OCONOMOWOC TO HAVE OUTDOOR CHILD'S SHOW

Performances in Open Air Theatre to be Held During July

Children who live within driving distance of Oconomowoc this summer will doubtless consider themselves favored mortals for Oconomowoc is to have a children's theatre during the month of July. Performances of delightful children's plays are to be given every Friday and Saturday afternoon by child actors in an out-of-door theatre to all who wish to enter the charmed circle by paying the small admission fee that will help defray expenses. There will be a children's orchestra to accompany the dancing and singing that are a part of the plays, and to entertain between acts.

Members of the American Association of University Women, under whose auspices the theatre will be are now rounding into shaps the plans that are to make it possible. And they are assured that an ardent response from chil-dren and parents will make this children's theatre a demonstration to other communities of a happy and successful venture in educational dramatics.

dience—the children. The "movie problem" is a despair to many thoughtful parents. Children must have dramatic entertainment. Their imaginative souls are starved for the thrill of live stories acted out before them, yet the se-lection they find in the moving picture houses is, more often than not, an insult to their intelligence and natural good taste, not to say a demoralizing influence.

"A real children's theatre, where the children will not only have the opportunity of seeing their best loved stories, and many new ones come to life before their very eyes, but where they will also have the joy of becoming the characters, themselves, as they act the partssuch a theatre will, in the opinion of the American Association of University Women, do much counteract the lure of the sophisticated movie show, and will develop a wholesome love for the best that the theatre can provide.' Miss Ruby LaMore, of Madison, has been secured as director. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and is now a postgraduate student in the department of speech and a candidate for the Master of Arts degree. She is the first and only student in the university to take up children's dramatics as her special study, and she has done outstanding work in this field under Professor N. G. Troutman.

FIND BODIES OF TWO WOMEN IN QUARRY

SOUDERTON, Pa. - The bodies of two well-dre ed women were taken out of an abandoned quarry near here today.

They are believed to have been mer bers of a party of automobilists whose car crashed through the embankment around the quarry last night and was plunged in 50 feet of water.

One of the women was about 40 years old and the other 60.

DEDICATE NEW HOME OF BOARD

Hoover Touches Bottom for Chicago Opening

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The Chicago Board of Trada dedicated its new skyscraper home today with a "march of industrial progress" from the dingy temporary quarters on South Dearborn street to the limestone tower that rises 44 stories at the foot of LaSalle street. President Hoover by touching a button in Washington opened trading in the cathedral-like room where millions of bushels of wheat and corn will change hands in days to come. Simultaneously the trading room was linked with the Liverpool market by telephone and John A Bunnell, president, talked to Alexander Slater, Jr., head of the England mart, who sent felicita-tions. Then the telephone was connected to the trading room and the roar of the wheat pit was carried across the Atlantic.

Dedication of the 612-foot Board of Trade skyscraper marks the culmination of 82 years of wheat trading in Chicago and is a far cry from the dingy upstairs room over a grocery where the first traders

Atop the tower is a monster clock, visible all over the Loop. The timepiece is flanked by carved figures symbolic of wheat and corn, the grains that pour in from the fields of the west and are diverted to the world's markets through brokers who own the 2,450 seats on the exchange.

The trading room is floored with teak wood, the most durable known and expected to withstand for many years the milling of traders and the dashing scuffs of messenger boys. The room itself is four stories high, of cathedral dimen-The traditional roar is toned down but not eliminated by sound proof walls and roof.

A separate room has been provided trading in securities, an enterprise which the Board of Trade entered for the first time last year.

ANNUAL G. A. R. CONVENTION OPENS

EAU CLAIRE, Wis.—The annual state encampment of the Wisconsin department, Grand Army of the Republic, and allied organizations opened here today with several thousand persons attending.

Only a few hundred of the G. A.
R. veterans remained to be present and the other delegates represented the woman's relief corps, sons of Union Veterans, Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, National Daughters of the G. A. R., Daughters of Union Veterans, and Ladies of the G. A. R.

The few surviving members of the iron brigade also met for their reunion. The various organizations formally opened their conventions this afternoon. Streets of the city were decorated with bunting and flags and large pictures of Old Abe, the famous eagle mascot of the Eau Claire company during the Civil war, were in evidence everywhere. The G. A. R. encampment will last four days.

NO LIQUOR IN CAR WHERE WOMAN DIED

EUROPA, Miss.-No liquor was found today in the automobile over which Mrs. Lee M. Ferguson was killed yesterday by her husband, a magistrate, in a battle with suspected bootleggers at a community song festival.

The shooting was precipitated when Ferguson and Sheriff John W. Gary attempted to search the car . The sheriff searched the car today and said it held no liquor. Mrs. Ferguson, when the firing broke out, ran into the line of fire.

She was hit in the abdomen by a bullet from her husband's gun, and died a few minutes later. Tom B. Elkins, Archie Morris ad Jim Sewall, the latter two bystanders, were wounded. On reports that Elkins and a companion, Watts Bowen, were causing a disturbance at the festival, Ferguson and the deputies came to the scene, and attempted to search their car. Elkins and Bowen resented the search and opened fire, the officers returning it. Ferguson was held.

NEW YORK-C. D. Eaton, editor of Plain Talk Magazine since its inception in 1927, died last night of heart disease at a local hospital. He was 36 years old.

KOHLER TO BE NOMINATED

OSHKOSH, Wis.—(U.P.)—One thing and one thing only appeared certain as the state Republican convention assembled here today and that was that Gov. Walter J. Kohler will be its candidate for re-election.

Preliminaries to formal opening of the convention in Eagles hall moved slowly and it appeared that several battles might develop on the convention floor over choice of other candidates on the ticket.

Names of Sen. Walter S. Goodland, Racine, and Harry Dahl, La Crosse, were most prominently mentioned for lieutenant governor. Goodland was not a candidate but made known that he would abide by the will of the party and if selected would make the race as Kohler's running mate.

From usually well informed sources the United Press learned that the ticket probably will be composed of Kohler, Goodland, Assemblyman J. W. Carow of Ladysmith for attorney general, Mrs. R. W. Bowen of Augusta for secretary of state, and John H. Puehlicher of Milwaukee for state treasurer.

The biggest fight was expected over attorney general. Names discussed were M. J. Eberlein, Shawano; A. W. Kopp. Platteville; Robert J. Rieser, Madison; Clarence Hurley, Superior; and Dorothy

Walker, Portage.

William Knauf, Chilton, was talked about as a possible candidate for secretary of state. Demand that Puehlicher run for treasurer was said by many leaders to be so insistent that they had little doubt he would be the convention choice.

Liner Leaves Course to Do Mercy Errand

NEW YORK—The United States liner George Washington, enroute to Hamburg, went far off her course last night to perform an errand of mercy, according to radio dispatches to home offices here to-

Capt. A. B. Ramsdall of the George Washington received a message from the freighter West Caddoa, New Orleans-bound from Manchester asking that Third Officer Harold Mann, who had become ill, be taken aboard.

The George Washington changed her course and met the freighter in mid-Atlantic at 9 p. m. Mann was taken aboard the George Washington and was immediately placed under the care of ship physicians. He was described as "very ill" by radio advices.

CUTTINGS AND CAPPER SWING FOR TARIFF

Leaves Administration Leaders Margin of One Vote

WASHINGTON —(UP)— A motion to recommit the tariff bill to the house and senate conference committees was made in the senate today by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin.

Blaine protested against the compensatory duties fixed in the dairy schedule, charging the conferees had taken the lowest possible rates while in other schedules such as wool, they had accepted the highest possible compensatory rates.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Two doubtful Republican senators swung into line for the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill today, putting the measure's fate directly up to Senators Reed and Grundy, Repns., Pa., who have declined to announce how they will vote.

Senators Capper, Repn., Kas., and Cutting, Repn., N. M., are the two who have made up their minds definitely to support the legislation.

This leaves the administration leaders a margin of one vote with Reed, Grundy and Senator King, Dem., Utah, still listed as undecided. Reed said he may not make up his mind until just before the vote is taken Thursday or Friday. Grundy is away and has intimated through his friends here he may be absent without a pair.

During remoulding of the lines, the following developments also were noted:

1.—Senator Borah, Repn., Ida., leader of the coalition opposition to the measure, declared he would not consent to fixing a time for a final vote by agreement, although he expected the vote would be reached Exides.

2.—Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, denied charges that sufficient Democratic votes would be given to the Republicans to pass the bill. "No Democratic vote that I am able to influence will be cast for this measure," Robinson said.

Will Support Bill

3.—Doubts about the position of Senator Metcalf, Repn., R. I., were set at rest when Metcalf told the United Press he would vote for the bill, believing it contained some improvements over present law.

4.—An influential cabinet member was reported in senatorial circles to have misgivings about the legislation, though not intendinf to oppose its signature by President Hoover, it was said.

Reed and Grundy are believed to have about the same ideas on the subject as this cabinet member. It is said they do not believe the bill will do much good and think it may, perhaps, do some harm, but consider it better to pass it and get it out of the way than to defeat the present conference report and keep the matter hanging fire.

The opposition leaders generally predict the bill will pass, because they believe Reed, at least, will eventually support it.

Despite this situation, the coalitionists have not given up hope. That is one of the reasons they are refusingf to fix a definite time to vote Something may occur, they think, in the meanwhile to upset the calculations upon which the Republican leaders now are basing their predictions of favorable action on the legislation.

Debate is dragging slowly. Only two hours of yesterday's five-hour session were devoted to the tariff.

Says 20 Speakeasies in Headquarters of Drys

NEW YORK—The July issue of Plain Talk magazine contains an article entitled "Ohio—Lawless and Unashamed" in which the statement is made that there are 20 speakeasies in Westerville, national headquarters of the Anti-Saloon

The article was written by Walter Liggett who contends that his investigation disclosed 35,000 speakeasies in the state. He declares that a "dry dictatorship" in the state will end if the contemplated re-apportionment amendment is put on the ballot in the fall elec-

ONE SUSTAINS BROKEN SKULL; 4 IN HOSPITAL

Accident Occurs at Intersection of Charles St. and Laflin Ave.

Nine men were injured, four seriously enough to be taken to Municipal hospital, at 12:10 p. m. today when a Chevrolet and a sand and gravel truck came together at the intersection of Laflin avenue and Charles street.

Seven concrete workers, employed with a gang laying pavement in Caples' subdivision, were thrown out of the dump truck onto the pavement. One of the men, Albert Mickelson, 224 West St. Paul averue, is believed to have a skull fracture. One of his ears was partly torn off.

The Chevrolet was traveling easterly on Laflin avenue and the truck was going north on Charles street when the left front fender of the car was caught by the truck. In an effort to avoid hitting the car, the truck driver, Jack Dalton, 142 Union street, turned the truck suddenly and the men riding in the rear were thrown out.

Two Crash Victims' Condition Serious

Two of the four men taken to Municipal hospital Tuesday afternoon with injuries sustained when they were thrown out of a sand and gravel truck at the intersection of Charles st. and Laffin ave., were still in serious condition today. They are Albert Mickelson, 224 West St. Paul avenue, and Joe Ziner of the same address.

The other two men, Robert Schaffer, Cambrian House, and Thomas Livegodd, 224 West St. Paul ave., have left the hospital.

The crash occurred when the truc' in which eight men were riding struck a light car. The truck driver, Jack Dalton, turned to avoid hitting the car and the sudden swerving of the truck swept the men in the rear of the truck to the road.

SIX WORKMEN KILLED, SEVEN ARE INJURED

Blast Occurs 200 Feet Below Bed of the Detroit River

DETROIT-(U.P.) - An explosion of dynamite 200 feet below the bed of the Detroit river buried 30 men in a tunnel today killing six and injuring seven others. Only two escaped without injury.

As the blast reverberated through the tunnel which is being constructed by the water board and up the shaft the bodies of men nearest its center were hurtled against the rock walls or the temporary structure of the

Everyone in the tunnel was knocked down and some were partially buried beneath the rock and dirt jarred down by the blast.

Homer Abel, who was fifty feet from the dynamite charge, was knocked to the ground. When he was able to get up he raced to the tunnel head, hundreds of feet away, and up to the top where he spread the alarm.

Rescuers immediately went down the shaft. Injured were brought out first and rushed to hospitals, while all available police and firemen aided or formed a cordon to keep the curious back. Hard to Identify

The dead, their bodies mangled by the force of the blast, were brought up wrapped in sheets. They were so badly crushed, police said, that they could not be identifled immediately.

Most of the injured were rushed to St. Mary's hospital, nearby, while others were taken to the receiving hospital.

Two later died at St. Mary's hospital. The lives of four were crushed out in the underground tomb almost instantly.

The men who died at the hospital were Ellis Howe and Samuel Seabolt. Neither recovered consciousness. Their heads were almost blown off, physicians said.

The explosion occurred, police said, when a charge of dynamite, placed yesterday, was accidentally discharged.

Several charges were placed in the tunnel yesterday and some of them failed to explode. Today laborers and drillers began preparation of other holes for dynamite charges. As one operator of an air drill was working the point of his drill came in contact with one of the charges placed yesterday. The explosion resulted.

The Injured
William White, T. Craig, J.
Borup, Frank Borith, John Alley, Claude Winkler and Frank Baity. Borup, Borith and Alley were not seriously injured, physicians

The location of the explosion made the work of rescue squads particularly difficult. Injured had to be carried throuh the tunnel to the shaft where they were raised to the surface of the earth on an elevator.

Fall of rock, dirt and the wreckage of the temporary structure in the tunnel added to the confusion. Above ground crowds milled about in Water Works park, where the shaft head opens. Relatives of workers shoved through the lines to learn the fate of their own and then hurried away to hospitals.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE HELD

High School Seniors Numbering 125 Attend

Likening the future of high school graduates with the encoun-ter David had with Goliath, the Philistine giant whom the former killed with a sling as described in Samuel 1, XVII, the Rev. Charles W. Heywood, Methodist minister, spoke to 500 Sunday night who crowded into the Congregational church to witness the annual Waukesha high school baccalaureate service.

The five smooth stones taken from the brook were compared with the five necessities of life: Inspiration to conceive: Initiative to create; Independence to construct; Industry to complete; religious Integrity to conserve.

The speaker stressed the importance of the need of man and womanhood today for the preservation of the respect this nation holds among the countries of the world. Things material are not so important as integrity, he de-

One hundred and twenty-five seniors, attired in caps and gowns, were present and sat in the center block of seats. Relatives and friends occupied all other available space.

The Rev. Carl L. Duft, new pastor of the Salem Evangelical church, opened the services with the invocation. Dr. Alfred Gregory was in charge. The Rev. A. L. Drake read the scripture and Dr. W. A. Ganfield spoke the prayer. Services were closed with a benediction by the Rev. A. A. Hahn.

The Congregational quartette sang.

The services are said to have been one of the most impressive since high school baccalaureate addresses have been given here. The first was delivered in 1926 in the Methodist church.

Boy Fails in Attempt to Save Sister

OCONTO, Wis.—The body of Veva Farrar, 10, rested today in the country home of her parents at Breed while nearby stood her brother, Vail, 14, a lad whose heroic efforts to save his little sister's life are the main reason for this story.

The parents of the children were in Suring Saturday, having taken another child to a doctor there. Vail, Veva, and the other 11 children in the family were at home.

Veva was working a cream separator in the kitchen about 10 o'clock Saturday night. Another child entered, slamming the door. The jar caused a shotgun which was hanging above the door to fall and the full charge from the gun entered the calf of Veva's leg.

Vail worked feverishly in an attempt to stop the flow of blood from his sister's wound. Then he lifted her in his arms, mounted a horse and rode like mad two miles to the nearest neighbor's. Veva was transferred to an automobile and rushed to Suring, 10 miles further on. Her leg was amputated. Sunday morning she died from loss of
