NOTICE

Gas service will be run to Eagle and Palmyra this coming summer. The plan is to extend the line from Mukwonago through Eagle to Palmyra. Distribution system will be run in both Palmyra and Eagle, so as to cover the entire villages wherever the number of customers will justify the running of mains. Rates will be the same as the rates in Mukwonago, Whitewater, Fort Atkinson, and Jefferson. These rates are low, in fact lower than they could possibly be if it was not for the fact that gas is transmitted by high pressure from the Wisconsin Gas & Electric company large gas manufacturing plant in Racine. Gas is furnished from the Racine plant to the cities of Racine, Kenosha, Cudahy, South Milwaukee, Waukesha, Watertown, Jefferson, Lake Mills, Fort Atkinson, Whitewater, East Troy, Waterford and Rochester and is transmitted under high pressure pipe line connecting the several towns. The pressure is reduced as necessary for domestic use. Gas is economical, clean fuel and can be used to a great advantage for cooking, water heating and room heating.

FILIPINOS ACT FOR FREEDOM

Vigorous Support to King Resolution Urged

MANILA, P. I.—(UP)—Vigorous support of the King resolution, which would grant immediate independence to the Philippine Islands, was urged to a meeting of 10,000 veterans of the Philippine revolution today.

Although the mass meeting called to celebrate "national humiliation day" had been over less than 24 hours, little mention was made of race riots in California except in a resolution asking that President Hoover protect the Filipinos.

Emilio Aguinaldo was the outstanding figure at the meeting. He criticized Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, for leadership "more personal than national in interest."

Aguinaldo suggested dissolution of the Democrat and Nacionalista political parties. Such dissolution, he insisted, would enable the people to present a united front on the question of independence.

General Angel Cortes said political leaders at heart were against independence and charged they preferred the Bingham resolution, which would provide a commission to determine whether the Philippines are ready for independence.

"National humiliation day" came to a close as quietly as it had been hoped. Approximately 10,000 persons gathered in an uptown park to mourn the death of Tobera, placing wreaths upon a small monument and hearing agitation for independence.

Jose de Jesus, a native political leader, urged that the people take possession of the islands but consecutive leaders soon quieted the applause greeting his remarks.

Leaves to Visit Son Who Ran Away

MILWAUKEE — Mrs. Lydia Webb, widow of George Webb, famous years ago as rowing coach at Columbia university, was on her way to Sacramento, Calif., today to be reunited with Roy Webb, her 41-year-old son whom she has not seen since he ran away from home 27 years ago.

Mrs. Webb learned from a newspaper item Friday evening that her son was in Sacramento and anxious to see his mother. A few hours later she was on her way West. Her one regret, she said before leaving, was that her husband had not lived to be present at the reunion. Webb died six months ago and was buried in Worcester, Mass., his former home.

POLICE MASSES FOR RIOTERS

Berlin Communists Head Street Demonstrations

BERLIN—(UP)—Police reserves were massed in their barracks today, with a fleet of armored motor cars, in readiness to prevent further outbreaks by rioters.

Trouble from the unemployed groups, led by communists, who had planned renewed demonstrations today, was believed forestalled by the police preparations.

After widespread disorders, riots and bloodshed 76 communist leaders were held in jail today as a result of a raid on their headquarters.

The communists, accused of feeding the desperation of millions of unemployed workers, were rounded up at a restaurant where they were presumably planning further demonstrations today.

The Berlin police had been informed of an important meeting of communist leaders last night. A cordon of plain clothes men surrounded the entire district, waited until the meeting was under way, and then swooped down on the restaurant. Many of the prisoners were armed.

The recent violent outbreaks in Hamburg, Berlin and other industrial centers are viewed as reflecting a state of mind in the German masses which find themselves on the verge of despair.

The outbreaks are traceable to two factors, however—hunger and the vigorous communist propaganda which has had redoubled force in recent months.

The economic situation is all the more alarming because it had been expected that with an open winter, unemployment figures would be lower than in 1929. Instead, reports indicate that there are more jobless men in Germany today than at any time last year.

Technical improvements in industry, releasing workers, and the lack of capital for new industries, are viewed as the two most important reasons for lack of jobs.

The chief hope in the situation is that with Germany's economic situation stabilized by the Hague agreement, foreign capital may be induced to come to the rescue of German industry.

FRENCH NAVAL PLANS REFUSED

LONDON—(UP)—Japanese and Italian delegations to the naval conference indicated today they would not acquiesce to the French proposal to get down to definite figures in the naval requirements of each nation.

The French proposal, which is based on a demand for the right to transfer tonnage from one class of ship to another, suggested that each nation fill out before next Tuesday a blank stating respective needs in each class, such as battleships, destroyers, submarines, etc.

Italian sources, however, indicated that they must first know the requirements of France because they demand parity with her. They indicated they would refrain from filling out the blanks.

Japan was in a similar position because of its demand for an increase in ratio of strength with Britain and the United States, and therefore would desire to know the American strength before stating its own needs.

There also was a wide difference of opinion as to how many classes of ship should be considered, ranging from the British proposal to divide warships into nine categories and the Japanese insistence on five.

Japan and Italy Will Not Acquiesce in Proposals

LONDON—(UP)—Japanese and Italian delegations to the naval conference indicated today they would not acquiesce to the French proposal to get down to definite figures in the naval requirements of each nation.

BRITAIN ORDERS SHIP CANCELLATION

LONDON—Great Britain has ordered cancellation of several naval ships of various types, amounting to a cut of 50 per cent in her building program for 1929-1930, it was revealed today.

A written reply to questions in the House of Commons made by Albert V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty shows that in addition to the cancellation already announced of two 10,000-ton cruisers on the 1928-29 program, another 30,000 tons on the present program will not be built.

Alexander's reply specifically mentions the ships deleted from the list originally planned. They are: One 10,000-ton cruiser, one 7,000-ton cruiser, four destroyers, three submarines, two sloops and one net-layer.

FEDERAL PLANS ARE DESCRIBED TO FARM FOLKS

To Organize Cooperative Live Stock Marketing Groups

MADISON, WIS.—(UP)—Efforts of the federal farm board to organize cooperative livestock marketing groups into a national agency financed for $1,000,000 by the board and its extension of $5,000,000 in credit to the National Producers Feeders pool of Chicago were described today on the Farm Folks program by Martin A. Schaars of the university agricultural economics department.

"Under the adopted plan, cooperatives have untied to pool their forces and to strengthen their buying power," he said, quoting the federal farm board. "Thus, as proposed, all cooperative agencies are unifying their efforts to eliminate waste and unnecessary costs in marketing and to cooperate fully to control and direct the movement of live stock from the time it leaves the farm or ranch until it reaches the place of slaughter whatever the marketing routes may be. Included in the approved plan are necessary subsidiaries which will be set up to carry out effectively the various operations of the National Livestock Marketing association."

The $5,000,000 credit is to be used for the financing of feed lot cattle under contract to be marketed by any of the terminal commission associations which are members of the National Livestock Producers' association, he explained.

Identical Problem

"The farm problem is identical with the industrial problem," said C. D. Egley of the Farmers' Union commission, South St. Paul, who spoke concerning cooperative selling on the terminal markets.

"The same items enter in the cost of producing agricultural products that enter into the cost of manufactured products, and unless farmers can sell things they produce at the cost of production they are bound to fail.

"Industry employs experts in the nature of superintendents, etc., to work out problems of economical production. They are supplemented by a sales organization to sell the products at a price covering the cost of production, plus a profit. Agriculture colleges, until recently, are performing the same service for the farmer that the superintendent of the manufacturing plant performs for industry. Farmers' organizations are attempting to take up where the college leaves off. The methods followed is to centralize the marketing of the farmers' products on the terminal markets, and we welcomed the assistance of agricultural colleges in that effect."

PEIPING GROUP WAGES WAR ON FOOT BINDING

PEIPING—The customs correction corps of the local bureau of social welfare announces that 50,357 Chinese women have been discovered with bound feet in the former capital, and they have been instructed to unbind their feet at once.

A short period of grace is permitted the women to unbind their feet, and after the expiration of the time fixed, the corps states that a thorough check-up will be made, and those who have not complied will be punished.

Representatives of the corps have been stationed at all the gates in Peiping to watch for peasants entering the city with bound feet or men with queues. These officials are armed with large scissors, and have been instructed to snip off the queues of conservative farmers who persist in wearing the ancient hirsute adornment.

They are also instructed to warn peasant women entering the city that they will not be permitted to leave until they have unbound their feet.

The bureau states that the campaign has continued for two years against bound feet and queues, and that the time has come to stamp out this practice, regarded as pernicious, without further delay.

MRS. GOODRICH WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Elliot S. Goodrich today held a decree of divorce from her sportsman husband, William Osborn Goodrich, wealthy Milwaukeean who has taken up his residence in Africa where he owns an estate of 20,000 acres.

The decree was granted Monday afternoon by Circuit Judge C. M. Davison in the local Circuit court, and was the second important divorce granted here within the last month.

"Mr. Goodrich never liked to stay in one place very long," the plaintiff told Judge Davison. "For 14 months now he has lived in Africa and when he was in the states last October, he refused to live with me."

She told the court that four times they attempted to live together and each time their attempts ended hopelessly.

"He enjoyed belittling me before my friends and never agreed with anything I said." This assertion was borne out by Miss Bergetta Owen who has known the plaintiff for 15 years, she said.

"I have investigated this case thoroughly," J. W. Collins, divorce counsel, told the court, "and I find that reconciliation is out of the question. The parties cannot agree."

Mrs. Goodrich will receive $500 a month as alimony, the same amount she has received from her husband while he has been hunting wild game in the thick wildernesses of Africa. Her son, William, 5, will be given $25 a month additional as support money. This amount will be increased to $100 a month in case the plaintiff marries.

"What assurance have I that this man will pay according to the stipulation?" the judge asked. "Who is he anyway, a rich man or just a bum?"

"I assure you he will pay according to the stipulation," an attorney of the firm of Mack and Fairchild, Milwaukee, replied.

PARIS AUTHOR IS J. B. CORN

Works Popular With Many Americans

PARIS—A newcomer in the field of literature, the works of J. B. Corn, are having a tremendous sale in Paris. They are thoroughly modern in conception, but far from dry, and their greatest sale is with home-bound American tourists.

All of J. B. Corn's poems are bound in leather, with beautiful gold lettering. As you open the clasp to read the interior pages, you find to your surprise four neat bottles, with plenty in each to allow the mixing of a dozen cocktails.

"Poems of Spring, in four chapters," is one of the most successful of J. B. Corn's books. It is especially popular because it has an unusual form, being thicker than most books of poems, and allowing much more material inside.

There is also a "History of France" with four bottles ranging from "fine" Napoleon, of 1814, through Alsatian Kirsch, of the Franco-Prussian war years of 1870-71, on up to Victory Cognac, put into vats in 1914. The history is also quite popular when extended to two volumes.

The volume, "Biblical Stories; Christ turns water into wine," contains four very interesting chapters, one Bordeaux, others Burgundy, Angers and Moselle.

Mob Lynchs Negro After Alleged Attack

OCILLA, Ga.—Jim Irvine, a negro, was lynched by a mob today, after allegedly attacking and killing a 15 year old white girl.

The negro was beaten, then burned on a bonfire. His body later was hanged from a tree near the scene of the crime.

Irvine is said to have confessed the crime. His victim was stabbed to death.

Irvine was taken from the custody of Sheriff W. E. Tyler, who had arrested him at Mystic, Ga., 15 miles from here, several hours after the girl's body had been found by relatives yesterday.

Tyler said he was overpowered after he acquiesced to the mob's demand that he return with Irvine to the spot where the murder was committed. There a bonfire was built and the negro placed on it.

LUBNOW AND MUELLER BUY OUT BUSINESS

Waukesha's Famous Eating House Begun in Same Place 34 Years Ago

Goff's, "the restaurant that made Waukesha famous," under the same management and in the same location for 34 years, changed hands today.

But were it not for an official announcement of a change coming from Chet Goff, the former owner, the shifting of interests would never be noted. Edward Lubnow, for 27 years an employe and for several years the manager, and L. J. Mueller, for as long a time a chef, have become the new owners.

"No, I am not retiring or going on the shelf," Chet said today from his accustomed position behind the cigar counter while patrons, one after the other delivered small orange checks that bore the amounts they were indebted for eating either in the lunch counter or the dining room. "I am going to continue to be a member of the advisory committee, if you want to call it that. I may take a little rest after while, but my plans for the most part are not definite."

Mr. Goff admitted today that the change from a fireman of a locomotive in the '90's to the sole owner, operator, "chief cook and bottle-washer" of a one-horse restaurant is not an easy job.

"Hand to Mouth" "Up to fifteen years ago this thing was a hand-to-mouth proposition," Chet said in his familiar easy style. "We would make money in the summer time when people came here for vacations from all over, and then in the winter time would drop it all."

"You can say that so far as I can learn this is the oldest restaurant in the country that has operated under the same management and in the same location. For the first 20 years of existence it operated without closing its doors night or day. Now the lunch room remains open until 1:30 o'clock."

The experiences of a railway fireman who turned waiter, cook, and then owner is not a short tale, nor an insignificant one. Not long ago the editors of the American Magazine heard of Goff's restaurant and sent a feature writer here for a story, but, Mr. Goff said, "I didn't have time to go into all those details."

After two years as employe of the old Wisconsin Central it quit business. That was in 1895. Chet had no hand in the railway business quitting, but he thanks God it did.

"Like a guy out of work, I got a job as a waiter in the lunch room of Albert Andre who used to operate where the Cohn's shoe store is now. After about six months the place changed hands and once more I was out of a job," Mr. Goff reflected.

"Half a block away (on Clinton street) one door north of the present restaurant) a Swede was running a place and I got a job there for $3 a week, working 13 hours a day. The Swede said he thought I would make a good partner and suggested that we work together. He said I would need $100 to start the partnership. Things were going fine, someone signed my note for $100, and we were partners until one Saturday night he said he was going out for a shave and I have never seen him since. He emptied the cash register of $50.

"All there was left for me to do was continue. I had a couple cracked coffee cups, a tin coffee pot that held several cups of coffee, eight foot-legged stools and a cookstove that had three legs.

"It was New Years eve, 1896, that I moved where this restaurant is located now. Tommy Roach, who operated a saloon here got out, so I scrubbed the place, rented it for $12 a month and in ten minutes after I started to move I was located in the new stand, stove, cups and everything.

"But here is where the difficulty started. Remember I was a fireman on the railroad, and could wait on table, but cooking for someone else was another thing. I had all kinds of ups and downs, but handled it all alone, cooking, waiting on table, washing the dishes and cleaning up generally."

Here Chet was interrupted by several customers who were tapping the glass cigar counter with their money, eager to get away for a Saturday afternoon either at home or in the office. The cash register clanged and then the well-known proprietor was seated again.

"First Customers" "Oh sure, I can remember some of my early customers," Chet replied to the question. "There were Guy Butterfield, Frank Haight, a few business men now and then, but not many, John Kohl who was at the time working for Putney & Putney and M. J. McCoy who was then a clerk. There were others, but I can't just remember them. Now I didn't have such a big trade because my place wasn't very fancy or up-to-date except on food."

Mr. Lubnow and Mr. Mueller have been employes for 27 and 22 years respectively and announce today there will be no immediate change in the present restaurant program. Mr. Lubnow will continue to act as manager and Mr. Mueller will supervise the cuisine.

Mr. Goff has always had a reputation of keeping help in service over a long period and besides the present owners Miss Raht was at one time employed at the restaurant establishing the name for "Goff's pies."

URGE LARGER MESS NETS IN LAKE FISHING

Believe Only Method to Save Industry on Wisconsin Shores

MADISON — Believing that the commercial fishing industry on the Wisconsin side of Lake Michigan can only be saved through the use of larger mesh nets, the conservation commission today urged enforcement of the present law and advocated the use of an even larger mesh than is now required.

Under statutory provision fishermen are required to use a 2½ inch chub gill net, but during the last legislative session the commission favored a bill providing for the use of 2½ nets only. Michigan as well as several other states require the 2½ inch net and from their experience the Wisconsin conservation commission thus became convinced that such a law will soon be necessary in this state.

With the larger size net being used, fewer small fish will be caught and they will thus be allowed to spawn one year before taken from the lake by fishermen, the commission asserted.

The size of mesh has been a bone of contention between the conservationists and the commercial fishermen in Wisconsin for many years, the announcement said. The 1925 legislature passed the commercial fishing law which now prevails. During the following year Lake Michigan fishermen protested enforcement of the law saying that they had not had sufficient time to change their nets. An extension of time was granted at their request.

Soon after the present commission began to function in 1927. All commercial fishermen were warned to change their nets. Attempts at enforcement of the law met with organized protests and few of the fishermen change their nets. The fishermen then appeared before the 1929 legislature to urge repeal of the law. The legislature refused and the commission again warned that the law would be strictly enforced.

Definite recommendations regarding fishing conditions on Lake Michigan are expected to be available to the commission after completion of scientific research in the lake next summer.

Thomas Will Lead Local Institutes

J. F. Thomas, County agent, has been appointed conductor of the Farmer's Institute which will be held at Menomonee Falls, Feb. 18-19 and Muskego, Feb. 20-21.

Other speakers who will appear on the programs are A. J. Cramer, J. B. Hayes and C. J. Chapman of the College of Agriculture.

"The home talent program being prepared for the evening session at Muskego promises to be especially interesting," announces the local chairman.

Each session of these institutes is brief and to the point. After each speaker has finished, the meeting is turned into an open forum in which questions may be asked and experiences exchanged.

"A special attempt is being made to secure a big attendance of farm women this year. Many of the operations of the farm require their cooperation for success. Women are interested in increasing the farm income as it makes possible the addition of many comforts to the home life," says Mr. Cole.

Lieb, U. M. Break Off Negotiations

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Negotiations seeking to bring Tom Lieb of Notre Dame to the University of Minnesota as head football coach have been broken off, E. B. Pierce, member of the student senate committee, announced today.

Pierce said he believed Lieb had decided to accept another position, supposedly because Minnesota did not meet his request for $10,000 a year.

Lieb conferred with Fred W. Luehring, athletic director, and other university officials recently and left here without making a definite announcement. At that time it was agreed that if negotiations were not closed by today Lieb would accept another position.

The Notre Dame assistant coach was believed to have rejected a Minnesota offer of $7,500.

MUST SERVE TERM

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Frank Sweet, 23, Milwaukee, was imprisoned in the Green Bay reformatory again today and must serve the remainder of a one to three year sentence which was imposed after his conviction of a statutory offense at Milwaukee in 1928. He was sought as a parole violator by police of four states for four months preceding his arrest in Chicago this week.

BLAINE LEADS SENATE WETS

Repeal Bill Places Him in Front Ranks

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The leadership of the wets in the senate has been given unofficially to Senator John James Blaine, the Independent Republican from Wisconsin, chiefly because he is the sponsor of a resolution proposing repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Neither Blaine nor any of the other wet leaders believe his resolution will be adopted but they have reached a more or less vague agreement with the dries to vote on the proposition. Some of the leaders of both sides wanted to make every senator vote on it so the issue will be made clear in the congressional elections coming in November.

Blaine is a wet on personal liberty grounds. "I think it is an assinine law," he says. "I think it strikes at the very principles of our government, pledging this nation to guarantee the freedom of its people."

From the state which made Milwaukee famous and which Milwaukee made famous in the days when more than one half of one per cent alcohol content was allowed in beer, Blaine brought to the senate indomitable courage. He stood out against the whole senate during consideration of the Kellogg anti-war treaty and cast the sole vote against it. He served at attorney general and governor of Wisconsin, and held the latter office during prohibition.

While governor, he vetoed one of the bills passed by the legislature repealing the state prohibition enforcement act, but later he signed a similar bill. His veto was given because of technical difficulties with the original legislation and not because he lacked sympathy with the purpose of the act.

Those who have followed his political career say he has been a wet merely as a sideline and has not been considered a champion against prohibition. This has been the record of his three years in the senate. His first major strike against prohibition there was the introduction of his repealer, which is now before the senate judiciary committee where hearings are expected to be held as soon as the tariff is out of the senate's way.

Finke and Strawn Given Prison Term and Fine

MILWAUKEE — Benjamin G. Finke, federal prohibition agent, and Henry Strawn, former agent, were sentenced here today to serve three years in prison each and each pay a fine of $2,000 for accepting bribes to protect bootleggers.

Finke and Strawn, who came here from southern Illinois as friends and entered the prohibition service a few years ago, were convicted two weeks ago, Finke on four counts and Strawn on two. Strawn testified against Finke and it was evident that their friendship had ceased. Finke came here from St. Paul, where has been continuing his prohibition work, to receive sentence today.

Previous to passing sentence, Federal Judge F. A. Geiger heard and denied a plea of Defense Attorney Arthur Barry for an arrest of judgment. Following that the judge asked if either of the men had anything to say before sentence was passed.

"Nothing, your honor," replied Kinke.

"Only that I have told the truth all the way through the trial," Strawn said.

Teacher Faces Suit For Punishing Pupil

MILWAUKEE — Claiming that Grace Nelson, a kindergarten teacher, scrubbed the mouth of 5-year-old Wyett Voss until it bled to punish him for whistling in school, the boy's parents have filed suit here against the teacher for $2,000 damages. Miss Nelson has denied the charge.

TWO LOCAL MEN ARE HELD IN CIVIL ACTION

Suit Expected to Uncover Other Conditions Involving Local Gambling

A civil action has been filed in county court here for the recovery of $500 allegedly lost through "crap" games said to have been conducted in the Niagara Billiard hall on Main street, formerly the quarters of the W-neelman club.

George Germain, a salesman of Madison and now a patient at Rest-hoven hospital, is suing John A. (Sappy) Demitt and Amill Basile alias co-partners of the Niagara hall. Each of the defendants has been placed under civil arrest and furnished bonds of $700 each.

The complaint charges the "crap" game in question was played Jan. 25 in the Main street hall on a pool table and that dice were used. From Jan. 27 to Jan. 29, the plaintiff charges, he sought recovery of the money but was refused by the defendants. The money lost was in various denominations of currency and bank bills.

According to the Wisconsin statutes, section 348.10, the right to recover money lost by wagering and gambling is made very clear. It is often understood that money lost through gambling cannot be recovered. A portion of the statute reads:

"Any person who by playing at any game, betting or wagering... can sue and recover the same for the use and benefit of his family or his heirs."

Gambling "joints" have been running here without interruption for some time and the action which has been begun today, besides recovering the lost money is expected to uncover similar conditions so far as dice games and other form of gambling are concerned.

Preston, Model Husband, is Sentenced to Death

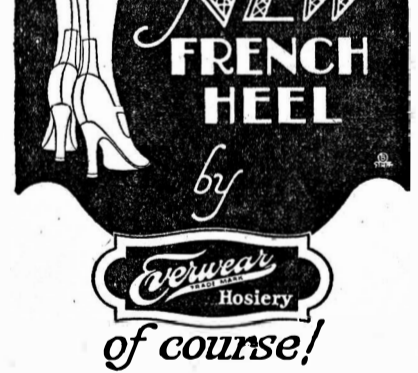

WHEATON, Ill.—Death in the electric chair was the fate awaiting John Preston, young "model husband," today under the sentence pronounced by Circuit Judge William J. Fulton of Du Page county as a penalty for the murder of a stenographer after a roadhouse party.

Preston must die Feb. 19, Judge Fulton ruled yesterday.

Miss Agnes Johnson, the victim, was attacked and choked to death by Preston, testimony at the trial brought out. The scene was a lonely road near West Chicago.

Preston's wife, who said he had been a model husband, and his sister were in the courtroom when the sentence was read.

Preston confessed to the crime but said he was crazed by liquor and could not remember the details.

They are always "First with the Latest".

FRANK URGES
 BUTTER USE

Disagrees With Substitute
 Manufacturers Regarding State Controversy

MADISON — (U.P.) — State leaders and servants would be derelict in their duty if they did not promote the use of butter in place of substitutes, President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin declared today.

This declaration was his reply to a protest from the institute of margarine manufacturers, which objected to the activity of a county agent in a "use more butter campaign."

S. J. Abbot, secretary of the institute at Washington, in his protest to President Frank, suggested that, in the judgment of margarine manufacturers, county, state, and federal employees have no right "to promote the consumption of one domestic product at the expense of another domestic product."

Frank stated that he would agree with the protest in case of a trade war between competing Wisconsin products, but pointed out that "Wisconsin is the outstanding dairying state in the nation."

More than one-half of the Wisconsin farmer's dollar is derived from dairy products, he cited. The market balance is disturbed and butter prices have dropped to the lowest level in several years with the result that "Wisconsin butter makers and dairymen producing milk for butter manufacture rightly and reasonably turn to a possible stimulation of butter consumption as one important corrective measure."

The whole future of the dairy industry of Wisconsin is definitely dependent upon maintenance of an economically sound balance between its various factors, one of which is butter, and "in the light of this situation, to say that the farmers of Wisconsin and their official servants should not be free to agitate for the more extensive use of their own products is not, in my judgment, defensible," Frank wrote.

"A region or an important producer group in a region must give its best to the development of its distinctive products. This is the only way in which the effective economic development of state or nation can be assured," he continued. "And of the official leaders and servants of such region or group did not help in such local development, they would, in my judgment, be derelict in their duty."

"The University of Wisconsin is not interested in the ordinary trade rivalries in the life of the state, but it is obligated to give the best it has to the development of those basic economic activities which are peculiar to Wisconsin and are the fundamental sources of its prosperity."

Barbers Compromise; Will Resume Work

MADISON, Wis. — Journeymen and master barbers compromised here last night and after a series of meetings the employers agreed to discontinue their strike today and resume work at a salary guarantee of $25 weekly and 65 per cent of all receipts over $40.

Walking out two weeks ago after the boss barbers had refused their demands for a 23 a week guarantee and 70 per cent of receipts over 40, the journeymen had steadfastly refused to go back to work until their requests were granted. Some of them, however, succeeded in getting their employers to sign the contract for a $28 a week guarantee. Under the new agreement they will continue to get this amount.

"Quit your quarrelling," he said. "Get down to work. Quit worrying about who will be nominated and who will be elected. Collect the taxes. If you don't, you will put the state in the position of repudiating its bonds. The blame will be on your heads."

MILWAUKEE — Instead of preaching to his congregation here Sunday, the Rev. The minister, his wife and several of their congregation were sliding down a hill Saturday night when Newing fell from the toboggan.

CHICAGO FACES
 ANOTHER CLOUD

Payroll Money Delayed
 Until June 1

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — Another cloud of financial gloom pressed down over the 40,122 unpaid public employes of Chicago and Cook county today with news that tax money to meet payrolls will be delayed until at least June 1.

The announcement from the Stevens Hotel conference in which Governor Louis L. Emery met the tax officials of the city and county in a stormy session.

After four hours of parleying, Governor Emmerson announced that he had been promised legal formalities would be hastened and tax bills for the 1928 levy, held up by litigation, mailed to property owners by June 1.

By that time, it was estimated, the city, county and school governments would owe approximately $52,000,000 in salaries, not to mention bills for fuel and supplies necessary to operate a city of 3,500,000, the county and a school system, all of which are broke and in debt.

Gov. Emmerson spoke straight from the shoulder in demanding action from the tax officials. Several state funds have been jeopardized, by the delay in collecting Chicago and Cook county taxes.

Sealed Can Fails to Keep
 Out Microscopic
 Bugs

LOS ANGELES — Microscopic bugs made $780 in currency look like a small helping of cold spinach for N. L. Biddle, 80, who thought a tin tobacco box buried in the ground safer than a bank.

Unwilling to entrust his savings in the usual manner and fearing burglars might find them if deposited beneath the mattress, the aged man tied his $780 worth of greenbacks in a small sack and then sealed the sack in a tobacco tin.

The tin box was buried beneath his house. That was nine months ago.

The rains came, but Biddle did not worry. His can was waterproof.

Recently he needed a little spending money. The can was dug up, badly rusted, and when Biddle opened it he found only a soggy mass of greenish paper.

Placed under the microscope, the former greenbacks were found to be filled with tiny bugs, invisible to the unaided eye.

Now Biddle is trying to convince the United States treasury that the emaciated mess was legal tender. A handwriting expert dried out the lump and was able to peel off parts of several bills. The silk threads which strengthen currency were intact.

The can, its contents and a full account of the burial are to be sent to Washington, D. C., to learn if the treasury will make a refund of the money.

Excuse for Gun Fails

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — "I was taking the pistol from my aunt to my mother," Earl DeBusk told the judge before he was fined $80 and costs for carrying concealed weapons.

The little girl had never heard grace said, nor knew the meaning of the word. So when someone asked her if her father said grace at the table she was puzzled and wanted to know what it was. "Why, thanks for what you have to eat," she was told. "Oh," said the little one, now enlightened, "we don't have to thank anyone for what we have—we always pay cash."

Royal Air Force
 Gets Speed Ships

LONDON—The huge fleet of the Royal Air Force is now undergoing the process of complete re-equipment for the benefit of speed and as a result of the lessons learned from the research which led to Great Britain's victory in the Schneider Cup races.

Roughly, the Royal Air Force now is passing from the 150 mile per hour stage to the dizzy pace of 180. The classes of aircraft concerned at the single-seater Fighter, the Interception Fighter, the Fleet Fighter and the Day Bomber. It will not be long before these important classes are ready for service with their new equipment.

The Bristol "Bulldog" is the new Fighter with which for squadrons of the R. A. F. will be equipped, a type which with full service load has a speed of 174 m. p. h. at 15,000 feet. It takes this machine but 27 minutes to reach 26,500 feet, at which height it is still below its ceiling.

It is estimated by those that are used to judging large crowds that approximately in the neighborhood of 2,000 or 2,500 people were there. The grand march was held at 10:15 with Mr. and Mrs. Hans Frank followed immediately by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Herold leading it. The judges were: Mr. and Mrs. George Cable, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McCoy and Frank Curtis. Prizes were awarded for the following:

Best group of five or more—Gertie Frank, Lucille Joy, Honsey Frank, Vi Lohr, Donna Hook and Evelyn Nix; second best group—Mae Griener, Freda Griena, Louise Griener, Loretta Heisler, Barbara Fritche, Helen Zurn, Josephine Perstick and Genevieve Precourt;

Dancing then followed and music was furnished by the American Legion eight piece orchestra. The Boulevard Gardens is the largest dance hall in the city but was entirely too small for this event.
