PIONEER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Mary Shortell, better known as Grandma Shortell to all in the community, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Tuohy, Saturday morning, April 7th, following a prolonged illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday, April 10th, at St. Theresa's Catholic church and interment took place at the St. Theresa cemetery. At the time of her death, the deceased was 93 years old.

She is survived by two sons, Henry Shortell and John Shortell, of Eagle, and three daughters, Mrs. John Tuohy, Eagle; Mrs. John Ryan, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Ed. Roesch, West Allis.

The deceased was born in Ireland and immigrated to the southern part of Wisconsin when a small child. Her youth was spent in the vicinity of Menomonee and Lisbon. After her marriage, at Waukesha, to Michael Shortell, she moved to Whitewater. A short time later she moved to Racine where she lived for the following ten years. She then moved to Waukesha where she lived until 1881, at that time she moved to Eagle where she spent the rest of her life. Though an invalid for nineteen years she was always cheerful and happy, with a smile and a good word for all. She was endeared to all her friends and relatives.

May Heaven be her resting place, is our sincere wish for Grandma Shortell.

VILLAGE BOARD

The village board held a meeting Monday evening and President Atkin submitted his committee appointments. Another meeting will be held Thursday evening, May 3d, at eight o'clock. Some of the lot owners would like to build a sidewalk and have asked the board to establish the grade. The meetings of the board are open to the public yet there are many who would prefer that the board publish its proceedings the same as is done in other villages.

JOINT SCHOOL DISTRICT NUMBER

At the special meeting held at the Opera Hall, Saturday evening, there were one hundred and fifty-six electors present of whom one hundred and thirty-eight voted for the resolution authorizing the school board to borrow $25,000 from the state trust funds to build a new school house. By a unanimous vote the present school site was designated for the new school house.

The school board is now in a position to call for plans and later for bids on the construction of the new building. There is some difference of opinion as to whether we should build a two story four room school house or four from one story school house with large basement. This is a matter for the board to decide. It now will become every elector's duty to assist the school board in the work before them.

DOG TRACK MEN PLAN OPENING

MILWAUKEE (U.P.) — Announcement was made today by Beeler, Chicago, director of publicity and advertising for the dog racing association which controls the track in the town of Brookfield, that plans are being made for opening the track in Waukesha county again this summer.

Richard Wilder, president of the association, was in Milwaukee and Waukesha today completing arrangements for the opening. The association intends to apply for permission from the town of Brookfield, Wilder said, and it is expected the permit to operate again this year will be granted. The official regards the meeting held recently in Brookfield, as meaning nothing in particular. He said the vote to refuse a permit for racing this season was one of acclamation and that the meeting was attended by a minority.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN

WHITEWATER, Wis.—Four thousand dollars damage was done when fire destroyed a large barn owned by George Smith here last night. The fire started when a lantern Smith was using to milk his cows, exploded. The farmer saved the cows and ten head of horses.

CRAIG CITES CASE OF UNFAIR ASSESSMENT

The following is another article written by Asa Craig, Mukwonago, on the farm and prohibition problems:

"Dear Editor—

"I thank you for the kind heading you gave my last article: 'Craig may be wrong but speaks honestly.' I have debated with myself for more than two years on the system I am presenting. Little by little I have gradually come to a standard of belief that some form of legislation can be enacted to give a practical farm relief and a practical system for bettering the wild orgies of dissipation. I am charged with abetting the very things I seek to benefit. The 2.75 per cent is classed by some as letting down the bars. Not only are the bars down, but the gate is wide open, and the question is, how can we better both conditions, the farm and the demoralization of the law?"

"Of one thing I am thoroughly convinced: farm relief can be obtained through an enacting of a law that will exempt from assessment all farm equipment that produces nothing in itself. The silo is an equipment that, like a tool, is used to prepare food for profit. In itself, there is no profit and it should be exempt the same as the milking machine. The work horses give their strength in plowing, planting, cultivating and harvesting the corn that fills the silo, and producing nothing, should be exempt. Why tax the harness, wagon, sleigh or any item of implement that is used to produce, or conserve, food for profit? I have told you the story of the corncrib, but it is so practical to the system, let me tell it again:

Is It Fair?

"A certain farmer, for more than thirty years, used a make-shift corncrib, built out of fence rails and covered with cornstalks. True, it kept his corn clean from the weather but he could not afford a better place for his corn. In a moment of determination he resolved to build a real board and shingle crib. He went to the bank and borrowed $150 and with $75 of his own money he constructed what is called a double crib, which gave a drive way through the center. The farmer was proud of his new building and when the assessor came around the next season he saw the new crib and exclaimed: 'What a wonderful crib you have got! What did it cost you?' 'Two hundred and twenty-five dollars.' 'Well, suppose we put it in at $200?' 'Is this a just assessment? In all fairness to society, why should it be taxed?' The farmer does not own it, or at least he is paying interest on $200 which built it, and that crib is producing nothing in itself. Now be fair and admit the injustice. Because these equipments have always been taxed, then we must continue to tax. This is not the spirit of the age. Progress gets out of the rut. If the farmer is of such vital benefit to the business of the country, if the depreciation of farm lands is the cause of the bankruptcy of more than 800 banks because of loans made, then why not demand an exemption that will assist a real benefit in farm relief? Why not give him a reality rather than deny them?"

"Again, why does the law demand double taxation against the debt farmer when he owns only a portion of his farm by mortgage? He pays tax on the whole farm while the mortgagee pays none. It is double taxation and some form of a just equity should come to his relief. I know the argument stands on the grounds of a demand for higher rate of interest if the mortgagee is taxed.

"It is true this condition may prevail, but in the principle of justice, do not stand for a double taxation. It is not a question of policy, but a question of right. If you mean a relief system that will mean a real benefit, then let us do something practical.

"It is practical, and just, to exempt whatever equipment goes into the labor of the farm to produce through other agencies, but in itself produces nothing. When you defend a system that gives a just exemption, a just assessment, and a living rate of interest, you are demanding a reality which means a real farm relief.

"We are now discussing in congress a low rate of interest for 'flood control.' I do not ask the government to go into its coffers and draw checks to meet the 'living rate of interest' which I have outlined in this system, for there is a way provided, but it is so radical and so terribly offensive, because of prejudice, it is without friends. This system is the proposition of the postoffice system of the United States in manufacturing 2.75 per cent beer by contract under the pure food laws—pure barley, pure hops, pure brew, pure inspection—and put up only in one package, a bottle, at a price of 10 cents, sold by tokens at the postoffice, tokens to be exchanged at any depot of supply, to be drunk at home, or any place, at desire, but under all circumstances without individual profit. Under such a system no place of resort, good or evil, will carry it in stock, for profit has been eliminated. Such a beverage has no favor, except at home, or wheresoever the party may go. Such beverage cannot be intoxicating, as its analysis is 1 to 36, and as harmless to society and morals as birch beer or pop.

Unlike Canada

"One party tells me such a system is exactly like what the Canadian government is now battling with. The difference is as great as the character of snow and mud. The Canadian law requires permits which are granted under certain conditions and is open to all forms of liquor and to individual profit. The system I have outlined is unlike it in every respect. It is a 2.75 per cent beer without profit, except to the government. It is a beverage to be denied by every saloon, resort, or soft drink parlor, because there is no individual profit.

"It is pure in every feature of its brew, its inspection, and its non-intoxicating. Do you see the difference?"

"Next week I will tell you how loans are to be made to debt farmers and made safe to the government."

"P. S. If I can show to all financial corporations a system that will make farm loans secure to the banks, or corporations, or government, then I have accomplished one valuable purpose. Such a system as I will propose will give credit to the farm, protection to the investment and a security to the family. But like the proposed exemptions on farm equipments, or a no individual profit beer at 2.75 per cent, the security system will be a radically original, you will not stop to consider its possibilities. The study I have given these questions has developed, in my mind, a system that can be utilized for the stabilization of credit, of values, of prosperity. It will restore the former stone wall of security, and raise farm loans from the depths of bankruptcy. Is such a broad statement a visionary product?"

SWIMMING POOL MOVEMENT IS UNDERWAY HERE

FINANCING PLAN TO BE PRESENTED TO CITIZENS OF WAUKESHA FOR SUPPORT

What may prove to be the last attempt to construct a swimming pool, bath house and other swimming equipment in this city was put underway at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening at which time several local citizens interested in the project met and discussed the building and financing plan as outlined by Charles Schuetze, president of the park board and sponsor of the swimming pool plan.

Mr. Schuetze presented a plan of financing in which all of Waukesha's citizens will be asked to participate. The money will be returned to the donors through fees to be charged for the use of the pool. It is the same plan which has been employed in many other communities with success and those present last evening gave reason to feel that it should be successful.

Residents will, in a few days, receive through the mails a letter telling them in detail the plan on foot together with a folder showing the pool as it will appear when completed and other information of interest. Included in the letter will be a card on which can be pledged a sum for the construction of the pool.

H. L. Horning Speaks

Mr. Schuetze who presided at the meeting last evening gave those present to understand that the plan now about to be carried out would, if not successful, close as far as he was concerned any further attempt to provide the out-of-door swimming equipment. Harry L. Horning, who was present, spoke at some length in favor of the project, believing that it was one of the things needed in the city and was something for which every resident could feel proud to support.

In addition to asking for support in the way of an investment, the sponsors ask that season tickets be purchased at the rate of $5 per person for men and women; for man and wife, $7.50, and for children, $3.00.

The pool will be 50 by 150 feet and will be complete with bath house lockers and showers. It will be operated with two super advantages as to supervision and sanitation as follows:

Supervision

A life guard constantly on duty. The elimination of all possibility of accident.

The development of physical and moral standards.

The encouragement of a program of clean competition in aquatic sports.

Sanitation

Concrete construction for cleanliness.

A filtering and chlorinating system which will completely sterilize the water every twenty-four hours.

In recognition of the importance of swimming and bathing to our ladies.

In appealing to the citizens of Waukesha to support the movement, the sponsors say:

"The approximate cost of this swimming pool with suitable bath house, which is to contain lockers, filtration system, chlorinator, toilets and shower baths, will be $25,000.00.

"Whether or not the park board can establish a modern swimming pool in this city depends on the will of the people.

"In an article contained in The Waukesha Freeman last fall announcement was made that there were twelve people drowned in the county of Waukesha last year, and there are few places left in the county for the young folk to go swimming. Even the quarry is to be drained and commercialized this year and will not be available.

"During the past year there were a number of church and lodge picnics in Buchner park, even with no facilities, and with a modern bath house which could be used for shelter in case of storm, and as a storage place of playground apparatus, and water fountains in the park, with a kitchen in the basement, which would be a valuable adjunct for picnics, the park will provide facilities for picnic parties which have never been possible before.

"The Park board is now making arrangements to build three double tennis courts on the grounds, which is it hoped can be flood-lighted so that tennis can be played after sunset.

"New and additional playground apparatus will be purchased—a baseball diamond will be put in shape within a very few weeks, and with the modern swimming pool, Buchner park would be transformed into a beautiful playground."

LOCAL WALTONIANS PLAN GUN PRACTICE

Chicago will come to Waukesha for her gunman cure if a plan to be brought up at the regular monthly meeting of the Walton League tonight is adopted. A. when the Waltonians met Thursday evening. An interesting program has been prepared and in the interests of all the good the league represents the public is invited. Bring the ladies. There will be moving pictures of bird life and Pyramid Lake. At the Y. M. C. A. Thursday at 8 o'clock.

QUESTION TOWN BOARD ON FEES TO ATTORNEYS

ASKS THAT BOARD PAY BACK MONEY SPENT FOR CHENEQUA FIGHT

A hearing held under the discovery statutes was opened at 10:15 a. m. today, in which Lillian Kinsella, resident of Merton town, asks that the attorney fees paid by the town board for legal action in opposing the incorporation of Chenequa village, be paid back to the town treasurer by board members.

The hearing was the opening gun in a new controversy by which J. V. Quares, president of the village, and the rest of the "400" are attempting to curb further action against the incorporation. Merton town through its town board has carried an appeal for a new trial to the supreme court.

The complaining witness in the 40-96 held today also asks that the town board be prevented from spending any more money for legal aid in the matter.

W. W. Dayton, town clerk, was examined this morning by Attorney Quares in regard to two claims that were allowed on December 28 for legal counsel. The amount of the claim was $700. Another claim was also allowed February 27.

At the hearing today were Alfred R. Ludvigsen, town chairman; Grover Dobbertin and Edward C. Tutte, side board members; Andrew Lund, Nels Christopherson, and Aubert A. Hays, members of the board.

In questioning the clerk today, Attorney Quares asked him whether he made any attempt to follow the statutes in regard to drawing orders for the claims. The clerk answered he did not.

LIGHTS WENT OUT; UNABLE TO READ COMPASS

WERE READY TO SHOOT COMPANIONS IF WORSE CAME TO WORSE

(The United Press is able to present herewith a detailed and connected story of the brilliant flight of the Junkers airplane Bremen westward across the Atlantic; the mental anguish of the three gallant flyers as their plane floundered through fog banks off Newfoundland; the sudden forced landing on little Greenly island; and the hardships the three flyers underwent in their bitterly cold Labrador refuge.)

By Felix McHugh

ST. JOHN'S, N. F.—(UP)—Indomitable courage, which included a preference to death from revolver bullets rather than death from exposure, spells the reason that a laughing Celt and two calm Germans were able to fly Westward across the Atlantic in an air feat that no man before had been able to accomplish.

Thirty-six hours the Bremen, the Junkers trans-Atlantic plane, rode through the Atlantic skies. Part of the time the flight was a lark through cool morning winds. The greater part, however, was a fight through fog, sleet, and vicious winds.

In those latter hours the airplane staggered through storm darkened areas as a great blind bird. Its three gallant masters—Maj. James Fitzmaurice, Captain Hermann Koehl, and Baron Gunther Von Hunefeld—peered unseeingly through the fog and winds which had turned to failure all other trans-Atlantic flight attempts, seven persons even giving their lives in unsuccessful attempts.

Then a haven—a tiny lighthouse that appeared at first to be a sailing vessel. A level stretch. There was a decision to land. The plane, its fuel exhausted, settled down, cracked through the ice, and the flight was ended.

It took the Bremen 26 hours to cross the Atlantic, the same time the three men had figured it would take them to reach Mitchell Field, L. I., from Dublin. The first 24 hours was good flying.

Of course the Bremen had to dip low over the water just as did Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when he flew to Paris a year ago, but that was to be expected. Then came nature's answer to this challenge of man.

Winds became a gale, whipping directly at the plane's propeller. The machine fought on. Fog encompassed it. Snow and sleet beat down on the wings. Darkness was about them.

They turned the switch for lights. Something had gone wrong and the lights would not work. So darkened cabin they steered on, believing they approached the North American continent—but there was no way of telling where they were.

Finally a dim light appeared on the instrument board. The three bent to see the dial.

Relief at the glow of the light turned to anxiety. They were 400 miles off their course in the direction of the North Pole. The fuel supply was rapidly diminishing. There was no view of land. At dawn Friday it was found the plane again as off its course. It was changed to due west.

A small lake appeared. Its smoothness indicated the possibility of landing place. With the gasoline almost gone, the airplane nosed down to an easy landing, then cracked through the ice, the under carriage breaking.

Stiff with cold, shaking with nervousness, and drooping from exhaustion, the three aviators stepped out of the cabin—to they knew not what.

As Miss Greta Ferris so tersely described it: "Baron cold and exhausted  ready to shoot companions if worst came to the worst."

Then the lighthouse was sighted and the Baron proceeded there. He was given dry footing but refused to eat until his two companions also were brought in.

Biscuits and fresh milk provided their meal.

JONES' FATE IN HANDS OF JURY

VERDICT IS EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON

The jury received the case this afternoon by which state through D. J. Hemlock, special prosecuting attorney, has attempted, through three days of trial, to prove Maurice Jones, 34, Wales farmer and father of three children, guilty of a serious statutory offense.

A verdict is expected this afternoon.

Judge T. W. Parkinson charged the jury just before noon after Attorney Hemlock had closed his second argument. He was preceded by Defense Attorney Henry Lockney.

The state's attorney declared that the defense has not proved that anyone else other than Jones is responsible for the month old child of the complaining witness. Although they have shown, he said, that a boy on one occasion kissed her and another put his arms around her, there is no evidence to substantially place the blame upon anyone but the defendant.

Atty. Lockney declared that Jones came into the trial unimpeached and unconvicted of any moral delinquency while the 15-year-old girl is guilty of and has been convicted of moral delinquency.

"The story of the complaining witness challenges belief," he charged.

CONFESSES HALL, MILLS CASE MURDER

EL RENO, Okla.—County authorities here announced today that Elwin F. Allen, former Oklahoma prisoner, had confessed that he was the murderer in the Hall-Mills case.

Authorities were skeptical that Allen's affidavit checked in all details of the murders of Mrs. Eleanor Mills and the Rev. Edward T. Hall, near Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 14, 1922.

TWO KILLED BY AUTO AT FALLS

CAR SKIDS FROM HIGHWAY, CRUSHING MILWAUKEEANS

Coroner John Schaeffel is investigating the deaths of Max Siegel, 27, 1420½ Center st., and Clarence Vogelsang, 29, 1596—21st st., Milwaukee, who were killed at 6:20 Monday evening a mile north of Menomonee Falls.

They were crushed when their automobile left the highway. The car, coming south on Highway 41, skidded off the road and sheared off two telephone poles.

Both men were dead when motorists extricated their bodies from the wreckage in a field near the county line.

According to witnesses, Vogelsang, who was driving, had just passed another automobile and was attempting to swing back to the crown of the road when he lost control of the machine.

Siegel, a foreman for the Cream City Roofing company, Milwaukee, is survived by his widow, Sarah, and a son, Gordon, 1 year old.

Vogelsang, also a roofer, lived with his mother, Mrs. Emma Vogelsang, at the Twenty-first street address.

PROBE LANNON SHOOTING FRAY

ONE INJURED BY BULLET FROM INN KEEPER'S GUN

Sheriff Alvin Redford Thursday investigated a shooting fray that occurred in Lannon on Tuesday evening. No report reached the sheriff until Wednesday and today there was no warrant for the arrest of George Kieder, who is said to have wounded Richard Heffner, 35, in the back.

Kreider is the proprietor of the White Star Inn at Lannon. He told the sheriff that Tuesday night Heffner and William Progg, 25, both employed with the railroad, came in and caused a disturbance. In order to frighten the two, Krieger explained, he resorted to his revolver and shot toward the floor three times.

"If you want to do some shooting, shoot me," Heffner, is quoted as saying as he lunged toward the bartender's feet. As he tumbled, Krieger fired again, striking his alleged assailant.

'IMPOSSIBLE', SAYS JUDGE HE COULDN'T

Riding four in a front seat was talked against Friday morning in municipal court by Judge T. W. Parkinson who fined Frank Brunner $5 and costs up his guilty plea to that offense.

"Two girls with you, I understand," said the judge by way of introducing his sentence. "My boy you can't pay attention to the wheel and to two girls too; I couldn't when I was your age."

The defendant had a surprised look on his face as he stood before the judge. He may have wondered what kind of automobiles there were when the judge was his age.

15 SIGN FOR RIFLE RANGE

WILL REVIVE INTEREST IN SHOOTING SPORT HERE

Charles Baxter, member of the Izaak Walton league, who is directing the inauguration of a government rifle range here, Thursday night at a regular Izaak Walton meeting secured the signatures of 15 who will support such a range. As soon as 30 or 35 signers have been obtained, he said, he will call a meeting and take definite action to ask government aid in getting rifles, targets, and ammunition.

"I know there are many here interested in a rifle range," he said, "and I am confident that the project that has a start now, can be completed." Mr. Baxter, 609 Madison st., asks that all those interested in a range sign up with him.

Several good prospects are in view at present for a site, it was said. Waukesha county has several scattered gun clubs and in the past several well-known clay pigeon shooters were developed and the proposed rifle range, supported by the government and free to the use of those interested, is expected to revive the sport, although rifle shooting is different from the clay pigeon sport.

CLUB REJECTS WALTON HOME

REFUSES GIFT BECAUSE OF UNUSUAL WORDING OF WILL

After lengthy consideration the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has declined to accept the late Martha Walton home at 319 Arlington st., to be used as a clubhouse. The home and furnishings were left to the club according to the will filed in county court by Miss Walton, who herself was a member of the club and for years a teacher in the public schools.

The club in declining the gift did so with regret and voted unanimously not to assume the responsibility of accepting the home because of the peculiar wording of the will, and all it entailed. It was then voted to take a sufficient sum from the interest of the fund left by Mrs. Clara Bacon, in her will many years ago, to pay for the use of the Women's clubhouse, for the meetings of the society when it is not convenient to entertain in the homes of members.

MANITOWOC, Wis.—A strange disease that caused the death of 10 out of a herd of 28 Holstein cattle belonging to Emil Kienast, of Rockton, was being studied today by University of Wisconsin experts in an effort to stop its spread.

A state sanitary board agent, and a number of veterinarians who already have examined the herd admit they cannot determine the nature of the infection, which has killed one animal at a time every three weeks for the last few months.
