ROMEO JILTED BY GIRL BECOMES ANGRY; POLICE ARE SUMMONED AND HUSTLE HIM TO LOCKUP

Determined to marry the girl who had already refused to become his wife led to the arrest, on Sunday, of Vito Cawallzi, by the Waukesha police, after they had been summoned east.

Cawallzi had asked Seraprina Scopp to marry him, but a refusal failed to keep him from her home. On Sunday he made another visit to the scene of his wooing and when threatened the mother of Seraprina.

When arraigned on Monday morning he said that "he made a call at the Scopp home and shortly after his arrival was arrested." The case was continued and the defendant released on bond. He told the court his home was in New York and that as soon as he had paid debts owing here he was going back to that city.

Seven defendants pleaded guilty to the charge of indulging in a game of chance and paid a fiine of $10 and day night, at 264 Main street, west. Before the table at which the men were seated could be reached the stakes were pocketed by the players.

RECOMMEND SET OF RULES

BELIEVE UNIFORM REGULATIONS WILL MATERIALLY AID IN REDUCING ACCIDENTS

Standard rules governing the conduct of traveling on the public highway; uniform speed regulation aimed primarily at reckless driving, and examination and licensing of all motor vehicle operators, with a ban on the mentally or physically unfit as well as persons under 16 years of age or who cannot read English, are among the outstanding recommendations made by the committee on traffic control of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, to Secretary Hoover, which will be presented at sessions of the conference in Washington on Dec. 15, 16, and * 17.

"Traffic control and traffic laws enforcement have been added to the duties of police forces that in some cases are little if any larger than ganization to control it," says the committee. "Uniform, impartial enforcement of reasonable requirements by adequate and properly organized police is a primary necessity in reducing street and highway accidents. The mere addition of numbers of traffic officers untrained in the special problems will not insure the desired results."

Need Personal Responsibility

"The most abundant provision of streets and highways, the most careful working out of traffic regulations and the most vigorous enforcement of traffic laws, to be 100 per cent effective in the reduction of accidents, must be supplemented by a sense of personal responsibility instilled in every motorist and every pedestrian."
