

ANNA M. BREIDENBACH

On June 3rd at the home of her brother, Joseph in this village occurred the death of Anna M. Breidenbach after a long illness. Miss Breidenbach was born in Eagle, February 19, 1856 and was a daughter of the late Joseph Breidenbach and Frances Bunze.

She attended the common school and later spent several years in the city of Milwaukee. In 1898 she went to Mellette, S. D. to keep house for her brother, Joseph who had engaged in farming there. In September, 1919, they returned to Eagle to spend the remaining years in the town of their birth. They purchased the W. A. Logan home and were comfortably situated. In December Miss Breidenbach became ill and was confined to her home up to the time of her death. The funeral took place from St. Theresa Church Friday morning of which church the family are members, Rev. F. W. Elsinger, pastor officiating, interment was in the St. Theresa cemetery where lie buried her parents and other relatives.

Miss Breidenbach was a devout christian, and led an exemplary life. She leaves surviving her five brothers, Anton of Norwalk, Bernard, Joseph, and John of Eagle, Henry J. of Burlington, and three sisters, Frances now sister M. Philipi of the Franciscan order at St. Louis, Miss Katharine at Eagle, and Mrs. Mary Roesch of Milwaukee. Two sisters preceded her in death, Mrs. Agatha Breidenbach Schmidt of Norwalk, and Theresa, sister Theresa at the Sacred heart convent of St. Joseph, Missouri. Six near relatives George V. Breidenbach, Frank A. Breidenbach, Michael F. Breidenbach, Bernard J. Breidenbach, Anton Breidenbach and Henry Breidenbach served as pall bearers. We all extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.
