

Back-to-School Clothes Made Of Smart, Practical Cottons

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SO FAR as the "clothes" program is concerned, exciting moments are ahead for teen-aged school girls and their collegiate sisters. The new styles fascinate with their refreshing originality, their bright and lovely colors and their altogether different outlook from that of past seasons.

There's just one thrill after another in promise for those assembling back-to-school wardrobes, one of the "thrillingest" of which is the acceptance of cotton as smart and wearable for fall and winter. It took wartime scarcity of other fibers to break down the tradition that cotton is just for warm-weather wear or for the workaday house-dress and such. Actually cottons can be warm as well as cool.

Now that fashion has grown keenly cotton conscious, new uses of it are being played up which hold promise of surprises and exciting interest for everybody. A new order of experience is awaiting school-faring youngsters in that they are going to have the fun of selecting a complete wardrobe expressed in terms of cotton from start to finish. The new fall cottons are of such tremendous scope they take in every phase of school fashion as seen in coats, suits, dresses, accessories and lingerie. The cotton fabric list includes corduroys, velveteens, twills, whipcords, black poplins, gingham, homespuns and challis.

Not only are the new fall and winter cotton weaves breathtaking in their colors (especially the new velveteens and corduroys), but the new style developments are so outstandingly different in technique there isn't going to be a dull moment in the entire procedure of getting a smart and practical back-to-school wardrobe together.

Each of the fashions pictured in the above illustration serves as a prophecy of what is to be in the way of smart fall trends. Considering these styles from the viewpoint of the wearers themselves young Miss America shown to the left in the

Barbecue Dirndl

Now that backyard barbecue parties are so popular on the home-entertaining program, designers are creating fashions that are pictorially perfect for the occasion. This winsome outfit is of cotton percale in a quaint print. It has a square neckline, puffed sleeves and corselet lacing up the blouse front. The dirndl skirt is protected by a cute apron with capacious pockets.

group is probably soliloquizing in this wise—"I hope I'll be as smart in courses as I am about clothes, because I really think I'd made the dean's list if my cotton whipcord bolero suit with braid outlining the jacket and cuffs and veleten collar could count for credit! Well, I'm on my way to a lecture but I have a feeling I'm going to have a time of it keeping my mind from wandering off into thoughts of the jigger coat I've ordered made of one of the new priority fleeces woven on cotton backing and cunningly lined with bright quilted cotton suiting."

"Now what do I need for my next class (bright girl centered in the picture speaking)? My clothes ought to help the intelligent impression I'm going to make, because they are so right for the campus and show I used my head in choosing washable cottons. My jumper is green pinwale corduroy with a chic dirndl-like skirt and handy slash pockets, and my woolly cotton blouse is inspiringly cheerful in color. I'm so glad jumper dresses are 'the style' for with blouse changes a jumper dress is a whole wardrobe in one. I'm finding a lot of satisfaction in knowing that the plaid I'm wearing washes 'just like new,' and my pinwale corduroy skirt goes through a soap-and-water beauty treatment as nice as you please!"

"I'm starting my sophomore year," says Miss Collegiate to the right in the group, "and after two semesters in college I know what's what, what's done and what's worn, such as my peasant corduroy skirt slipped over—guess what? A cotton challis play suit for lounging around! I adore the slenderizing lines of this play suit cut princess bodice-and-shorts fashion. Don't you think the challis has a cunning rose patterning? Be sure to notice the full-looking skirt with intriguing pockets which looks as if it took yards and yards, but designers are clever these days about using not even an inch of material over the amount allowed under WPB regulations. They've learned to get maximum fullness with minimum yardage." Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Felt Hats Crowned By Dizzy Heights

The most noticeable thing about the new felt hats is their crowns, which mount to dizzy heights. To add to their spectacular rise in the world they are manipulated into fantastic shapes which are breathtaking in their daring and their originality.

Designed to be worn with suits are small cloche brims with tall tapering crowns, some with self-bow accents, others having their outlines softened with gracefully dangling tassels.

Feathers galore will also adorn the new hats. You can get all-plumage turbans, or, if it's a huge felt beret you are wearing, it has more than likely taken on a spectacular coq sweep in vivid coloring. Felt also are taking on intriguing crochet accents. Colors important in millinery displays include salute blue, commando tan, Australian green and a goodly showing of gray.

Tip to Toe

A costume formula that is in for a tremendous vogue calls for a suit made up of a velveteen skirt topped with a cardigan velvet jacket. Carry with this one of the new velveteen drawstring pouch bags, and be sure that the velveteen bumper-beret you wear matches, too. You can carry the ensemble out in monotone color or contrast matching bag and hat with the suit.

Corn 'Rheumatism' Cause Explained

Cure Effected by Using Phosphorus and Potash

By Dr. George N. Hoffer

"Rheumatism" in the joints of growing corn that results in poorly formed ears or dwarfed growth can be cured by doses of potash or phosphorus fertilizer or a combination of both elements applied to the soil in sufficient quantities.

Corn "rheumatism" is especially prevalent in areas that have been consistently planted to this crop for generations. It often manifests itself in poor yields from normal looking corn plants that fail to produce properly ripened ears.

If the stems of these backward corn plants are slit lengthwise, the chances are that the interior of the joints will be found considerably darker in color than the remainder of the stem tissue.

These darkened areas are due to an accumulation of iron and other minerals that break down the tissues and wreck the "conveyor belts" that transport food to all parts of the corn plant. Scientific tests have established that this malady is caused by a lack of available potash in the soil. It can be prevented by the addition of potash.

In some cases a definitely stunted growth of the entire corn plant accompanies the symptoms of poorly maturing ears. Here again a lengthwise section of the stem is likely to reveal tell-tale darkened joints. In such instances, the trouble is due to a lack of both potash and phosphorus. The application of these plant food elements to the soil will remedy the condition.

While corrective measures such as the foregoing are advisable, the surest preventive of plant malnutrition and its resultant crop failure is to make certain that before corn planting time each year the land is provided with plenty of fertilizer to supply needed potash and phosphorus to the growing crop.

Cellulose for Textiles

Wood and cotton linters, grown on American farms, are used to make rayon, the fabric that goes into everything from football breeches to velvet evening wraps. So popular has it become that five times more rayon than silk is now used. The process was discovered 50 years ago by a Frenchman and has been produced commercially in the United States since 1911. More than 500,000,000 pounds of rayon yarn is used annually.

Although there are several varieties of the process, most rayon is made by adding chemicals to spruce wood and cotton linters to change it into a thick, syrupy solution. This is pressed through a kind of strainer, called a spinneret. Out of each tiny hole comes a single filament of yarn. When this is cleaned and dried, it is the thread to be woven into cloth.

Filaments can be combined into different sizes of yarns, finer than those of a silkworm or thicker than coarse wool. Mixed with cotton, silk, flax or wool, this yarn is woven into cloth of endless variety of textures.

This same process invented for rayon is used to make yarn from soybean cellulose and the casein from soured milk. Soybeans will be used for automobile upholstery within a short time. So enthusiastic is Henry Ford about the possibilities of this fabric that he has had a suit made from soybean cloth woven to resemble wool.

Italy pioneered in making milk wool.

Injured Trees

Trees that have been injured by storms should be given treatment as soon as possible. This treatment should consist of cutting the ends of the broken branches back beyond where the bark was torn. In some instances it may be advisable to remove the entire branch back to the main stem or lateral. These torn and ragged ends of branches should be removed immediately and all wounds that are two inches in diameter or over should be painted.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

DO YOU want an apron which will give maximum coverage and years of long service? Here's one which is practical through and through—yet cheerfully styled so you'll always enjoy wearing it! It fits well too, due to the darts at the waist with the apron strings to hold the line firm! Make it in chambray, gingham, seersucker or calico—you'll prize this apron above all that you own!

Pattern No. 8210 is designed for sizes 14 to 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 2½ yards 32 or 35-inch material, 5 yards ric rac to trim.

School Frocks
THRIFTY mothers who make their children's school clothes will find today's patterns very timely! At top is a panel front style with a flat front guaranteed by sashes to tie in back. Below is a style featuring a raised skirt

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When the sleeve of a sweater or of a silk or wool dress becomes worn, conceal any mended place with peasant embroidery made with wool thread.

Waste paper baskets are easily made by pasting wall paper on a cardboard box or bucket.

Potatoes that are to be french fried should stand in cold water at least an hour before cooking.

An easy way to chop off chickens' heads: Drive two spikes into the chopping block, spacing them so that the chicken's head will not slip through. Catch the head between the spikes and stretch the neck.

Fibers are broken in the backs of rugs and carpets when they are beaten. It is better to use a vacuum cleaner on rugs for short periods twice a week than for a longer period once a week.

A piece of chamois that has been dampened makes an excellent duster for furniture.

The smaller the tea leaf, the more tender the leaf and the better the flavor of the tea.

Rub painted surfaces with a lemon to remove marks made by scratching matches.

When you hear a Marine called a "Leatherneck," it has nothing to do with the epidermis of his neck. Years ago the Marine uniform was equipped with a high stiff leather collar supposed to give a more military carriage. From that time on, "Leatherneck" has been the word for a Marine. The word for his favorite cigarette is "Camel"—the favorite cigarette also of men in the Army, Navy, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) So if you want to make a hit with your friends or relatives in the service, send a carton of Camels. Your local dealer is featuring Camel cartons for service men.—Adv.

A Little Bit o' DRIFTWOOD

LEISURE
What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.
No time to stand beneath the boughs
And stare as long as sheep or cows.
No time to see, when woods we pass,
Where squirrels hide their nuts in grass.
No time to see, in broad daylight,
Streams full of stars, like stars at night.
No time to turn at Beauty's glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance.
No time to wait till her mouth can
Enrich that smile her eyes began.
A poor life this if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.
