

THE EAGLE QUILL

VOLUME L

EAGLE, WAUKESHA COUNTY, WISCONSIN

NUMBER 24

Friday, March 28, 1941.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Mary Partridge, Ella Jane Miquet, and Harold Skarpmoen of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, were Eagle visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Skidmore have sold their farm to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Andofer of Mukwonago, possession to be given in April. Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore will move to their home in the Village.

Mrs. J. W. Stead was hostess to the Pioneer Card Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Wm. McGill of Palmyra was an Eagle visitor last week. She reports her brother, Frank Rashley, who is a patient at the Madison Hospital, as still very ill.

Aaron Engle was granted the degree of Master of Science by the University Board of Regents at its recent meeting. Aaron was one of 97 students who upon completion of their studies at the end of the first semester in February, were granted their degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pardee, Florence Pardee and Alice Baker were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Thomas at Waukesha Tuesday evening. Miss Baker attended the teachers' meeting there later.

J. W. Stead is driving a very beautiful new DeSoto.

Mrs. E. A. Travis and daughter, Lillian, of Waukesha were visitors at the Lins home Tuesday.

Mrs. Austin Baird and Estelle Snyder of Waukesha were Eagle visitors Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Sherman attended the funeral of Maggie Murphy, who died at the Fond du Lac Hospital Monday evening. The funeral took place from St. Peter's Church at East Troy Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Chas. Cruver, who has been at the Madison Hospital for the past week, will undergo an operation Thursday.

Mrs. J. W. Stead entertained the Pioneer Card Club Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stead, Mrs. R. M. Peterson and Mrs. Lillie Stewart attended the Golden Jubilee of the Eastern Star at Oconomowoc Tuesday evening.

Mrs. H. G. Chapman will entertain the W.F.C.S. of the Methodist Church Friday afternoon.

Lawrence Schroeder left Monday evening for service in the Army. He was assigned to Rantoul, Ill., with the air corps.

Robt. Marty, Harvey Wambold, Robt. Breidenbach, Stanley Scheets and Louie Pope left Tuesday and were sent to Camp Grant.

It is better form not to announce a betrothal until the date or the approximate date of the wedding can also be told.

MELENDY'S PRAIRIE

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Drays spent Sunday afternoon in the Walter Bauer home in Milwaukee.

Mrs. W. C. Turner is spending two weeks with her daughter and new baby at Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd and daughters from Lake Mills spent Sunday in the John Rolfs home.

Miss Dorothy Todd spent the afternoon in the Charley Drays home.

Mrs. Peter Erickson returned home after spending two weeks with her daughter in Milwaukee after convalescing from an operation in the Waukesha Hospital.

ETIQUETTE

Avoid starting a letter to a friend with an apology. For instance, "I know I should have written to you weeks ago, but I've been too busy" may be the truth, but it's tactless and unflattering.

At the end of a dance the young man says, "Thank you," and escorts the girl back to her party. She may say, "Thank you, too," or comment on the orchestra or the piece.

Write a letter only on one side of a single sheet of paper. When using a double sheet, write on the first page, then skip the back of that page and write on the third.

When a young girl visits a friend, a letter should be written to the mother of the friend as well as to the friend.

A bon-voyage gift must be one that will be useful to the recipient while he is traveling.

At a formal meal it is correct to use salt and pepper shakers.

Building in Madison, and let him tell you all about the many opportunities that are now existing. Join the Marine Corps today.

ENLIST THE U. S. MARINE CORPS

The U. S. Marine Corps is now enlisting men. They need about forty thousand of them. All of the various branches of the corps are now open, including the air craft. The Marine Corps has quite an adept air corps which includes about five hundred first line planes, and about eight thousand officers, and men. They also have many other types of service, and many schools for training purposes. You can take almost any subject that you may so desire in the marines, at no cost whatsoever to yourself. You can also serve on board the battle ships and the heavy cruisers if you so desire, or you can have foreign service, because the marine are stationed all over the world. You do not have to be a superhuman to become a marine. Of course the exam is pretty tough, but there certainly must be some one tougher than the exam. Get into the Marine Corps while these vacancies are existing, and take advantage of the many opportunities that are yours for the taking. Go and see Sgt. Westfall at Room 325 in the Post Office

- PASTURE MEETING
- Many farmers have been asking about fertilizing permanent pastures. Consequently, we have arranged for a special meeting on Friday, March 28, 1:30, at the Court House to talk this proposition over with Professor F. V. Buralcoal of the Agricultural Extension Department.
- Plan to be present and invite any farmers that you know of who might be interested in the pasture movement.
- If the weather permits, we will visit a small demonstration at the County Farm.
- Sincerely,
J. F. Thomas,
County Agent.

- NEW BOOKS
- The library of the Eagle State Graded School will be enlarged by the addition of forty new books presented by the Woman's Open Door Club. This club was very active several years back in promoting Community Welfare—at one time they sponsored a free traveling library in the Village. Mrs. Marvin Bovee was president for several years and held that office at the time the club disbanded. Frances Thiele and Florence Pardee were secretary and treasurer, respectively. The teachers and pupils are very grateful for these new books and extend their thanks to all ladies who were members of the former Open Door Club.

The officer of the day stopped a mess orderly as he was carrying a soup kettle out of the kitchen. "Here, you," he snapped, "give me a taste of that!" Obediently he was handed a ladle, and he tasted it. "Great Scott! do you call that stuff soup!" he roared. "No, sir," responded the orderly meekly. "That's dish water."

DOES LENT CHALLENGE YOUR COOKING ABILITY?

(See Recipes Below)

SPEAKING OF LENTEN VEGETABLES

Yes, speaking of Lenten vegetables reminds us that the Lenten season has again returned—that season when Lent challenges us as good cooks to produce something new and different—something which will entice the appetite of the family—something that will perchance become so great a family favorite that it will remain a "must" on our recipe list all through the year.

Such is the list of new ideas for cooking vegetables as contained in this column today. Not only will you like these new ideas for cooking vegetables—but also equally as much I think you will like some of the ideas for serving them. Note the canned peas as shown in the photograph above. Look good enough for any company dish, do they not, yet all that was done to dress them up was simply to surround them with onions and carrots and the carrots were garnished with tiny sprigs of fresh parsley.

Thus it is that everyday foods—foods full of nourishment and of food value become new favorites. Please from time to time, try each one of these recipes—you'll like all of them, I know.

If you've strange guests coming for dinner and don't know what vegetables they like, cover your confusion by letting them choose their own from this attractive arrangement of canned peas, onions and carrots.

French Fried Onions.

Use Spanish or large Bermuda onions. Peel and cut in slices 1/4 inch thick. Separate slices into rings, soak in milk for a few minutes. Drain and roll in flour. Fry in deep fat, which has been heated to 360 degrees F. hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 minute. When onions are golden brown, remove from fat and drain on absorbent paper. Serve very hot with broiled steak.

Vegetable Rice Ring.

1 cup rice
2 cups peas
1/2 cup tomato puree
1 teaspoon celery salt
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 cup butter

Cook the rice in boiling salted water until tender and drain. Place in ring mold and dry slightly in oven. Heat peas. Remove rice ring from mold and heap peas in the center. Cover with sauce made of the tomato puree, seasonings and melted butter. Serve very hot.

Orange Sweet Potato Baskets.

Cut large navel oranges in half and scoop out centers. Cube the pulp and fold in hot mashed sweet potatoes. Fill the orange shells and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately 10 minutes. Then top each half orange with a marshmallow and continue baking until marshmallow is puffy and golden brown. Remove from oven and serve at once.

Baked Tomatoes and Shrimp.

5 fresh medium-sized tomatoes
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 No. 1 can shrimp—diced

Hollow out tomatoes. Melt butter in frying pan and add diced green pepper, onion, and shrimp. Brown mixture very lightly and fill tomato shells. Sprinkle with buttered cracker crumbs and bake until tomatoes are tender.

Stuffed Baked Onions.

3 large onions
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
4 slices bacon, minced and cooked
Buttered bread crumbs

Remove the outer skin of the onions and cut in half horizontally. Cook in boiling salted water, uncov-

DAIRY CATTLE NEED ROUGHAGE

Constitute Important Part in Balanced Ration.

By DR. W. B. NEVENS

(Chief in Dairy Cattle Feeding, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.)

One of the new developments in dairy cattle feeding is the discovery, made in recent investigational work, that the roughage portion of the ration is by far the most important part. If dairy cows are supplied with liberal amounts of well-preserved, high-quality legume roughages, the balance of the ration is of little importance from the standpoint of the character of the nutrients.

One of the facts which has led to this conclusion is the finding that dairy cattle require vitamins A and D in large amounts and that these are supplied by the roughage or sunlight, the concentrated portion of the ration supplying little or none of either vitamin. As a rule, either the other vitamins are supplied in adequate amounts in the ration or dairy cattle have means of synthesizing sufficient amounts.

Not only has vitamin A been found to be of tremendous importance in the health of dairy cattle, but dairy cows have the ability to convert a considerable portion of the carotene of the ration into vitamin A and to secrete this vitamin in the milk. In view of these facts, it has become increasingly important to make sure that roughages fed to dairy cattle contain large amounts of green color and that they are in excellent condition—that is, not moldy or musty—so that they can be completely consumed.

Sunlight obtained by dairy cows while at pasture or in their exercising yards or sun-cured hay are ordinarily the sources from which vitamin D is supplied. However, even during early spring, sunlight is very low in its power to impart vitamin D.

Sun-cured hay is probably the best source of vitamin D for dairy cattle large enough to consume at least 2 1/2 pounds of hay daily. Small calves, as a rule, do not consume this amount of hay and it has been found advantageous to supply them with one teaspoonful of feeding grade of cod-liver oil in the milk each day.

Woodland Makes Poor Pasture, Foresters Claim

"Divorcing" the woods from the pasture and the pasture from the woods, has been recommended by foresters for many years.

One reason is that there's more danger of live stock being poisoned from plants in a woods pasture than in an open pasture.

Woodland offers poor pasture to cattle. Bluegrass pasture should yield 3,000 pounds of dry matter an acre, while woodland pasture yields only 450 pounds.

The productivity of the woodland for wood crops is also impaired, and after several years the area is devoid of trees or contains only undesirable species such as persimmon and hickory.

For these reasons, the combined value of both woodland and pasture doesn't approach what the site would have produced either in woods or pasture separately.

Grazed woods can be restored to their original productivity by complete removal of live stock, Carroll concluded.

Advise Special Care For Orphan Lambs

Orphan lambs should be fed milk from a recently freshened cow if possible, but warm drawn milk from other cows will do, according to P. A. Anderson of University Farm, St. Paul. If it is necessary to heat other milk, do not let it come to a boil. About 98 degrees Fahrenheit is right. The cow's milk should not be diluted with water.

For the first three or four days feed the small lamb one tablespoonful every two hours, increasing the amount and reducing the feeding hours until at the end of a week or 10 days three feedings per day are sufficient.

Overfeeding may cause scours. Induce orphan lambs to eat grain and fine hay. Place them in a lamb creep where crushed oats, bran and some corn meal are available and provide a rack for hay.

Tobacco Worms

Small worms which up-root tobacco plants in beds can easily be controlled by an application of naphthalene flakes applied at the rate of 1 1/2 pounds to each 100 square yards of bed. Frequently one application is sufficient.

When more than one treatment is necessary, the applications should be placed about a week apart. If a strong wind comes up shortly after the flakes are applied, the treatment should be promptly repeated.

TIPS to Gardeners

GARDENING AS HOBBY

GARDENING as a hobby can be made to pay excellent dividends. As an example, a Missouri woman reports she made a net profit of $300 from her two-thirds-acre garden in a single season. Figured at market prices, food used fresh was $230; food canned, $80; and food stored, $71. Seed and sets cost her only $20.

There are two major requisites to obtaining garden profits of this kind. They are, willingness to work and the use of quality seed. It is important also to devote considerable space to multiple purpose crops like beets, onions, and tomatoes—crops that can be used in a variety of ways.

Here, briefly, are the uses of principal multi-purpose crops; Onions—green, as relish; mature bulbs fried, stewed, or as seasoning; bulbs for pickle, and relish making; tops for seasoning; bulbs for storage. Tomatoes—fresh fruits for slicing or stewing, for immediate table use; for canning, or for making tomato juice, or tomato catsup; green tomatoes for frying, or for use in pickle relishes, or in pie filler (like mince meat); yellow fruits for preserves, juice, or immediate table use.

Cabbage—fresh in slaw, or salad; cooked for table use; canned as kraut, or stored. Beets—tops for greens; roots cooked fresh, canned, pickled, or stored.

ONE little, two little, three little fashions—all in one easy pattern (No. 1313-B) that even inexperienced-at-sewing mothers can make with more fun than effort. This design includes a sleeveless pinafore, a brief trifle of bolero and a sunbonnet, all as cute as a baby in a bathtub! In the flaring pinafore alone, your tot can be as carefree and hoydenish as she could wish, playing on the sands or the greensward or her own backyard. When she adds the bolero, she's as demurely dressed for a visit to grandma as you could wish. The eye-protecting bonnet, of course, goes beautifully with either or both. Thus, by repeating this one pattern time and again, you can outfit your small daughter for spring and summer fun.

This little outfit looks adorable in red-checked gingham, flowered percale, plaid or striped seersucker.

Ice Follies of 1941

BREAKING an all-time record for ice shows, Shipstad and Johnson's Ice Follies of 1941, which returns to the Chicago Arena for a repeat engagement on March 24 for a 14-day run, reached the one million mark for the season while the production was playing recently in Pittsburgh.

Stars of the Ice Follies include Evelyn Chandler, Bess Ehrhardt, Roy Shipstad, Shipstad and Johnson, comedian-owners of the Follies, Frick and Frack, the Swiss hillbillies, Harris Legg and more than a score of others, as well as a cast of 72.

Because of the popularity of the ice production last fall, officials of the Arena urge those planning to attend to make arrangements for their tickets as early as possible. Mail orders may be sent to the Arena Box Office, 400 East Erie Street, Chicago.—Adv.

Ask Me Another A General Quiz

The Questions

1. Who has charge of the Great Seal of the United States?
2. How does the size of an electron compare with that of an orange?
3. Tweedle-dum and Tweedle-dee are characters in what story?
4. Who was the first king of the house of Windsors?
5. Can eclipses of the sun occur in any month of the year?
6. What does a caryatid represent?

The Answers

1. The secretary of state has charge of the Great Seal.
2. If an electron and an orange could be magnified equally until the orange was as large as the earth, the electron would still be too small to be visible to the unaided eye.
3. "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."
4. George V. The name of the British royal family was changed to Windsors in 1917.
5. Eclipses of the sun, visible at some parts of the earth's surfaces, have been recorded in every month of the year.
6. A woman (a woman's figure used as a column in architecture).

This Year's Easter Fashions To Be Dainty, Very Feminine

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

They will vie with orchids, gardenias, flaming hibiscus and camellias. Silvered and gilded leaves are a new and distinctive Easter fashion with appeal to those seeking the out-of-the-ordinary.

ALL signs point to a lovely and colorful array of sweetly feminine fashions for Easter. This is definitely a year when emphasis is on "pretty lady" trends.

There is big news, in color, especially in the pastels for suits, coats and ensembles. The whole fashion world is expressing enthusiasm for the new monotone wools in light beiges, misted greens, the very new violet and mauve tones, muted pinks and pale grayish blues. Seen in fashion-first Easter costumes, they are ideal, especially for the long-coat costumes as shown in the illustration.

Fresh flowers add chic to these attractive Easter outfits. Beaux please take notice! The lady of your heart will be queen of the Easter parade if you send a corsage of fresh white freesias to match the bouquet on her hat (note the model in the center of the picture).

If she is sophisticated, any beau may win her heart with a modernistic corsage of fresh gardenias. If you're away she will appreciate your wiring her local florist to include an extra gardenia or two to tie on her wrist bracelet fashion as illustrated to the right.

The newest idea of American designers is that fragrant flowers should match the motif of gay print dresses with which they are worn. This Easter, romantic arrangements of roses, violets and lilies-of-the-

Speaking of flowers, milliners everywhere declare that myriads of flattering little flower hats are selling in unprecedented numbers. The significant message about these adorable little flowery confections is that you may wear them as correctly with your prim little tailor suit as you can with your dressiest dress-up costumes. (Quite a departure from the old idea which exacted a tailored hat with a tailored suit!)

The thought that is prevalent throughout this season's style program is that one should wear alluringly feminine and flattering accessories. This applies not only to flowery hats and colorful whimsical veils but also to "hankies," which are of the pretty-pretty type.

It is just such flower-bedecked hats as the one shown above (to the left in the illustration) that are lending "endearing young charms" to the Easter fashion picture this spring. Note the dainty handkerchief, designed by Burmel, which so artfully plays up a dainty pinpoint garland encircling an embroidered full blown rose. You can get these "hankies" with violets or daisies or whatever flower you may choose. The other flower chapeau is typically an Easter bonnet. It is a shiny straw in bon bon pink, trimmed with cherry blossoms, full-blown roses and wide green ribbons. The veil matches the straw.

Fruit Buttons

Look to fashions for a new yield of vitamins Fruit has become an outstanding inspiration for design in the apparel field. Many of the smartest new prints are patterned with colorful fruit motifs: hats are trimmed with realistic looking fruit; lapel gadgets are replicas of fruit, and buttons that fasten our dresses and blouses, coats and jackets, are copies of fruits. The beige wool sport jacket here pictured is "vitaminized" with fruit buttons, new this spring! A miniature dish of polished wood gives the button form. There's good news for tired clothes at your nearest button counter!

These novelty buttons are durable, as well as attractive. Vieing for honors with the fruits are vegetables—carrots, onions, lettuce, etc.

Fads and Fancies

Young moderns are all enthusiastic over fringed play shoes that take their cue from Western cowboy fashions.

The inverted pompadour is a "last word" hair-do that is exciting much interest. The hair is brought down over the forehead, the ends turned under, which, when deftly done, gives every appearance of bangs. Not only is this ever so flattering, but it is very practical, for it stays neatly "put," with minimum care.

Something new for the bridal gown—white Nylon velvet, said to be very charming to the eye, and highly satisfactory in that it drapes beautifully and yields pleasingly to fabric manipulation.

Very new for spring are navy coats or capes that have small shapely collars of white caracul, broadtail or similar fabriclike fur. Other models in navy have simply a cluster of white ermine tails at the throat. White hat and accessories worn with these coats and capes key to the white of the fur.

To wear with your spring and summer print dresses, look up bead or flower necklaces, bracelets and clips that pick up one or more colors of the print.

1941 Jeweled Gadgets

Romantic, Whimsical

You must wear a jeweled "gadget" of some sort on your lapel. It may be as romantic and sentimental as your mood dictates, or it may be humorous and delightfully whimsical. In every event, however, it will be a masterpiece of good workmanship, for even the novelty types are exquisitely wrought. One of the amusing sort that is extremely provocative is a huge question mark all set in brilliants, with a dazzling solitaire rhinestone suspended from the base.

You might wear a glittering gold fish, a spray of colorful flowers worked out in elaborately set stones or a bright patriotic emblem.

FIRST ASSIGNMENT

By KARL GRAYSON

(Associated Newspapers.)
 WNU Service.

AS FATE would have it Ed Stanley's first assignment upon entering the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police service was to investigate a trap-stealing episode in the country north of the Little Silver river. Ed's brother, Paul, accompanied him. Paul had been a Red Rider for five years. He knew the ins and outs of the game and Ed worshiped him. Ed was 22 and Paul was 29. The older man had been and was now everything that was fine. The service which he represented stood for things that were honorable and worth having.

It was winter. The brothers spent two days mushing over the frozen wastes of the northland, and another half day skimming over the surface of the Little Silver.

At noon of the third day they came to a clearing in which stood a cabin. Smoke curled from its chimney.

"That would be it," Paul said. "The description is perfect. Wonder if Eysen is home."

Mark Eysen was the man under suspicion.

Paul swung the dogs off the river and stopped them at the edge of the clearing. He loosened the service pistol in its holster, told Ed to stay with the dogs, and approached the cabin. He had covered less than half the distance when the cabin door flew open. A man appeared in the aperture bearing a rifle. There was a puff of smoke, a sharp report. Paul crumpled in the snow.

Ed cried out and started forward. The rifle spoke again, and a little puff of smoke kicked up two feet ahead of the boy. He stopped, and in that instant the training which he had received before entering the service came to check his madness. He returned to the dog sled, secured his own rifle, drove the dogs to the shelter of the river bank, and began to stalk the cabin.

It wasn't until darkness had fallen that Ed was able to reach his brother. Miraculously Paul wasn't dead. Ed carried him back to the dog sled, built a fire, poured hot tea between his lips, dressed his wounds and an hour later had set out on the return trip to the post.

It was a record run, but Paul died before they reached the post. He returned to consciousness once and talked rationally with his younger brother. "Remember the code," he said, smiling wanly. "We Red Riders have a code to go by. Bear it in mind always. And don't feel too bitter about me—it's all in the game, you know."

This was exactly what Ed would have expected Paul to say, but he felt bitter nevertheless. He knew he'd never rest until he had killed the man who'd murdered his brother.

Two days after Paul died, Ed, grim-faced, set out for the Little Silver country in company with three members of the mounted. They were armed with a warrant for the arrest of Mark Eysen.

Ed had anticipated a long trek before they even came upon the trail of the fugitive. He was, therefore, surprised and not a little puzzled upon finding the cabin in the clearing to be occupied. Remembering his previous experience he cautioned his three companions. It was decided to surround the cabin and challenge it before attempting to break in.

The challenge was issued and remained unanswered. One of the mounted stepped into the clearing and began approaching the cabin. Instantly a rifle exploded and the policeman dropped in his tracks. He crawled back to safety under cover of his companions' fire.

The siege on the cabin lasted three days. One of the Riders had been killed, another wounded. Ed Stanley and Constable Norman Lee were the only two able-bodied men remaining, and their supply of ammunition was rapidly diminishing.

The two men held a conference. It was agreed that one of them would have to return to the post bearing their wounded comrade. Ed insisted on remaining on the scene.

Ed waited until the dog team had swung out of sight. Then he returned to the observation point from which he had been firing upon the cabin. He remained there for fully an hour, without giving any indication of his presence.

Night shut down and Ed returned to camp. He did not build a fire; instead ate a cold meal, and later returned to the edge of the clearing. It was bright and moonlight and the building was sharply outlined. Ed stopped and stared. The cabin door was open!

Heedless of a possible trick the youth unslung his rifle and sped across the open space. Without hesitation he stepped through the open door. Ed groaned. Mark Eysen had fled. During that brief half hour that he had taken time off to eat the killer had departed.

Ed swore softly to himself as he hurried back to camp and made a pack of his scanty belongings.

Eysen was traveling fast and light. He had a good hour's start. There was little hope of overtaking him before morning. Ed based a good deal of hope on the fact that the killer had had to keep a constant vigil during the past three days, while the Riders could relieve each other in bombarding the cabin.

By morning Ed himself was close to exhaustion. The endurance of the man he followed was unbelievable. The mountie had failed to lessen the distance between them.

The youth stopped and brewed himself some tea and rested for 15 minutes. Greatly refreshed he set out again, plodding steadily along with bent head, his eyes, shielded from the blinding glare of the sun, by goggles.

It was close to noon when the thing happened. Ed was on the point of collapsing. He looked up and saw a man coming toward him. The man's actions seemed queer. Ed stopped and stared. Then suddenly he snatched out his service pistol and threw it up. The man who was approaching him was Mark Eysen!

Ed's finger hesitated on the trigger. He didn't know why. Mark Eysen came on. He stopped when within twenty feet of Ed; sensing danger. And then it was that Ed knew what had happened. The man was snowblind!

Ed spoke, at the same instant leaping to one side. Instantly the rifle in Eysen's hand roared. A guttural sound escaped his lips. It was pitiful to see him groping blindly, tossing his head like an angry bull. Again Ed raised his pistol and dropped it. The bitterness and hatred had not lessened. Eysen deserved to die. But there was something in the boy's soul that dominated his desire for vengeance: The code of the Red Riders.

Paul was at his elbow, smiling, talking, reminding him of the code. He returned the pistol to its holster. Unhurried, grim-faced, he circled the fugitive and attacked him from behind.

There was no resistance. Eysen's strength was spent. Ed uttered the customary challenge, the challenge that is part of the code, and as the words fell from his lips he thought of Paul and the bitterness was gone from his heart.

First U. S. Paper Plant

Founded in 17th Century

Two centuries and a half have elapsed since the manufacture of paper in North America was begun with the establishment, in 1690, of a plant on Paper Mill Run at Germantown, Pa., by William Rittenhouse, the first American paper maker.

This first American paper mill was built to meet a growing need; printers in the Colonies had found the lack of paper their greatest handicap, writes Dard Hunter in Technology Review. Rittenhouse hence had as one of his partners in the enterprise William Bradford, the pioneer printer of the Middle Atlantic colonies, who during the early years of the venture took practically the entire output of the mill. In 1705, however, Rittenhouse and his son bought out Bradford and the two other partners. Their first mill building had been destroyed by a flood in 1700 or 1701 and was replaced by a new plant in 1702.

The demand for paper, which kept early printers constantly pestering their readers to save rags as raw material for manufacture—a bundle of rags was a highly acceptable subscription payment in practically all colonial newspaper offices—may be interpreted as a symptom of democracy.

Village Still Making Clocks

Electric clocks for the new Oetia railroad station here are being made at Pesariis, a village hidden away in the Alps. The workers are also making hundreds of special clocks for the state railways.

The factory started in 1725 as an iron foundry, turning out articles for domestic use. Suddenly the workers started making clocks of all kinds.

In 1932 this most famous of Italian clock factories began the manufacture of the modern electric clocks. The clocks of the new Florence railway station were made at Pesariis as were the clocks of the new post office at Naples.

The clockmakers of Pesariis have always refused to descend from their mountain village.

NEW IDEAS For Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HOUSES of glass are realities today and, if you want to give any house a modern air, try to make the windows seem important. One way is to frame them in a group by covering the wall and leaving the glass exposed. A comparison of these two sketches shows that this may be done even though the windows are unevenly spaced. The cream colored walls, glass curtains and window shades are the same in both and the same two-toned green rug and the same lamp and pictures are used. The couch and cushions are also the same but the covers are new.

An inexpensive chintz with gray-green ground and a flower pattern is used for draperies and to trim the couch cover of heavier gray-green cotton material which is also used for the cushions. The glass curtains are hung on rods suspended from the picture moulding with picture wire and hooks. The side drapes are unlined but the valance is made over buckram. Both are tacked to pine strips and are hung with picture hooks. One end of the book shelves is closed in to make a head for the couch. The outside is painted gray-green and the inside dark green. The parchment lamp shade has green bindings.

NOTE: All types of curtains and draperies are clearly explained with cutting and making directions in Mrs. Spears' SEWING Book 1—draw curtains, lined draperies, pinch pleated curtains, cornice boards, valance boards, as well as standard and period type curtains. Directions for modernizing a couch, various types of chairs, and a fascinating assortment of other useful homemaking projects are contained in Book 5. Copies are 10 cents each. Send order to:

John Charles Jones, age 69, died on Thursday, March 20, 1941 in the Madison General Hospital, after an illness of six months.

He was born in Macon City, Missouri, July 24, 1871, the son of Richard and Mary Jones. In early life he worked as a salesman. In 1899 he was married to Jennie W. Lincoln in Lima, Ohio, where they lived until coming to Palmyra twenty five years ago.

When first a resident here, he worked as a salesman and for the last fifteen years operated a suburban route for the Janesville Gazette. He was a member of the vestry of Saint Luke's Episcopal church of Whitewater. He was a man of unusual kindly spirit, always willing to do favors, and never speaking ill of anyone. Survivors are his wife; one son, Richard, Stevens Point; one daughter, Mrs. G. A. Laflin, Aurora, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. T. W. Bacchus, Washington, Delaware; three grand-children; two nieces; and one nephew.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Smith Funeral home. Rev. Frank Barr, pastor of Saint Luke's Episcopal church of Whitewater officiated and music was furnished by the Episcopal choir accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Fricker. In a simple but impressive service, Rev. Barr spoke in a most feeling manner of Mr. Jones, one of his most devoted church members.

Pallbearers were: C. M. Hiles, R. L. Turner, Clifford Thayer, Dr. G. C. Nitzky, W. R. Norris, and R. V. Brown, Whitewater. Those assisting with flowers were Mrs. G. C. Nitzky, Mrs. R. L. Turner, Mrs. W. R. Norris, and the choir girls. Burial was in Hillside Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Krause have moved into their new home

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heinzelmann, Monroe, were weekend guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jolliffe.

A number of Palmyra ladies attended the Mother and Daughter banquet held at Pleasant Valley Church on Saturday evening. This was a really fine two-course dinner prepared and served by the men of the community.

Mrs. Francis Foulke was a clever and entertaining toastmistress and introduced each of the following ladies, who gave interesting toasts.

Mrs. Kenneth Nokes — To The Daughters
Miss June Northey — To The Mothers

Mrs. Carl Hooper — To The Granddaughters
Joyce Pethick — To The Grandmothers

Mrs. Allen Reich — "Toast"—"Thank You" to the Men
After the banquet, the following program was presented and enjoyed by all.

NOSING THE NEWS
By JUDGE DEVITT

And March 21st was the first day of Spring in these United States. And the skies seemed more blue, and the sun seemed to shine more brightly, and the breeze itself seemed to whisper of flowers and of songbirds and of green grass and leafy boughs. And with the coming of Spring in these United States the smiles seemed a bit more friendly, the biting tang of winter in the air a wisp of a ghost that would soon be gone, and the geese as they winged their way northward had a jubilant note in their honkings. And with Spring, children play on the streets and in vacant lots through the lengthening evenings, their shouts breaking into the quiet hush of evening. And with the advent of Spring, the songbirds again set their wings toward the north, and the waters of the streams freed from winter's ice take on a joyous note of rippling days to come. And every withered blade of grass seems to whisper "soon I will be green again," and on every tree the sprouting buds say "soon we will be leaves and blossoms." And with Spring, even to the pessimist, the world takes on a cheerful happy outlook. And why? No reason at all except that it is Spring. And so on March 21 in Europe men and women did not smile into the face of Spring. And to them the zephyr spring breezes were as cold and clammy as that of the tomb. And they know that with the coming of Spring in all its glory, the tempo of a madman's war will be stepped up. And if they do have the courage to smile they know that they may well be smiling into the face of Eternity.

With the evidence all against him, Tommy finally admitted he had been swimming—against strict orders. "But mother," he protested, "it was not my fault—the devil tempted me!" "Then," said his mother "you should have said: 'Get thee behind me, Satan'" "I did," explained Tommy. "That was when he pushed me in!"

ELECT JUDGE BAIRD
to the office of
COUNTY JUDGE

April 1, 1941

Your Municipal Judge for the Eastern District respectfully requests your support for county judge. During the past two and one-half years, from time to time, he has been your acting county judge.

His Platform — Nonpartisan Judiciary

To the people of this County, the office of County Judge is the most important public office in the County. It is the County Judge who, among other things, administers laws relating to the following matters vital to the life of this Community:

- Adoptions, and investigations with reference to the same, Aid for Dependent Children, Blind Pensions, Old Age Pensions, Sending sick persons to the State of Wisconsin General Hospital, Sending children to the Home for the Blind, Sending children to the School for the Deaf and Dumb, Sending children to the State Public School at Sparta, Supervising the examinations, and commitments, of all insane and feeble minded, Supervising the examinations, and commitments, of patient to tuberculosis sanitariums,
- In addition to the foregoing important work, the duties of the County Judge of this County include the following important work:
1. CIVIL CASES—Trial work with two jury terms each year; and the trial of equity cases, such as divorce and foreclosure cases, without a jury.
 2. GUARDIANS & TRUSTEES—Their appointment by the Court and the annual examination of their accounts.
 3. PROBATE WORK—It has been estimated that all the real estate of a County is inventoried, appraised, and title cleared in the probate court of the county in which it is located, on the average, of about once every 35 years.
 4. JUVENILE WORK—Placing wayward children on probation to responsible probation officers, and working with the child's parents, if any, and if possible, to teach the child self-discipline.
- On April 1st of this year the people of this County will decide who they want to do the foregoing important work and also the other duties prescribed by law as the duties of a County Judge.

The duties are many. The thoroughness of performance is important to the people of this County. For the past 10 years of intensive training, and experience, in County Court, as your Public Administrator for 7½ years, and as your acting County Judge during the past 2½ years I have had unusual work in your County Court which I feel, by training and experience, has qualified me for this important office. For the past 2½ years I have performed the duties of Municipal Judge for the Eastern District of Waukesha County, comprising 11 of the 16 townships of this County, said 11 townships having a population of 48,000 out of the total population of 62,744 in this County. In the performance of my duties as Municipal Judge I have worked hard and earnestly as your public servant. My record shows a reduction of vagrants in this County to 35 this year, during a six week period, in which there were 232 vagrants during the same period last year. The records of the Court in which I have presided show that instead of giving jail sentences to first offenders, I have attempted to help first offenders discipline themselves, by placing them on probation to trained, and responsible, probation officers; and that I have vigorously upheld the law by being justly severe with those who have deliberately and willfully violated the law,—flouted the law, and scoffed at law enforcement.

If you feel that my work merits your approval, I request you to promote me to the important office of County Judge on April 1st. Respectfully yours,
AUSTIN J. BAIRD,
Municipal Judge.

Your support for County Judge will be appreciated by
