

THE EAGLE QUILL

VOLUME XXXIX

EAGLE, WAUKESHA COUNTY, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1930

NUMBER 34

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Eagle fire department held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance and it was the opinion that regular practice drills should be held every month. The department is well regarded here for efficiency and promptness and well equipped to extinguish fires. Two fire trucks, one equipped with a water pump in addition to the chemical attachment, and the usual hose, ladders and necessary attachments. Ordinary fires can be extinguished with chemicals, but large fires require water which we have not got in Eagle. Sometime ago the matter was brought to the attention of the village board and the new board has hardly had time to familiarize itself with these questions. Suggestions have been made that reservoirs be constructed at convenient places and this suggestion seems to meet with general approval. Evidently the board will give this serious attention for the reason a disastrous fire especially in the business district might cause a great loss to property owners not only in the business district but also adjoining owners.

Miss Amy Swan, of Mukwonago, was in the village last week taking the census. Miss Richard, of Eagle, has Genesee and Miss Meredith has Ottawa.

Matt Jorgeson, opposite the depot in the Mich building, offers a new sewing machine and washing machine cheap.

Mr. Roderick, of Monroe, was the guest of the Marty family last week.

Mrs. Mary Earle and daughters, Mrs. C. R. Cole and Miss Ruby, of Dousman, were Eagle visitors last week.

Mrs. George E. Stead, who underwent a surgical operation at the Eagle hospital, was taken to her home, Wednesday.

Miss Irene Hamann underwent a surgical operation at the family home this week and Mrs. Elizabeth Rice underwent a surgical operation at her home this week. Drs. Doern, of Milwaukee, and Schmidt, of Eagle, were in charge.

Louis Hoeft experienced an automobile collision on highway 59, Sunday, while driving from his home to the main highway. It might have been serious.

W. H. Tuohy, Harry Smart and H. M. Loibl attended the banquet of the County Real Estate association at the Avalon hotel at Waukesha last Wednesday evening.

Senator Daggett, of West Milwaukee, who spends much of his time at the McGeogh home at Jericho, made us a pleasant call and also favored us with a fine road map of Wisconsin.

John M. O'Brien, of Troy Center, was an Eagle visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Faestel, of Troy Center, were Eagle visitors, Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry Juster, formerly Miss Stella Piper, is still confined to St. Mary's hospital, Milwaukee, suffering from a sprained ankle.

Harold Piper, son of Ervin Piper, drove from Hendersonville, North Carolina, to Burlington, to visit the folks at home there, and also visited his sister at St. Mary's hospital, Milwaukee.

Joint school district No. 4, known as the Eagleville district, will soon hold a special meeting to vote on the proposition of building a new school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McManman, Milwaukee, spent a few days at the Lins' home this week.

Mrs. Luella M. Betts is visiting her mother, Mrs. Harriet Burden, at the Cruser home.

The Palestine Community club entertained the St. Patrick eve players at the club home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Engenbretsen and Mrs. Fenton Engenbretsen attended a birthday party at the Ed. Engenbretsen home in White-water, Tuesday evening, in honor of Mr. Engenbretsen's 76th anniversary.

Miss Louise V. Thiele was a Milwaukee visitor, Tuesday.

Learns One Good Turn a Day Does Not Always Pay

MILWAUKEE—(U.P.)—Chief Emil Bartel of the Shorewood police department has learned that hospitality does not always pay and that doing one's good turn daily sometimes has its drawbacks.

Gerald Keith, 21, Traverse City, Mich., stopped at the Shorewood station and asked for a place to sleep. Chief Bartel liked the boy's looks. He took him home, learned that Keith had not eaten for several days and fed him well.

They returned to the station, the chief jovial and satisfied over his philanthropies. He decided to carry them further and reached for his box of cigars, intending to offer one to Keith to top off the generous dinner. The cigars were gone. They were found in Keith's pocket.

Keith remained at the police station today, in a cell, while officers checked his history.

OIL GUSHER ON RAMPAGE

Crashes Through Connections Once More

OKLAHOMA CITY—(U.P.)—The Mary Sudik wild gusher roared in to the morning mists of the South City field today with as much violence as ever.

After being a captive less than eight hours, the huge gusher early today crashed through specially designed connections which were placed yesterday.

It was the tenth day the well has been wild.

Shortly before midnight guards reported that connections were weakening. Sand driven upward by tremendous pressure gradually wore through the cap which had had been welded from combinations of hard metals.

The huge 2,500-pound gate wavered for an hour and then it snapped. With a roar that aroused workmen on nearby leases, the oil and gas column shot skyward again.

Immediately, the fire hazard that caused state and county officials to declare an area of 50 square miles under blockage, threatened the field. Residents of Capitol Hill, a south suburb of the city, were aroused after going to bed last night for the first time in several days without oil mists gathering in their homes and the roaring gas disturbing them.

Officials said it was not the tremendous pressure of the well that caused the gate to fail as much as it was the cutting sand rising in the hole in a steady stream. It cut the casing protruding from the hole into shreds.

CHICAGO FIRE HALTS TRAFFIC

Flames in Loop Finally Brought Under Control

CHICAGO—(UP)—A spectacular fire raced through an old four-story building in the northwest corner of the loop early today, knotting traffic and providing an impromptu show for late theatre-goers.

Starting with a series of mysterious explosions, the flames soon sped out of control, endangering the skyscrapers around West Lake street and Wacker drive, the new double-deck street that borders the loop. The flames spread a glare over the entire loop starting rumors that the whole northwest corner of the loop was burning.

After five hours of battling, virtually all the fire fighters in the downtown district brought the flames under control. A 5-11 alarm, the first in months, congregated an army of apparatus that choked the narrow streets in that section where many of the buildings date from the great fire of 1871.

The original fire and explosions started in the plant of the Western Radio company and the flames shot into nearby offices. Fire Marshall Michael Corrigan took personal charge of the battle and emerged cut on the cheek, the only casualty.

Heavy Damage
The final damage was estimated at from $200,000 to $300,000.

Fire Marshall Michael Corrigan suffered a cut under one eye when he and a group of assistants were showered with broken glass.

The fire, attacking a strategic center, cut off the homeward journeys of scores of passengers who live on the North side. Automobiles were tied up for miles.

Firemen clambered to four stories to fight the flames and a fire boat in the Chicago river added its hoses. Fire fighters utilized two towers before the flames were brought under control.

Will Travel Up Mississippi River

HAVANA, Cuba—(U.P.)—A strange Norwegian craft with high curving bowsprit and red and white sails, reminiscent of the sailing ships of Magellan and Columbus, rode at anchor in Havana harbor today.

Its captain, Gerhard Folgero, its crew of three modern vikings, and its mascot—a black cat—were ashore getting their "land legs" after nearly two months at sea crossing the Atlantic. In the bay, curious native pilots of small harbor craft cluttered around the visitor and made out he name on her bow, the "Roald Amundsen."

Folgero, blond-bearded descendant of an earlier Viking, Lief Ericson, said he and his companions had come to the new world as Columbus had—in a sailing vessel—to raise funds for a memorial in Norway to the late polar explorer, Amundsen, who lost his life seeking the survivors of the dirigible Italia disaster.

The visitors sailed from Norway on May 11, 1929, stopping at ports in Sweden, Denmark, Germany and England before crossing the channel to France. Through France they sailed by canal to Havre, thence to Marseilles and then to Port Palos, Spain. It was from there that Columbus started west to prove the world was round and to find a new route to the Indian markets, then vital to old world trade. Captain Folgero started from the same port on Feb. 8, he said, and arrived here on Thursday, 54 days later.

After spending several days here, he intends to proceed to the United States, touching at Miami, Key West, Tampa, Mobile, and New Orleans on his way to Minneapolis up the Mississippi river.

PROHIBITION CONTROVERSY TO BE AIRED

To Question Daniels About Editorial Scoring John Raskob

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The prohibition controversy in the Democratic party, which is said to have driven the south into the Republican column in 1928, is to be aired by Republicans before the senate lobby committee.

As part of the Republican strategy on the prohibition issue, Senator Robinson, dry Republican of Indiana, has called Joseph Daniels, ardent Democratic dry and Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, to appear before the lobby committee Tuesday.

Robinson wants to question Daniels about an editorial in the Raleigh, N. C. News and Observer contending John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee, had mixed his wet views with Democratic party politics and there fore should resign.

Raskob vigorously denied this when before the committee yesterday. He said he exercised extreme care that his $66,000 of contributions to the Anti-Prohibition organization should not involve the party and testified he had not tried to convert any Democrat to the wet cause.

Audit Books
From Curran, Robinson hopes to get an audit of the books of the association to see if any of Raskob's money was used to finance propaganda against dry Democrats or for wet Republican candidates for congress.

While the two men are being called ostensibly as a part of the investigation of wet lobies, political aims are believed to be involved. Democratic members of the lobby committee have indicated they will let Robinson go as far as he likes in calling witnesses. They realize that with prohibition mixed up in the coming congressional elections a ticklish issue is involved.

If Robinson gets nothing more from Daniels than an affirmation of his editorial against Raskob, he will have brought to public attention at the correct political time the Democratic divergence over prohibition in 1928. He believes this may react against the Democrats in November.

Contributions
The audit of the association books, however, is expected to show Raskob's contributions, like others were used to finance wet and anti-dry publicity without mentioning individual candidates for office, Republican or Democrat, wet or dry.

Meanwhile, the prohibition controversy is being carried into other fields. The treasury and post office appropriation bill providing about $36,000,000 for enforcement next year is to be taken up for discussion in the senate Monday. On the same day, Attorney General Mitchell will appear before the senate judiciary committee to comment on the proposal to investigate prohibition enforcement.

Robinson's tactics against Raskob may cause Democrats to support an investigation of prohibition bureau operations under the Republican administration. In the past, independent Republicans have championed a senatorial inquiry, while the Democrats have opposed it.

Retires From Years of Railroad Work

After nearly half a century of continuous work in the service of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. at Dousman, L. F. Schneider, 70, has retired on a pension offered by the road.

It was Nov. 8, 1882, that Mr. Schneider entered the service of the road as clerk at LaValle, Wis. Former Governor E. L. Philipp was then agent for the C. & N. W. at LaValle and he thought Mr. Schneider telegraphy. The two became intimately known and formed a friendship which has endured ever since.

Shortly after learning telegraphy he was promoted to night telegrapher and then employed as relief operator at various stations. June 2, 1888 he was appointed agent at Helenville and in June, 1894, was transferred to Dousman where he has since remained. The aged man now contemplates a trip to the Pacific coast.

MOREY FARM BARN BURNS

Blaze is Caused From Small Grass Fire

A fire loss estimated at $1,300 was caused by a grass fire in the town of Genesee Friday afternoon when a barn on the R. G. Morey farm burned to the ground and minor losses were sustained by a neighbor, Arthur Schmocker. The Morey farm is situated six miles south-west of Waukesha on Highway 59.

The Waukesha fire department was called at 4 p. m. The large barn on the Morey farm that had ignited was burning briskly when local fire fighters arrived and their efforts were directed toward saving other property. Morey's loss is said to be $1,000.

A large barn on Schmocker's farm had ignited as well as a wagon shed. The flames were confined to the roofs and while chemicals were being poured across the hay and straw became ignited from sparks that shot from the Morey blaze. A fire adjuster stated after the fire that Schmocker's loss is $300.

Within the past two weeks Waukesha county farmers have sustained heavy losses by fire. Although the local fire department has been instrumental in saving much property that might have burned, much more could be saved if proper equipment was supplied by various towns. Without exception the heaviest losses have been sustained because the flames could not be checked. The protection afforded is that of keeping the fire from spreading.

Distribute New Phone Directories

The Wisconsin Telephone company, Manager G. W. Johnson announced, has started distribution of 4,800 copies of the new Waukesha telephone directory. The directory lists names and numbers for more than 4,700 telephone stations served by the local office. Delivery of the directories will be completed in a few days. If any subscriber does not receive a copy of the directory, he will be supplied upon request made to the telephone business office.

Many changes in subscribers' listings and numbers have occurred since the last directory was issued. It is important, in the interest of satisfactory telephone service, that customers consult the new issue of the telephone directory before placing calls. Depending upon an obsolete list for telephone numbers is likely to result in wrong numbers.

HISTORIES FOR BIG EDITION

All Will Have Opportunity to Be Represented in Progress Issue

Enthusiasm is growing steadily over the huge Souvenir Progress and Prosperity issue of the Freeman to be published within a few weeks and many of Waukesha's leading firms have already signified their intention to get behind the issue and help it forward.

Those firms which will carry an account of their history up to the present time are as follows: Aero-shade Manufacturing company, Federal Steel Sash company, Guthell's Universal Milking Machine company, Hardy-Ryan Abstract company, White Rock Mineral Spring company, Waukesha Pattern Works, Waukesha Motor company, Waukesha Foundry, Silver King, William Connell Agriculture Implements, American Chest company, Brake Appliance corporation, Orr Truck service, Waukesha Butter, Green cab, Spring Water Ice and Fuel company, Meier Ice Cream company, Waukesha Cement, Star Cleaners and Dyers, Smith Motors, John McGovern trucking, Waukesha County Holstein Breeders association, Eckerman Construction company, Birtstrong Sheet Metal, Pioneer Foundry, Waukesha Welding, Wisconsin State Hatchery, Werra Aluminum, Waukesha Grain and Produce company, Schley's Dairy, Anderson Oil-O-Matic, Sawyer's Agency, Manitowoc Church Furniture company, Family Damp Wash, Park theatre, John Vetta, Gaspar's undertaking, Heiland's, J. K. Randle and Son, Muehl brothers, Knapke's Paint store and Purity bakery.

Every Waukesha merchant, business man, professional man and manufacturer will be given an opportunity to be represented in this historical number of The Freeman. From time to time additional names of new supporters will be published, and it is the hope of the publishers that every one who is associated with the growth and expansion of Waukesha will take advantage of the columns of this paper to give a history of his firm.

In addition to the records showing the highlights in the development of Waukesha's business houses and industries, the issue will contain hundreds of accounts of the early history of the city's club, political and recreational life.

Pictures of old landmarks and new buildings will enliven the pages. Stories on the discovery of Waukesha's springs and how they came to be here will add interest and color to the edition. Old timer's recollections of the many amusing and exciting events in the early lives of pioneer residents will give sparkle and humor to this number. Not only will the Souvenir Progress and Prosperity number give the past history of Waukesha, but it will also look into the years to come to indicate along what lines lie Waukesha's future growth and development.

Figuratively, the number will form a sort of a common meeting place in which Waukesha residents and business men may gather and be introduced to each other. Here they may learn of the industries within the boundaries of their town which are equally as well-known in Africa, China and Europe. Here they may meet men who still remember how they had to travel 40 miles to get to Milwaukee. Undoubtedly this historical number of The Freeman will build a stronger feeling of friendship between residents of the town and

BUILDING FOR 1930 BOOSTED

Follows Hoover's Report of Income Tax Returns

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — In the wake of President Hoover's statement Friday that the stock market crash has not seriously affected corporation earnings, as reflected in income tax returns, it became known today that government economists have boosted their construction estimates for 1930 by a billion dollars.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Klein, speaking over the radio last night, said reports to him indicated $11,000,000,000 would be spent this year by public and private interests in building and maintenance. Previously the amount had been put at $10,000,000,000.

"Construction makes jobs," Klein declared. "Because it is so intimately bound up with other interests, it can stimulate, stabilize, and steady the whole mass. Its influence is as healthy as it is tremendously far-reaching."

Exceed February
Klein said March building contracts exceeded those of February by 45 per cent and were only five per cent lower than those of March, 1929, when business was running under full steam. He noted a marked improvement in March construction figures over those of January, which lagged 21 per cent behind the corresponding month of 1929, and above those of February which were 12 per cent below those of February, 1929.

Turning to the government's drive to speed up business, Klein said between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 will be spent on public building and ground improvements this year as contrasted with $31,000,000 in 1929.

The treasury department has let more than 1,000 contracts for post offices' repairs thus far in 1930 and the navy bureau of yards and docks has advanced nearly $2,000,000 of work, he said.

LAKE LINE OWNERSHIP TO FRONT

High Court Will Rule On Question Which Split Legislature

By Claude J. Markle
United Press Staff Correspondent
LANSING, Mich. — For the second time in two years, ownership of hundreds of miles of shore line property in Michigan hinges upon a decision of the state supreme court which is expected to be handed down sometime this month.

The land in question is that which lies between the water's edge and a survey line run by government engineers in the early history of the state when an acreage estimate was desired. The survey was admittedly a rough one, little attempt being made in places to follow the actual shore line and, since a part of it was run in the winter, in some instances guesses were made as to where the beach extended under the snow and ice.

Two years ago, however, the state supreme court held that the "meander" line was the actual boundary of lake shore property and that any lands on the outside of the line were to be held in trust by the state for its citizens. Until the rendering of that decision the water's edge had been considered property limits and in the last two years the courts have had scores of cases revolving around damage claims.

Court Opens
Early this year the court reopened the entire question, but without giving any indication that it intends to reverse its first decision. All the old arguments have been submitted and today the department of conservation officials, fighting to retain the lands as public property are again deadlocked with property owners who claim they own to the water's edge.

The question of these "relicted" lands was one which split the 1929 state legislature into two bitter camp and is one which may play an important part in the coming general elections. An act which would have deeded the shore line to the adjacent property owners was passed by the solons after a prolonged fight, but it was vetoed by Governor Fred W. Green.

Gradual lowering of the level of the Great Lakes since the meander line was established, has added to the problem. As the level has fallen the waters have receded even from the original line. Property owners, in the belief that their title ran to the water, have followed out and in an exaggerated case at South Haven a large part of the community's business district is located on lands which the supreme court has held belong to the state.

In greater or less degree, the same situation exists at scores of other spots around the shore. The Michigan court's decision is in direct opposition to rulings prevailing in other Great Lakes states.

Neighbor Writes of Hidden Money

SHEBOYGAN, Wis.—Sheriff L. C. Tascho started an investigation today of a report by an anonymous letter writer who signed himself "One Straight Neighbor," that about $4,500 in gold and silver was hidden in the home of Julius Behr, found dead recently, and that several times lately lights have been seen at midnight in the supposedly untenanted house.

Behr, who was 63 years old, was found dead in the kitchen of his home Feb. 26 by a meter reader. Physicians said death was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

Authorities found small amounts of money hidden in various parts of the house.

"The late Julius Behr never had any money in the bank. It's put in the ground in an iron box," the "straight neighbor" wrote the sheriff.

"REAL" LORD MAYOR IS 79

Has Been Secretary to 54 Executives

LONDON—The "real" Lord Mayor of London is 79 years old. Sir William Soulsby, the man who ought to know practically all there is to know about the business of the Lord Mayor, has been private secretary to 54 Lord Mayors who have ruled over the city of London.

The Lord Mayor of London is usually so busy making speeches, attending banquets, opening public buildings, or laying cornerstones that he must have somebody to attend to business at the Mansion House, his official residence. This is where Sir William Soulsby fits into the lordly and mayoral scheme of things. Sir William is regarded as practically a permanent institution even in London, where great age and tradition are attached to many things. He has been private secretary to the Lord Mayor of London since 1875.

Sir William once started to write a volume on "Mansion House Reminiscences," but he had to give it up. There were too many Lord Mayors still alive, he explained.

Much of the pomp and splendor of London's many traditional parades and celebrations centers at the Mansion House. The Lord Mayor always occupies a prominent position on such occasions, but Sir William Soulsby really runs the show, just as he has done for 53 other Lord Mayors.

Girl Killed by Auto in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE — Lorraine Burbach, six year old, was listed today by police as the fifth victim of automobile accidents in South Milwaukee suburbs within the last five days.

The little girl, a first grade pupil, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by Joseph Bosch, 19, a block from her home as she was returning from school Friday afternoon. Several other children narrowly escaped being hit. Bosch was questioned by the district attorney today concerning the accident.

John P. Koenig, 19, whose automobile struck and killed two pedestrians Wednesday night in the same section of the city where the Burbach tragedy occurred, was arraigned in district court Friday and released under $2,000 bail after he was charged with manslaughter and his hearing set for April 18. One person was killed in the same section of the city Monday night and another Thursday night.

Will Relate Capturing of African Animals

When Irving J. Perkins of Milwaukee comes here Thursday night to speak at the high school auditorium on "Nine months in Africa," he will relate how he was led by four Wandorobo trackers, crawling silently on hands and knees through a dense bamboo jungle, looking for one of Africa's rarest animals, the Bongo, a large species of antelope. He bagged two fine specimens, one with an unusual arrangement of stripes. Few hunters have succeeded in shooting this elusive animal.

Mr. Perkins was a member of the Milwaukee Museum African expedition in 1928-29.
