Kippers-Pafford

Rich white satin fashioned on classic lines was worn by a slender, blue eyed bride as she repeated her nuptial promises in St. James church, at Mukwonago, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

She was Miss Helen Kippers, the daughter of Hearold Kippers, Mukwonago, and her bridegroom is Morley Pafford. Over her long-flowing gown she wore a finger-tip wedding veil that was entwined in a seed pearl coronet which held it in place on her head. The front of her dress was beautifully trimmed with seed pearls while self-covered buttons extended down the back.

Her shower bouquet was of white roses and white chrysanthemums.

Preceding the bride down the aisle to the altar, which was banked high with white and yellow chrysanthemums, was Miss Lorreta Mich, cousin of the bride, Mr. Victor Weinkoff was Mr. Pofford's best man.

Miss Mich wore a gown of misty rose taffeta with a fitted bodice and wide flowing skirt and carried a bouquet of shell pink rose and white chrysanthemums.

Father Ackenbock, pastor of St. James church performed the ceremony and St. James choir sang and the nuptial mass followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred West, grandparents of the bride, served a wedding breakfast to the bridal party and other immediate relatives at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ray Brophy, 163 W. 86th St., Wauwatosa, Wis. at 12:00.

Marquette Football

Marquette university's football team will make its second and last flood-will make its second home appearance of the season, Sunday afternoon, November 1, when it faces a big, fast and potent University of Detroit eleven at the Hilltop stadium in Milwaukee.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2 o'clock, and plenty of tickets will be available at the stadium box offices. Prices are $1.25, $1.75 and $2.50.

In renewing its ancient gridiron rivalry with Detroit, the Marquette eleven will be out to settle several old scores. Coach Tom Stidham's current crop of Hilltoppers best remembers its disappointing 7-6 setback at the hands of the Titans in the Auto City last fall, but the fact is that the Blue and Gold has lost six consecutive games to Gus Dorais' team after tying the powerful Detroit machines of 1929 and 1930.

Dorais, in his eighteenth season at Detroit, has one of his strongest elevens. Eleven lettermen are available and the brightest among them is Elmer (Tippy) Madarik, left halfback, who as a sophomore last fall ranked fourth highest in the nation on total offense. Paired with Madarik at right half is Tom Senfner, a freshman and a fellow-townsmen from Joliet, Ill.

Coach Stidham hopes to have his Marquette aggregation at peak form for Sunday afternoon's game. The big Indian is proud of his veteran line, which includes six juniors and one senior, and of his steadily-improving backfield which has sophomore halfback Johnny Strykalski as its sensational spearhead.

From Boys in Service

The following letter came to us from one of our boys in service and which we think would be of interest to our readers.

Dear Friends: Just a few lines to let you and the people of the big city know I'm still in the states and like it very much. None of us like the Army during war time, but we have to do the very best.

Thanks a million for sending me the Eagle Quill, I sure appreciate it. I like to hear the news from our town and near-by towns, one feels more like home.

I came down here from Forth Sheridan for my basic training which is all over with now. I'll be shipped out here before long to places unknown.

We are having some rainy weather here now, it's been raining almost all week, and it sure is muddy. It's getting lots cooler than it was when I first came here.

Well I must close now for its getting quite late.

Goodbye to you and good luck to the boys that are leaving for Army. Pvt. Robt. A. Raduechel, Co. B, 13th Bn. 4th Regt., B I R T C, Fort McClellan, Ala.

Enlists In Navy

Great Lakes, Ill.—John Anthony Agathen, 36, son of John C. Agathen, is now going through the first steps towards becoming a sea-going fighter in the U. S. Navy. He reported to the U. S. Naval Training Station here last week to begin recruit training.

Instruction in military drill, naval procedure, and seamanship, plus the toughening participation in the Navys vigorous physical hardening program, are the two most important phases of recruit training. Upon the completion of this, the new recruit will be granted a nine-day "boot" leave, at which time he will probably come home.

The future in store for new naval recruits depends on the outcome of a series of aptitude tests given them during their recruit training. Some men are selected for advanced training at one of the Navy's many service schools, while others are selected for immediate duty at sea or some other shore station.

Gas Rationing

The teachers of this great nation did such an excellent job of sugar rationing last year that they have again been drafted to do the work of registering and issuing ration books for mileage rationing. The teachers of Jefferson County will take their place in line of duty to be of service to their nation on November 9, 10, 11.

Specific instructions as to definite procedure will be sent to all teachers and principals by Supt. Eva N. Bock. State Supt. John Callahan states to the teachers, "I know that this is going to be a chore for you all, but knowing our teachers and their administrative staffs, I feel confident you will again serve your country in this new emergency."

A recent study of the farm labor situation shows that there is much under-employment in certain areas and that manpower might well be shifted from such regions to areas where labor is needed.

With the prospects that feed prices will continue favorably, it is estimated that poultry farmers will carry into the new year six or eight per cent more layers than they had on farms the first of this year.

Block Plan System

The Block Plan of organization for civilian war services will swing into action in Jefferson county October 29 at 7:30 P.M. when leaders of women's organizations in the county will meet at the court house in Jefferson to learn of the Block Plan System, that has proven the best means to secure complete mobilization on the home front.

One of the major objectives of the Block Plan is to give to all the people a clearer understanding of the reasons behind our civilian war efforts, and the development of a neighborly spirit of cooperation for war service. It provides a method for bringing neighbors together for the purpose of discussion and common understanding of our common duties as civilians in this war.

Only women of Wisconsin, both in the urban and rural communities, will be enrolled in the Block Plan system.

At the meeting in Jefferson a prominent Wisconsin woman will explain the importance of the Block Plan and outline the general duties and responsibilities of block leaders. The meeting will afford the women in attendance an opportunity for questioning, and thus will the leaders of women's organizations on hand be able to organize effectively the Block Plan in their respective communities.

Edgar Hayes

Edgar George Hayes, 61, died at his home in Rome on Tuesday morning at 12:50. He had been ill for some time.

Mr. Hayes was born Sept. 23, 1881, in Concord, the son of the late Harvey and Louise Hayes. They were pioneers in this community.

In June, 1912 he married Miss Clara Kramer and lived in Sullivan for seven years. In 1921 he went into the milling business in Rome and lived there until he died.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, Royal, a third class petty officer at Great Lakes Training Station and Donald, at home; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Royal Hayes; three brothers, Irving of Jefferson, Clarence and Oliver, of Milwaukee, and one sister, Mrs. Harry Lembrick of Helenville.

Mr. Hayes' mother died April 21, 1942.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Smith funeral home, at Palmyra, with the Rev. Paul Lambrecht of Jefferson, pastor of the Evangelical church officiating. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery, south of Rome. Mr. Hayes was a member of the Rome church.

Mrs. C. E. Pearson

Mrs. Cornelia E. Pearson, Ellsworth, Mich., died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leon Peardon Tuesday morning Oct. 27 where she had spent the past six months. She was the daughter of Elizabeth and Stephen Dean, born May 5, 1859, at Port Burwell, Ontario. She married William Macost Feb. 9, 1885 who preceded her in death 13 years ago. Seven years later she remarried, David J. Pearson of Detroit, Mich., who survives and is now living with a son in Detroit.

She was affiliated with the Methodist church. The survivors besides her husband are four daughters, Mrs. Henry Black, Mrs. Wilbur Himebarch both of Charlevoix, Mich., Mrs. Leon Peardon, Mrs. George Peardon and 19 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren. Funeral services were held at the Smith Funeral Home in Palmyra at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 28. The Rev. Francis S. Foulke officiated. Mrs. Foulke will render vocal selections. After the services here, the body, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. George Peardon will be taken by train on Thursday to her home near Ellsworth, Mich., where services for the relatives and friends will be held Monday at the M. E. Church. Burial will take place in Ellsworth cemetery beside her former husband, William Eascott.

In Naval Reserve

Russell Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jones of this village enlisted in the Naval Reserves V-7 in Milwaukee on October 10th. He will continue with his studies at the University of Wisconsin until such time as Uncle Sam calls on him for duty.

Von Rueden-Kau

A very beautiful wedding took place on Saturday, October 24 at St. Theresa's Catholic Church at Eagle, when Betty Von Rueden, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Von Rueden exchanged nuptial vows with George Kau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Math Kau. Rev. George Wollet officiated. An "Ave Maria" vocal solo was rendered by Robert McGinn of Whitewater.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph, was attired in a gown of white slipper satin and lace, princess style, with a long train and a heart neckline on a molded bodice. From her rhinestone and pearl tiara fell a lace edged veil, fingertip length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and variegated pink and white pompons.

The groom was attended by his brother Alvin Kau and the bride's brother, Joseph Von Rueden, with Peter Kau and Warren Andorfer acting as ushers.

Miss Dorothy Von Rueden, who was her sister's maid of honor was gowned in a blue moire taffeta with a full net skirt. Her headpiece was of blue shoulder length net flowing from a velvet tiara. Her bouquet was of bronze and yellow pompons and baby chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Marie, sister of the groom, was attired similarly in gold.

Mrs. Von Rueden, mother of the bride, wore a soldier-blue crepe dress while the groom's mother, Mrs. Kau, chose a dress of similar color and material. Both mothers wore a corsage of white pompons and red roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to nearly fifty close relatives.

A reception, which over 200 guests attended was held at the Sunshine Pavilion at Genesee in the evening.

After a short trip the couple will be at home on the Math Kau farm at Eagle.

These Fashions Meet Demands Of an Alert 'Teen-Age Group

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FOR novelty, variety, color intrigue, general wearableness and utilitarian service attuned to the demands of youth; for that young look that fashion-alert juniors and 'teen-agers want in the clothes they wear, this season's entrants into the fall-winter fashion contest score about 100 per cent perfect.

First and foremost, color is the magic word that turns even the most simple fashion into a thing of beauty, and it's color that is stampeding its way right through the entire fashion picture this season. The "big idea" centers brightly around daring color contrast as interpreted by the use of a jacket in one color topping a skirt of another, or by the use of materials of contrasting hues seamed and patched together with amazing adroitness.

A fashion that has completely captured the fancy of modern youth is the two-piece that tops a plaid or checked wool skirt with a vivid velveteen jacket which is cunningly detailed with buttons and which relates itself to the skirt it companions by taking on a binding of its material. It's just as effective and style-correct to contrast monotonous. A fuchsia-purple skirt may be worn with a fuchsia-red jacket, a bright red jacket with an autumn leaf green skirt and so on.

Every girl nowadays is building her wardrobe around two basic items, namely the softly styled dressmaker suit and the little wool dress that doesn't miss a "trick" in taking on fetching trimming detail. Even the simplest little jersey frock is audaciously taking on glitter touches in way of nailheads and jewelry-embroidered necklines, and the latest gesture of the demure jersey dress is to go so far as to steal the glory of a sequin-embroidered motif now and then. The intriguing modes pictured in the above illustration were given prominence at a recent fashion revue presented by the style creators of Chicago as types which have won the unanimous vote of young girls.

It is evident that the suits shown have succeeded in capturing the spirit of youth which young moderns demand. The suit to the right interprets the contrast idea in that it teams a vivid Kelly green wool jacket with a shallow pleated (complying with priority rulings as to hemline measurement) skirt of black. The black binding around the jacket effects a tie-up between skirt and jacket-top that achieves a unified costume. Self-fabric surface decoration is placed high on the jacket front in a manner to suggest pockets.

The other suit is done in pale beige wool with a slightly ribbed surface. The prominence of beige is notable in both dress and coat collections. The slender gored skirt and slit breast pockets and the general bid for simplicity which it makes is in keeping with the fabric conservation program. Note especially the girlish round neckline which is important fashion news. The new square shoulder look is stressed via deft seaming.

Every youthful wardrobe is supposed to have its quota of flattering little one-piece frocks to wear under the winter coat. The significant thing about the two frocks pictured is that they owe much of their charm to bright yarn trimming touches. It's a jersey-dress season and no mistake! Both models pictured are fashioned of natural wool and rabbit's hair jersey.

Style features of interest in the dress to the right are the wool-embroidered pockets and the use of wool yarn stitching about the neck and shoulders. The tie-belt is also an interesting detail. The two-piece to the left features contrast sleeves knitted of bright red yarn. The edges, too, are finished off with matched red yarn.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Spaghetti Trim

Here is an effective use of the new and smart "spaghetti" fabric loop trim. There is an epaulet of the loops at one shoulder and also a modish peplum effect. This is one of those good looking black dresses that go anywhere in perfect style. Smart styling features are the long fitted-below-the-elbow sleeves with the new deep armhole cut that is now so extremely fashionable. The slim, sleek silhouette so admirably achieved is what every woman covets. Designers are using self-trim, color contrast and sparkling accents to achieve the variety so noticeable this season.

'Winter White' Is Again a Favorite

The young set adores "winter" white for the date dress or for informal party wear. And so the craze is on for whites and near whites as it was last season. Favored materials in the much beloved white include the new Aralac flannel, wool and rayon mixtures and a very smart looking wool and rayon boucle, but the darling of all is the white jersey frock that is enlivened with gay yarn embroidery or vividly colorful insets, jewel buttons or perhaps crocheted wool edgings and gilt leather touches done in applique.

White fur, especially in boxy short casual coats and capes, is also popular. Young girls are wearing these white fur casuals with slacks, and later on they will be wearing them with their skating costumes.

Priorities Coin a New Word—"Companion" Suit

Women who are looking to the future are buying wisely and thoughtfully. They look upon a suit of good quality as the answer to their need for a costume that will be ready to wear on all but the most formal occasions.

Buying a "companion" suit made up of jacket, skirt and matching long topcoat this year is very different from last year's procedure. This season priority rulings do not permit buying the three pieces as a unit, the parts must be sold separately. However, designers and manufacturers are making it possible to secure a perfect match even if the topcoat must be purchased separately.

Nitrogen Fertilizer Supply Below Normal

Supply of Phosphorus, Potash Found Sufficient

The increasing use of synthetic nitrogen for war munitions plus the shortage of ships limiting the amount that can be imported has caused supplies of nitrogen fertilizers to be far below normal. Fortunately, phosphorus and potash supplies are fully sufficient for all farm needs, according to Earle Jones, extension agronomist, college of agriculture, Ohio State university.

Not roundup time in Texas, just sheep returning from feeding in the valley in San Benito county, California.

As a result of the current situation, the War Production board requested producers "not to manufacture, sell, offer for sale or distribute any fertilizer containing chemical nitrogen for use on fall-grown grains this year."

Fewer grades of fertilizer were available in areas where fall-sown grains were planted, but there were enough to meet the requirements of all kinds of crops. These fertilizers were of high analysis, which means that the farmer received a bigger percentage of plant food per ton. Important savings were made in the use of bags and in the cost of transportation.

For fall-sown grains this year, seven grades of mixed fertilizer were recommended by the college of agriculture of Ohio State university. While these were specified for Ohio, similar soil and crop conditions in other states would make their use satisfactory elsewhere. These grades were: 0-14-7; 0-16-8; 0-20-10; 0-12-12; 0-14-14; 0-20-20; and 0-10-20; as well as superphosphate.

It's a sheep shearing demonstration on a ranch at Ganada, Apache county, Arizona. The lambs have been separated from the ewes about to be sheared. Roman Hubbell and the Indian owners of the sheep are present.

Tests and practical experience have indicated that the quantity and analysis of fertilizer to use depends largely on the type of soil and the crop to be grown. On light colored or dark colored silt and clay loams, a 0-12-2 analysis is recommended. The quantity may vary from 300 to 400 pounds per acre on light colored loam and 200 to 350 pounds on dark loam, depending on whether the grain is to be seeded to a meadow or to a green manure crop, to be held one year, or two years or more. In the event such soils have been manured with an average of 8 tons per acre during the preceding year or on the immediate crop, a lower analysis such as 0-18-0, 0-20-0 or 0-14-7 is recommended.

On muck soils, peats and sands, an 0-10-20 analysis is recommended. Where such soils have been manured, an 0-12-12 is indicated.

Farm Notes

The 1942 lamb crop was about 2 per cent smaller than the record 1941 production, but the crop, estimated at 32,260,000 head, was the second largest on record.

Material to expand production of facilities for dehydrated foods has been given a high priority rating by the WPB upon the recommendation of the Foods Requirement committee.

Conan Doyle Find Excites Interest Of Holmes Fans

Unpublished Mystery Yarn Is Unearthed Among Author's Documents in London.

LONDON.—"Most astounding, my dear Holmes!"

That probably would have been the reaction of faithful Dr. Watson to the revelation from the family of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle that an unpublished Sherlock Holmes story had been discovered among some of the dusty old papers left by the noted writer when he died 12 years ago.

The comment of the millions of devotees who have devoured every one of the Sherlock Holmes stories will probably be much more vocal, however, when they learn of the decision of Conan Doyle's son not to publish the new discovery.

The story, "The Man Who Was Wanted," was found by the author's son, Adrian Conan Doyle, in an old chest among ancient family papers—many of which pre-dated Sir Arthur.

On the envelope in which the manuscript was discovered, was a note in the writing of the author's wife, saying that he did not intend to have the story published because he did not consider it up to the standard set by the others in the Sherlock Holmes series.

Son Opposes Release.

"It is not up to scratch," said his son, "and my father didn't want to run the risk of disappointing his admirers by putting out a story that he felt did not come up to par."

Hesketh Pearson, biographer of Thomas Hardy, who is preparing a life of Sir Arthur, agreed that the story was "very feeble" and said Sir Arthur showed "good common sense" in withholding it from publication since it might have injured the reputation of the famous detective of Baker street.

The opening scenes of the story in Holmes' quarters, said Mr. Pearson, are "quite as good as anything that Conan Doyle did, but the plot is weak."

The story, which runs six to seven thousand words, concerns the problem of finding a business executive who disappeared when he got into financial difficulties.

With Dr. Watson in amazed attendance, Holmes solves the case by the simple expedient of showing a photograph of the man to friends, neighbors and enemies and making those "remarkable, my dear sir," deductions from their reactions.

To Be Preserved.

Mr. Pearson, for the past year has been studying Sir Arthur's writings, visiting his acquaintances and studying his ancestry and heredity in preparation for writing the new biography. It was while Sir Arthur's son was working with him in sorting out and studying his father's papers that the unpublished manuscript was discovered.

The existence of the story had not even been suspected prior to its discovery. Adrian has "very definite" plans for preserving the story despite the fact that it may never see print.

"I realize," the son explained, "that there may be a great demand from Sherlock Holmes admirers to have the story published. In that case the family might consent. I cannot say definitely, however, until my elder brother, Dennis Conan Doyle, returns from America."

The story was written several years before Sir Arthur died, but the state of the paper would indicate, his son said, that it was not among the last of his Sherlock Holmes stories.

Blind Judge Decides Deaf Mute Is Innocent

BUTTE, MONT.—A deaf mute was arraigned before blind Justice of the Peace D. F. Shea on a burglary charge.

The defendant wrote out his "not guilty plea, and the town constable read it to the sightless judge. The judge questioned the deaf mute by asking his questions of the bailiff, who wrote out the questions and read the written answers to the jurist.

After a sizable crowd of city hall employees had gathered to watch the unusual proceeding, the jurist decided the deaf mute was not guilty and released him.

Ice Cream Goes Off Menu Of U. S. Army in Britain

LONDON.—Ice cream was taken off the menu at United States army camps in the British Isles because of a ministry of food ruling that ice cream manufacturing is a non-essential industry.

The ministry estimated the ban would save 30,000 tons of transport and 1,000 tons of paper a year.

The United States army agreed to do without ice cream after the manufacturers, appealing the ministry's ruling, said they had to continue in operation to fill the needs of the United States forces.

Surely Neighbor Would Be Happy to Contribute

Answering a determined tap at the door, Mrs. Jones opened it to face her neighbor, who was obviously very wrought up about something.

"It's that boy of yours," she snorted. "He's just thrown this brick through my window. It came within an inch of hitting me."

A pleased look came into Mrs. Jones' face.

"Really! How interesting!" she exclaimed. "I wonder if you will let me have the brick? We're trying to keep all the little mementoes of his youthful pranks; they'll be so interesting when he grows up."

The Kalends

In classical days the Romans called the first day of the month the Kalends. On those days interest on debts became due, and proclamations were made. The Greeks had no such term, so a promise to pay at the "Greek Kalends" meant "never."

HERE is a sketch of a corner in a smart living room. Over the desk hangs a piece of applique work that any woman who can sew a seam can make with a piece of natural colored linen, a few scraps of gingham and odds and ends of embroidery thread. The design is of poppies, cornflowers and wheat, with graceful green leaves. The poppy petals and leaves are of gingham applied on the linen. The bright blue cornflowers, the yellow wheat and stems are embroidered in simple stitches.

Ritual Dancing in Church

The Cathedral in Seville, Spain, is believed to be the only Christian church in the world in which ritualistic dancing is still performed. During the Triduum of Carnival and the festivals of Corpus Christi and the Immaculate Conception, the choir boys, accompanied by the clapping of castanets, stage an elaborate dance before the altar.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

SO THAT America will be well prepared on the home front, the American Red Cross has set a goal of one person in every home to be trained in home nursing.

Red Cross home nursing courses teach simple methods of keeping the family well, and how to care for its members in sickness. The students—mostly women, many men and large numbers of young people—are also taught to recognize symptoms in the early stages. This is expected to help prevent the usual wartime epidemics.

So far in this war, more than 90 per cent of the civilian casualties have not been hospitalized. Instead they have been given first aid and whatever emergency treatment was necessary and then sent home.

A large portion of such civilian war casualties have required home nursing care which, due to the shortage of nurses, had to be provided by members of the family.

To enable every family to provide home care for the sick, whether due to enemy action or natural causes, immediately after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Red Cross started a plan to teach home nursing to every family.

Any group of 20 or more can form a home nursing class by agreeing on a time and place of meeting. After being notified, the county Red Cross chapter will then appoint a graduate nurse instructor.

Prepared Exclusively for WNU.

Grass and Hay

Grass and hay produce such beef and brawn as horses and bullocks possess and yet are unsuitable for humans because the digestive apparatus of the herbivorous animals has become specially adjusted to deal with the coarse fibers of grass, and specially enlarged to cope with the great bulk that must be taken daily in order to secure adequate nourishment. Humans can eat young, tender shoots of some kinds of grass without ill effects, but the hard stalks that cause no inconvenience to a horse would be as damaging to us as the grit a chicken swallows.

Many grass-eating animals like cows and camels have multiple stomachs to help them.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Rubber is not the sap of a tree, but is the latex found in tubes that run lengthwise throughout the inner part of the bark.

Individual car owners can conserve rubber. Never drive over 35 miles an hour, check inflation pressure once a week, check wheel alignment every six months, rotate tires (including spares) to different wheels every 3,000 miles. It's not a difficult habit to acquire and it will keep you rolling longer.

Why built at 35 miles an hour restrictions in Jerusalem 8 miles an hour is the limit for automobiles, with the speed warnings printed in Arabic, Hebrew and English.

The Army is supplied by hundreds of thousands of rubber-tired trucks, just one of which for a 2 1/2 ton vehicle takes more than 7 times as much rubber as your passenger car.

Pontoon bridges are built on rubber floats that take more than a ton and a half of rubber.
