Facts About Flies

One pair of flies can multiply to 335,923,200,000,000 flies in 10 weeks, if all their offspring live, according to Alan Devoe in Reader's Digest. In writing about "Our Enemy the Fly," Devoe says that a fly egg hatches in 24 hours, the larva becomes an adult fly in less than 10 days. Thereafter at 10day intervals, for 8 to 10 weeks, the female fly lays 100 eggs. The total for nine generations of a single pair thus amounts to trillions of offspring.

"We must fight continuously against adult flies that get into our houses, wielding old-fashioned swatter, spraying, using flypaper," says Devoe.

ALMOST as fatal as a bullet or a shell is the breakdown in the spirit of a sailor or a soldier.

Our men have the finest spirit in the world. But it must be maintained in the American way.

They must not be made to feel that they are mere automatons, fighting machines, as the armed forces of the dictators have been made to feel.

Life in our navy and army is hard. Discipline is tough. It must be. But there also must be moments when the sailor or soldier is treated as Mr. Somebody-or-other.

That's where the USO comes in. For the USO is the banding together of six great agencies to serve one great purpose—to see that our boys in the camps and naval stations have a place to go, to turn to, a "home away from home."

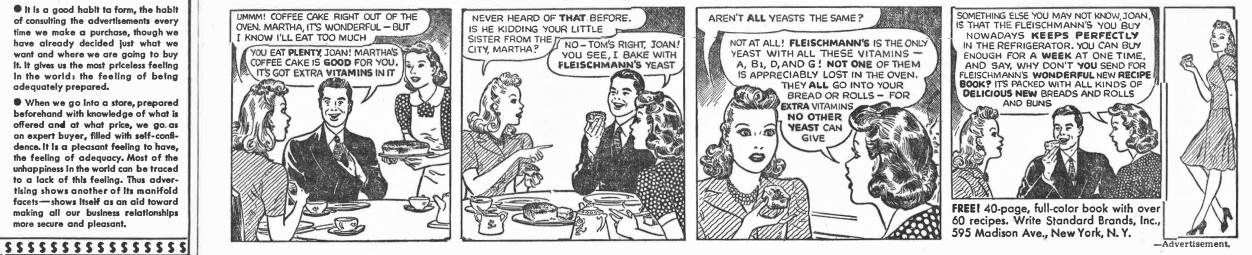

The duties of the USO have more than doubled during the year. Its field of operations has enlarged to include almost the entire face of the globe.

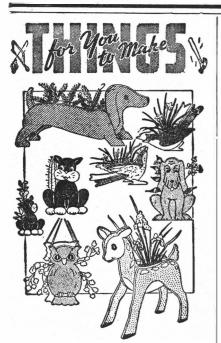

To carry on its all-important work, it needs funds. It needs your contribution. No matter how small you make that contribution, it needs it. Now.

You are beset by requests for help on all sides. By all means, try to meet those requests. But among them, don't neglect the USO.

Send your contribution to your local USO committee, or to USO, National Headquarters, Empire State Building, New York.

MAGINATION can be a pleasant thing, but sometimes when one has allowed himself to dream dreams, the return to a prosaic everyday life can be shockingly bitter.

Osborne Lincoln experienced these sensations rather regularly and fortunately he had a true and understanding wife who also was given to dreams and fond hopes and longings. In fact, their dreams were mostly about the same sort of thing -mainly of living the life of westerners.

To cope with this longing they saw all the western movies they could. It was after seeing an especially good picture of this type that Os-borne took the bull by the horns so to speak so to speak. "Listen, honey," he said to Sally. "Let's do it. Let's chuck things here and go out west. I've always wanted to, always wanted to realize at least one of my dreams, and now that I know you like the West—" He waited for her reply, breath-less, fearful. But Sally dispelled his every doubt at once. "Darling, I'd love to! Honest! We're still young, and if we don't make a go at it, we can always start over."

And so they did. They bought a ranch, stocked and furnished, sight unseen, from a real estate agent in Salt Lake City. It took most of their savings, but they were doing what both wanted to do, and neither had a moment's regret. Even sight of the "ranch" didn't cool their ardor. "What if it is only a shack!" Sally exclaimed. "We can fix it up. I'll plant a garden out front and you Sally looked at him forlornly. "It's usually like that," she said. "About trying to realize your dreams, I mean.'

can paint the place and—and we'll make a home of it!" Identifying an establishment as a home depends upon its occupants. To the Lincolns the shack on the flat, desolate plain was a home. They were delighted with it, and if they weren't they never admitted it to each other. They called it the X Bar L ranch, which sounded real westerny. Osborne went to town and had a branding iron made and proceeded to rebrand his stock (thirty steers all told) with the X Bar L imprint, and felt pretty proud when he'd finished. Then he did the paint job Sally had spoken about, and Sally planted her flowers. By and large they were kept busy for seen a person who even remotely resembles a cowboy. I've hardly seen a man on horseback. No one carries six-shooters and there aren't any desperadoes or anything at all that I expected to find. Honestly, I'm getting kind of fed up." Sally looked at him forlornly. "It's usually like that," she said. "About trying to realize your dreams, I mean. The realization seldom comes up to what we expect." She hesitated. "Osborne, don't you like it out here?"

"Like it? Oh, I suppose I do. The country's about what I expected. It's a good, clean, wholesome life, and I guess that after awhile we could make a fair living. Onlywell, there's something lacking."

Sally smiled and squeezed his arm. "That's the way I feel, too. If it weren't for the gap, we'd both be happy. Well, I think I know how we can fill in the gap. But first we've got to buy that little place near town."

Osborne couldn't see the point of it, but the next day he rode into town with Sally in their second-hand car, and looked at the cottage. It was really quite attractive, with trees around and a flower garden already started, a large barn and about fifty acres of land. "The real estate agent said he'd take the X Bar L as the first payment," Sally said. "He can always sell it to other suckers like us." She grinned and Osborne grinned back at her—and agreed that they ought to own the cottage.

And so the Osborne Lincolns moved into the cottage near town which they named the X Bar L after the old ranch, and were much happier. Within a month they were well established, and then Sally told him they'd better begin filling in the gap, before life on the new X Bar L began to pall.

Osborne was still puzzled, but he dressed up as directed that evening and they drove to town. The first thing that greeted Osborne's eyes was a string of new bright lights.

"What in heck is going on?" he asked, remembering that the last time he'd been in town was the day they had visited the real estate agent's office, and that that was his only visit in two months.

"Tonight," said Sally, with a little laugh, "they're christening the new movie theater. It's the first they've ever had, and they're going to hold shows four nights a week. More-over," she added, "they're planning to specialize in westerns, because the people out here like westernsto fill in the gap."

Osborne looked astonished, but suddenly he grinned because he knew what she meant. A good ripsnorting western was all they needed once a week or so to be completely happy.

Newest Beach and Swim Suits Feature Dressmaker Influence

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ONE glance at the new bathing apparel gives us the heartening assurance that there will be no lack of charm, versatility or fashion interest on the beach this summer. Wool and rubber priorities have only added fresh impetus to an already important trend toward a wider use of other fabrics this season than usual to make up for the curtailment in other directions.

All of which means for swim wear a glamorous and exciting collection of graceful and flattering suits in a wide range of intriguing materials with very special emphasis on handsome rayon weaves which include such interesting textures as shantungs, jerseys, luxurious looking crepes, taffetas, failles and many other types. Calicoes and ginghams, too, have their place in the swim suit realm, as do piques, fine sharkskins and many other striking novelties.

Another important new angle to beach wear and swim-suit fashions is the dressmaker influence which prevails throughout their styling. That is not surprising, for the widespread use of a surprisingly long list of fabrics would inevitably call

You can swim this year in a softly draped or moulded dressmaker suit The lake itself holds fascination, of fine rayon crepe or sleek jersey, fact that it is fashioned of a fine rayon shantung in a sooty black is significant, for black is the smartest thing you can wear in play clothes. Black linens, thin black mesh weaves and black shantungs are also ultra chic for town wear in tailored jacket suit or two-piece jacket dresses. A thin white edging at neck and hem accents the rich black of the shantung that makes this flattering princess swim suit, with its "bra"-topped bodice, slender waistline and gracefully flared skirt. The narrow self-fabric sash ties at the front.

The vogue for fluid, molded lines has inspired the charming two-piece bathing suit shown at the upper right, which uses soft-draping acetate rayon jersey in a striking navy and white print design for its sur-plice-draped "bra"-top and new shirred-on dirndl skirt.

Very gay for beach or swimming is the flared one-piece suit at the lower left. It is intriguingly styled of rustling rayon taffeta in a tiny green and white check. Sprightly self ruffles outlined with navy rickrack braid trim the brief skirt and flattering heart-shaped decolletage. The beautifully tailored two-piece bathing suit in crisp white rayon sharkskin seen on the figure reclining in the foreground to the right is trimmed with bows and a wide band of coin-dotted navy rayon crepe. The use here made of polka dots carries out the newly fashionable use of dots as trimming for accessories, and for whole costumes. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

When armored knights met, it was customary for each knight to raise the visor of his helmet as a means of identification. This ges-ture has come down through all armies in the form of the salute. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel Cigarettes. In the Army, Navy, Ma-rines, and Coast Guard, actual sales records in their Service Stores show Camel is the favorite. Favorite gift with service men is also Camels by the carton. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send to men in the armed forces anywhere.-Adv.

You can depend on the special sales the merchants of our town announce in the columns of this paper. They mean money saving to our readers. It always pays to patronize the merchants who advertise. They are not afraid of their merchandise or their prices.

a month or so. But when these things were done, both began to wonder what to do next. The thirty steers didn't require much attention. Osborne wished his herd numbered into the thousands. Then he could employ cowboys, and maybe someone would rustle a few head and a posse would have to be formed to track down the "varmints." But it would be a long, long time before the X Bar L herd would number even into the hundreds, and this fact was faintly disturbing.

Despite their best efforts, life on the "Ranch" began to pall a little. The scenery wasn't anything to gasp over and their nearest neighbors lived ten miles away. Once a week they drove to town for the mail and provisions, and this was the only day they saw anyone besides themselves. Osborne continued to hope that something would happen: shooting, rustling, even a storm. Anything to break the monotony. He wished he owned a horse, even a plug, let alone a spirited black charger. He wished, also, that he knew how to ride.

Three months passed and then one day Sally came back from town in a state of high excitement. "Osborne, I've just found the darlingest little place for sale, right on the edge of town! I-I think we ought to buy it." "Buy it? Why? What's wrong with the X Bar L?"

"Nothing, really. Only this place is more like what we had in mind. lt's prettier and we could have a milk cow and some chickens and a vegetable garden, and we could get along very nicely. Besides, it's nearer town where things are going on."

Osborne laughed. "Going on? Holy smoke, does an thing ever go on around here? Why, I haven't of Nature.

have an outlet through which to flow -yet it remains constantly cold. Recorded in history for more than a century, it received its name from Juson, a Frenchman whose first name long has been lost. Near the water which bears his name he built his trading post in the 1830s, strategically located on the original Jackson Military highway.

Down this road came caravans from north Mississippi, carrying crops of the pioneer planters to Mobile. Juson's trading post served a few of them as a hotel. Legend says that he had only an Indian companion, and as darkness descended many of the travelers fell into a sleep into which they never awoke. Gold which these wayfarers bore, tradition says, was hidden in Juson's tavern. Bodies of the travelers went into the lake.

Over a long period Juson is said to have become fabulously rich, but old age apparently brought penitence, according to legend, and one night he and his companion threw two sacks of gold into the water.

When the Indian turned to follow back to the trading post Juson is supposed to have thrust a long knife into his servant's heart and to have thrown the body into the lake.

Value Medical Facilities

The potential value of a local medical center in communities not having access to city hospitals, can not be overestimated. Wounds. bruises, dislocations, fractures, infections, and shock can be treated immediately in such a center: X-rays can be taken, indicating whether or not a given individual should incur the expense of going some distance to a large hospital; and farm and small-town mothers, who would otherwise lack suitable care can here receive essential maternity and pre-maternity attention.

Community Autumn Festivals

As a project designed to foster neighborliness and the best traditions of the American wav of life, few possible activities are superior to the autumn festival. There is a spirit in a typical autumn or harvest home festival-in the annual celebration of garnered crops and full granaries-that appeals to something racial and primitive in all men; and a spirit, too, which is conducive to co-operation and charity and true gratitude for the bounty tume of brisk acetate rayon sharkskin. You'll see, also, "little girl" ruffled suits in crisp rayon taffeta, gingham or quaint calicoes. Even this six-year-old isn't too young for a beauty lesson that makes flowers its theme. See the pretty posy in her hair. Young girls, and children, too, are taking to wearing flowers in the hair instead of hair ribbons. As to the cunning bouquet she is carrying in her hand, it is a replica in miniature of the one her mother will be wearing. Yes, indeed, matching bouquet of snap dragons, carnations and sweetheart roses make charming gifts for traveling or far-away soldier husbands and fathers to wire to mother and daughter when the calendar points to a birthday or some other very special event. Flowers, like the bright colors being featured this season, help to cheer both the wearer and those who see her looking so daintily charming. And it's her duty to look charming!

Many Still Prefer Black - and - White

Regardless of all the fuss being made over vivid color and plenty of it, many women are turning enthusiastically to black and white.

They consider the costume ensemble ideal that includes a black and white print frock done in the latest manner of side drape, finished off with a pleated frill and pleated collar fitted to a low neckline. This is topped with a black straw wide brimmed hat crowned with waxen white gardenias. The shoes (low heeled pumps) and the bag should be in glistening patent leather.

Cotton Lace Suits Join

List of Summer 'Musts' Lace is good news these days, for it is one item that is not on the gov-ernment "want list." Very swank for summer is cotton lace in a large sporty pattern made into jacket and skirt suits for summer day wear.

You can get bewitching suits with skirts pleated for action, topped with jackets of the favorite long-torso type that so beautifully slenderizes your figure. In navy these lace suits are too attractive looking for words, and for dressy summer wear a white or wheat-color lace suit gives you a costume that will take you anywhere with an assurance of being accounted among the best dressed.

Black Lace

There is a new fashion developing which is worth while considering. It is the blouse that is made of the most exquisite black lace you can find in the stores. Make it up simply but effectively. Wear it in the afternoon with a black satin or taffeta skirt and in the evening with a diaphanous chiffon skirt in lovely pastel coloring.
