Miss Lillian Hibbard

Miss Lillian Hibbard, 78, died in her sleep early Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Alice Purdy, 43 Milwaukee avenue East, Fort Atkinson, where she had made her home for the past seven years.

She was the last of a large family of children of Nathan and Catharine Hibbard, early settlers who came to the town of Hebron from Bennington, Vt.

Miss Hibbard was born in Hebron April 15, 1863 and lived there until the family moved to Palmyra, living here several years. She had resided in Fort Atkinson for the past 55 years. She was a member of the D. A. R. and of the Eastern Star of which she was the first candidate initiated after the chartering of the Martha chapter in 1895.

Several nieces and nephews are the only survivors. Two of her brothers, Curtis and Giles, were at one time engaged in business here. Her sister Ellen died while the family lived here.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Downing funeral chapel, Ft. Atkinson, the Rev. Charles W. Boardman, of the church officiating. Eastern Star rites were conducted in the chapel. Burial was in the McCleary cemetery in the town of Palmyra.

Feature Don Francisco

Don Francisco, the "Aristocrat of the Wire" and his pretty partner and assistant, who were featured for many seasons as a center ring attraction with Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey Circus, and over the major theatre circuits of the country, will be on hand to entertain grandstand patrons at the Walworth County Fair starting Friday and continuing thru Tuesday.

Francisco, an international artist on the slack wire, will present his original dancing, acrobatic and character creations, just as he has performed them before millions of circus fans in the past.

To watch this master of the slender strand of steel is to enjoy one of the most remarkable exhibitions of the kind before the public today. No balancing pole, umbrella or other devices associated with wire-walking, are used by Don. The pretty girl, who assists Francisco throughout his act, adds charm to the performance. Both dress in the height of fashion and make a striking picture as they go quickly and smoothly through their routines.

IF ALL THE SELF-STYLED ECONOMISTS IN THE WORLD WERE LAID END TO END, THEY WOULD PROBABLY NEVER REACH A CONCLUSION.

A Bit on the Humorous Side

Handed Down
 "And do you really mean to say I'm the first girl you've ever kissed?"
 "Yes, darling. Any skill I may have is inherited."

The theory of flight is being taught in some jails to prisoners. Some of them would probably be more interested in its practice.

NOT ELASTIC

Chairman of the Dance Committee—Can't you stretch the music a little—just a dance or two more?
Orchestra Leader—Say, this ain't no rubber band!

Some Satisfaction
 "Would you be happy if you had all the money you wanted?"
 "I'd be happy if I had all the money my creditors wanted."

And Half Wrong
 "Jane says she thinks I'm a great wit."
 "Well, she's half right, anyway."

Wasn't Asking for Trouble That Early in the Morning

Two travelers had just met. One was doing most of the talking.
 "Yes," he said, "I arrived home one morning after midnight and, as I opened the door, I saw a stranger kissing my wife. I closed the door softly and hurried downstairs. At 1 a. m. I came back. I opened the door softly—and there was the stranger, still kissing my wife. So I went downstairs again. At 1:15—" "Just a minute," interrupted the other man. "Why did you keep galloping downstairs? Why didn't you walk right into the room?" "What?" cried the talkative man. "And have my wife catch me coming home at that hour?"

Her Prospect
 Father—Isn't it time you were entertaining the prospect of matrimony?
 Daughter—Not quite, Dad. He won't be here until eight o'clock.

As a Beginner
 Two cavalry recruits were having a chat.
 "Talking about riding," said one, "I once saw a chap in a circus who jumped on a horse's back, slipped underneath, caught hold of its tail, and finished up on its neck."
 "So what?" retorted the other. "I did all that in my first riding lesson!"

Private Performance
 "And is there any instrument you can play?" asked the hostess who was pressing a guest to entertain the party.
 "Not away from home," he replied.

"That's strange. What do you play at home?"
 The guest sighed deeply as he answered:
 "Second fiddle!"

Check Pest Growth Now; Save Spring Trouble.

By JAMES W. DAYTON
 (Agricultural Agent at Large, Massachusetts State College.)

In the spring people talk about weeds as well as about the weather, only they do something about the weeds. But in the fall, weeds are overlooked. They are often accepted as part of the scenery and nothing much is done about them. In fact, they are not always even talked about. But the late summer and the fall is really the time to save a lot of future trouble. For that time of year annual weeds are forming thousands of seeds and laying the foundations for next year's abundance. Perennial weeds are busy storing up food in their roots for good, strong growth next spring. The simplest thing to do about these fall weeds is to see that they never ripen seeds. Mow them, or pull them before the seeds are ripe. It is usually best to rake them up and destroy them after they are cut, for weed seeds will ripen after the plant is killed. They put their last resources into preparing for the coming generation.

The mowing machine, the scythe, or just a plain knife may be used—all depending upon the size of the job; but don't forget fence corners and the patches of waste land. These may be more expensive areas than you might suspect if they spread weeds over the rest of the farm, and this is the time of year to cut down their costs.

Encourage the weed seeds to sprout in the land to be seeded this fall. Then harrow them up at intervals before seeding time comes around. Soon all the weed seeds in the surface soil will have sprouted, and if, when grass and clover are seeded, care is taken not to bring to the surface new soil with additional weed seeds, the crop next year should be exceptionally clean.

Fall plowing is often a help in killing perennial weeds such as witch grass and other "tough customers." If weed roots can be exposed to the cold and drying of winter winds, the plants will have a hard time starting in the spring. Harrowing with a spring-tooth harrow to bring these roots to the surface is often a help.

Taking care of weeds in the fall will make that spring weeding job much less arduous. In the long run, time spent fighting weeds at this time of year will do more good than it will in the spring. And almost equally important, fall weed control makes the whole place neat and attractive and supplies a "Good Farmer" label that no passerby can miss.

Can Control Gullies

By Eliminating Cause

Keeping water out of gullies is a sure way of controlling them, and this can be done by terracing, explains R. C. Hay, extension agricultural engineer of the University of Illinois college of agriculture. The approaching slack season after harvest is a good time of the year to do terracing work.

Gullies on cultivated slopes can be starved and eventually eliminated by terracing. The terraces not only slow up and divert runoff water from gullies but also materially reduce sheet erosion losses. Farmers' experiences and experiments conducted under the supervision of farm advisers and the college of agriculture show that terraced fields lose only about one-seventh as much soil by erosion as comparable unterraced fields.

R. C. Hay explains that water diverted from fields must be handled with care or the formation of gullies at the outlets may result.

Proper Planning Helps

Avoid Pasture Shortage

Livestock men who are finding themselves short on pasture in late summer and fall might well lay plans now for better protection against shortages next year.

W. H. Peters, chief of the animal husbandry division, University farm, St. Paul, urges rotation grazing of permanent pasture.

For alternate grazing Peters advises fencing off a pasture into two fields and running the stock into one for two weeks and into the other for a like period. This will result in giving less strain on pasture plants.

Small Turkeys

In experiments to develop small-type white turkeys, the U. S. department of agriculture is not trying to displace the larger varieties; it is trying to develop small birds to fit the needs of small families. Investigators conclude that there is room for the small-type and medium-sized turkey, and that some growers will find it very much to their advantage to specialize in small turkeys for small ovens and small families.

Grand Coulee World's Number One Dam

Grand Coulee, biggest dam in the world, is now in action. The Columbia river, which has been dammed, is one of the swiftest and fiercest in the world, and to curb it a barrier has been erected which is three-quarters of a mile long and 500 feet high.

The result will be a lake 151 miles long, the irrigation of 1,200,000 acres of land, and sufficient electric power to supply an area five times the size of England.

Boulder dam, which harnesses the Colorado river, with all its collateral works, was completed in 1935. It is thrown across a terrific gorge called Black Canyon, which is 2,000 feet wide, and the lake behind it is 115 miles long and took three years to fill.

So tremendous is the weight of water in this lake that geologists have suggested that it may cause a bending in the crust of the planet.

Habits of Salmon

A group of Pacific salmon, or king salmon, that inhabits the Northern Pacific waters, dies after the breeding season (July to December) is over, says Pathfinder. These salmon never return to the sea.

Other types of salmon, however, return to the sea after spawning, and remain there until the next breeding season. All salmon live partly in the sea and partly in fresh water, breeding in the latter. They ascend rivers and tributary streams to spawn.

Woolknits, Jerseys, Gay Plaids 'Big Three' Campus Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS is the home-from-vacation time of the year and "so what"? There's no guess work about the answer. Throughout shopping districts from coast to coast the very air is vibrating with the message of a wild "rush" in pursuit of clothes such as go to make up the perfect campus and classroom wardrobe for Miss Collegiate and her pert little sister, who must answer "present" when the back-to-school role is called.

Campus clothes collections are so intriguing this fall it is going to be difficult to arrive at actual choices. After you have window shopped and looked to the limit, the better part of wisdom is to calmly and deliberately take time off to go into conference with yourself. To think it through with the aid of notes you jotted down as you meandered through miles and miles of aisles and aisles of sports clothes sections, dress shops and departments, millinery displays and so on.

Sifting it through you'll find that all signs point to woolknits, also handknits, jersey dresses and gay plaids (especially smart for suits) playing the role of "Big Three" in a college girl's wardrobe. Invest in a woolknit two-piece, a plaid suit that has the "new" look silhouette. Add a jersey dress cut along a pattern of simplicity as expressed in the new drop shoulders, deep armholes and sleeves cut in one with the yoke (see illustration) and you will be started in the right direction toward a wardrobe that will serve you faithfully throughout your fall and winter campus career.

A new day of triumph is dawning for knitted fashions. Sweaters especially designed and varied in mood. Plan to buy several sweaters for they are so versatile they tune to every occasion, from most formal to most informal and sports.

The new woolknits are simply amazing. One of the big favorites is the trim swank jacket suit that looks as if it had been expertly tailored of a stunning wool weave. Once try on a woolknit jacket two-piece and instantly you will be making an inroad on your clothes allowance to the extent of the amount on the price tag. There is a great deal to be said for woolknits "as is" these days. Their production has been so perfected they neither stretch nor sag and they are styled to the nth degree of chic and charm.

See the charming machine-knit dress shown to the left in the illustration. This casual two-piece of gold nubby wool chenille yarn has all the appearance of a "classy" exclusive handknit. Its only trim is the knotted plastic buttons and crescent bordered pockets. With it is worn a new and flattering hand-knit hat made of bows that stand up behind a pompadour, the bows attached to a band of the same hand-knitted yarn. The accent on knitted and crocheted hats and trimming details on wool dresses is "strong" this season.

Jersey for this, jersey for that, jersey for everything from hats to dresses and blouses is a trend that is bringing vast influence to bear as to what must be included in every well-ordered wardrobe of schoolgirl and college miss. For office wear, unwrinklable, unstretchable jersey is regarded as the ideal fabric. The jersey dress pictured to the right is designed on a pattern of simplicity that's news for fall of 1941. Smooth "dropped-shoulder" yoke, elongated molded midriff, accent on hips are exclamation points of high fashion that point to a definitely new silhouette for this casual gray jersey frock. The plaid suit in the oval also announces a silhouette so new and "different" it is sure to intrigue the interest and fancy of every style-conscious school-faring maiden.

Plaid Ensemble

Every little girl starting out to join the fall and winter style parade will be wanting a cunning little plaid ensemble that teams a Stuart plaid kilt with a matching plaid tam o'shanter as pictured here.

The idea of a little jumper skirt that can be worn with a change of blouse each day, will delight mother, for it solves the problem of sending forth little daughter each morning to school looking as "fresh as a daisy" and quite picturesque too with a wee bit of Scotland injected into her costume.

Brown Outstanding Color for Autumn

If in doubt, choose tones of brown for your color lead in assembling a new autumn wardrobe. With brown as a basic color, you will make no mistake. Opening displays put the emphasis on brown suits, brown dresses, brown fur coats and brown furs as trimming on cloth coats. The milliner, the jeweler and the glove maker have all joined in the brown fashion crusade this fall.

With the now-so-fashionable beige and biscuit colors you will find thrilling schemes that call for accessories in the new browns. The new topaz and amber jewelry is especially attractive. It will be very much in the foreground this fall. Brown leather buttons and belt buckles match the new brown gloves and many sports hats are now trimmed with brown suede or smooth-finished leather.

Sweaters Very Fanciful For Modern School Girl

It is the opinion among enthusiasts on the knitted theme that a girl starting to school should take along at least six sweaters. And there's a reason. Sweaters this season cover the entire field of both utilitarian and social needs. Then too, not only is there a sweater for every occasion but the new sweaters are simply irresistible, having taken on intriguing detail that is fascinating. You will find the new sweaters made very fanciful with wool fringe trimmings, little dangling yarn ball treatments. Then there are quilted effects, wondrously achieved, and plaid patternings and color contrast with bright yokes, sleeves and banded sections. Formal sweaters have flattering décolleté treatments and sparkling embroideries.

Lost Graveyard Is Hunted; Scene Of Eerie Legends

Shade of Lovely Lady Said To Stroll With Three Headless Spaniards.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—The lost graveyard of Bald Head, where the shade of a lovely lady is said to stroll in the moonlight accompanied by three headless Spaniards, is the object of an exciting search launched by a troop of Greenboro (N. C.) Boy Scouts.

Bald Head Island—officially Smith's island—was the earliest settled point on the lower North Carolina coast. It lies at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, off Southport. The original settlers were pirates, and doubtless picked the island because of its strategic location athwart the coastal trade routes.

Drove Pirates Out.

America's first Charles Town was settled on Cape Fear, six miles above Bald Head. But the pirates made things so hot for the settlers that they moved their town to the Cooper river mouth in South Carolina and subsequently contracted the name to Charleston.

Settlers eventually overcame the pirates and drove them out. For a few years the island was a law-abiding community. Then the mainland town of Smithville—now Southport—was founded, and gradually Bald Head's residents moved over to it.

For years the island was uninhabited, save for lighthouse keepers and Coastguardsmen. The jungle reclaimed the cleared lands of the settlers, including the graveyard where rested the bones of the early settlers, honest and otherwise. Among the simple headstones was a more pretentious vault of red brick. The bricks were brought from England with those for St. Phillip's church at Orton's Plantation, a few miles away.

Shade of Burr's Daughter.

The lady ghost who walks the sands of Bald Head supposedly is the shade of Mrs. Theodosia Burr Alston, daughter of Aaron Burr, and wife of an early South Carolina governor. Mrs. Alston left Charleston on the sloop Patrick, bound for New York. Shortly after a violent storm struck the Carolina coast and the Patrick never was seen again. Many believed she went aground on Cape Fear shoals off Bald Head, and that the pirates captured all aboard, including Mrs. Alston, a re-acting beauty of her day.

As to the three headless Spaniards, even legend is cloudy. It is generally conceded that they were pirates. Perhaps they lost their heads in combat with their fellow buccaneers. Anyhow, according to legend, they now roam on Bald Head with a troop of Greenboro Boy Scouts hard on their heels.

Farmer Discovers Cache Of Ancient Treasures

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA.—D. J. Prystach, a High Bluff farmer, isn't saying exactly where he found it, but he claims to have discovered a rich store of treasure, seemingly looted from white men by Indians and buried on an island in the Assiniboine river during a bloody battle between rival redskin tribes more than 180 years ago.

Prystach said he first discovered an old cedar log buried deep in the sand on the island. He split the log apart and found bits of colored glass and tiny particles of copper, brass, silver, gold and lead.

He said he then made a second and more startling discovery. He related that he was walking through the bush on his estate when he noticed a stream of water running into a hole in the ground. He enlarged the hole and bared before his eyes was an amazing treasure.

It included, he said, exquisite rings, bracelets, earrings, buckles, chandeliers, goblets, vases, sword hilts, powder horns, knives, trays, kettles, braziers, even bars of gold and silver. Some of the gold bars were stamped with names of famous men who lived 200 years ago, including Governor Lawrence of Acadia.

He Plunges Into Well And Is Unmissed 5 Days

SOCORRO, N. M.—When Manuel Socorro started to help flood rescue workers he fell into a 30-foot well—and nobody missed him until the flood was over.

For five days Silva was in the well while his family believed he was fighting the flood.

Finally boys heard him shouting for help from the well near his home.

Except for hunger and exhaustion Silva suffered no ill effects.

Army Food Complaints Are Laid to Sweet Tooth

Memphis.—If you mothers get a complaint on army food from your boy in camp, it's more than likely the yearning of his "sweet tooth."

The army's food is good and there's plenty of it, Second Army Commander Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear said; but—

"Frequently complaints are due to a schoolboy desire to persuade mothers to send them a batch of homemade cookies or fudge," he added.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Leftover bits of jelly can be used for stuffing pears or apples to be baked.

Pears stuffed with chopped nuts and creamed cheese make a delicious salad when served on crisp lettuce leaves.

Before applying linseed oil to outside of soapstone sink or tubs, first go over with sandpaper to make them smooth.

If one-half level teaspoon of baking powder is added to every four eggs used in making a soufflé it will not fall after it has been removed from the oven.

Add raisins to your preserves, jams and chutney to give them pleasing chewiness.

To prevent silk dresses from slipping off wood and iron coat-hangers, paste or sew a piece of velvet on each end of the hanger.

Chopped salted peanuts mixed with a little dark brown sugar give a crunchy coating to finger-lengths of cakes or to date, raisin or coconut sticks. Try this next time you are fixing up a trayful of "goodies" for your tea table.

Prolific Insects

Every season the white ant or termite proudly produces a million baby termites to swell the world's ant population. Toads and frogs both have large families, the former in the neighborhood of 6,000 at a time, and the latter half that number.

Snakes are three to four times as prolific as rabbits, for whereas the latter rarely produce more than a dozen baby rabbits at a birth, a snake often produces 40.

The king of the jungle, Lord Lion, is usually the proud father of quads, and his hereditary enemy, the tiger, can boast of the same number. Finally, the elephant, last descendant of the prehistoric monsters, rarely has more than one baby elephant at a time.

U. S. Voters

The census bureau estimates that there are 80,528,000 American citizens eligible to vote. The total number of persons 21 years of age or over, however, is 84,178,000, but 3,200,000 are aliens and 450,000 maintain their residence in the voteless District of Columbia.

Counted in the voting eligibility figure, but who are non-voters because of illness and because they have forfeited their voting privilege are the 563,321 occupants of our mental institutions, and the 161,000 members of America's prison population.

If you have any doubt about what to give a man in any of the nation's military or naval services, send a carton of cigarettes or a pound tin of smoking tobacco. Tobacco rates first as a gift with them. And when you check up, actual sales records show that in Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard service stores (where the men buy their own) Camels outsell all other cigarettes. It is well-known that Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco is the "National Joy Smoke." Local tobacco dealers are now featuring Camel cartons and pound tins of Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco as number one gifts for men in Uncle Sam's services.—Adv.

This Old World

By SCOOP CORY

Golf, one writer says, is a game that needlessly prolongs the life of a lot of very useless old men. Long may live golf!

Most men flirt with the women they would not marry, and marry the women who would not flirt with them.

There are some who say an oyster is a fish built like a nut. Well, the oyster has nothing on some men... they are built like human beings... but really are fish.

And there is the Toledo woman who is pretty much exasperated with her husband - instead of talking in his sleep he just chuckles and grins.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

A clergyman making his Sunday afternoon calls, stopped at the home of one of his parishioners. Bill, Jr., answered the bell. "Dad ain't here," he said. "He's gone over to the golf club."

The pastor frowned and Bill hastened to explain: "Oh, he ain't playin' golf, not on Sunday. He just went over there for a few highballs and some stud poker."

"Melvin! Melvin!"
 "What, ma?"
 "Are you splitting in the fish bowl?"
 "No, but I been comin' pretty close."

Gruff Father to son: "Why don't you get out and find a job? When I was your age I was working for $3 a week in a store, and at the end of five years I owned the store."
 Son: "You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers."

A Little Bit o' DRIFTWOOD

I hear America singing; the varied carols I hear;

Those of mechanics—each one singing his, as it should be, blithe and strong;

The carpenter singing his, as he measures his plank or beam;

The mason singing his, as he makes ready for work, or leaves off work;

The boatman singing what belongs to him in his boat—the deckhand singing on the steamboat deck;

The shoemaker singing as he sits on his bench—the hatter singing as he stands;

The wood-cutter's song—the ploughboy's, on his way in the morning, or at the noon intermission, or at sundown;

The delicious singing of the mother—or of the young wife at work—or of the girl sewing or washing—Each singing what belongs to her, and to none else;

The day what belongs to the day—At night, the party of young fellows, robust friendly;

Singing, with open mouths, their strong melodious songs.

By RUSS DEVITT

And through the long months of the flaming war the morale of English civilian life has not cracked. And one of the major objectives in Adolph Hitler's plan of attack was the destruction of this morale so that an invasion would be easy. And the plan went astray for with each bombing raid over Britain the morale grew stronger. And as the bombs fell thickest in London Town the resolve of the English to grin and take anything the invader could hand out grew stronger.

And now the tables are turned. And the R. A. F. has begun to take a hand in this kind of warfare. And the question now is how will the German morale stand up under a series of terrific bombings. And the British now have at their disposal many of the flying fortresses made in these United States. And as the weeks pass many more will be flown to England to be at their disposal. And they are beginning to play their part in the titanic struggle and their effect is being felt in German occupied Europe.

And it would be a terrifying thing for anyone, German or Englishman, to be shelled with unerring accuracy by an unseen foe. For the flying fortresses fly at such a height as to make them invisible to the naked eye and the roar of the motors inaudible to the human ear. And they are equipped with the Martin BombSight which, in spite of their flying height, gives them the same range of accuracy as though they were on top of their target.

And so the peaceful quiet of cities behind the front, including Berlin, is being shattered. And the foe is unseen and unheard. And the only tangible things are the geysers of smoke, black and crumbling masonry and the deafening explosions. And like ghosts the bombers, disposing of their load drift back to their bases. And they have left mementos of jagged holes in the ground and mangled human bodies. And the sky is just as clear and the air just as quiet as before the sudden onslaught of bombs. And one wonders whether German morale is left the same.
