GOOD CITIZENSHIP FOR WOMEN

(Theodora W. Youmans, editor)

This department has changed its name. It still remains a woman suffrage department but it takes on new characteristics. It will aim to help the women of this county to prepare for the duties which have been laid upon them by the legislature in giving them the right to vote for Presidential electors, and for the still broader duties which will come to them when the partial suffrage they now have gives place to full suffrage, the same as that enjoyed by men.

But we were riding on "The Breakers," the finest land-grounded the finest land-grounded craft of the ocean, that ever faced waves, tides, winds, sunshine or storm. It was quite like that eventful trip across the sea, for the deep that came from unfathomed roar depths was the same; and the wind slashed by, moaning its plaintive wail and seeking sail, awnings, or whatever else might be in its pathway. All the symptoms of a storm at sea were present—did I say all—well then, save one, for The Breakers returned none of the inconveniences of seasickness or ship-rocking. However, to emphasize the reality of the dream. we occasionally turned on the spigots in the bath and the salt water came right in from the ocean to cover the naked body and sooth the nerves. The Gulf Stream, the hot water faucet of the Atlantic, always insures an even temperature for the New Jersey

Poets have scattered the choicest nectars of words about "storms"and so would I if I were a poet. But being simply a journalist it is iny province to relate facts, simply and clearly. Therefore, it suffices to say A patriot who is asked to produce at Extensive advertising, and almost that I wouldn't have missed riding equally extensive editorial discussion out that storm on our good landship in the farm journals of the country, "The Breakers" under any consideration. But suddenly the clouds broke last three or four years in the matter of electric light and power plants for farm use. And thousands of these ceased their tumultuous race, and the plants have already been installed. angry roar became a soothing rhythm with their thousand dollar A good-natured throng, and everybody from the Colonel's lady to Judy whether it is, as claimed, inexpensive O'Grady flocked to the Board Walk or went down on the beach to get more ozone into their lungs—and they enthusiastically agreed that the elixir of life had been discovered.

By thousands and tens of thousands, happy mortals gather for rest and recreation at Atlantic City in the good old winter-time, as well as in the glorious summer days. The battle to make Atlantic City an all-year-round resort has been fought and won. And with my own lungs full of the pure sea air I could answer all who might desire my opinion as to whether it is the greatest of all resorts upon the Atlantic coast with that expressive phrase of the garage, "I'll say it is." Wondrous Days at the Seashore

When you have been saving up your money to go to Atlantic City, and decide to go by automobile, and then skid over the 120 feet wide boulevard that leads to the darlingest resort of all the ocean, you are likely to have moments of retrospection in which you wonder why you didn't go by train in the first place. But your chains dance on the glare of ice, and as you watch the antics of obese Pierce Arrows with their horn of land. plenty lamps and behold the flocks of pouchily-differentiated Fords, you decide that after all the trip on the icy-way lends thrills of adventure to vacation time. Once landed safely, you take up the life of winter-vacationing as naturally as the parlor-reformers do your time.

I read once that we are all the creatures of environment, and I believe it is so. In Washington, for instance, the habit to settle the problems of industry likely results from the fact that the city is almost nude of real industries. We analyze the ills of the country, and find fault with the international policies of the Administration and the Senate. But we do it with an ease and lack of concern that belongs exclusively to the environment of our great Capital city. In New York we talk of things and get "hot in the collar" about politics—and entirely forget religion until some modern preacher quarrels with his Bishop about the propriety of running an open forum Episcopal church. There's more for environment.

Environment plays a different hand at Atlantic City, and in the restful ease of the place you are surprised at the number of people who acquire an interest in "the ponies" and such things. After a day or two the mind seems to function as easy as the rolling chairs on the Board Walk or the irridescent flashes of light upon the

Here is another chapter in environment.

I con't know how far this thing into which one's frame sinks with an might go on, but my own reaction was that it was the first place I had been tor or osteopath could improve with since 1914 where there was an envir-his skill of adjusting things to fit the onment that induced men and women to relax their mental tension even to pers. Exposed System Which Should Be Replaced by New Department of Public Works

Washington, Feb. 11-The Public Buildings Committee of the Senate has favorably reported a bill proposing the abolishment of the United States Housing Corporation and authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to dispose of property acquired by it.

Speaking of this proposition Representative C. F. Reavis, of the House committee investigating expenditures in the War department, had the fol-lowing comment to make: "During the war it was thought necessary to organize a Housing Corporation for the purpose of furnishing homes for war workers. Notwithstanding we had a supervising architect of the good. If there had been a Department of Public Works which had within it all government architects, the Housing Corporation could have immediately applied to the Department for this expert service, and a great many thousands of dollars would have been saved in that one item alone.

"I want to reiterate that the great difficulty under present conditions is that we have men working for bureaus and departments and no one working for the government.
