GEORGE M. COHAN in "BROADWAY JONES"

Art Craft Picture Corporation presents

THE CAREER OF GEORGE M. COHAN

As a distributor of mirth and general good cheer, it is safe to say that George M. Cohan has no equal on the stage to-day. Quite the most dominant, popular and conspicuous figure we have had in the amusement field for a decade. Mr. Cohan, seemingly at will, turns out a successful play, a fascinating song number, evolves a rapid fire farce or dramatizes a novel, always with the sure touch of the genius that marks the student who has acquired the knowledge of the stage and its technique at first hand and therefore presents his work with absolute authority. His recent affiliation with the Artcraft Pictures Corporation, marked the advent to the motion picture industry of another acquisition of great import to the future of the art.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP FOR WOMEN

(Theodora W. Youmans, editor)

This department has changed its name. It still remains a woman suffrage department but it takes on new characteristics. It will aim to help the women of this county to prepare for the duties which have been laid upon them by the legislature in giving them the right to vote for Presidential electors, and for the still broader duties which will come to them when the partial suffrage they now have gives place to full suffrage, the same as that enjoyed by men.

It is a real pleasure to announce that this department will include in a forthcoming issue, perhaps next week, an article written especially for the department by Mrs. Alura Collins Hollister of Dodge Corners, and devoted to a record of the writing and passage of the law giving Wisconsin women the right to vote in school affairs. Mrs. Hollister, then Miss Collins, wrote the law herself many years ago, and it was then submitted to the state legislature and was passed. In view of the suffrage laws passed by the present legislature Mrs. Hollister's reminiscences will be of special interest.

Do readers get tired of the listing of advancement in the acquisition of suffrage by women, as announced in these columns? They are of real importance since each step means a nearer approach to that political quality which is our especial aim. We have made many steps this winter. Eight states have provided that the women of these states shall have the right to vote for presidential electors. These states are Indiana, Maine, Minnesota, Vermont, Missouri, Wisconsin, Tennessee and Iowa. The governors of all these states have signed the presidential bill except the governor of Vermont, who vetoed it. His veto is under challenge since there is a question whether the measure requires the signature of the executive. Section 1, Article 2, of the constitution of the United States places the choice of presidential electors directly in the hands of the state legislatures.

Fifteen and one half million women, over twenty-one years of age, will have the right to vote for presidential electors in November, 1920. It will be an extremely important election, since all the great questions of reconstruction will center in the party platforms and their candidates. In Wisconsin in November, 1916, there were 447,134 votes cast by men only for presidential electors. The number of women eligible to vote in 1920 will be somewhat less than that because there are, or were at the last census, 83,296 more men than women in this state. However, more than 400,000 women will be eligible to vote and unless Wisconsin women are different from their sisters in other states a large percentage of these will go to the polls on election day. Their presence and votes will inject into Wisconsin politics an entirely new element. Many of them are inclined toward one of the major or minor parties but they are by no means so partisan as men. They are becoming keenly interested in public affairs. The war taught women a lesson which they can never forget that public affairs are their affairs, that laws passed by legislatures and congress have a direct and vital influence on their families and their homes. Women will scan platforms and candidates carefully before they cast their ballots.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties have shown themselves cordial toward the recognition of women in party affairs. Each of the two major parties has a woman's auxiliary with a chairman who is expected to interest and as far as possible attract women to her own standard. Mrs. George Bass is at the head of the Democratic and Mrs. Medill McCormick at the head of the Republican woman's auxiliary. Both women are recognized as of great political influence. Mrs. McCormick is the daughter of the late Senator Mark

THE GREAT WAR FLEET.

Miss Carrie Robinson Writes from New York, of Seeing the Sights.

Miss Carrie Robinson, who is serving as librarian in one of the New York war libraries, writes to her mother, Mrs. Lettie I. Robinson, of many interesting experiences. She attended Easter services at St. Patrick's cathedral and was much impressed by the pomp and ceremony. She has also been visiting the war vessels anchored in the river. She writes: "The fleet is at anchor in the Hudson, with fourteen dreadnaughts, any number of destroyers, submarine chasers, etc. Visiting hours are from 3 to 5 and the ships send launches back and forth to the dock. We decided to go on board the Pennsylvania and a marine showed us around and explained everything. We saw the enormous switchboards which control all the electric current used in the ship. I was particularly interested in the navigating room, way down below the water-line, and the sick-bay and operating room, so immaculate and complete.

"It is a great sight to see all those enormous gray ships up and down the river in the day-time, but last night was the real thriller. The ships are anchored from Fiftieth to One Hundred and Twentieth streets and each one has six or eight search lights. Last night they were all turned on and I never saw anything so beautiful.

This was the great search-light show staged in honor of the opening of the Victory loan campaign. The twelve superdreadnaughts of the Atlantic fleet, then at anchor, brought into play more than a hundred giant searchlights. From 8 o'clock, when the flagship, Pennsylvania, started the show with her big forward lights, until 10:30 P. M., the Hudson between Fifty-seventh street and Fort Washington Point was a fairland of dancing beams, the display at times reminding one of a great lightning display, the only thing that kept the illusion from seeming real the absence of thunder. It was estimated that more than 300,000 persons witnessed the Hanna, trained from her childhood in political affairs. Mrs. Bass is a former Manitowoc, Wisconsin, woman, able and active.

The end of the so-called children's year, inaugurated April 6, 1918, came on April 6, 1919. Never before in a similar length of time have so many things been done for the health, education, and well-being of children. Tangible things, seemingly impossible, have been accomplished, but the intangibles hold the place of honor. For though one may reckon the number of children weighed and measured, the health centers opened, the public health nurses employed, the chief thing has been the educational value of the campaign—the realization brought home again and again that no child is safe until every child is safe, and that safety means effort and work which must be done, done locally, and done persistently, if there are to be real results.

It is for this reason that the Children's Bureau, speaking in behalf of the forty odd million children it was established to protect, asks for the continued and permanent cooperation of the men and women who have made Children's Year a success.

The following labor standards for women workers, prepared by the Woman's Trade Union League, are urged upon the Peace conference:

Compulsory education for children up to 16 years with part time education up to 18 years.
Abolition of child labor.
An eight-hour day and forty-four hour week.

No night work for women.
Equal opportunity for men and women in trade and technical training.
Social insurance against sickness, accident, industrial disease and unemployment.
Provision for old age and invalid pensions and maternity benefits.

The visit to Wisconsin of Madam Breshkowska, the "little grandmother of the Russian revolution" is of great interest to all who believe in real democracy. Madam Breshkowska has been fighting for the rights of the people against the iron-bound autocracy of her native land for fifty years. Thirty of those years she spent in exile in Siberia, punishment meted out to her in consequence of her active propaganda. When the Czar was deposed Madam Breshkowska was brought home to St. Petersburg in triumph, the highest honors were lavished upon her and she was judged in one of the imperial palaces. She was an ardent supporter of the Kerensky government and is violently opposed to the Bolsheviks with their program of destruction and death. She pleads for a better understanding of the Russian situation and for sympathy for a misguided people. Madam Breshkowska speaks at the Pabst Theater, Milwaukee, Sunday evening, May 4.

The appointment of Congressman A. P. Nelson, of the Eleventh Wisconsin district, to a place on the Woman Suffrage Committee of the House of Representatives is a great gratification to friends of the woman suffrage cause. This committee, under the leadership of Mr. Mann of Illinois, will at once take charge of the federal amendment as soon as the house is organized after the special session gets into working shape. During his pre-election campaign Mr. Nelson came out squarely for woman suffrage, adopting the same policy as his predecessor, Congressman, now Senator Learout.

show. Every searchlight on each side of the dreadnaughts was used in the five-mile long picture.

IN RURAL SCHOOL CIRCLES.

The diploma examination for Rural Schools will be given May 10th and 17th.

A community center was organized at Calhoun school house with plans for progressive work in the promotion of benevolent and thrift activities in its various branches. Committees thus far formed will take up Red Cross, agricultural advancement and conservation activities. A meeting was held on April 25th at which Superintendent and Mrs. Rhoads and Mrs. Bartholomew made addresses.

On April 26th the Zion school held a basket social. Mrs. Rhoads, Mrs. Bartholomew and Superintendent G. B. Rhoads addressed the meeting on Victory Loan and health problems. Enough was paid for baskets to complete the purchase of an organ for the school.

In the towns of Eagle, Delafield, Muskego, Vernon, Waukesha, Brookfield and Lisbon all the schools are receiving a flying visit by the Woman's Victory Loan committee.

All who wish the County Superintendent to furnish Early Ohio potatoes, formaldehyde treated, must send in 3 cents per pound at once. Ten pounds are sold to each person. For baby chicks the charge is 15 cents each for at least twelve chicks. For pure bred March pigs, $15.00, either in cash or a note with good security for six months at 5 per cent. interest.

Why Spend So Much Money on Shoes?

Here is what Tracy M. son of Joplin, Missouri, says of Neelin Soles: "Judging from my own experience, they wear four times longer than other soles and have the additional advantage of being waterproof and slip-proof."

Why continue to wear extravagant old-fashioned soles when you can get these money-saving, long-wearing soles on new shoes in any style you like for any member of the family? Good shoe stores everywhere carry them.

And don't throw away your old shoes. Have them re-bottomed with Neelin Soles and enjoy the comfort of a re-soled shoe which is not stiff or clumsy. Neelin Soles are a discovery of Science, and are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

DR. JAS. G. BLUE RESIGNS AS ASSISTANT PASTOR

Had Served for 10 Years in That Capacity at Pasadena, Calif. Formerly Pastor Here.

A Pasadena (Calif.) newspaper of date of April 10, contained the following article that will interest many Waukesha readers of The Freeman. Dr. Blue was the pastor for a decade, perhaps, of the Waukesha Presbyterian church some fifteen or more years ago, and is pleasantly remembered by very many of our citizens: "About sixty officials of the Pasadena Presbyterian church attended the reception given last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Freeman in honor of Dr. John Gilbert Blue, assistant pastor, the announcement of whose resignation Wednesday night caused genuine regret among his many friends. Mrs. Blue shared the honors of the evening with her husband.

"The evening was passed most pleasantly, and as one feature of the entertainment, Dr. Freeman read extracts from Ralph Connor's new book, 'The Sky Pilot in No Man's Land,' after which he presented to Dr. Blue a handsome loving cup in the name of the officers of the church. The cup bore the inscription, 'Rev. John Gilbert Blue, D. D., from the officers of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, in grateful appreciation of 10 years of faithful ministry. April, 1919.'"

DELAFIELD. Our community mourns the death of one of our finest young men, Paul Berkholtz, who died April 22, of pneumonia. Mr. Berkholtz was born in this village, in 1887, spent his childhood here, was a great favorite with all for his gentle nature and kindly ways. For many years he worked at the plumbing trade and later was employed by Road Commissioner C. J. Hahn and drove one of the large trucks up to his fatal illness. He is survived by a wife and an infant son, Paul William, Jr., who were in the Municipal hospital in Milwaukee when his illness first broke at the time of his death. Deceased also leaves two brothers, Charles, of Nagawick, and Edward, of Oshkosh; three sisters, Mrs. Hoelt, of Genesee, and Misses Sara, of Milwaukee, and Minnie, at home. Mrs. Berkholtz was formerly Winifred Walsh, who for many years was our telephone operator. The funeral was held April 26 at the residence of Mr. A. A. Aston, of Waukesha, officiating. Interment was at the village cemetery. The annual parish meeting was held at St. John's Christian church Friday. Pvt. David Bloodgood gave the Cadet corps brief talk, Sunday, on his experiences Overseas. Mrs. Emma Langlois is expected from Kansas City this week and will bring a new motor. Mrs. Wm. and Mrs. Phillip Jones, Misses Ada Nelson, Sarah and Minnie Berkholtz are recovering from influenza. Mrs. William Nickles, who had been in the hospital, is visiting in New York City. MERTON.

William John Condon, eldest son of John Condon, died Saturday at his home southeast of this village, at the age of 34 years. He was convalescing from influenza which had a relapse which developed into typhoid. Funeral services were attended at the late home and at St. Mary's church, Pewaukee, besides his parents, deceased is survived by two brothers, Andrew and Thomas, who reside on the home farm, and one sister, Mrs. Raymond Pope, of Pewaukee. Miss Isabel Sedgwick, Waukesha, spent Sunday with relatives here. Friends here regret the death of Miss Nellie Farley of Canada, a former Merton girl, following an attack of influenza. She is survived by her parents and a brother, Prof. Herbert Farley, who, for many years, taught at Lawrence university, but is now in England teaching philosophy and supervising the work in Milwaukee, after a few days spent with his parents. Mrs. Rose Mahoney and family attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, John Mahoney, North Lake, Saturday. Mrs. John P. Schneider attended a family dinner given by her sister, Mrs. Haass, Milwaukee, in observance of Mrs. Haass' birthday. Mrs. Bus, Staples, Minn., is guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Mahoney. W. W. DODGE'S CORNERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Weidemann and Mrs. Price made a hurried trip to Milwaukee last Monday morning and found themselves in a surging mass of humanity, all waiting to welcome the soldiers home. Mrs. Price's mother is somewhat better than she was last week and her family are more hopeful of her recovery, although she still has serious symptoms. Mr. and Mrs. William Hollister and Mrs. M. were in Milwaukee Tuesday afternoon of last week. Mr. Rolfs lost a cow last week, a rather serious loss these days. A goodly number attended the play at Dodge's Thursday evening and regretted that farm work, which compelled them to go late, made most of those from the country unable to attend. Those who followed the play all day. Last Thursday afternoon Lloyd Dewey and his father were repairing fences and Mr. Dewey placed his hand on the top of a post just as Lloyd, from the wagon in which he was standing, brought down with a wrench a heavy nail he was using to drive the posts. Mr. Dewey's forefinger was badly crushed. He hoped to get to the doctor's office, until Saturday when he consented to its amputation. By that time there was serious infection and Mr. Dewey's condition was not good. A trained nurse came that evening and all friends and neighbors anxiously awaited the result. Although not a case of diphtheria, as it is called, well as can be expected and we all hope the next thirty hours will see him out of danger. Several from here attended the funeral of Carrie Kearney, who was a former resident of this community. Mrs. William Hollister, daughter, Helen, and son, Raymond, spent the week-end at Troy, with her people.

NORTH PRAIRIE.

MUCH INTEREST IN COMING SALE

CALLS FOR CATALOGUES ARE VERY NUMEROUS

HOLSTEIN ASSOCIATION HAPPY

Inquiries Coming From Practically Every State in the United States.

Inquiries for catalogues and letters for information relative to the consignments to the Waukesha County Holstein-Friesian sale, on May 8 and 9, are coming in in numbers.

Breeders throughout the state and outside the state are not only interested in the sale but in the meeting on the evening before the sale, at which time Hon. D. D. Aitken, president of the National Holstein Breeders' association, will address the breeders and their friends. The arrangements for the meeting, on the evening of May 7th and for the banquet which is to be held on the evening of May 8th are in charge of the following committees: General committee—D. J. Howell, chairman; W. J. Mann, George J. Schuster, and W. L. Baird; Banquet committee—Dr. M. W. Downing, chairman; S. A. Baird, Fred Klusendorf; Entertainment committee—Robert L. Baird, O. H. Cooley, Bruce Buell.

As a large number are expected to attend these meetings and the sale, it has been found necessary to secure rooms to accommodate the out-of-town guests. Persons who have rooms to accommodate people on these days, are urged to phone Miss Carolyn Pearson, at 697J, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 6 P. M. She has the reservation of rooms in charge. In listing these rooms, kindly state the location and number of persons that can be accommodated.

Among the consignments to the sale, that are attracting interest, are: Three daughters of Bairdland Pontiac Champion, who was junior and grand champion Holstein bull at the Waukesha County Dairy show this winter. These heifers come from the herd of A. J. Mitchell & Sons.

Mr. Pabst, of Pabst Stock Farms, is consigning the best bred bull which he has on the place, the sire being Korndyke Segis Johanna, and his dam being Pabst Cornflower, a young cow which holds the state record as a four-year-old, having produced 32 lbs. of butter in one week. There will be sold a granddaughter of King of the Pontiacs, out of a 33-lb. cow owned by Graubling Bros. and Frank Ludwig of Dousman.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Jacob W. Niver. Mrs. Cynia Niver, nee Jacob Niver, died at her home on Lincoln avenue, Monday. She and Mr. Niver returned from a sojourn at their winter home in Avon Lake, Florida, the early part of April. She suffered a slight stroke of paralysis shortly after her return but seemed to be improving when a second stroke ended her life. Mrs. Niver was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hardy and was born in the township of Eagle, June 3, 1849. Most of her life was spent in the town of Mukwonago, whether the family removed to a different place. She married Mr. Niver on Thanksgiving day, 1870, and they were anticipating the celebration of their golden wedding next November. Mr. and Mrs. Niver resided on a farm in Mukwonago for many years, they resided in Ashland county for a time and have been residents of this city for a long time, ten years in their present home. Mr. Niver survives his wife. Mrs. Niver was one of a large family. She leaves surviving six brothers and sisters—Misses Sarah and Jennie Hardy, Robert Hardy, Mrs. Orin Smith, Mrs. Lincoln Smith, Waukesha; John Hardy, Pewaukee. Two brothers met death during the Civil war and two sisters also have passed away. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the residence, Rev. C. E. Bovard officiating.
