Morgan versus Roosevelt.

The most interesting fact in American can politics just now is the dead set that Pierpont Morgan is making against President Roosevelt. When the Harper Publishing House failed, Morgan put a millian into it and made George Harvey secretary. Harvey is the editor of Harper's Weekly, and each number of the Weekly contains most caustic, but usually unrair and ineffective criticisms of the president. Roosevelt's nomination in 1904 is conceded, but Morgan's Weekly seems to cling to the hope that the democrats will nominate a man who can beat him. The choice of Morgan's Weekly is Grover Cleveland, whom it characterizes as a "safe," or a man of Cleveland's stamp. All that was needed to insure Roosevelt's election was the hot opposition of Wall street. The gods certainly are good to Teddy. One National reader, a democrat—wants to know why I like Roosevelt so well I never saw the man. I never "shook the hand that shook the hand," ve used to say of John L. Modern Woodmen of America and their allied fraternities are making big preparations for the proposed cheampment at the World's Fair, St. Lous, in September of next year. The Woodmen number about 750,000 members in America. Gen John H. Mitchell, commander of the organization, says that 150,000 will be at St. Louis during the week closing Sept. 5, with 'Modern Woodmen of America Day.' The Foresters, a semi-military organization allied with the Woodmen, has 80,000 uniformed members and it is said that 5,000 of these will attend the bilious attack I took one. Small as encampment. # TYPES OF MEN OF NEW YORK

Interesting Characters That Are Found in Gotham.

They Represent the Financial, Industrial and Religious Fields-An Oddity in Sky Scrapers Which May Be Erected.

New York .- The death of George G. Williams, banker, enforces some lessons about the old-fashioned men who still succeed in business in oldfashioned ways.

Mr. Williams as a poor boy worked his way up from the bottom just as good boys do in the storybooks. He had no rich relatives to boost him along. He won his way by merit. Sixty years he worked as a banker. Not as a bank president who exists mainly to "finance" the schemes of ambitious promoters, but as a banker pure and simple. The results of his work are remarkable. The Chemical national bank, of which he was so long president, is a small one-in one way. Its capital is only $300,000 against the $25,000,-000 of the City bank. But the dividends paid on the stock are 150 per cent., its surplus is above $7,00€,000, and the market value of its stock has risen steadily for years. It was $4,100 per share at the end of 1901; by the end of 1902 it had risen to $4,300. A man who owned a single share of stock during that year drew upon his $4,100 capital $150 in dividends and $200 in the enhanced value of stock; if he then sold he gained $350 in all, or about 81/2 per cent. Mr. Williams was a courteous old gentleman whom it was a delight to newspaper men to "interview"-and to newspaper women. He never insulted them with the kind of personal, sickening insult which any known form of redress would only make worse, as I have known some newfashioned Wall street men to do. He had his rules in life. One was to be polite; another not to ask useless questions.

A banking quarrel of importance is now simmering in this city because the president of an institution many times larger than the Chemical refused to allow its assets to be used to bolster up promoting schemes.

Two Other "Grand Old Men." Sixty-one years of work is the record of Robert M. Olyphant, who has left the presidency of the Delaware & Hudson railroad to younger hands. Samuel Sloan was for 70 years in the harness and now, in his 86th year, can talk with energy of his long life in world of affairs.

Sloan was 32 years president of the Lackawanna road. Like the Delaware & Hudson, this is a comparatively small affair in mileage and in the amount of its capitalization; but it is eminently prosperous.

Here is the strange thing: This man, still living, was president of the New York Central before Commodore Vanderbilt. He was old-fashioned then as he is to-day, a born administrator, as Vanderbilt was a born organizer. When Sloan took the Central its stock was worth $17 per share. When he left it the price was $140; that was in 1864, a time of war and excitement. The Central has become from a big road a big system. but its stock sells away below $140 in a time of peace and great prosperity. It was after he left the Central that Sloan became the head of the Lackawanna. There again he was conservative, old-fashioned. So long as he remained president there were few Sunday trains upon the Lackawanna, on week days its service was than that of its rivals, and its and property kept in better while its comparatively small issues paid seven per cent And the old-fashioned man is alive and hearty; his successor in the Central chair, Commodore Vanderbilt, is dead; the commodore's successor, W. H. Vanderbilt, is dead: the commodore's grandson and next successor in the management, Cornelius, is dead. The old-fashioned man has outlived them all, and I fancy that he is wealthier than any Vanderbilt now on earth.

Strangest of All Sky-Scrapers. Whittle a soft pine stick just five preserve their "light rights"-an object, by the way, of almost as much anxiety to architects as the land they really use for their top-heavy work.

On the northeast corner of New and Exchange place, is the site of the building. The street on one side is but from building to building; from building to building on the other street measures the magnificent distance of 15 feet. The width of the proposed structure is to be 26 feet, its length 41 feet, its height seventeen stories. And its sarcastic owners, Mr. Havemeyer, the songar king, and Mr. Savin, are to call it the Daylight building, cruelly twitting their deny him.

This neighbor is the Commercial Cable building of 20 stories. The top three will be very lig#: after the them; as for the rest there is always electricity.

The Harpers in Journalism.

The sale of Daily America by its receiver is said to have been made in the interest of the Daily Telegraph. If this is true the sedate old book publishing firm of Harper & Bros. will presently be conducting, singly or more probably combined, two sporting and sporty dailies of the kind that in London are commonly printed on Col. Ceorge Harvey. pink paper.

There is a field here for such papers, on account of the absorbing interest in sports. They can be sold at five cents a copy, the paper costing less than half a cent. Advertisements of certainsorts pay fairly well. shown by the recent statement of the World that in the 20 years of Mr. Pulitzer's management its total receipts have been upward of $67,000,any sign of having reached a maximum, it is perfectly safe to conclude that the present income of the paper is not less than five millions a year. That of the Herald may be a trifle less, but as it is sold at three cents a copy and its advertising patronage is than that of the World or of any other daily existing.

The sporting interest is so much a specialty that a great sporting paper might be built up in the city with an income of a hundred thousand or more a year without hurting in the least the bigger general newspapers.

Col. Harvey, the leader in reorganizing harpers' since their tremendous slump two years ago, is a newspaper man. He was Mr. Pulitzer's secretary and manager for a time, drifted into trolley-car management, came back into journalism again as president of Harpers' with J. P. Morgan as his backer and a staff of newsfirst year, but the venture is supposed to have turned the corner and to be paying interest upon the greatest load of debt that ever burdened a publishing house, with something over for profits.

nothing old-fashioned about him: hut there are precedents to show that a man of any fashion can arrive if he manages right.

HAY FEVER ABOLISHED

Relief for This Malady Discovered by Medical Science--Breathe Hyomei.

Among the important additions made to medical science in recent 35 feet wide, not from curb to curb, years, none is more notable than the positive announcement of a cure for hay fever.

While this disease is not regarded as fatal, it is certainly a most distressing malady, and if snything can be devised to cure it, a great been will be conferred upon the human race.

Exhaustive experiments with Hyomei prove that this treatment will prevent all attacks of hav fever if used two or three weeks before the annual neighbor upon what it is going to appearance of the disease and that it may be relied upon if used faithfully after the disease has begun, to relieve at once and afford a speedy cure.

Dunlap & Williams have sold hunareds of Hyomei outfits for the treat-Daylight has been built against ment of diseases of the respiratory ergans under the agreement to refund the money if Hyomei did not afford relief.

In selling Hyomei for the cure of hay fever they will continue this equitable plan, and want all who are subject to this distressing malady to begin its use at once, with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, the purchase price is to be re funded.

Stomach dosing cannot cure hay fever. A change of climate is the only treatment that has heretofore aborted an attack, and Hyomei, which is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler coming with every outfit, acts upon this principle, giving in your own home a climate like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts. 31w3 roubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medieine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

DESTROY WHITE GRUBS.

The insects popularly known "white grubs" are very numerous this year and are damaging pastures, hay fields and lawns. These grubs are the larvae of one or two species of May beetles (June bugs) which fly about dwellings during the warm evenings of May.

Life History.

The beetles appear during the early part of May and soon after the females deposit their eggs among the roots of grasses and other succulent plants. These eggs soon hatch and the young grubs begin to feed on the roots. During the latter part of the summer the grubs reach maturity and construct rude chambers or cocoons in which they transform into perfect beetles. The beetles do not leave the ground until the following spring, when the same round of life is repeated. Some species of white grubs require two years to mature.

Appearance of the Grubs. If the grubs are present in sufficient number, the root system of the plants is completely devoured and the plants is completely devoured and of a party at Pewaukee, and she went of the plants did not be received in the plants of the plants the plants die. The eating capacity of these grubs is enormous. A single grub will devour more than its own weight of food in a day. The presence of the grubs, which is not she has succeeded in getting back.

The eating capacity accordingly to prove and claim her property, but the party refused to prove the birth of a daughter.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm-about the fort and make daily attack on it. The structure also will be the of a daughter.—Many of our farmers are stacking their grain; others are pioneers of the city.

An industrial parade at night bril. noticeable until considerable damage has been done, is indicated by the gradual withering and drying up of the sod. The top layer of the sod, to the depth of about two inches, is seperated from the rest of the roots so that it may be rolled up like a blanket.

Ordinarily the grubs are not present in sufficient number to cause noticeable damage, being kept in check by paratited and furth. The ravages by this greet are to at their height in many places and within a short time the party will be inligation and en-ter 1200 the party stage, after which they cou't feet on the roots. Whether the presence of the grubs this year will cause an epidemic next year, depends upon the weather conditions and parasites.

Remidies.

Since the grubs feed under ground, the application of Paris green and other arsenious poisons is not practicable. Infested pastures and medows should be fall ploughed, rather shallow, and harrowed a few times before the winter sets in so as to expose the insects to the winter weather. It is not advisable to plant badly infested land to corn, especially if it has been plowed in the spring. Clean culture is the most effective way of fighting this insect.

Treatment of Lawns. Infested lawns may be treated as follows: dissolve five pounds of common brown laundry soap in a barrel of water and apply the solution to the infested lawn, thoroughly saturating it. Then water thoroughly to carry the solution furthur down. The tonedy will not kill the grubs if they already constructed their cham-

. Where the grass is killed before the pest is discovered, do not disturb the surface,—first kill the grubs, then sow lawn grass seed, rake the sod lightly and water when the top becomes dry. In the fall apply a liberal dressing of barn-yard manure. The grass seed may bee sown any time provided the soil is kept moist. E. P. Sandston, Horticulturist.

The Course in Agriculture.

The coming term of the short course in Agriculture, which begins Nov. 30th, and closes March 5th, promises to surpass all previous terms in attendance and character of the work outlined. Applications are coming in rapidly, no less than one hundred and fifty already enrolled in the first and second year class. The erection of the new Agriculture building with additional instructional facilities added this year will materially strengthen the work in the Short Course. Young men desiring to take the course should register in advance in order to be assured that a place in the classes will be retained for them.—Students are accepted in the order of their applications. No entrance examination required and no tuition charged to residents of Wisconsin. The new cirular, describing the Short Course in Agriculture is now ready for distribution and can be obtained by sending to R. A. Moore, Madison, Wis.

THE MEANING OF THE WORD "SCIENCE."

A great many farmers get scared and draw themselves "into their holes," as the saying goes, the mo-ment they hear the word "scientific" applied to any of the operations of arming.

It is hard to account for this preudice or to say what it means. A great host of farmers have a strong prejudice against what they call "book farming," against what they call "scientific farming," against the professor and teacher in Agricultural College, and against what is written in papers devoted to farming. No doubt all these books, papers and professors sometimes make mistakes, but is the farmer free from mistakes? No doubt the book or pa-per is not alway "right down to bed er always down to bed rock and prac-

It is a good thing in this world to start with a right definition. It acts like a chart to the navigator. One of the best genniced of what constitutes "science" is from "Campbell's Soil farming, is from Culture." It says:

ing, is not generally well and clearly to really understand a thing in its When a child comes to knew matchematics from start to finish, he then becomes a scientist in the sense of a scientific no false motions, every act or effort corn from a field than any other man, he becomes a scientific corn husker, because he knows the best way to get the best and greatest possible results. So can the word be used in expressing a high degree of perfect knowledge in any subject we may consider, either in soil culture, or in any other branch of farm work, as well as bread making and every other branch in domestic work.

There is one other point we wish to make and that is a true scientist rever reaches the point where he thinks he knows it all, but is ever reaching out for higher and more complete knowledge in an application of his special line, for in a close application to one line he becomes a specialist. Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor, is a true example of both scientist and spealist.".—Hoard's Dairyman.
