Banquet

Dr. C. A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and former national director of Selective Service, will bring to the 1942 Biennial Conference of the Wisconsin Welfare Council his opinions of the demands of a post-war world. Dr. Dykstra is the main dinner speaker at the annual banquet which is scheduled for Friday evening, October 9.

The theme of the annual banquet will be "Planning for Post-war Reconstruction." Dr. Dykstra has recently devoted much attention to this vital subject both in speeches and articles for the press. In an article written for Wide World Features the president of the university stated that the plans for a new world pattern must take cognizance of certain fundamental desires of humanity.

"Nations attempt in one way or another" wrote Dr. Dykstra a few weeks ago, "to work out what they call manifest destiny." This will be done peacefully, if possible, but by war, if necessary. How can this manifest destiny idea be lifted out of the domain of competition and exploitation as among nations, and put upon a universal or planetary basis?"

In facing this question Dr. Dykstra outlines those things which men want so badly that they are willing, when they lose hope, to fight for them.

"Put categorically," says President Dykstra, "these things are: some measure of economic and social security, some guarantee of civil and political rights and privileges, the possibility of developing and expanding the individual's personality and cultural and spiritual opportunity, the right to participate in decisions which affect society, and right of access to the natural resources of the earth, and some freedom of movement and communication."

The Welfare Council is fortunate in having Lady Simon of Manchester, England, as a speaker Saturday, October 10. Lady Simon will be in this country for a brief speaking tour in October. Today's most controversial war problem, the allocation of manpower will bring to the opening session Mr. William Haber of the War Manpower Commission. Another general session on "War Time Price Control and Rationing" has as its speaker John Weigel, Regional Director, of Office of Price Administration, Chicago. Not only rationing and price control, but the basic effects of the war economy on the general standard of living will be discussed.

The Biennial Conference of the Wisconsin Welfare Council meets at the Hotel Schroeder in Milwaukee, October 8, 9, and 10.

Blondes Settle Rows With Guns When Love Fails

Romances End in Fights; Then Fair-Haired Start Shooting.

CHICAGO. — Psychiatrists say shades of complexion and hair hues have nothing to do with temperament or behavior.

But among Chicago women who have murdered their sweethearts "blonde bomb shells" have shown up with impressive consistency.

Most recent of the taffy-haired, blue-eyed killers is Mrs. Eleanor ("Honey") Williams, who shot Gordon McNaughton, ex-pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, as the "other woman" looked on, when "Honey" found McNaughton in the woman's apartment.

Tremblingly, blonde, 24-year-old "Honey" told police of her blighted romance with the ex-athlete. Between the lines of her tawdry tale ran the strange story of the broken marriages of three women whose paths had crossed McNaughton's—that of his own wife, that of "Honey" and that of Mrs. Dorothy Moos, the "other woman," who said she had just left her husband for the ex-baseball player.

Decides to Kill.

Bitterly the attractive blonde told of her first meeting with the glamorous ex-big leaguer in a tavern in 1939. He persuaded her to demand that her "homebody" husband, Clarence Williams, mild-mannered telegraph operator, divorce her and take custody of their daughter, Jacqueline, now five. She continued:

"It was McNaughton's fault I lost my home and baby. He made me go home and tell my husband he'd have to get a divorce. A few weeks ago he said everything was going to be all right. He even said he'd have his lawyer arrange it so we would have my baby. Then I found lipstick on his coat."

It was then that "Honey's" tragic romance died and she made up her mind to kill McNaughton.

She went to the hotel where Mrs. Moos lived. She found McNaughton and Mrs. Moos alone in Mrs. Moos' apartment. Mrs. Moos said "Honey" whipped out a revolver and told McNaughton:

"I've got you now. I'm going to kill you."

Mrs. Moos tried to save McNaughton's life. She wrestled the revolver away from "Honey" and threw it into the bathroom. But "Honey" ran past Mrs. Moos and got the weapon again. She fired twice, one bullet striking McNaughton in the chest and killing him.

Takes to Gunplay.

Another outraged blonde of Chicago who chose gunplay as the solution of a romantic dilemma was Mrs. Nellie Bakker. Mrs. Bakker, who at 33 was the mother of four children, fell in love with Peter Winkler, back in 1923.

It was not until they had, in her words, kept company for several years that she discovered that Winkler was married and the father of two children.

She demanded he divorce his wife and marry her and, she declared, when he refused she went into another room of her home and came out waving a pistol. While her children watched, she shot and killed Winkler, then fatally wounded herself.

Blonde Betty Parker Folbert Martin, 27, finally married her boy friend in 1936, but the marriage lasted only three months. One night Andrew L. Martin, 37-year-old "bookie," didn't come home for dinner. Mrs. Martin, armed with an automatic pistol, went on a tour of taverns, looking for him.

In the Golden Spray, a South Side night club, she found him with a pretty young woman, also a blonde. As Mrs. Martin shot, he fell to the floor dead. She told police:

"He gave me a dirty deal. He lied to me."

U. S. Tar Tries to Find Black Market in London

LONDON. — The bluntness and naivete of newly arrived American service men sometimes startles the British people. For example, an American sailor fresh from sea eagerly approached a titled lady in a Red Cross service men's club here.

"Lady," the gob said, "can you tell me where the nearest black market is? I want to get a bottle of Scotch."

When the matron recovered from her astonishment, she set the sailor straight.

"Okay, lady," he said. "One of our guys just steered me wrong."

Shoots Himself in Back And Is Not Aware of It

QUITMAN, GA. — Seventy-six-year-old Enoch Edmondson, sitting in a theater here, got up with the rest of the crowd to see what had happened when a pistol shot sounded. No one discovered the source of the shot, the show resumed and presently Edmondson left. Several blocks away he discovered that a pistol in his pocket had discharged. In a hospital, attendants said the bullet coursed through Edmondson's back, punctured a lung and lodged in his neck. His condition was serious.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

IN TOWN and in country, at home and in the office this is a dress which is "tops" for style and comfort. Larger figures will particularly like the full-cut bodice and the six-gore skirt which fits with such admirable smoothness. We suggest it for gabardines, flannels, new rayon weaves.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1590-B is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 with short sleeves takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch material.

Tommy Had Followed The Cat Rather Closely

The teacher was attempting to explain the meaning of certain words to her class. She came to the word "sufficient."

"Now," she said brightly, "let us suppose there was a cat here and I gave it a saucerful of milk, which it drank. Then I gave it another saucerful, and it drank it all. But when I gave it a third saucerful it would only drink one-half of it. We can then say that the cat had had sufficient. Now, Tommy, what is the meaning of sufficient?"

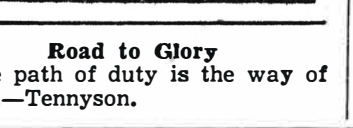

"Please, teacher," replied Tommy, who had been eagerly attentive, "it means a catful of milk."

Hot-Seat Throne

About 40 years ago, Emperor Menelik II of Ethiopia ordered three electric chairs from America when he learned that electrocution was the modern way to execute criminals, says Collier's. Much to his astonishment, the two that arrived in Addis Ababa could not be used because they required electricity, which was not yet being generated in his country. So for years, he used one as a royal throne.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Kitchen scales are almost a necessity at canning time. For best results weigh everything.

Too much heat kills yeast. When dissolving yeast for baking, be sure the liquid is lukewarm, about 80 degrees F. . . .

Silverware should be washed immediately after use since foods, salt and acids cause corrosion.

Domestic red pepper is less hot than cayenne and can be used in salad dressings, cheese and meat dishes, relishes and fruit butters.

To prevent crushing fill a hat crown with tissue paper and store the hat on its brim in its own box.

Old shirts no longer worn because they are collarless or out of style make pretty kitchen aprons.

To wash nylon curtains squeeze them in a mild soap and water solution. Rinse in lukewarm water and roll in a turkish towel to remove moisture. They need not be ironed.

Every mother in the land will want to bake these scrumptious cookies. Children will demolish a plate of them in a wink. Grown-ups rave about their "different" taste and new crunchy texture. They're made, of course, with the famous cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran.

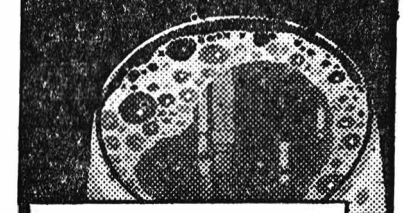

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN FUDGE SQUARES
3 squares un-sweetened 1 cup sugar
chocolate 1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup butter 1/2 cup All-Bran
2 eggs 1/2 cup nutmeats
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Melt chocolate over hot water and add butter. Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and butter. Stir in flour, All-Bran, chopped nutmeats and flavoring. Pour into greased pan, making a layer about one-third inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: Sixteen 2-inch squares (8 x 8 inch pan).

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

It's Easy and Thrifty to Make Your Own Defense Work Outfits

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Now that the debts and the sub-debts, the college girl and her endless chain of sorority sisters, the career girl and the glamour girl and the housewife have gone wholeheartedly into intensive work to win this war they are finding themselves confronted with a work clothes need entirely new to them.

Being employed by the thousands in industrial plants and on farms and in countless other war activities, taking the place of men as they are in wartime industries, women are coming to know that they must have clothes that stress utmost simplicity, are washable, have no excess fullness to catch in machinery yet allow for the utmost freedom of action. Slacks and overalls must fit snugly at the ankle, fabrics must be sturdy, for there must be nothing to hinder work.

However, there is another essential that must not be overlooked. It's the stimulus that comes to women workers when they know that the clothes they wear are as smart and becoming as they are purposeful and efficient. To that end there is special emphasis placed on the use of bright color, and there are many intriguing accessories like gay little dickeres and bright blouses.

An interesting and most significant reaction to this call for suitable work apparel is seen in the encouragement it has given to women to make sewing a thrifty hobby, the more so in that wash materials are so inexpensively available with the excellent, well-styled patterns and modern sewing machine equipment, even beginners at the sewing game can count on doing a professional job. Having one of the new thermoplastic dress forms that is molded into a twin of your figure will prove a wonderful aid in turning out clothes that fit.

The garments pictured in the above illustration have been selected as especially suited for farm work or factory assignments. The all-in-one uniform centered in the group is one of the smart defense outfits you yourself can make thriftily, or you can watch and learn while your work uniform is being cut and fitted for you at your local sewing center. The slide fastener closing at the ankles is an essential for protection insisted upon in most factories. It is easy to insert if you use the zipper foot attachment that comes in the modern sewing machine kit.

Factory worker and "farmerette" will find smart practicality in a jumper overall and shirtwaist outfit like that shown to the left. Not only does it give opportunity to wear different colorful shirtwaists, but there is special comfort and convenience in the suspender-type oversized pockets through which the wide leather belt is drawn, thus providing safekeeping for important working gadgets. The pocket edges are reinforced with firm, stitched edges.

Everybody has been talking about victory gardens, and now that the "yellow pumpkin is on the vine" it's high time to gather in the harvest. While you are collecting your vitamins grown right in your own back yard or are serving your country as a "farm hand," you will be feeling comfortable and fit if you wear a blue-and-white striped cotton twill suit that opens at the back. This trim overall really covers you from head to foot and fastens at the ankles to keep out dirt and bugs. And how it washes and comes back all new and fresh looking! The matching visor can go right into the tub along with the overall.

Workaday Dress

The designer of this smart blue and white striped cotton jumper frock did a grand piece of work. Evidently the thought in mind was to provide a suit convenient and prettily feminine for the girl draftsman who may soon be called to active duty in defense industries. Its intriguing double front pocket holds pencils, a little ruler and T-square and other instruments. It buttons smartly down the side and is most intriguingly detailed. Worn with its flattering white pique blouse, it is ever so good-looking. For a change have a blue percale waist in reserve and a gay printed one, too, done in blue and white.

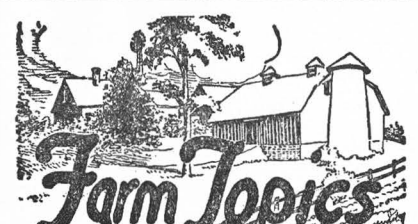

New Designs Use Wool With Velvet

Some of the best looking fashions brought out this season feature velvet and wool combinations. Especially successful are the black-on-black effects. One of the ways designers are employing this combination is in connection with the new bow dresses, the skirt drape of which fastens over to one side with the bodice tied with a big bow at one shoulder. Instead of self fabric bows, velvet is used, and the effect is most gratifying. It is very effective, too, in jacket suits when the jacket is paneled down the front with an inset of velvet. Another method of working velvet with wool is to contrast the crepe or wool waist or one-piece dress with velvet sleeves, or with a velvet yoke.

Very smart black gowns of the new slender type are finished off at the neckline with a ruche arrangement of velvet corresponding to the ruche of velvet about the narrow hemline. Buttons of velvet and bindings and inset horizontal bands also contribute chic to the new styles. Coats as well as dresses are velvet-trimmed. A simple black frock worn with velvet hat and gloves either in black or color is topnotch fashion this fall.

Drawstrings Close Bags, Blouses and Even Skirts

A new theme has arisen in the realm of costume design, namely drawstring fashions. And now that the vogue is under way style creators are turning out skirts that are drawn to fit at the waistline, blouses with drawstring necklines, pouch bags that have a drawstring instead of a zip fastening. Even gloves and hats are subscribing to the drawstring technique.

Vaccination of Calves Checks Bang's Disease

Immune Heifers Obtained Through This Process

Because of the war and the desire to step up milk production in line with the Food for Freedom program, dairy farmers have adopted calfhood vaccination as a means of controlling Bang's disease more quickly than they would have in ordinary times.

Calfhood vaccination makes it possible for herd owners to replace old, unprofitable cows with heifers immune from brucellosis, or Bang's disease, Dr. George E. Taylor, extension dairyman at Rutgers university, reminds herd owners. However, the answer to the question of whether vaccination is the best method of controlling the disease, depends upon many things, Dr. Taylor says.

"As an example, U. S. department of agriculture officials point to many farmers who have tried the test - and - slaughter method and have not been able to eliminate the disease from their herds completely," he reports. "These farmers frequently are in communities where brucellosis is prevalent. And in all probability, calfhood vaccination would be recommended."

"On the other hand, a farmer may have only one or two cases of brucellosis in his herd. If he lives in a community which is comparatively free from the disease, he and his advisers often conclude that the best thing to do is to get rid of the reacting animals, make a thorough clean-up, and then keep close watch for any reappearance of the trouble.

This small herd, part of a larger one, is the kind that has to be watched for any outbreak of the dreaded Bang's disease.

"Also, there are circumstances which lead farmers to adopt a combination of calfhood vaccination and test-and-slaughter methods in their control of brucellosis."

So if you have brucellosis or Bang's disease in your herd, talk the matter over with your livestock sanitary officials, veterinarian, and your county agricultural agent, suggests Dr. Taylor.

Hops

The relatively unimportant hops crop contains hop oil, hop resins and acids, hop tannin, hop bitters and hop wax, but few of these possibilities have been converted to industrial uses. Hops are used mainly in brewing malt beverages where their flavoring and preserving qualities are of particular value. American hops are of high quality but a few individual brewers prefer to import varieties which have special properties lacking in the domestic hops. This makes the market variable and in some years, 5,000,000 pounds of hops have been left unharvested when the price is low and labor is scarce.

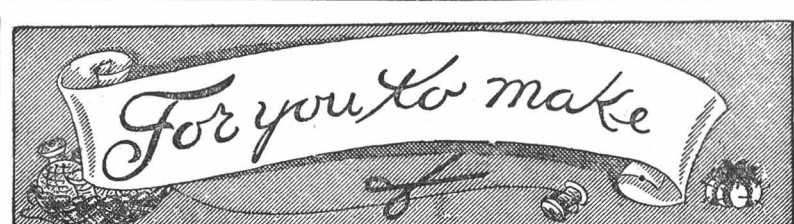

The yellowish, aromatic substance called "lupulin" contained in hops, has some outlet in medicines.

Research is under way to recover certain compounds found in hops which are lost in the brewing process yet might be valuable in other industries. Dyes, tannins, wax and pectin all might be recovered. Even the fibers left after the hop resin is extracted might be converted into plastics as is being done with soybeans.

Hops are like their name in the way they have moved about this country. They were first introduced in New Netherlands in 1625 and came to Virginia five years later.

Guard Livestock Health

More research on livestock health, and passing the information to livestock and poultry producers is urged. A report pointed out that livestock losses in the United States, because of poor health and disease, total about 268 million dollars a year. It was also suggested that farmers may be given the facts best through newspapers, periodicals, and the farm press, telling of practices that will conserve the nation's livestock and poultry resources.

The Low Down

My "sad sights contest" is going along great shakes. If you have not already sent the editor your entry, you should do so at once. The contest is gonna close some day. So that you will know how the contest is going, I will tell you who is leading, etc.

In first place, with the most votes, as Sad Sights Number One, is "a nice young fellow, up-and-coming looking but tagging along with a sweetie in purple seersuckers laced up the back and leading the gal's dog." That is number one, so far. In second place according to the vote, is a "buxom young woman letting some wrinkle-brow sell her on the idea that her head is a vacuum and she needs a shot of something to maintain her morale. Without the correct shade of purple for her toe nails, she would fold up." Grandma Washington didn't fold up when George was crossin' the Delaware. She melted lead and made bullets—she didn't closet herself with exhausted morale.

Send your "Sad Sight" entry right away—you may win something—maybe everlasting glory—maybe three cheers.

Yours with the low down, JO SERRA.

CELEBRATES 85th BIRTHDAY

Christie Carlin, a life-long resident of this community celebrated his 85th birthday Sunday, October 4th.
Mr. Carlin, for many years a banker of Palmyra and now engaged in farm commodities, is hale and hearty at 85. He writes with a fine Spencerian hand that would put to shame many of the younger generation's penmanship. His tales of this community and his keen memory are quite interesting. Congratulations Christy and may you live to enjoy many more birthdays.

CHILDREN JOIN IN SCRAP COLLECTION

Jefferson County school pupils have joined whole-heartedly in the scrap campaign as requested by Superintendent Bock. Teachers, as captains, are leading the boys and girls in a victorious campaign as they did in the "Mac Arthur Drive". Parents are being reminded constantly of the need of rounding up the scrap and all varieties are being collected by these young Americans who eagerly welcome this chance to play a real and important part in the war.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, OCTOBER 4-10

During the week of October 4 to 10 all attics, basements, and storage closets should receive a careful survey as they have fire hazards lurking in them. A large percentage of all fires are caused by carelessness. Let us make war on this enemy and strike another blow at the Axis. We are counting on our loyal friends, the boys and girls of Jefferson County, to do their part.

Mrs. Bock reports the following teachers attending the University Extension class in Contemporary American Literature taught by Dr. Rachel Salisbury each Monday at 4:30 at the Jefferson High School: Meta Griz-Brandal, Florence Mohlzahn, Mrs. Evelyn Henning, Olive Kutz, Mrs. Esmeralda Wolfgram, Olivia Heldemann, Marion Hintz, Marie Lenz, Helen Bienfang, Mrs. Ethel Tellefson, Mrs. Blossom Gilkey, Mrs. Alma Lain, Mrs. Esther Abendroth, Mary Fell, Mildred Lenz, Edna Jorgenson, Kathryn Olthafer.

Prof. Daggett of the State Teachers College at Whitewater, who is teaching an extension class in Psychology at Watertown each Wednesday evening has the following Jefferson County teachers enrolled: Mrs. Lillian Haberman, Mrs. Alpha Imrie, Mrs. Hedwig Zerjav, Mrs. Elsie Joseph, Mrs. Vyvian Hansen, Mrs. Margaret Laehr, Mrs. Helen Goddard, Lucille Hummel, Eileen Henderson, Mrs. Myra Reagles, Mrs. Elizabeth Gehler, Matilda Koltes, Miss Delia Kibbe, State Elementary School Supervisor, Madison, spent Wednesday with County Supt. Eva N. Bock in Palmyra and Johnson Creek Schools. She also supervised in rural schools several days.

Wis. Welfare

The speakers' section of the British Information Service has announced the visit to the United States of Lady Simon of Manchester, England, for a speaking tour during the month of October. Lady Simon will address the 72 Annual Meeting and Biennial Conference of the Wisconsin Welfare Council which meets in Milwaukee, October 8th, 9th, and 10th. She is a leading authority on public administration in England, and was active as a member of the city council of Manchester, where she was particularly prominent in the welfare field under wartime conditions.

Her account of British war experience will be particularly interesting to the many state and local defense council leaders who will attend the Conference for the Defense Council Sectional Program. Lady Simon is at present a co-opted member of the Manchester Education committee, a member of the Labour Party Advisory Committee on Education, and a Housing Officer for the Northwest Region of the Ministry of Aircraft Production. She will speak at the Biennial Conference at Milwaukee on Saturday, October 10th, at the Hotel Schroeder, on the subject, "How British Cities Have Mobilized Community Services in the War."

Other speakers headlining the three days of the Conference will be President C. A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin, whose subject is "Planning Now for Post-War Reconstruction;" John Weigel, Regional Director Office of Production Management, Chicago; and William Haber of the War Manpower Commission who will discuss "War Labor and War Manpower" at the opening session.

Continuing an innovation of the last Conference, the Wisconsin Welfare Council has prepared a series of six institutes for Case Workers, Group Workers, and Administrators. These institutes are designed as intensive study courses and cover the fields of Casework in Child Welfare, Casework in Family Security, Casework in Institutional Treatment of Juveniles, Some Practical Aspects of Group Work in Wartime, Practical Problems of the County Public Welfare Administrator, and Psychological Tests, Their Use and Social Significance.

All meetings will be held at the Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee. A large number of discussants, speakers, and panel leaders from both official and voluntary Wisconsin social agencies will enliven the many meetings of the three days of the Conference according to Bjarne Romnes, executive secretary of Wisconsin Welfare Council.
