Fleishauer was for some time manager of the Moor baths in this city. He resigned his position late in the summer.

Time Still Remains

In the winter of the great snow—that was some thirty years ago—the heavy storms did not begin until Feb. 17, thus it may be seen that we may still be subject to a long hard pull before summer comes. In that year the ground was still deep in snow on April 15 and occasional snow banks remained during the first week of May. Spring, from a weather standpoint, was nearly a minus quantity. Winter to summer was the order.

A representative of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of Aberdeen, S. D., was here Thursday attempting to secure facts that would confirm the death of Ferdinand Holzer, a former resident of this place. It seems that Holzer, who had been living in Dakota, disappeared about seven years ago and has not been heard from since. He carried insurance in the above mentioned order and his wife has recently made application for the amount, believing her husband to be dead. The investigator was referred to Lawrence Holzer, a brother, who resides at South Milwaukee.

The Western Union Telegraph office which has heretofore been located at the C. M. & St. P. station, will be transferred to the local central telephone office to-day and the telegram business of this village and vicinity will be handled there henceforth. Telephone Manager R. S. McCann will be the agent.

WANT LOWER RATE

People Along Electric Line Claim Discriminations Are Made

Calhoun, Feb. 4.—For some time the citizens of Calhoun have felt that the fare on the electric cars from Calhoun to West Allis is out of proportion in comparison with the fare between other points. The distance from Calhoun to West Allis is the same as the distance from Calhoun to Waukesha, which is six miles, while the fare from Calhoun to West Allis is 20 cents and the fare from Calhoun to Waukesha is 10 cents. Another point: Citizens in Waukesha pay 50 cents round trip to Milwaukee, while the citizens of Calhoun, living six miles nearer Milwaukee, also pay 50 cents. After petitioning T. M. E. R. & L. Co. twice Robert Schneider applied to the railroad commission at Madison, which gave him a hearing at the city hall, Milwaukee. No one came forward to hire a lawyer to defend the case so Mr. Schneider, in behalf of the citizens here, gave the testimony. The trial comes off at some later date and if a reduction is secured we can thank Mr. Schneider. After being quarantined for three weeks P. L. Burns was released on Tuesday by Health Officer Dr. Nixon, who thoroughly fumigated the Burns residence.—Mrs. J. Thomas had charge of the singing. The services were appropriate and impressive. Mr. Jones was a veteran of the civil war and took great interest in relating his experiences while marching through Georgia.
