IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Judge Belden, of Racine, who presided over the case of Bank of Eagle vs. E. J. Pentland and others decided that the Bank of Eagle had gained title to the land in dispute by adverse possession. The Bank of Eagle some time ago contracted with a Chicago agency to sell a part of its farm bordering on Peters lake and Lake Louise for summer home purposes. After surveying the property it was found that a portion of the farm extended into Peters lake and was not included in the deed. The action was commenced to quiet the title and Ed. J. Pentland, of Elkhorn, opposed the action on the grounds that his father had obtained title by tax deed in A. D. 1871. The testimony showed that Mr. Pentland never paid taxes on said parcel, and did not see it from 1903 to 1925 when the summons was served upon him by the Bank of Eagle. The decision of Judge Belden gives the Bank of Eagle full ownership of the lake shore.

Otto C. Ratzlow and family spent Sunday with friends at Tiffany.

The weather conditions in south-easter Nebraska appear about the same as in southern Wisconsin according to a letter received from Mrs. Anna Loibl Scheideler. The harvest there of course comes earlier.

The village of Eagleville, once the metropolis of the town way back in the early forties, is coming to the front again as a mercantile center. Harry Jeffery, owner of the grist mill established by Daniel Bigelow in 1837, later owned by A. Schofield, who was also the first merchant in the village, has established an ice cream and confectionery store in the southwest corner of the mill to serve the resorters as they emerge from Eagle Springs lake. A Mr. Dodge has a store and dance hall across the street, and Mr. J. P. Fardy has an ice cream parlor at the four corners which according to W. H. Tuohy was the original Eagleville. In the early days Eagleville had stores, blacksmith shops, shoe shops and a post office. When the railroad was built in 1851 the village of Eagle became the metropolis of the town and the mercantile establishments in Eagleville gradually disappeared with the exception of the grist mill. When the lake became popular as a summer resort, and good roads made auto travel easy, Eagleville is being revived and may some day become an incorporated village.

On Saturday evening at about the time the band concert was to begin and as part of the North Prairie Cornet band had arrived an electrical storm came over this district, and lightning struck the hay barn of David Dabel at North Prairie which is located back of the store of Wm. A. Donahue. The Wales fire department arrived on the grounds and soon the Eagle fire department came, and both directed their efforts to keep the store and garage from getting on fire. The Mukwonago and Palmyra fire departments also came to assist. For a time it seemed as though the fire would extend to nearby buildings but the heavy rain previous prevented the falling sparks from setting fire. Mr. Dabel had finished filling the barn with hay that day and it is estimated that his loss in addition to the building is about eight tons of hay. The alarm that a North Prairie building was on fire attracted a large number from here who followed the fire department and also the members of the North Prairie Cornet band who had arrived and therefore there was no band concert that evening.

Eagle Springs Lake Improvement association will hold its annual meeting at the summer home of L. J. Runkel on Sunday forenoon at ten o'clock. The purpose of the association is to improve conditions at the lake and all resorters are invited to attend whether they are members or not. Much good has been done by the association and much more good can be done. It is to be regretted that only about one-fifth of the resorters are members of the association.

The stockholders of the Bank of Eagle held their annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon and re-elected the present board of directors. The bank shows over $421,000.00 in resources which is a considerable increase over last year. The bank was organized in A. D. 1901 and is therefore passing its twenty-sixth year.

St. Theresa congregation will give its annual ice cream social at the village park on Saturday evening, July 23d, and on this evening the North Prairie Cornet band will give a concert in the village park. The two attractions will no doubt bring a large number of people to this village.

Jerome Mealey and family motored to Waukegan, Wis., last Saturday to remain with relatives over Sunday. During their absence Otto Lewandoski, former proprietor of the harness shop had charge of the furniture store.

In the evening non-members of the club were invited and were shown these articles consisting of paintings, clothes and clothing. COUNTY FARMS FIRST TO USE NEW MACHINERY

BRANCH MANAGER OF THRESHING COMPANY LAUDS FARMERS FOR AGGRESSIVENESS

"As usual Waukesha county farmers are first in the use of modern equipment for farm operations. The farmers of Waukesha county are known for their alertness and careful study of how to make progress more rapidly by doing things the better, quicker and cheaper way."

The foregoing is a statement in the communication received by the Freeman from George A. Dechant, Racine branch manager of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., who has written articles on Waukesha county agricultural conditions. He continues:

"Waukesha county farmers are not only famous the world over for their excellent pure bred herds of cattle, fine horses and fine sheep, but they are generally recognized as users of the most advanced type of time and labor saving equipment. Anyone traveling in Wisconsin, and in far-only five-ring circus will be within easy reach of local sawdust fans. With it will come the only genuine white elephant ever brought to America. He is "Pawah," the world-famed sacred white pachyderm from Burma, who will be the foremost feature of a menagerie composed of more than a thousand animals.

The big show is now a third larger than it was when it last visited this locality. Enormous new displays have been introduced such as ninety zebras, camels and horses performing at one time on a mammoth pedestal. On a similar series of circular raised platforms thirty-two of the show's forty-three elephants dance, run and perform in unison with the topmost of the ponderous actors twenty feet above the ground. Prior to this gigantic display five herds of elephants appear in the five separate rings. At another time the rings are given over to five companies of liberty horses. At still another juncture of the program two hundred of the show's 900 horses, each ridden by an expert, are seen in the brilliant maneuvers.

Of the sixteen hundred people carried on tour this season more than eight hundred are the world's foremost aerialists, bareback riders, ground and lofty gymnasts, high-wire artists and super athletes. These are now seen in extensive groups and troupes each display led by its particular champions, a new method of presentation that is in keeping with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey 1927 plans of extending acts in equal number over the entire length of the mammoth main tent. Little folks will be delighted to learn that the bringing of a score of European clowns to America has increased the fun-makers to more than a hundred.

off sections of the country, hears of the progress of the foremost dairy-men of the world.

Very Aggressive
"If anyone doubts the aggressiveness of Waukesha county farmers, he need only look back to the days when the first farm labor saving tools were brought out. The newer and better field utensils were acquired immediately by the farmers of this county. When silo fillers and silos first appeared they promptly showed up in Waukesha county. When the first corn binders were built they found a market immediately in Waukesha county. Water systems for farm homes and home electric lighting plants were purchased as soon as available. Tractors and power plows were tried out in Wisconsin by first demonstrating them in Waukesha county, we are told. In the past few years another extraordinary time, labor and crop saving machine has been developed by some of the leading agricultural implement houses.

"This latest piece of power farming equipment is the "Combine." This is a short name for the machine which reaps and threshes and puts into bin or wagon in one operation, the farmer's crop in the field. By the use of the combine, two men can handle from thirty to fifty acres of grain in a day.

"First Combine"
"While thousands of these combines have been sold in other states, they have not been used up to this time in Wisconsin. A leading Waukesha county farmer, William F. Meissner, of Lisbon township, P. O. Hartland, Route 1, has recently purchased a combine. Mr. Meissner made a trip to the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co.'s factories at Racine where he selected the size and type of machine and attachments best suited for his farm, located a few miles northeast of Merton and in a northwesterly direction from Sussex. Mr. Meissner purchased his combine from the Sussex Garage Co., who have been selling the Case line of power farming machinery for a number of years.

"So this only goes to show that the Waukesha county farmers are first to acquire in Wisconsin the newer tools. The combine it is said, offers the quickest, safest and cheapest known method of harvesting. Mr. Meissner's combine arrived at Sussex this week, and it is quite likely that many farmers of Waukesha county will motor over to the Meissner farm to see this new machinery especially when harvest time arrives. Almost anyone interested in agriculture, especially in the latest time and labor saving devices, will want to see the new Case combine at work on Mr. Meissner's farm."

6 COUNTIES WILL BE REPRESENTED AT MEET

WILL VETO BILL GIVING LEVITAN ADDED CONTROL

BILL WOULD GIVE TO TREASURER SUPERVISION OF 47 OIL INSPECTORS

MADISON, Wis.—(U.P.)—Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman has indicated that he will veto the bill to give the state treasurer supervision of the 47 deputy oil inspectors and abolish the office of supervisor of inspectors of illuminating oils now held by Thomas J. Cunningham, Chippewa Falls.

The bill has been passed by both houses. Political observers say it would endow State Treasurer Solomon Levitan with a political machine of considerable power, should he decide to enter the next gubernatorial race. Levitan was elected state treasurer in the last campaign by the largest vote ever given any candidate for office in Wisconsin. Governor Zimmerman received the greatest vote ever accorded a governor in Wisconsin.

The governor's indication that he will not approve the transfer of the oil inspection department to Levitan's administration was contained in a recent veto message refusing increased appropriations for the treasury department, in which he stated:

"This bill increases the appropriation for the department for the administration of the tax on motor fuels. The oil inspection department now does practically all of the work in the motor fuel department, and as I am of the opinion that the oil inspection department should stay where it is rather than be moved, I can see no justification for this increase.

"In the last session of the legislature," the message stated, "the annual salary of the assistant state treasurer was increased from $3,000 to $3,600. If another increase is to be made now, the legislature might well have considered increases for deputies in other departments, who have long been in the service of the state."

S. A. Schindler, New Glarus, was appointed assistant by Levitan within the last year.

LEGS MUST HAVE "IT" TO BE TRULY FASCINATING, SAY EXPERTS

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The most fascinating pair of legs in the United States may be twinkling, unsung, in Birmingham, Ala., today, all because their fair owner couldn't come to New York to show them to the world.

The legs are owned by Miss Era Briggs, a Birmingham girl, who was a heavy favorite with the board of elimination for the annual beautiful leg contest of the national Hosiery and Underwear exposition, now in session at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

The hundreds of girls from every part of the country whose photographs were eliminated to the score who were invited to New York for a personal appearance in the finals. All came except Miss Briggs.

The other 19 were inspected by the board of judges yesterday. Nineteen pairs of shapely, silken-clad calves, with dimpled knees peeping shyly from under upraised skirts, were paraded before the four judges, experts in art, and underwear.

It was decided, after heated debate that Miss Gladys Turner, a Broadway showgirl whose home is in Orange, N. J., had the best of those present. But there was many a sigh for the absent Miss Briggs. All the judges had inspected photographs of her twin attractions and there was no argument.

RECONCILIATION OF MURDER TRIO FAILS AGAIN

EFFORT TO BRING NEWMAN TOGETHER WITH BIRGER, HYLAND FAIL

By WILLIAM F. SULLIVAN BENTON, Ill. (U.P.)—An eleventh-hour effort to reconcile their differences failed here today as Charlie Birger, Art Newman and Ray Hyland, on trial for the murder of Joe Adams, prepared to testify in their own defense before Franklin county circuit court.

"There is to be a conference of defendants and counsel" it was announced shortly before court reconvened this morning.

A guard of deputies was placed under the window of an ante-chamber to the court room. Birger, Hyland and their attorneys filed into the room, leaving the door open for Newman to follow.

Newman and his attorney, Judge W. F. Dillon, however, remained in the court room. The conference in the ante-room continued for several minutes and then Charles A. Karch, one of Birger's attorneys, emerged and talked earnestly with Newman.

Apparently he was attempting to persuade Newman to join with the other defendants in a last fight to prove the innocence of the accused trio. But Newman, now a bitter enemy of Birger, remained in his seat, unwilling to join forces with his one-time friend.

Enmity between Newman and Birger started with Newman's confession that he was implicated in the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Lory Price. He laid the principal responsibility for the crime at Birger's door. Since then, every effort to bring the defendants together has failed.

The state was to rest its case today following the testimony of several minor witnesses and the defense was to start presenting evidence. Birger, Newman and Hyland themselves were to be the principal defense witnesses.

"Near this Spot, Captain James Cook expired, February 14, 1779."

Below Surface

The suggestion for placing the tablet just below the surface came from Chairman Victor S. Houston, the delegate to congress from the territory of Hawaii, who, until July, 1926, was an officer of the United States navy, his father an admiral, his mother, a part-Hawaiian of distinguished ancestry. The Captain James Cook commission, which was appointed by Governor Farrington, of Hawaii, upon authority of the legislature, which authorized a celebration from August 15 to 20, inclusive, 1928, immediately adopted the suggestion, and the tablet will be made at an early date.

The commission plans a wide range of ceremonies. On the morning of August 16, the commission, attended by the governor of Hawaii, and distinguished invited guests from Great Britain and the United States, will arrive at Waimea, Island of Kauai, where Captain Cook made his first landing, which was on January 20, 1778, and there officiate at the dedication of a monument which will be erected by the residents of the Island of Kauai, and toward which Sir Joseph Carruthers, of Australia, through whose personal efforts monuments and statues to Captain Cook were erected in Australia to mark his discovery of that continent, and in London, has contributed $250.

From Waimea the official party, escorted by British and American warships, will proceed to Kealakekua bay, Island of Hawaii, where additional ceremonies will be held, and where the bronze tablet will be laid under the water. This is near the monument erected to the memory of Cook in 1887 by the crew of the British warship Fantome, on ground given to the government of Great Britain in 1876 by Princess Likelike, sister of the late King Kalakaua and Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii.

This circle of ground is still owned by Great Britain and presents the novelty of British territory within that of the United States, the only instance on record.

At Napoopoo, across the bay from the Cook monument, a tablet will also be placed by the commission to mark the spot where William Wattman, member of Captain Cook's crew, was buried, and where Cook himself read the burial service, the first recorded Christian burial in the Hawaiian islands.

On the return to Honolulu, on August 20, the principal literary ceremonies will be held at the old royal palace, now the executive building of the territory, where addresses on the importance of Cook's discovery, will be made by men distinguished in literary-historical fields who are to be invited from Europe and America. The final ceremonies will be a series of pageants to be presented by Hawaiian societies, depicting incidents of olden Hawaiian history, associated with the period of Cook's discovery. These pageants will be colorful and picturesque.

The commission has recommended to the governor of Hawaii that he request the state department at Washington, D. C., to extend a formal invitation to Great Britain to participate in the celebration by sending a warship, or warships, and a civil representative of the government, as well as representatives of Australia, New Zealand and Canada, which countries were associated with Cook's discoveries. American warships, it is expected, will be detailed to participate in the ceremonies.

Hiram Present

There is expectation, also that among the guests will be United States Senator Hiram Bingham, III, of Connecticut, a grandson of Rev. Hiram Bingham, the first American missionary to set foot on Honolulu soil, in 1820; William R. Castle, Jr., assistant secretary of state for European affairs, grandson of one of the early American missionaries to Hawaii.

The commission will also have an exhibition of Cook Memorabilia, from various lands, to include a sword of Captain Cook, from England; a part of a dress worn by the wife of the navigator.

An international salute to Captain Cook will be fired at Kealakekua bay by the visiting warships.

It is believed that this celebration will be one of the outstanding features in the history of the Pacific area in 1928.

COOLIDGE HEARS GOVERNOR URGE FARM RELIEF

BULOW ASKS BILL SIMILAR TO McNARY-HAUGEN MEASURE FOR FARMERS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ARDMORE, S. D.—Governor W. J. Bulow, the first Democrat elected in South Dakota in many years, today told farmers' delegations, assembled from three states at the federal experimental farm here, that if price fixing is taboo for farmers it should be eliminated for industries.

While President Coolidge was a guest at the farmers' picnic here, Bulow, delivering the only speech of the day, urged adoption of farm relief measures similar to the McNary-Haugen bill, which Mr. Coolidge vetoed at the last session of congress.

"The time is fast approaching when something must be done for the relief of agriculture, a basic industry of this country," Bulow told the throngs of soil tillers who came from Nebraska, Wyoming, South Dakota and Colorado to see a president of the United States.

"In order to get this relief, in my judgment, this country ought to do one of two things, either adopt a policy that prevents artificial price fixing for things farmers have to buy and restore economic law of supply and demand, on a world basis, or else permit the industry of agriculture equal opportunity for establishment of artificial prices for products they have to sell."

It was a typical farm bloc speech and the first the president has heard since he arrived at this rim of the farming region for his summer vacation.

"If the policy of tariff protection," Bulow added, "is to be continued for any of our industries, the industry of agriculture should have its consideration. At first it should have equal protection with the manufacturers. The welfare of agriculture is of supreme importance not only to the midwest, but to the entire nation."

"If our nation is to long survive it must be through the service of agricultural men and women who by their toil produce the food that feeds the world."

Goodhand Kingston, for five years head of the Waukesha County Farm Bureau Saturday evening at the seventh annual bureau meeting, relinquished his position and F. A. Booth, Summit, by a vote, became president of the organization. B. B. Simons is vice president and O. H. Cooley secretary and treasurer. The retiring head received a vote of thanks and appreciation.

The Industrial School band will furnish music throughout the day. They will also furnish a number of vocal selections.

The Industrial school herd, which was founded years ago by purchases from Rust Brothers' herd, has grown to be one of the best herds of Holstein cattle in the state. During 1926 this herd of 108 cows produced an average of 336.7 lbs. of fat per head. This is the highest average in the state of Wisconsin for any herd with over 40 cows. This record was made in herd improvement work and included the entire herd of milking age.

The grand champion cow of the Waukesha Dairy show, 1927, Pabet

Canary Orchard Blossom, owned by the Wisconsin Industrial school, has just recently made a record of 23 lbs. of butter in seven days as a junior 2-year-old and milking better than 56 lbs. of milk per day. Another one of their cows, Annetta Johanna Ormsby 332530, has in ten months produced 24,000 lbs. milk and 1,100 lbs. butter as a senior 3-year-old and is still milking better than 65 lbs. per day. This is a state record for milk and butterfat for all breeds.

The herd sires at the Industrial school are Chequamegon Ollie Frisby, whose dam is the state record for age cow. Colantha Changeling Frisby, with over 1,000 lbs. butter in 305 days, and Sir Pietertje Pontiac Creator, a son of Creator from a 24-lb. daughter of King Pontiac Champion.

OFFICIAL COUNT GIVES WAUKESHA 16,028 PEOPLE

Waukesha continues to grow! The city may now boast of a population of over 16,000.

That is, according to an announcement made this morning by H. C. Christoph, who with two assistants, succeeded in completing a census of the city which was begun on June 19.

The results show a population increase of 3,470 over a similar governmental count made in 1920. The total population is now 16,023 as compared to the 12,553 figure registered seven years ago.

The work was done under the direction of the board of education and the city of Waukesha by Mr. Christoph, N. J. Panella, and John Tinker. The city school census will not be compiled until sometime next week.

Almost one-third of the population, or 5,520, consists of children under 21 years. There are 10,508 persons over that age. The first ward with 1,257 leads all others when a comparison is made between the various wards in reference to children although there are 113 more persons living in the fourth. The latter section ranks second in this regard with a total of 1,054 children.

Another interesting comparison may be drawn between the third and fifth wards in this respect. The former includes 793 children while the latter has 681 although there are 396 more persons living within the borders of the fifth than the third ward.

The fourth ward with a total of 3,217 persons has the largest population as compared to the smallest or the third ward with 1,941. The average number of persons located at the local institutions and hotels is said to be 1,167.

2 SMALL BOYS LOSE LIVES IN FOX RIVER

A dual drowning occurred a mile and a half south of Big Bend Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Robert Bartlett, 8, and his cousin, Harold Bartlett, 12, drowned in the Fox river adjoining the Benjamin Peacock farm.

According to Coroner John Schaefer, the two boys who are from Chicago were after a herd of cows when they evidently hit upon the idea of going swimming. It is the belief that the younger boy was unable to swim and when the older youth attempted to rescue him both lost their lives.

The clothing of both the boys was found on the bank of the river. At 2:30 Ben Peacock found the body of Harold and half an hour later the other body was taken from the water by Barney Krueger, a farmer. Coroner Schaefer announced that an inquest will be held at Mukwonago today.

Robert lives at 657 Tinwood ave.

CRICKETS THREATEN TO DESTROY GRAINS

HAYDEN, Colo.—(U.P.)—Hordes of crickets threatened to destroy the grain belt of Routt and Moffat counties today.

Farmers and men paid by the county to check the advance of the insects which already have destroyed crops covering a territory five miles wide by 30 miles deep, have little hope of success, Farrington Carpenter, county attorney, said.

Unless the federal government or the Red Cross intervenes in the invasion with financial aid all grain crops here will be ruined, Carpenter declared. The attorney has petitioned the government to use gas bombs in warfare against the pests.

A few years ago a similar epidemic destroyed every growing vegetable blade in a large Routt county farm area.

and Harold at 6145 St. Lawrence ave., Chicago. They were spending their vacation at the Big Bend farm. The parents arrived today to take the bodies to Chicago after the inquest.

DOG TRACK FOR COUNTY LOOMS AS POSSIBILITY

CORPORATION PAPERS FILED FOR $100,000 PROJECT NEAR HALF-WAY HOUSE

Corporation papers have been filed which will soon be the beginning of a new enterprise for this county, according to present indications. It is the proposed establishment of a dog race track which, it is said, will cost approximately $100,000. The proposed track is to be built near the Half-way house, adjoining the Blue Mound road.

Completion of the course is expected before the end of the summer. Local residents, among others are said to be interested in the track.

Dog tracks are becoming more important throughout the country as times goes on and in the South and East quite outnumber horse and auto race tracks. The Tri-State Kennel club is said to be behind the Waukesha county project.

Mechanical Rabbit
Dog tracks consist of an oval course around which an electric rabbit operate. Greyhounds are used for the race. Bets are placed upon the entries, the winners collecting the "stakes." A commission is charged by the track for handling the bets. The commission collected is used for operating the races.

The first track of this kind was operated in Emoryville, Calif., and met with instant favor. When the electric rabbit was introduced the problem of furnishing "bait" for the hounds which could keep pace with them and lead to the successful termination of a race was overcome.

It is questioned by some whether or not the project will meet with approval here. The Wisconsin statutes prohibit betting upon races. Without betting a dog track cannot exist. The question is what course will the club pursue.
