For the most economical use of fuel, now that cool weather will soon be coming, keep the temperature gauge at 70 degrees when people in a household are normally active. At night after the family is in bed the temperature may be allowed to drop down to 50 or 60 degrees.

Any flat metal roofs, such as are found on the top of sun porches, will need attention at least every two years. If they are not kept well painted, rusting and pitting of the surface will damage them. Use heavy roofing paint and brush it on with a long handled brush.

Vegetables are more difficult to can successfully because they are nonacid products in which heat resisting bacteria are difficult to kill. All vegetables should be blanched or precooked before canning as a safeguard against spoilage and development of dangerous organisms.

Paint should come in for its share of conservation. Always stir until it mixes thoroughly before using it. And when stored, clean the top of the can off, removing excess paint which will cause the top to stick, and be sure the lid is on tight to prevent paint from drying out.

The incoming victory fruit is apples, so plan to make use of them as much as possible while they are plentiful and of good quality. Apples are a source of Vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin and C. Iron, Calcium and other important minerals are also present in apples.

Don't operate your refrigerator at a temperature colder than necessary. Milk needs a temperature of 45 degrees and no spot in the refrigeration should ever go above 50 degrees.

Inky fingers are hardly attractive as any woman will agree. If you have stubborn ink spots that won't disappear, try a bit of ammonia on them.

The Low Down

I started to tell Henry the old joke about where one gent said to another gent, who was that lady I saw you with down town, and the second fellow said, "that was no lady" — that is where Henry stopped me. "Alright" I says, "who is gonna keep the old jokes from dying out if somebody don't tell 'em? There are 8 or 10 million offspring under 18 who have never heard the old ones. Who will tell these youngsters," I says. "And furthermore, my old ones which you can tell around the fireside, they are 100 per cent better than the modern ones you will hear at the Lion Tamer's Grotto or the Hill Top Bridge Club. And even on the radio they tell some with a side-wise slant."

"Well," says Henry, "if age has anything to do with improving a joke, you sure got some good ones." "Well," says I, "it is better to know old jokes and recognize it at 16 than to wait until you are 21 and go down to vote and find out afterwards that you have voted for one, and didn't know it." Yours with the low down,

Whatever number you have on your 1942 automobile license plate will automatically be your number for 1943, since you must keep this year's plate for next year and possibly for the duration of the war, Commissioner H. M. Jones of the motor vehicle department emphasized today.

"The department is receiving numerous requests from car owners who want to retain their present number for next year, while others, for sentimental or superstitious reasons, are requesting to have their license plate numbers changed," Jones stated.

"But there will be no changes," he pointed out, "except the addition of an insert tag with the description '43' in the center of the 1942 plate to show that the vehicle is properly registered for another year."

Application for 1943 registration may be made now, but registrations will not be completed until after Nov. 1.

These Items Are Highlights of The College Girl's Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Now that a college girl's "yes" as to the fashion status of this and that has come to be regarded as an ultimatum it is interesting and illuminating to check up on her style preferences.

The first thought that comes to mind is the enthusiasm with which fair collegiates have gone "all out" in favor of cottons for year-round wear. The major recognition they are giving to smart cottons in assembling their back-to-school wardrobes this fall is really most significant.

Take for example the darling teddy-bear coat shown to the left in the above illustration. This adorable model is made of a white fleece woven on a cotton backing and lined with gay multi-striped broadcloth which accents the cuffs and front closing, edges the pockets and forms the collar. College girls figure this to be a wise buy in that they'll be as warm as the teddy the fleece resembles when they wear a coat of this type, and being "comfy" as well as charming helps a lot when it comes to lustily cheering from one's vantage spot in the stadium. Take it from the college vote that here is a coat that says V-for-Victory in no uncertain terms.

Another decision among campus enthusiasts is that they will be needing plenty of snappy sweaters to keep them in comfort and in fashion at the same time. Maybe a college girl's clothes allowance isn't just what it used to be, what with her being the girl behind the boy behind the bombers, by buying up those war bonds. The thing to do so as to keep pace with fashion's demands is to bring your last year's cardigan up to date by trimming it with oodles of chic buttons as the smart ones on the sweater to the right in the group illustrated in the

Thrifty college girls who are doing everything to save for bonds have discovered, too, that it's patriotic to make sewing their hobby. Nowadays sewing is an easy road that leads to fashion success and, besides, it is considered smart these days to "make your own." With the aid of one of the new thermo-plastic dress forms you can cut dress construction time in half by eliminating repeated try-ons. It's worth while knowing that your local sewing center can mold your form in half an hour. And then, with the fashion short cuts they will teach you, you'll be all set to do a grand job at home sewing.

If you feel the urge to sew you might try your hand at a jerkin costume like that shown centered in the group pictured above. This is a style easily made, especially if you provide yourself at the start with a good pattern that makes simplicity its theme. College girls adore jerkin costumes, for with a different blouse they may be made appropriate to any occasion in a jiffy. Then, too, jenkins are so chic and so flattering and so youthful looking.

Brick red is the color of the fine wale corduroy that fashions this jerkin dress. The billowy blouse is a golden yellow, which goes to show how wholeheartedly campus dwellers have gone in for high color. A smart idea is to write your name in your own handwriting across the front of your jerkin blouse, just below the square neckline then fill it in with a signature stitch quickly on your sewing machine.

Dear to every collegiate heart is pretty lounging apparel like that pictured above in the inset. The "latest" as shown at the national wash apparel show recently held in Chicago is cuffed satin rayon pajamas done in blue for the pajamas and peach rayon satin for the quilted jacket. Please underscore the word "quilted," for there's a perfect craze for things quilted, from negligees to smart daytime jackets with hats and bags to match.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

With Velvetin

Velvetin is being combined with other fabrics this season in effective ways. When brown velvetin is paired with brown and beige hound's-tooth check woolen the answer is ultra smartness. That is exactly the case in regard to this charming jacket costume. A suggestion of the military appears in the double-breasted gold button fastening of the brown velvet jacket. The skirt is of the brown and beige check. The jacket edges and simulated pockets are overcast in beige yarn. The newest fashions feature considerable yarn stitching used as trimming. A little costume like this is ideal for early fall, with its warm colors and soft fabric.

Memo to a Modern: Buy Pretty Things

Here are a few fashion items that the modern girl might jot down in her notebook as "must haves." Sweaters with brushed surfaces, for shaggy effects are the thing this season. Add corduroy separates to juggle as you please, also a swank corduroy coat and a corduroy suit in beige or green or bright red. A jumper dress of denim, gabardine or corduroy should be included, and any and everything quilted from a house robe to a hat and muff two-piece.

The new "jive coat" which is a 30-inch topper is wanted in wool. A rabbit's hair or wool jersey dress with embroidery touches. Velvetin dirndl skirt. Gingham pajamas, neatly tailored and a gingham nightgown to match. Flannellette nightgown for cold winter wear. Velvet date dress in a luscious color. Cotton gabardine raincoat. Necklace gaily painted acorns.

And she will add dozens of little hair bows, flowers and fantasies. Spotted fur tuxedo cloth coat (hat to match). Something in the new purple or violet tones. Lace blouse to wear with afternoon velvet suit.

Cowl Neckline

Much attention is being given to creating flattering necklines. A "newsy" message from style centers is the revival of cowl neck treatments. Very new and smart is the black frock that has a cowl drape about the neckline done in a contrast-color fabric. Often deep cavalier cuffs match the cowl. If collar and cuffs are detachable, one can make the black frock do double service. A cyclamen pink cowl on black is very effective.

U. S. '42 Farm Output Planned to Fill Needs

AAA Authorities Say Two Records Broken This Year

Farmers from Maine to California will chalk up two history-making achievements when their 1942 harvests are in, according to the United States department of agriculture. American farms this year will produce more than any nation in all time and, for the first time, the nation's total farm output will be planned to fill needs determined in advance.

This double-banded record will be the American farmer's ringing answer to the challenge of war. The great harvest will consist of the right amounts of the right products to fill anticipated needs of the United States and the United Nations.

These goals have been broken down into goals for states, counties and individual farms for farmers to shoot at. Goals have been used for years by AAA for basic crops. But this year ALL crops have goals to insure abundant Food for Freedom. The food will make America strong, feed her Allies' soldiers and civilians and create reserves of such easily stored concentrated products as cheese, evaporated milk, dried eggs and canned fruits and vegetables.

Export commodities will be an important part of the output. Lend-lease pork purchases, excluding lard, have already exceeded the equivalent of 11 million hogs. Egg-drying capacity has been expanded from 50 million to 300 million pounds annually. Exports alone for the current fiscal year are expected to require more than twice as much acreage as in 1941.

When Pearl Harbor suddenly cut off all imports from the Far East, the 1942 production goals established as the original Food for Freedom goals were jacked up. Revised goals call for one-fifth more production than the average of the 1930s and 5 1/2 per cent more than in the record year of 1941.

Last fall, after war needs had been canvassed, more than 135,000 AAA farmer committeemen, under the direction of USDA war boards, began calling on farmers to see what they could do to meet heavy war demands.

Virtually every farmer in the United States was given an opportunity to pledge all-out war effort on his farm by controlling production of products not urgently needed for war and intensifying production of those in great demand.

For the service man who smokes a pipe or rolls-his-own, no finer gift could be sent than a pound of his favorite tobacco. Surveys among men in camp and on ship-board show that tobacco is the gift most appreciated. Local dealers are now featuring pound cans of Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco—the world's largest-selling pipe tobacco—to send to men in our armed forces, a favorite with many a pipe-smoker or roll-your-own fan in the services.—Adv.

'Mother' Roper Has Helped More Than 6,000 'Lost' Seamen

Head of Missing Sailors' Bureau Widely Known For Her Work.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Janet ("Mother") Roper, 72-year-old Seamen's Church institute official here, in some 30 years of devoted service, has restored more than 6,000 lost mariners to anxious friends and relatives. Her slogan is "never give up hope for a missing sailor!"

It is a slogan of which "Mother" Roper—as she is known to seafarers all over the world—must remind herself frequently these days.

For enemy U-boats, striking without warning along America's trade and convoy routes, have been adding new names almost daily to the grim list of those lost at sea. And every enemy torpedo, as it strikes home, finds an echo somewhere in the heart of an American mother, wife or sweetheart.

Their letters of inquiry regarding the lost ones—pathetic, anguished messages in which hope strives valiantly against heart-break—are piling up fast in the tall cases that line "Mother" Roper's office, where she directs the institute's missing seamen's bureau.

Pathetic Letters.

The letters distress her greatly. There have never been so many before, and it has never been so hard for her to answer them cheerfully. But, when the weight of them becomes particularly depressing, Mother Roper remembers all the thousands of lost sailors she has found, and regains hope.

If a navy man falls in the line of duty, it becomes the navy's official business to notify his next of kin. And the same applies in all other branches of the nation's armed forces.

But no such government action covers the merchant marine, albeit its ships have suffered greatly from the Axis submarine onslaught. And that is where Mother Roper's comes in.

Mother Roper's investigations cover all phases of sailors' wanderings. They stop at nothing, except where a man is being sought by the law. Their chief aim is to get back to the mothers and other loved ones who inquire, all possible news concerning their missing sailor boys.

A Grateful Mother.

As an example, she showed a letter she had written to a Mrs. Peter H. J. Keen in London. It read, simply:

"I am a stranger to you, but I might explain that I am in charge of the Missing Seamen's Bureau of the Seamen's Church Institute in New York.

"A seaman by the name of 'Paddy' King has just called at my office, having come from a concentration camp in Sweden. He told me that your son, Peter, is in this camp. Peter asked Mr. King that if he ever came to New York to get some word to his people so as to relieve their anxiety. That is the reason for my writing to you.

"I asked this seaman how the men were treated. He told me they were treated well, but that the food wasn't so good. I could get no additional information, but to know your boy is alive should be a comfort to you."

Attached to the copy of the letter was the mother's grateful reply.

"I received your letter from my son Peter, for which I thank you. It was so wonderful to think that some one so far away would be so kind and thoughtful."

The most vital fact the bureau requires through which to locate missing seamen is a last known record of their employment.

Guides Lifeboat With

Watch; Saves 26 Lives

A CARIBBEAN PORT.—The navy revealed how Third Officer Robert H. Nichols of New York, by use of a watch and chart, navigated a lifeboat with 26 survivors of a torpedoed ship for 17 days and landed them safely.

The sinking of the vessel had been announced previously, and its master, Capt. Henry A. Stephenson, was taken as a prisoner aboard the attacking submarine.

One of the survivors is Ensign Ralph L. Karol, Brighton, Mass. All the survivors were in good physical condition except one man, who suffered head injuries.

When they stepped ashore Lieut. Kasper J. Kraynick, co-pilot of an army plane that had spotted the lifeboat, recognized Karol as a former classmate at the University of North Carolina.

Fires 35 Shots to Test

His Aim to End His Life

PHILADELPHIA.—Patrolman William Harkins found Chester Zygmund sitting on a bed, firing a revolver at the walls and ceiling.

"You trying to kill yourself?" roared Harkins.

"Yep," Zygmund replied, "but a man's gotta 'practice first, hasn't he?"

The policeman, counting 35 empty .38 shells around the room, decided Zygmund had had enough practice. Magistrate Charles Mead way, entering a charge of reckless use of firearms, agreed.

PREPAREDNESS

by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

ASSISTANCE to members of the nation's fighting forces and their dependents is the primary duty of the Red Cross.

This obligation is set forth in the charter granted the American Red Cross by congress in 1905, and in the army and navy regulations. It is also stated in the present selective service regulations, which require all draft boards to refer questions concerning the welfare of selectees and their dependents after induction to the Red Cross.

Red Cross help to service men and their dependents takes two forms: In every army camp and with every American fighting unit anywhere a Red Cross field director is on the job. His duty is to help the service man with his problems and relieve him of worry over them.

In nearly every county in the United States is a local Red Cross chapter, with a home service worker. Its job is to help the service man's dependents, and relieve them, too, of worry and need.

Assistance to members of the armed forces may take the form of advising them or their dependents on government life insurance, allotments or pensions, and of helping them in filling out the necessary application forms.

The Red Cross may even help members of the service man's family in getting employment, emergency medical treatment, or it may grant them money to tide the family over until an allotment is actually received from the government.
