Memorial Day

AUTO RACES AT STATE FAIR PARK ON DECORATION DAY

High speed motors will roar for the last time this year at State Fair park here Decoration day, next Saturday afternoon, when the only national championship auto race scheduled will be presented on the mile dirt course instead of at Indianapolis over the big brick raceway.

Rationing of tires and the threatened curtailment of gasoline has sounded on the major championship circuits. Saturday will bring the last opportunity offered to title contending drivers to bid for laurels and cash. Indications are that a great many will be on hand to take one final fling at the thrill sport before it is scratched from the calendar indefinitely.

Cancellation of the annual 500 mile sweepstakes at Indianapolis and the suspension of the A.A.A. contest board which orphaned more than 100 crack drivers from parental controlling bodies and tossed them into the wide open American track championship battle, will be reflected in the State Fair park events Saturday, according to Ralph A. Hankinson, veteran promoter, who has charge of the program.

Western aces will include Ted Horn of Los Angeles, five times among the first five at Indianapolis and Jolie Chitwood of Pawhuska, Okla., noted Indian star who scored highest honors at the State Fair here last fall. A dozen other crack stars from the midwest are listed, completing one of the strongest fields that has ever been assembled on the historic West Allis mile raceway. Qualifying time trials will begin at noon Saturday and the first race will start at three o'clock.

NOSING THE NEWS BY RUSS DEVITT

And we pause briefly in this mad holocaust which we call modern war to pay homage to our heroic dead. And on Memorial Day we will honor not only those who fought and died at Valley Forge, those intrepid soldiers who died while conquering New Orleans with Andrew Jackson, those gallant men of the blue and gray who gave their all at Gettysburg, those mad cavalymen who fell on San Juan Hill, and those doughboys who died at Belleau Woods. And we will pay homage not alone to these but to our heroic dead at Pearl Harbor, at Bataan, and on the seas in this World War Two.

And we will not pause to sob over their graves, but only to drop a wreath and to breathe a short prayer. And they will whisper to us, nay shout to us, "Do not mourn us now. It is enough that you think of us. Go ahead and turn out planes, guns, and supplies so that the job we started can be finished. Then it will be time enough to mourn."

And this Memorial Day we will not forget our heroes. And we will be remembering them in remembering that they died, but remembering why they died. And in remembering that they died because they believed in our nation and in a way of life that brooked no tyranny or freedom of individual rights we will indeed be remembering and keeping Memorial Day. And so while we briefly say, "God bless you and may you rest in peace" we also say, "The job you started will be finished."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Aerial Camera for use on Scout and Observation and Reconnaissance planes is essential to both the Army and Navy air forces in planning battle formations and in obtaining information on enemy fortifications and movements. They look something like a cannon, and cost about $3,400 apiece.

The aerial cameraman can plot wide territories in bold relief so that Army or Navy Intelligence can make accurate measurements of enemy territory. We need many of these cameras so necessary to the air arms of the Army and Navy. You can help buy them with your purchases of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day, and help your county go over its War Bond Quota.

Slacks Gain in Popularity For Work and Leisure Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

EVERYWHERE women are feeling an urge within to be practical-minded in regard to "clothes." Entering new fields of work as so many are during these strenuous times, taking up new and arduous jobs for the first time, women are not waiting for fashion to tell them what to wear, but spontaneously they have adopted well-tailored slacks and slacks suits as the practical thing for voluntary defense work, for factory work, for defense farming and gardening, for first aid and for the endless list of patriotic activities now going on at high speed.

Not that the enthusiasm for slacks ends with the utility aspect of the what-to-wear question, for there's just as much excitement going on in regard to slacks costumes to wear in off-duty hours spent in leisure and relaxation, or in active sports.

As a result of this unanimous demand for women's slacks for everyday wear as well as for leisure moments, designers have rushed to produce a larger and more varied collection of attractive styles than ever before in both costumes and "separates." An excitingly wide range of attractive fabrics especially designed for these costumes has appeared in fine rayon constructions which offer style, beauty and wearing quality at prices to suit any woman's budget and requirements.

Spun rayon reproductions of classic linen, silk, wool and worsted constructions are more interesting than ever this season. In the popular price range, slacks and slacks suits appear frequently in spun rayon fabrics of the linen, shantung and gabardine types, as well as smart covert, hopsacking, flannel and fine-wale corduroy interpositions. For heavy manual labor in factories, denim made to withstand wear and tear scores high. This serviceable never-wear-out material comes in several smart colors in addition to the traditional blue.

The vogue for bright shirts with neutral slacks has inspired the smart combination done in fine-tailored spun rayon shown at the lower left in the above illustration. The slacks in light beige are full-cut. The full-sleeved windbreaker blouse in a lighter-weight version of the same material is gaily plaided in rose, green and beige. Other costumes use contrasting shirts in spun rayons or challis or jersey types.

Careful tailoring distinguishes the easy-to-wear slacks suit shown in the foreground on the seated figure. It is in a fine linen-type spun rayon which tailors beautifully and is both cool and practical. The straight-cut slacks are topped by a matching short-sleeved shirt which can be worn as a tuck-in blouse or as a flattering hi-length jacket.

As smart and comfortable on a defense job as it is at a summer resort the attractive slacks costume at the top left in the above illustration follows the fashion by teaming contrasting colors of the same fabric. Fine spun rayon in a chic linen weave is used in red-striped beige of the same material are in deep blue.

New this season are tapered slacks. Many women with slim figures are adopting them for the sake of streamlined flattery. In addition to the more utilitarian styles the tapered slacks are being made in fine spun rayon acetate twills, in acetate rayon sharkskins and also in wrinkle-resistant alpaca weaves. These are designed for leisure wear after the manner shown at the top right in the above picture. Here the blouse of snowy acetate rayon crepe reflects the South American gaucho influence in its ruffled front. Worn with slim-lined slacks of sooty black novelty-textured rayon shantung and a bright red cummerbund the costume is picturesque and flattering.

Smartly Checked

Fashion's fancy is turning to checks and plaids with renewed enthusiasm this season. Unless you have a coat or a dress or a blouse or a suit of checked material in your summer wardrobe, you are losing out in "style." There are new cottons in wool-like textures that make up beautifully in suits that launder perfectly. The new checked rayon crepes, such as fashion the suit pictured above, are ever so good-looking and very much in demand. A monotone blouse that picks up the color in the check and the band trimming on the jacket add interest to this smart outfit. Very stylish-correct is the sailor hat which carries the color of the check in its bow trim and flattering veil.

Pique Makes Lovely Graduation Dresses

It's time to begin to think of a graduating dress which will later on serve happily for general summer wear. Designers are solving the problem by using eyelet pique. It is cool, it is pretty as can be, it launders marvelously and all the summer through it will most likely prove your favorite dress. One designer does the clever thing by supplying two sets of buttons for variety's sake—white for graduation day and red plastic strawberries for a vivid accent later on in the summer.

A white marquisette gown over a rayon taffeta slip is suggested for formal graduation and for summer dancing in the months to come. A yoke trimming and bows here and there on the skirt of embroidered organdie banding bring an added note of charm into the picture.

Practical and lovely is a simply fashioned dress of sleek white jersey either left all white or enlivened with vivid embroidery touches.

Parasol Brims Can Be

Worn Either Up or Down
Brimms are made to flatter this season. Designers are imparting softening effects in the way of ruffles of ribbon or lace that make a wide brim still wider. Some of these parasol brims are convertible into any style you want them to be. You wear the parasol brim as a face-framing bonnet, or you can flip it back to halo about your pompadour in daring off-the-face fashion.

The newest models have crocheted crowns. Large straw cartwheels are definitely good style for summer.

Farm Acreage Yield Increase Is Needed

Conservation of Soil Must Still Be Practiced

Greater emphasis on increasing yields to the acre to meet wartime production goals is urged by the wartime committee on conservation at the New York state college of agriculture.

This is recommended in place of expanding tilled land acreage "which should be the last resort," the committee said. Other recommendations include:

Any necessary expansion of acreage for clean-tilled crops should be first on land least subject to soil and water losses.

All agricultural leaders and workers should encourage and help farmers to plant all sloping land on the contour.

Greater use should be made of existing demonstration farms in connection with small community meetings and to show results of various crop practices.

Efforts should be made to have all new sloping orchards and vineyards planted on the contour.

A rough, trashy tillage type of cultivation should be encouraged in sod orchards which will be broken as a source of nitrogen.

Farmers should be encouraged to practice conservation to prevent a recurrence of the tremendous waste of soil resources that occurred in World War I.

The committee making these recommendations consists of agronomists, economists, pomologists, agricultural engineers, and soil conservationists at the college.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By FLORENCE C. WEED

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Sugar Beets

Napoleon might be called the father of the sugar beet industry since he fostered the research by which chemists learned how to extract sugar from beets. In our western states, it is an important cash crop, valued at 63 million dollars annually.

The chief product is refined beet sugar which competes with cane sugar. This infant beet sugar industry has received some government protection through the Sugar Act of 1937 which requires that 23 per cent of our national requirement of sugar shall be the beet sugar variety.

By-products of the industry have not been widely developed. Wet beet pulp from the factories is converted into animal feed and the green beet tops are fed to livestock.

Beet molasses is not palatable as cane molasses is, so it is subjected to the "Steffen process" which recovers a great part of the sugar with the aid of finely ground lime. Molasses which has not been treated, is sold for cattle feed and for the manufacture of yeast and alcohol. Experiments are soon to be made to find ways of utilizing beet pulp as a base in fermentation industries and as a source of pectin and some other acids.

The main beet-producing states in order of their importance are Colorado, California, Nebraska, Michigan, Utah, Wyoming and Montana. Midwest states which have some beet-growing sections are Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and North and South Dakota.

About 80 factories are being operated to produce the 1,500,000 tons of beet sugar used in this country.

Roof Laying Faults

Faults in laying metal roofs and use of improper paints to protect them after being laid will cause trouble or unnecessary expense later on farm buildings.

Many metal roofs on farm buildings are laid over slats. G. R. Shier, specialist in agricultural engineering, Ohio State university, says that only corrugated metal has enough stiffness to be laid over slats without courting trouble. Other metal roofing should be placed over solid sheathing.

All types of metal roofing should be nailed every eight inches along the side lap even when the spacing of the sheets makes it necessary to insert short strips to provide places for nailing. It is almost impossible to lay metal roofs which will not leak on nearly flat-topped sheds attached to barns.

Tree Tobacco Insecticide

The possibility that tree tobacco, now a worthless weed in the arid sections of Mexico and southwestern United States, may become a valuable cash crop is seen by United States scientists who have extracted from it anabasine, a valuable insecticide. The product was not discovered in the tree-tobacco plant until 1935, although it had been produced synthetically and found in an Asiatic plant six years earlier than the first test in the U. S.

IF THERE be a man that labors not, or a woman who does not occupy herself with spinning, some one in the empire will suffer with hunger or cold.—Chinese Proverb.

I believe in democracy because it releases the energies of every human being.—Woodrow Wilson.

In this broad world of ours, Amid the measureless grossness and the slag, Enclosed and safe within its central heart,

The problem of what to send a service man has been solved by the men themselves. Tobacco tops the list of gifts service men prefer from the folks back home, according to numerous surveys. If you have a friend or relative in the armed forces—Army, Navy, Marines, or Coast Guard—who smokes a pipe, or rolls-his-own, a pound of his favorite tobacco is very much in order. A big favorite with many service men is Prince Albert, the world's largest-selling smoking tobacco. Local dealers now are featuring Prince Albert in the pound can for the men in the service.—Adv.

All This, We Find, Was According to Orders

Out for a drive in her pony-cart, an elderly lady managed to get involved in some army maneuvers. As she approached a bridge a sentry stopped her.

"Sorry, madam," he said; "you can't cross this bridge. It's just been destroyed."

The old lady peered at it through her spectacles.

"It looks all right to me," she murmured. Then, as another soldier came along, she asked:

"Excuse me, but can you tell me what's wrong with this bridge?"

The soldier shook his head.

"Don't ask me, lady," he replied; "I've been dead two days."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A chocolate pie will take on a new flavor if left-over coffee is substituted for half the milk.

Never wash the grids of a waffle iron and never put the iron in water. Instead clean the grids with a wire brush and dry cloth, wipe the outside of the iron with a damp cloth and a soft polishing cloth.

If the surface of your stove looks rough, it probably is due to an accumulation of stove blacking. Sandpaper rubbed over the surface will make it as smooth as when new.

Coffeepots need thorough washing, scouring, rinsing and airing. Clean the spout with a stiff paint brush, frequently dipped in cleansing powder, and then rinse in quantities of boiling water. Invert until dry. Air the pot in the sun at least once a week.

When pressing or ironing, keep a damp sponge in a saucer, close by. It can be used for giving extra dampness to articles, for opening seams or sponging collars and cuffs.

Try cooking beet greens with bacon. After boiling, the bacon is crisped in frying pan and served with slices of hard-boiled eggs as a border around greens.

Have a brush especially for scrubbing pastry boards and tables. Wash and wipe dry, and be careful not to allow the dough to accumulate in the cracks.

The breadbox should be frequently washed out, dried and thoroughly aired by keeping the lid open a little. Thus, the bread never will get a musty taste. To keep it from becoming too dry, place a small washed potato in the box. Moisture is given off by the potato but not enough to cause mildew.

If the "silence cloth" used under tablecloths to protect the table from hot dishes becomes stiff or shrunken from incorrect laundering, wash in fluffy soapsuds to which two or three tablespoonsful of glycerine has been added. Rinse and hang to dry. The glycerine that remains will help to make the cloth soft and easy to stretch back into shape.

Pattern No. 8133 is in sizes 14 to 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 1 1/4 yards 32 or 35-inch material for plain portion, 1 3/4 yards for print portion. 8 yards of 1 1/2 inch bias fold.

A Bit on the Humorous Side

Simple as That

"Yes, I came face to face with a lion once," said the club liar, "and I was alone and unarmed."

"Heavens, what did you do?" asked a new member, who didn't know his man.

"What could I do? I tried staring straight into his eyes, but he just continued crawling towards me."

"How did you get away, then?"

"I just left him and passed on to the next cage."

Appreciated

Jean—I wouldn't marry the best man living.

Bert—I'm sorry you feel that way about me, but thanks for the compliment.

Slow Going

As the secretary of the golf club was crossing the course he saw a player driving off about a foot in front of the tee-mark.

"Here," he exclaimed indignantly, "you can't do that! You're disqualified."

"Why?" demanded the player.

"You're driving off in front of the mark."

"Don't be an ass!" was the terse reply; "I'm playing my third shot."

Hope Never Dies

Mrs. Green was proudly displaying a new hat to Mrs. Gray.

"It's lovely," said Mrs. Gray; "but how do you manage to get so much money from your husband?"

"Quite simple, my dear," was the triumphant reply. "I just tell him I'm going back to mother, and he immediately hands me the fare."

Without the Grounds

"My girl's father doesn't like me."

"On what grounds?"

"On any grounds within ten miles of his house."

Another Type

"How did Smith hurt his hand?"

"Reckless driving."

"Smash up his car?"

"No, just his finger. He missed the nail."

OUT AND IN

"I say, it's odd this being in society."

"How so?"

"Why, to keep in it you must be continually going out, don't you know?"

Trial Treatment

Sufferer—I wish I had some drops to cure this toothache.

Friend—It's all a matter of the mind, not medicine. Yesterday I was feeling terrible. But when I went home my wife put her arms around me and kissed me, and consoled me, so that I soon felt better.

Sufferer—You don't say. Is your wife at home now?

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is first in and last out. VOLUNTEER Special Services of the American Red Cross have been geared to meet war requirements and war priorities.

Although a shortage of materials has cut down production work, women who have sewed and knitted for the Red Cross will be glad to know that, under an agreement with the War Production board, a certain amount of wool and yard goods will be available for Red Cross workers, according to Mrs. Dwight Davis, national director of this Red Cross program.

The Red Cross Motor corps has been active since the early days of the First World war, but since last year its work has tripled. Many of the 6,576 members, on account of tire priorities, are restricting the personal use of their cars so that their motor corps work may be continued. Motor corps volunteers drive the ambulances which provide transportation for hospitals and Red Cross chapters, and hold themselves ready for service in any kind of emergency. Besides their basic training in motor mechanics and advanced first aid, many members are now studying map reading, stretcher drills, and convoy and ambulance black-out driving in co-operation with their local police and fire departments.

A new canteen aide corps has recently been formed in preparation for wartime emergencies, when feeding of large groups of people such as evacuees or disaster victims may have to be hastily organized.

Red Cross nurse's aides, who have learned how to help the trained nurses in hospitals and clinics, are now being trained to work on the emergency medical field units set up in large centers in case of air attack.

The other general wartime volunteer services of the Red Cross include home service to the families of the men in the forces, the hospital and recreation corps which brings cheer to the sick and wounded, and the staff assistance corps, which provides volunteers for all kinds of office work in hospitals, clinics and Red Cross chapter and to man information desks and register disaster victims.

Prepared exclusively for WNU.

Zion School News

Vacation is here, but school days are not forgotten. Our picnic, May 11th, began with a hot dinner served to members of the district. Although it was a rainy day, some games were played indoors and a lot of fun was had. Muriel Morris won the prize for the best hobby.

We wish to thank all who bought tickets or attended our minstrel show.

Mrs. Hackett received a letter from the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis Association saying that our school ranked 4th in the sale of Christmas sales, which means we are one of the four schools to receive Junior Crusaders and Good Health calendars for each student during the next school year.

MY NEIGHBOR'S BOY

I've known my Neighbor's Boy for years Through laughs and shouts and young lad's tears.

I've seen him playing cowboy, soldier, cop, Sometimes I thought I'd like to stop And really slap him down, But then he'd grin and clown and yell "Let's go to town!"

I've seen him wear his last short pants, I've seen him off to his first dance, I've seen him get his Eagle Scout, I've answered back his whistling shout, But now he's gone away, Gone, too, his yell and play How empty are both night and day.

HE'S GONE

So now I've got a job to bring him back.
