Edward Morgan.

Edward Morgan died at the Soldiers' Home, Milwaukee, March 22, aged 80 Mr. Morgan was an uncle of years. Mrs. Lydia Monroe, East avenue, and was well known here. He was one of the first to serve his country, having been enlisted in the Second Wisconsin regiment, Co. K, and fought at the Battle of Bull Run and was later transferred to the heavy artillery. He served his full time, along the Potomac, on Arlington Heights and other places. His death came after an illness of some months.

Mrs. E. J. Hemmings.

Mrs. E. J. Hemmings, who passed away March 3 in Chicago, had lived in Pewaukee for over forty years and for many years she had been a teach-er of music. She had been a sufferer for many years of physical weakness. For the year or so past she had been living with her grand-daughter, Mrs. E. C. Smith, in Chicago. She became so prostrated that she was taken to a hospital, where after about three veeks of severe suffering she passed to that rest that had long inspired her life with rare endurance. The cause of death was dropsy and heart failure. Mrs. Hemmings' life and character were very close to perfection. She had a faith that was sublime, that was substance. The firmly believed that the ills and sorrows of life were intended for refinement and culture of the soul and made practical use of that faith. Here was an example of patience and the influence and the beauty of her life will long abide in the town where she lived so many

Preserving Prosperity

In order to preserve ideal financial conditions and uninterupted prosperity abiding confidence between bankers and the people is necessary.

It is not enough for the one to trust and support the other in fair weather only.

The Waukesha National Bank rejoices in the bond of mutual confidence which exists between it and the people of this community. With such a relationship we can discern nothing but the greatest promise for the future.

With the use of fur in milady's wardrobe from shoe top to bonnet comes a new spring style for amusements. San Diego has set herself as an American Paris and is offering the first

"fur-lined joy street" on record.
Officials of the Panama-California International Exposition insist that the fur lining is no reflection on the far famed California climate, or suggest that the new concessions are in any manner "frosts." The exposition has contracted for a hundred wild animals including lions, leopards, pumas, lynx, hyenas, bears and monkeys, found in the best regulated zoos; and these are being placed in cages along 800 feet of the exposition amusement street.

The Science and Education building containing, among other great exhibits, the display of the Smithsonian Institution, collection owned by the French government was placed on display in the Fine Arts building February 12. This collection of eighty paintings, valued at more than $500,000, has been one of the great attractions for American tourists abroad and the opportunity is afforded this year to see these paintings at San Diego. The French exhibits are being installed in the California building.

STATE WELL REPRESENTED NAVAL LEAGDE CONVENTION

Washington, March 14:-Plans for sending a strong delegation from Wisconsin to the eleventh annual convention of the Navy League of the United States are being worked out by Mr. Charles C. West of Manitowoc. The convention is to be held in Washington March 27 to 30, and it will include a visit to Annapolis in which the delegates will be given the opportunity of witnessing all the activities of the Naval academy.

The list of speakers for the convention has been arranged by the board of directors of the league. An effort was made to have every section of the country well represented on this list.. One of the main objects of the convention will be to expedite national defense legislation, and to this end speakers recognized as authorities in their chosen subjects will be selected. More than a thousand delegates are expected to take part in the four day convention, which is to be held at the Willard hotel. Telegrams were sent out recently from national headquarters to thirty-two state chairmen the league and several chairmen of important sections, including Mr. Charles C. West of Manitowoc as fol-

Responses to this have been numerous. In every part of the country leading members of the Navy League, which is the oldest of the national defense organizations, are arranging to have the most representative workers for preparedness attend the meeting.

A tentative list of subjects to be discussed and considered at the convention includes the following:

"What should a well proportioned STATE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS fleet include?"

"What should be the personnel of the United States navy?"
"What should be the work of the real general staff?"

"What are the advantages of the budget system?" "Standardization of fast motor boats for the third line of naval defense." "Development of a large volunteer naval reserve, including patrol boat squadrons and men." Another subject that will be given considerable expert attention will be that of "Naval Plattsburgs" or naval reserve training camps, plans for which are being worked out by the naval reserve committee of the league. Most of the prominent yachtsmen along the Atlantic coast and inland waterways, and many from the Pacific coast will attend the convention. The whole country, especially sea coast communities, has become interested in the plan of the naval reserve committee. Some time ago the navy department approved plans for a camp of this kind at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, near Chicago, at the request of ten thousand citizens who signed petitions. A large delegation will attend the convention from Chicago and tell in detail of the plans made for the camp there, which has is open. The famous Luxemburg art met with the enthusiastic approval of yachtsmen and motorboat owners. Petitions for a camp at the Newport Naval Training station, on Narragansett Bay, are now being circulated by the naval reserve committee of the Navy League, and more than six thousand signatures have been received. There is also a demand for such camps at Philadelphia, at Norfolk, and at a point to be designated later along the Pacific cosat.
