Speaking and singing by the school children and the sale of baskets containing supper for two with the exception of two prizes and supper for one furnished a large entertainment for the people of Little Prairie on Saturday evening. L. E. Hall presided at the sale of baskets and distinguished himself in the business of auctioneering, a new departure for him as he is known more particularly as a successful farmer and politician. Thirty baskets were sold netting the sum of $22.50 which was swelled by voluntary contributions to $27.50. The prize baskets were sold to "auctioneer" Hall and Geo. Watson who were made to take the first seats during the supper hour. The prizes were a silk handkerchief and a pocket knife. All present pronounced the affair a grand success. E. P. Hinkley has his saw finished with all modern improvements and conveniences and can saw all kinds of lumber for wagon and wood work at reasonable prices. He has had several years of experience and can do good work.

Incorporating the village made matters quiet as to local politics. Democrats and Republicans have been going arm in arm during the past year in all affairs relating to village improvements, and thusly discovered that there are good people everywhere. They have become so friendly that a contest from a political standpoint would almost appear antagonistic. Hence the quietness in reference to the village election.

FOR SALE—Parlor pool table, six pockets, good condition. Address Box 285, Eagle, Wis.

A fair sized audience greeted Rev. W. D. Cox managing editor of the Wisconsin agitator at the M. E. Church on Tuesday evening. The name of his paper clearly indicates his character, the substance of his address was in chief an arraignment of President McKinley for imbibing wine at a banquet in Milwaukee and his cowardice in the army campaign during the Spanish war. The blind pigs in Genesee where the speaker formerly resided were also attacked. Will N. Cork the noted prohibitionist sang several of his choicest songs. Rev. Cox was formerly in charge of the M. E. church, at Eagle and his method of dealing with those who differ with him on these questions is so well known that people here do not get alarmed over his statements or misstatements. It is only a stranger who has never seen or heard him who wonders why he got so angry because President McKinley drank wine in Milwaukee instead of Pabst Beer. In speaking of this the following day some of his hearers thought that possibly he was slighted and did not receive an invitation to the banquet. At the conclusion of his speech cards were passed around to be signed by the men and boys only giving their political preferences to the coming campaign. We did not learn of the number who coincide with the speaker's views, but it must be borne in mind that he has several admirers here who have clung to him in his effort to establish prohibition of the ardent goods. We shall not attempt to defend President McKinley as a politician nor will we approve of the Reverend gentleman so far as they relate to the Milwaukee Banquet. Suffice it to refer him to the wedding at Canaan. His reference to the last Presidential contest and expression of belief that it would probably have been better for us if Bryan was successful, verifies the old adage that it is human to err and as he also is one of these "Humans" we judging the future by the past assume that he too sometimes is in error.

George Woodin the night clerk at the Commercial reports the Sunday trains are of but little help to the hotels. On Sunday evening only two got off of the train namely: the Conductor and Brake-man and they went aboard again when the wheels began to turn west. Possibly he has a plan to suggest for improvement.

Republicans in Jefferson county are arranging for a lively local campaign for country offices.

The annual Town election takes place at the Opera House in this village on Tuesday April 3rd. The village election will be held on the same day but will be separate and distinct from the Town election. Nothing of importance will be brought before the annual meeting so far as we know of now. The election will no doubt be a tame affair. Politics will not enter into contest for office. This is as it should be.

Several of our young ladies have threatened to remove to North Prairie, where the Tuesday evening Lecturer said there were thirty-one boys. Of course he added "who signed the voting card."

Secretary Harland of the Waukesha County Agricultural Society, ought to secure the two blind pigs at North Prairie that have both eyes open for exhibition at the next Fair. We always knew that North Prairie was full of curiosities but not believe that it went so far as to reach the animal kingdom.

John Shoeman of North Prairie was at Eagle Monday.

W. D. Sherman of Waukesha had business at Eagle Wednesday.

The above is an article abounding in good sense, and every man who reads the same would doubtless like to have it appear in his local paper for it would have some effect.

March 15—At 14 minutes to one o'clock Wednesday afternoon the president affixed his signature to the financial bill, thus making it the law of the land. Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana, who had the bill in charge, arrived at the White House about five minutes before the time, and was shown into the cabinet room, where he was joined by the president, who, after inquiring if the bill had been compared with care, affixed his signature to it. At the same time he recalled to those who stood by the fact that many of the important financial bills which had been passed by congress had been approved on the 14th of the month. He spoke of the Sherman act, the resumption act, and now the bill which was before him. In signing the bill the president used a new gold pen and holder which Mr. Overstreet had brought with him for that purpose.

The New York Life, the Mutual Life, the Sun Life of Canada, the Massachusetts Mutual, the Michigan Mutual, and the Mutual Benefit, combined, wrote insurance in Michigan during the year 1899 aggregating $10,500,000. The Modern Woodmen society alone wrote $9,094,000 new insurance in Michigan during the same period. If the Woodmen alone can write almost as much insurance in a state as several of the leading old life companies, what old life agent will have the temerity to rise up and say, "The fraternal beneficiary system is losing its popularity."

The following is a timely clipping from an exchange—"A correspondent says the dark brown peddlers are with us again. Yes, the humble peddler is here and the mail is full of catalogues from the supply houses, and the slick gentleman selling 'the last of an immense bankrupt stock of silverware at 25 cents on the dollar' are all here, and after harvest the nice young man from the wholesale grocery house will be taking orders from the farmers. Our opinion of the whole outfit is covered in the following remark which we clip from an exchange:

"The next time a travelling peddler calls at your door and tries to sell goods, ask him if he'd take your butter, eggs and other farm produce, ask him if, when your neighbors get ready to build a road bridge over the slough, he would willingly donate a few dollars to help it along. Tell him that there is a poor family down the road would be thankful if he'd donate a few provisions, ask him if he would contribute to an enterprise just started. If he agrees to all these, and makes it binding, even then don't patronize him. Your home merchants will do this and much more."

Death of Gen. Harnden.
Gen. Harnden department commander of the G. A. R. died at his home in Madison last Saturday evening. Thus closed an important and eventful career. Gen. Harnden was everywhere known as the man who captured President Davis of the Confederacy. While he lingered on his death bed last week, E. D. Coe of Whitewater wrote of him as a comrade.

"To us he has always been the truest, kindest, bravest of men, ever preferring others to himself, generous in word, thought and deed, ready to almost impoverish himself for old soldiers whether worthy or unworthy. He was plain and unassuming in manner, but we know how knightly was his spirit, seen through our eyes, he was the Bavaard of the war. We cannot bear to have him go, but he is dying as he would have chosen—in the service of his brethren."

New Canadian Railway Short Grain Route.

The Quebec and Lake Huron Railway Company, which is asking a charter from the Canadian Government, promises to be a most important factor in the traffic between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic seaboard. The lines will start from the mouth of French River, on Georgian Bay, and run east to Quebec, crossing the Ottawa at Mattawa, the Lievre River at Rapide de l'Original, and the St. Maurice at Grandes Piles. (The distance from Georgian Bay to Quebec will be 440 miles, or 135 miles less than from Parry Sound, which is now the shortest route between the Great Lakes and Quebec. As regards the trade coming from Lake Superior and Michigan, there will be a saving of 115 miles of navigation on Lake Huron. The water and rail transportation will therefore be 250 miles shorter by the proposed Quebec and Lake Huron Railroad than by the Parry Sound and Great Northern.

The new line will pass about 125 miles north of Montreal and run through the immense plateau of the Matawin, Ronge, Lièvre, and Gatineau rivers, embracing over 3,000,000 acres of forest and farming lands of the Province of Quebec.

Undoubtedly, the opening of a railway through this immense tract of arable lands will give a powerful impulse to colonization, as there is enough good farming ground in this plateau out of the reach of railroads to support a population of 500,000 souls.

The company proposes to build immense elevators at both ends of the line and, regardless of cost, to build a road whose grade and curves will allow a modern locomotive to haul at least fifty loaded freight cars.

The capital of the company is $10,000,000 in shares and $13,200,000 in bonds. The main object of the promoters is to lessen the cost of transportation of grain and flour between the Western States and Europe. They expect to bring to Quebec for shipment by the St. Lawrence, either in grain or flour, between 30,000,000 and 50,000,000 bushels of wheat per year, and a great part of the 2,000,000 feet of lumber cut every year in the country traversed by their line. The new road will effect the utilization of the splendid forests of hard woods through which it will run, which are now unavailable because they cannot be floated. It is also expected that numerous pulp and paper mills will be established along the line.

FELIX S. JOHNSON, Commercial Agent. STANBROOK, February 10, 1900.

A Kansas farmer is kicking because he gave his daughter a pair of children's years ago and promised to feed her for four years if she would of them. He says she has a bank and also has 200 chicks. He will have to feed this wife family, says at the end of four years her home will own the farm and will want for living on it. Mrs. Marnette.

FARM GARDEN

MAMMOTH SQUASHES.

The Way a Canada Farmer Grows These and Large Melons Also.

The squashes here pictured, with the grower, William Warnock of Ontario, Canada, standing behind them on the rail of the wagon, the rail being eight inches high, weighed 38 1/2, 35 1/2 and 34 1/2 pounds each, according to Mr. Warnock's description sent, together with the photograph of these colossal specimens, to The Country Gentleman. In that paper Mr. Warnock further tells the system by which he grows not only squashes, but the largest watermelons and citrons in his part of the country: "My land is made in good condition, being heavily manured every year. It is a gravelly formation, with about 16 inches of clay loam on top. A 300 pound squash can be grown on any part of it by the following method of cultivation: For each hill I intend to plant, about the 1st of April I take two good wheelbarrow loads of hen manure and mix with four barrows of good soil taken from some other part of the lot. This is mixed a second time the middle of April. The 1st of May I add four barrows of well rotted manure and mix thoroughly; then, about the 18th of May, make the hills and plant, dig out a space 7 feet in diameter and 14 inches deep, fill in my compost mixing and with it some of the best earth which was thrown out. When finished, the hill will be about ten feet in diameter and six inches higher in the center than the surrounding level. Then plant the seed. Hills want to be about 20 feet apart. Work the ground well until the plants commence to run. When about three feet long, I mulch the ground all over for 20 feet in diameter around each hill with horse manure three inches deep and stake the vines down with sticks to keep the wind from rolling them about, so that they may root at every joint. It is of great advantage to keep the vine from fruiting as long as possible, by pruning all fruit bloom off until about the last week in July. This will give time enough to mature a 300 pound squash by the 1st of October, for there must be a big vine to produce a big squash.

Mr. Warnock practices fertilizing a few of the first blooms that come, and when the first perfect specimens have set well he cuts off all other fruit and blossoms and nips the end off vines that show bloom. He uses liquid manure twice a week while great growth of squash is going on, and is particularly careful to give plenty of water.

Rape For Pasture.

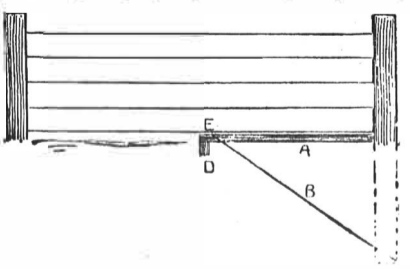

Rape is used chiefly for pasturing hogs or sheep. Beef cattle have been fed on it with good results, but with milk cows the rape is likely to give a strong taste to the milk. It is a member of the turnip family, says The Rural New Yorker. We have found it excellent pasture for hogs. At the Wisconsin experiment station experiment shows that rape gives better results for hog feeding than clover. Many sheep growers broadcast the rape seed either alone or mixed with crimson clover seed, in corn at the last cultivation. After the corn is cut, the rape grows up and, in an open winter, will give fair pasture till Christmas. The Dwarf Essex is the best variety. We sowed rape broadcast in crimson clover in May last year. It gave more or less feed during the season, and some of it has actually come through the past hard season, alive and green.

Manure For Early Potatoes.

It is hardly possible to make land too rich where the early crop of potatoes is to be planted. The rich soil insures early growth of the plants and that they will come up with thick, vigorous stalks, which is the unfailing sign of a good crop. Too much manure will cause rot in potatoes late in the season, but with early potatoes the crop is generally harvested before it has time to either mature or rot. Generally the early potato crop may be got off in time to plant cabbage for a late crop, and there will be richer soil for the cabbage roots than there was while the potatoes were growing, says The American Cultivator.

An Everlasting Anchor.

For an everlasting anchor to the end post in a wire fence the following was originally presented by a correspondent in the Ohio Farmer: The post should be 8 1/2 feet in the ground. The brace A

ANCHOR FOR AN END POST. (4 by 4 will do) is 8 feet long. A rod of iron three-quarters thick (B) is put through the bottom of post (C), passing through brace (A) 8 feet from post. Put a stone (D) for brace (A) to rest on. Have a thread cut on end of rod (B) and a nut at B to tighten the brace. There is no cheaper brace, and it can't give. It looks nice and is the cheapest brace I know of.

Nervous Spells,

Neuralgia, headache, rush of blood to the head, numbness, an irritable temper, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, poor memory and a general run-down condition. There is no remedy so sure and safe as Dr. Miles' Nervine. From the very first dose its soothing and quieting influence can be felt. Nothing in the past has ever equaled it in power of building up weakened nerve tissues and giving strength to the tired body. The weary sufferer who has walked the floor at night with throbbing temples and bursting brain, will find restful sleep and sweet repose, and awake feeling strong and refreshed. Dr. Miles' Nervine searches out the weak parts wherever they may be hid and gives them new life and vigor.

"I used to suffer from terrible attacks of nervous and sick headache at least once a week, and it seemed that my head would split open. I became so weak that the least excitement would unstring my nerves and I would have spells when it seemed impossible to get my breath. I had to give up my millinery business and was on the very verge of the grave when I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began taking it. The very first night I was able to sleep soundly and the next day I felt like a different person. I continued taking the remedy and now I attend to my customers without any headache or nervousness." Mrs. W. T. BURG, Sailor Springs, Ills.

PLANTING AND LISTING.

Kansas Farmer's Opinion of Their Comparative Merits.

The radically different views existing on the subject of planting or listing corn can probably be in part accounted for by differences in soil and climate. Their comparative advantages seem to be quite fairly stated by a Kansas correspondent in the Iowa Homestead, as follows: In some kinds of soil corn does better planted, while in other varieties it does better listed. A person must use his own judgment as to what method he should use on his farm. My idea for planting corn is to plow the ground deep in the fall if possible; in the spring cut it up with a disk or cultivator if the ground has run together and become hard in winter. Run a harrow in front of the planter so that the corn may be put in at a uniform depth; if planted early, two inches deep, so that should a cold rain come it will not rot the kernel before it sprouts. After a grain of corn once sprouts it will stand a lot of wet weather.

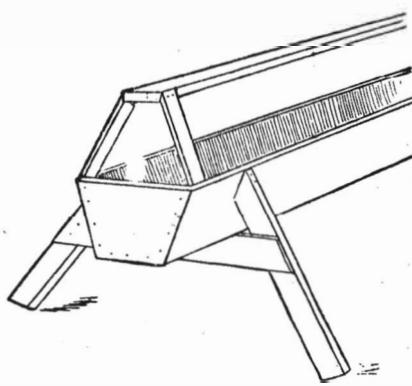

One advantage of planted corn over listed is that as a rule you can plant from two to three weeks earlier on account of the ground being warmer near the surface, even if the ground is plowed in the spring. Another advantage is you may check it so it can be plowed both ways and thereby clean the rows of grass or weeds both ways. Still another advantage is, you are more apt to get a stand during a wet spring, as the water will either wash out listed rows or stand in them and rot the corn. Here, in eastern Kansas, we are hindered very much with wet weather during corn planting time. Very often the ground barely gets dry enough to plant one day or perhaps only half a day before another rain comes which makes it very hard to get a stand. We have tried following the planter with a cultivator, opening up the furrows between the rows that the water might drain away from the row, and have been well satisfied with the result.

Now, one advantage of listed corn is that you can put the crop in faster and probably tend a few more acres. I think the ground should be thrown up in ridges in the fall with the lister, that the ground may freeze deeper during the winter and dry off better in the spring. Then after the time comes to list in the spring take the lister and split the ridges, following the lister with a one horse drill that will cover the corn and leave a small ridge over the grain so a small shower of rain will not break the ground on the corn, but settle on each side.

Another advantage of listed corn is that the weed seed is all thrown from near where the corn is planted, and the corn has a chance to get started without being choked out by weeds. Then you have plenty of dirt handy to throw around your corn as it grows, covering the roots deep so that it will stand dry weather better.

I have cultivated both planted and listed corn and would much rather cultivate the listed, as the horses will soon learn to follow the ridges without driving, and after the cultivator is set right it is easier handled. We are under the impression that listing is all right where there is a sandy subsoil, but when the subsoil is hard and doesn't let the water down very fast we would recommend planting.

What a Sheep Trough Ought to Be.
An Iowa Homestead writer has a trough which he considers peculiar to his own view of what a sheep trough ought to be. It is so constructed as to be convenient for both sheep and lambs. No sheep will jump into the trough, and lambs will not lie in it as they will in larger ones. First take one six inch board the desired length and bevel its edges a little for the bottom. Nail to this two more six inch boards for the sides, so the tops will flare a little. Use a four inch board for a guard rail with supports at each end at the middle of a long trough. The figure shows a view of the end of the trough in a perspective. The legs are made of 2 by 4 stuff.

The Retort Courteous

It is not often that one comes across such a crushing retort as that which a Sussex husband received from his wife the other day through the medium of the public press.

He advertised in one of the local journals that he Thomas B., "would no longer be answerable for the debts incurred by his wife."

She seems to have been a truly amiable creature if one may judge from the advertisement which she published next day in reply, which ran:

"This is to notify that I, Elizabeth B., am able to pay all my own debts, now that I have got rid of Tommy."

C. C. Baer made a flying trip to the Spring City last Monday. C. C. is a great hustler and is stirring things up at the Sussex Bargain Center.

SUSSEX AND TEMPLETON PAGE.

TEMPLETON & SUSSEX.

SUSSEX. The closing session of the literary for this year occurs next Thursday. It has been a profitable season and will be closed by a lecture of Hon. E. W. Chafin of Waukesha. Mr. Chafin's subject is one on which he is an authority, "Washington as a Statesman."

I. M. Champney's stock sale last Saturday was well attended and the goods disposed of brought a fair price.

A number of our prominent Citizens recently attended the stockfair at Watertown.

Watertown's stockfair has a reputation all over this section and L. F. Hawes, C. B. Buck and W. F. Hawes went up to look it over. They report a good time.

A social hop last Saturday evening at Lamson attracted a quite a few of our young people. The X. Y. Z. & c. club gave the hop and a good sized crowd was present.

J. A. Hummel has arranged to have at Templeton every Wednesday a car load of brewers grains. All farmers who appreciate these grains for stock will leave their orders at the Mammoth Springs Hotel. The car will beat the depot every Wednesday.

Geo. M'Kerrow submits the readers of the Milwaukee Journal the following suggestions for next entertaining the crowd at the State Fair next September. It will be noticed that they are very sensible and practical and some of them can be easily carried out. It speaks well that they should come from a resident of Sussex.

The most prominent features for entertaining the people who attend that have come to my mind thus far are:

Lighting the grounds with electric lights, including searchlights, for two or more evenings, when a race or two could be given with music, etc.

A head-end collision of two railroad locomotives some afternoon.

A running race to take the place of one of the trotting events.

A show of fine turnouts, such as four-in-hands, tandems, etc.

A working dairy, turning out butter, cheese, pasteurized milk, cream, etc., each day of the fair.

An exhibit of the best stock from the experiment station at Madison.

A drill and a sham battle by Wisconsin National guard.

An educational exhibit for common and high schools, supplemented, if possible, with an exhibit from the University of Wisconsin and other colleges in the state.

A day given to each political party (as it is presidential year) they to furnish speakers of national reputation—the candidates for president if possible, the candidates for governors should also appear and make their brief speeches.

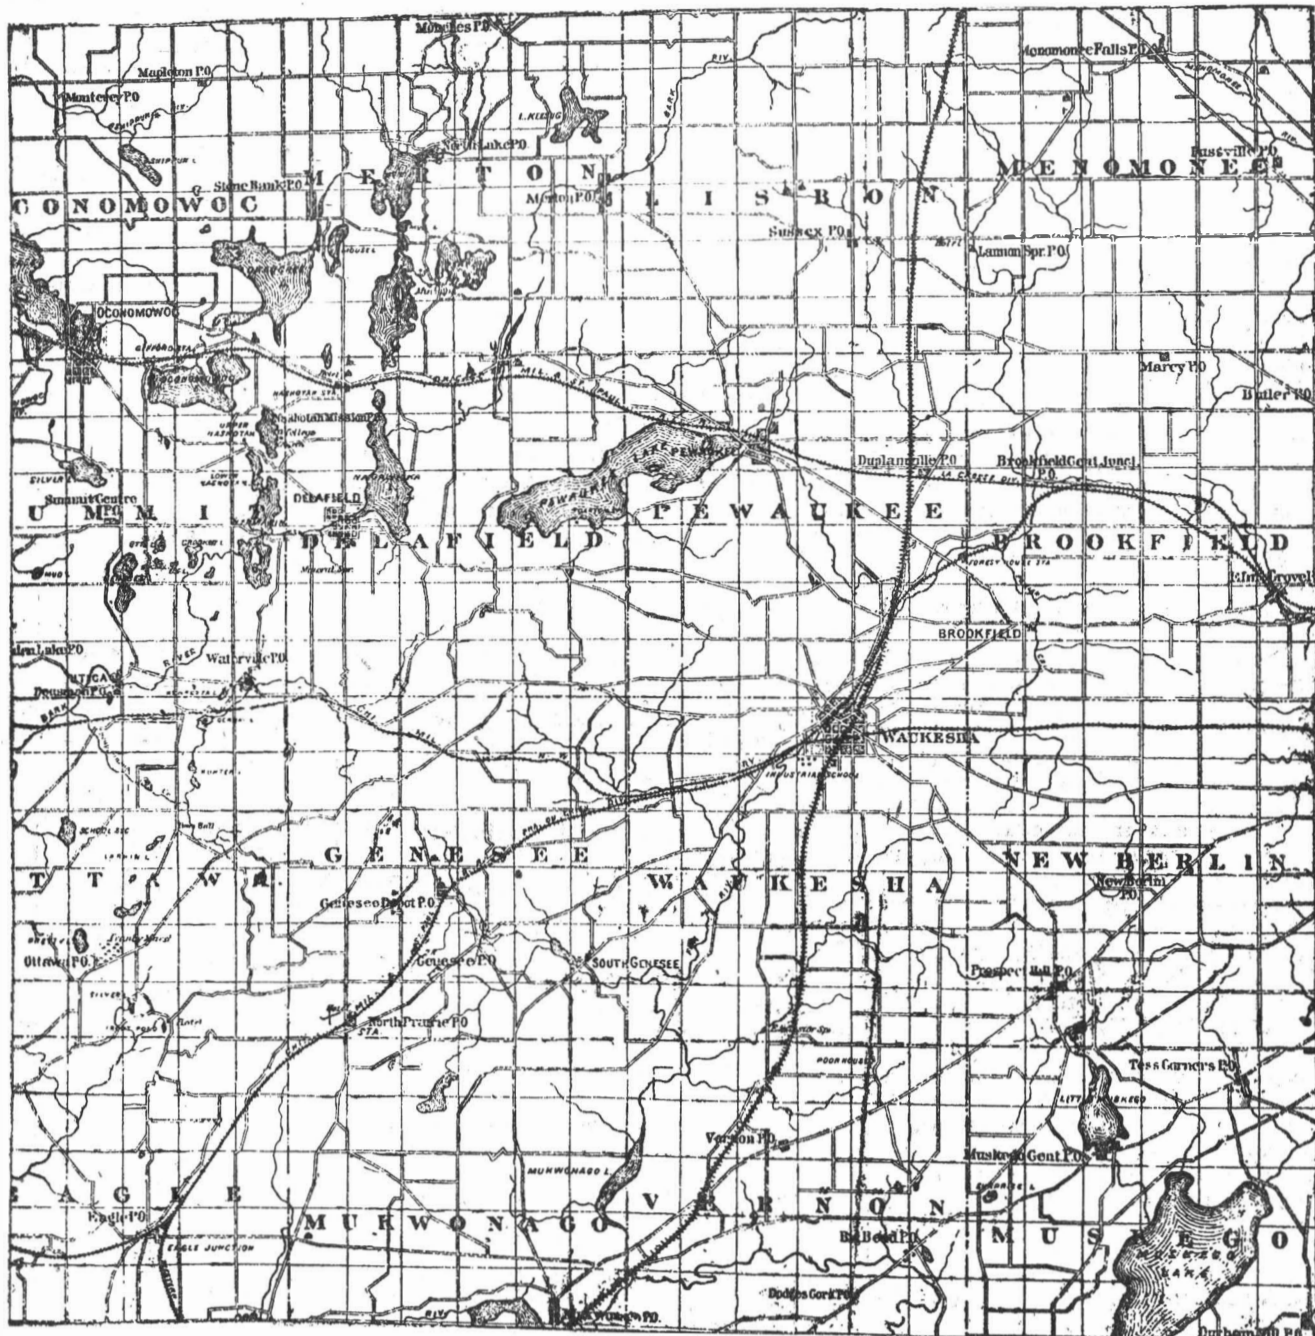

In the evening the gate fees should be reduced to 25 cents thus giving some encouragement in a financial way to the working people of Milwaukee to see the fair and getting an outing without too large an outlay of money.

These and other proposed features will be discussed in Milwaukee March 20 and 21 and I trust arrangements will be perfected for the best and most educational and entertaining fair ever held in Wisconsin or any other state, and one that will please not only the citizens of Milwaukee but the whole state. Yours for a successful fair.

Geo. M'Kerrow,
President State Agricultural Board,
Sussex, Wis., March 12.

The cold weather last week was not very much appreciated by the people of our village.

AN ENTIRELY NEW Map of Waukesha County.

The Press has become the publisher of a new, revised and thoroughly up-to-date map of Waukesha county. It is on a scale of one and one-half inches to the mile, cloth backed, with sticks at top and the bottom. It is a map that can not be bought anywhere in open market for less than $5.00. The Press offers the map—colored by townships—for $5.00. The map uncolored, varnished all ready for hanging, together with The Weekly Press for one year for $3.00.

Here is exactly what scores of people have been looking for. This is the first wall map of Waukesha County published in over 30 years, and, like The Press, is first class in every two first class articles—a County paper for one year and a County map—can thus be bought for $3.00, STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

HOW TO SECURE IT:—If you have paid for The Press, pay $3.00 and get another year's subscription AND the map. It is ready for you. It is a necessity for hundreds of people. The edition is limited. When it is exhausted, no more can be bought. The map is the exclusive property of The Waukesha Weekly Press. Not a single copy can be secured except Through The Press, NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE. The Press alone $1.00; The Press and Weekly Sentinel $1.25; The Press and the County Map $3.00. We are leaders in low prices.

The above offer of The Press and the new map of Waukesha County is attracting a great deal of attention. This is no new map made from old plates, but a map just off from new plates. The map is the same as the regular $5.00 Commercial map, except that it is plain white. Hundreds of our people will be glad to get a new map at such a very low rate. The enterprise of The Press will be rewarded by scores of new subscribers. The Press is the only STRICTLY county paper in Waukesha and the map is the ONLY up to date map of Waukesha county in existence. The Press prints all Waukesha county news and the map will show the roads, rivers, villages, towns and farms that are the scenes of the events recorded. The two go together, the map and The Press, and the combination costs just $3.00, strictly in advance. The map contains ALL practically that the atlas would have at less than one-fourth the price. We are the leaders in low prices.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

A Proclamation by the Governor.

By legislative enactment the Governor is authorized to set apart one day in the year to be known as Arbor and Bird Day.

The beneficial results of this enactment are everywhere apparent. Not only are the school grounds and public parks of the State being made attractive by tree planting, and a deep interest in the preservation of our song birds being awakened among the young, but there is coming to be, among the people of the State generally, a clearer understanding of the economic value of forest and bird preservation.

In order that this interest in the forests and birds may be maintained, I, Edward Scofield, Governor of Wisconsin, by the authority vested in me by the legislature, do hereby set apart and designate Friday May 4, 1900 to be Arbor and Bird Day. It is highly desirable that all of the public schools and the places of learning generally throughout the State, do, upon that day, hold appropriate exercises, to the end that the young may grow into an intelligent appreciation of those attractions with which Nature has endowed our State, and come to discern the close relation existing between beauty and usefulness. Let an effort be made on that day to add in some degree to the attractiveness of all school grounds and public parks and to impart to the little children especially, a love for birds.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of State to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Madison, this sixth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand and nine hundred

EDWARD SCOFIELD.

By the Governor:
W. H. FROELICH, Sec'y of State.

Vice-Consul Blom writes from Copenhagen, January 16, 1900:

"Several years ago I called the attention of the Danish dealers in horse meat to the American supply. I have now to report that the business is increasing rapidly, and the meat from the United States gives satisfaction. The consumption of horse meat in Denmark is comparatively large. Copenhagen is a distributing port for Sweden, Norway, Finland, Russia, and the German Baltic. Packers should address Levy Bros., 31 Nyhavn, Copenhagen; Kroy & Madsen, 18 Norregade, Copenhagen. Mr. James Levy of the above-named firm of Levy Bros. is now on his way to the United States and his address is care of the royal Danish consulate in New York city."

Glimpses Across the Sea is the charming title of a charming book from the facile pen of Mr. Sam T. Clover, the well known author and newspaper editor.

The "Glimpses" are particularly pertinent just now when so many people are considering about going to the Paris Exposition, and many people will be glad to know that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway has purchased an edition of Mr. Clover's work for distribution.
