IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Boys In Service

The following article came to the Editor of the Eagle Quill this week, and which we are happy to publish.

Fort Benning, Ga.—Special—Robert H. Von Reuden of Eagle, Wisconsin, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army of the United States today upon successful completion of the Officer Candidate Course at The Infantry School at Fort Benning, Lt. Von Reuden is the son of Mr. George Von Reuden of Eagle, Wisconsin.

The new lieutenant was inducted into the army on July 28, 1941 and served with the 13th Infantry, 8th Motorized Division before going to Officer Candidate School three months ago. He held the rank of Sergeant before being commissioned.

The new officer is a graduate of the Palmyra High School in Palmyra, where he was prominent as a scholar, baseball and basketball player.

At the Infantry School, world's largest institution of its kind, the local officer took a three months' course to fit him for his new responsibilities. The course covers the technique of handling all the varied modern infantry weapons and the tactics of leading small infantry units in combat. It also includes study of many varied subjects which future officers must know along the lines of administration, military law, etc.

The men who attend the Officer Candidate Schools are the best private, corporals and sergeants from the entire army, selected by their superiors for outstanding intelligence and qualities of leadership. During the course even the mildly incapable are weeded out, so that the men who graduate with commissions are America's finest soldiers, fully qualified to be the leaders in our new army.

Racine Boy Honored

Chico Field, Calif., March 30—Flying one of the Army basic trainers which have become almost part of the peaceful Sacramento Valley landscape is an aviation cadet who once looked down on a scene in sharp contrast, and whose aircraft was of the more deadly variety.

The cadet is Robert Daniel Fortier, 23, of Racine, Wis., and the scene was the Pacific Ocean off Midway Island, strewn with the burning wreck of the once proud Japanese fleet.

Then a bombardier in a Flying Fortress, Cadet Fortier holds the Silver Star for gallantry for his part in releasing a bomb which scored a direct hit on a Nippon light cruiser, leaving it in a sinking condition. This feat and the fact that the gunners on the big Fortress, including himself, shot down a pair of Zeros on the way was dismissed by Cadet Fortier as really nothing.

Serving for two years as an aircraft mechanic at Hickam Field, Hawaii Cadet Fortier progressively worked himself closer to the coveted role as pilot of one of the B-17s.

When the Dec. 7 sneak attack reduced Hickam Field to rubble, Cadet Fortier was one of the men who worked feverishly to get the American aircraft back into fighting condition, and saw that as a bomber he would have a better chance to take a return crack.

His training in this field paid off last June, when as the man in the nose of one of a flight of seven Fortresses, he spotted the main Nippon invasion fleet converging on Midway. Furious attack from the surface ships dispersed his squadron, but Fortier's bombsight lined up one of the cruisers below, and his load left it in a hopeless sinking condition.

He received the Silver Star award at Santa Ana Army Air Base, where he received pre-flight training.

A REAL TRIBUTE FOR DINAH

Rarely do love, romance and crooning move the heart of the editorial writer to his pen. Normally, he's too busy with presidents, prime ministers, kings, lawmakers and economists. But one editorial writer this week felt Dinah Shores, who is heard every Friday evening over WLS at 7:15 has as much to do with the progress of the war as any of them. He wrote on the editorial page of a well-known New York paper.

So long as the Dinah Shores are universally applauded the country is safe. Because soldiers, who come out of homes that respond to those sentiments of love that her songs distribute, will fight like all — in this war to preserve those homes and the liberties that made them possible.

It is estimated that during normal times, between 3,000 and 4,000 Wisconsin people are engaged in domestic fur raising.

HOUSEHOLD TIPS

Continual opening of the gas or electric oven door changes the temperature and is said to be one of the most common causes of baking disappointments.

Much of the difficulty in growing house plants comes from keeping them too warm. Try putting your plants in a cool corner of the room and watch them perk up.

House plants grow toward the sun. Turn them frequently so that they will not grow one-sided.

Keep the broiling pan in your oven as clean as any of your other kitchen utensils. After using it wash it in plenty of hot water and soapsuds. Dry it perfectly before returning to the oven. Any moisture left on the pan may cause rust in the oven.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Seed-bearing pods high up in rubber trees when ripe go off with an audible pop. The pods, about the size of a goose egg, contain formations of gas which explode when ripe and throw the seed as far as 100 feet.

The French call rubber caoutchouc from an Indian term meaning "weeping tree."

Ninety per cent of roadside flats that plague car owners can be avoided. Checking air pressures while tires are cool, before inflating will show up tubes that are losing an abnormal amount of pressure due to slow leaks.

Temperatures, topography and types of roads as well as driving habit of owners account for wide variations in mileages from identical tires. These factors may account for a tire turning in from twenty to twenty-five thousand miles of service in Chicago whereas from seven to eight thousand miles may be the mileage it will render in Texas.

During the 12 months following Pearl Harbor, the United States navy launched 159 fighting ships, or four times as many as the corresponding types sunk by enemy action, says Collier's. Among these new vessels were three battleships, six aircraft carriers, ten cruisers, 107 destroyers and 33 submarines, having a total estimated tonnage of 558,000.

In addition, American shipyards produced more than 7,000,000 tons of merchant shipping.

Free circulation of air around the refrigerator cuts electricity cost by permitting heat to escape from inside the cabinet. Unless the refrigerator has air space, allow at least 2½ inches between back of refrigerator and wall, about 12 inches between the top and cabinets above.

Weld With Glue

A new gluing process which makes it possible to transform surplus lumber into marketable stock at low cost is known as "spot welding." Boards are joined together edge to edge by setting glue only in spots along the joint, with high-frequency radio waves used to set the spots.

Propagate Rotenone Planting

Derris cuttings containing rotenone, an important insecticide, are being flown from the United States department of agriculture's experiment station at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, to South and Central America for propagating purposes.

'Mouse-Tailed' Bats

The early ancestors of bats undoubtedly had long mouse-like tails that extended out behind the body as in other mammals. Tails much like this are still found in a few living bats, which are popularly known as "mouse-tailed bats."

Victory Huts

Thousands of portable demountable "Victory" huts, made of plywood and sealed with toxic water-repellent wood preservative to insure permanently uniform fit in any climate, are being sent to house our armed forces overseas.

Paint Samples Deceiving

When applied to a large surface, paint usually appears considerably darker than seems to be on the small color chip from which it was selected. This illusion should be taken into account when selecting colors.

Plastic Pencils

The amount of metal necessarily used in mechanical pencils has been reduced from 70 to 4 pounds per thousand pencils by redesign and substitution of a new cellulose nitrate plastic composition.

Rotenone Kills Insects

Rotenone suffocates insects by paralyzing their breathing organs. It is in demand for delousing animals and human beings as well as for the destruction of pests and insects in agriculture.

U. S. Steel Reports 1942 Production 28 Per Cent Greater Than World War I Peak

United States Steel Corporation's Annual Report for 1942, reporting attainment of a steel ingot tonnage production 28 per cent greater than in the peak year of World War I, has just been released as "a production story—and a financial story—a great war effort." Production by U. S. Steel in 1942 of more than 30,000,000 net tons of ingots as well as the manufacture of a steady flow of products entering into thousands of items used in prosecuting the war were described by Irving S. Olds, Chairman of the Board of Directors, in his review of the year contained in the Corporation's forty-first annual report. The victory parade of steel ingots was listed as only one of several principal contributions of U. S. Steel to the war effort. These contributions were enumerated as follows: "First, a record volume of steel and other materials needed not only for the fabrication of essential war products but also for the creation of new facilities to make such war products has been produced. Second, the technical ability representing many decades of accumulated research and experience has been made available for the requirements of the Government. Third, the construction and operation of vast new facilities for the Government in connection with the war effort have been undertaken. Fourth, millions of dollars of U. S. Steel's funds have been expended for various facilities contributory to the war effort."

A one-page condensation of the financial statement of the Corporation for the year describes in simple language what disposition was made of the $1,869,951,692 received from the sale of its products and services during 1942. Employment costs of $783 million in 1942 were 25% greater than for the previous year. 1942 costs of $204 million were 21% more than in the preceding year, while dividends to stockholders remained unchanged. The amount carried forward for future needs of the Corporation was 78% less than in 1941.

Among achievements cited is the development of the airplane landing mat. The serious problem of handling plane landings on hastily built air fields was solved with the war-time invention by Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, of a landing mat, consisting of portable interlocking sections. It was pronounced the outstanding development of the year in the field of aviation by the Chief of the Army Air Force. As mass production methods were evolved, other companies were licensed to use the process, and thirty smaller manufacturers are now producing these landing mat sections in quantity.

The report reveals that in 1942 one subsidiary, Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, completed more destroyers for the Navy Department in shorter building time than any other shipyard in the country. A new shipyard built by this subsidiary for the Navy Department began operations five months after ground was broken. A fully equipped shipyard for the production of the latest type of tank landing craft was constructed and is being operated for the Navy Department by American Bridge Company, another subsidiary.

An interesting comparison of the use of U. S. Steel's own resources and of Government funds for the expansion of emergency facilities undertaken by U. S. Steel from June, 1940, to the end of 1942, shows that the ratio of U. S. Steel's investment to the use of Government funds was 65% of its own money to every dollar of Government funds used. This compares with a ratio for all industry of 27% of private funds to one dollar of Government funds. In this expansion program, U. S. Steel's private investment of $220,000,000 compared with $436,000,000 of Government funds expended, making a total of $716,000,000 expended in the program.—Ad.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Congress Moves to Defer Farm Workers; Climax of Tunisia Campaign Approaches As Allies Close In on Rommel's Forces; Manpower Shortage Grows More Critical

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lining the deck of a U. S. submarine as it docks at Pearl Harbor after a successful raid on the Jap base on Makin island, these marine raiders are ready for the comforts of shore for a while. The raiders, transported to the island and back aboard American submarines, wiped out the garrison and all enemy installations there.

FARM LABOR: Deferment Act Passed

Congress demonstrated unmistakably that it meant business in dealing with the farm labor shortage. Evidence of this determination was found in the senate's action in passing legislation to defer all essential farm workers from military service. The measure which had required house approval would direct draft boards to defer men employed substantially full-time in production of essential foods and fibers. Although Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson had strenuously opposed blanket farm deferments, sponsors of the legislation contended such action was necessary.

The house meanwhile had moved to combat the farm labor shortage in another direction, by passing a bill appropriating $261,000,000 to recruit and train 3,500,000 men and women as a "land army."

SHOWDOWN: Looms in Tunisia

Evidence had continued to mount that the Allies were preparing a concerted drive that would bring the North African campaign to a climax.

As the ring around the Axis defenders of coastal Tunisia was tightened by the Allied command, two developments spelled progress toward the final showdown. One was the upsurge of offensive action by American forces under Lieut. Gen. George S. ("Blood and Guts") Patton which continued on after the recapture of Gafsa and El Guettar in central Tunisia and apparently had as its ultimate goal the coastal city of Gabes. Replacing Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall on this front, General Patton brought with him the reputation of being one of the most offensive-minded generals of the army.

Another development of high significance was the drive by General Montgomery's British Eighth army against Marshal Rommel's Mareth line positions in southeastern Tunisia. Characteristically, tight-lipped Montgomery had issued no communique concerning his early moves; first reports of the offensive had come from German sources.

Together, these two developments indicated that an Allied squeeze play was under way against Rommel's army.

LESS GASOLINE: For East Coast

While the gasoline ration for "A" book holders in eastern states was cut from 3 to 1½ gallons per week, these motorists were given the opportunity of using the gasoline as they pleased, for the ban on pleasure driving was removed.

In making public the reduction, the Office of Price Administration, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown, announced that "A"-book holding industrial workers who motor to their jobs would be allowed supplemental gasoline. Halving of the basic ration was made necessary, according to a statement by Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, because only 333,000 barrels of gasoline daily could be made available for East coast civilian and industrial use during April.

MANPOWER: Supply and Demand

The problem of manpower for war industries grew more acute as the War Manpower commission placed the steel-producing districts of South Chicago-Northern Indiana on a 48-hour week basis and designated 36 areas in the United States as sections in which a critical labor shortage is soon expected.

With the supply of labor for essential war work lagging, the WMC estimated that at least 2,800,000 essential jobs in munitions, transportation, agriculture and other industries must be filled this year from the less essential work classes. Included in this latter category were bartenders, porters, bellhops, night club and music hall attendants, persons engaged in the liquor trade, candy, tobacco and florists.

Labor experts indicated that in order to fill the increasing demand for workers, employers must hire more older people, train and employ more women, use boys under 18 wherever possible and use the physically handicapped for light tasks.

Meanwhile, Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, urged congress to adopt legislation to draft men and women when necessary to fill war factory jobs and work on farms.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS: Dozens by Year's End

Henry J. Kaiser, shipbuilding "miracle man," was at it again. This time it was on the large-scale production of 500-foot aircraft carriers.

Some details of Kaiser's new activities were disclosed following a recent visit to the White House. Twelve shipways at Vancouver, Wash., he said, are being used for the construction of medium size airplane carriers. The rate of production is expected to reach six a month by the end of 1943.

The Kaiser carriers will be 487 feet long at the water line, with flight decks of 514 feet. They can be used either as carriers or as aircraft transports. Standard carriers are 761 feet long.

'FREEZE': 200,000 Vehicles

As the nation's transportation situation grew more critical because of heavier loads and lack of new equipment, ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman moved to prevent the "migration" of vehicles from one area to another by freezing nearly 200,000 buses and street cars in their present service.

Mr. Eastman's order applied to every vehicle carrying nine or more persons in passenger transportation in the United States, its territories and possessions.

Included in new regulations were: 93,000 school buses; 20,000 inter-city buses; 44,000 city buses; 10,000 rapid transit, elevated and subway cars; 3,000 suburban rail cars; and 3,500 trackless trolley vehicles.

At the same time, in line with the government's plans to keep the nation's automobiles rolling, OPA officials announced that additional pre-Pearl Harbor and "Victory" tires would be available to certain lower mileage ration passenger car owners.

RUSSIA: See-Saw Offensives

The see-saw character of the warfare on the Russian front had continued with Soviet offensives pushing on without interruption toward the goals of Smolensk and Staraya Russa, while German counter-offensives were striking with increasing power in the Kharkov sector.

The main force of the Russian drive toward Smolensk had been concentrated on a stretch of the Vyazma-Smolensk railroad. The Reds were reported as having captured scores of settlements south of Bely. Much of the fighting was reported west of the Dnieper river headwaters.

The German offensive further south had ranged from Kharkov to Kursk, with epic tank battles and a struggle for supremacy in the air. A German communique had reported that "Enemy forces encircled southeast of Kharkov have been annihilated with the exception of small remnants." Far northwest of Kharkov and on a battle line extending down into the Donets river basin, the Germans were reported concentrating their reserves and tanks on narrow sectors still held by the Russians.

UNITY: For French Factions

Three months of unpublicized preparation had been necessary for the action that was to culminate in a meeting between Gen. Henri Giraud and Gen. Charles DeGaulle and bridge once and for all the chasm that had separated the French North African regime and the Fighting French.

When Gen. Giraud had announced that everything reminiscent of Vichy rule was to be thrown overboard and then had followed with decisive decrees translating words into action, the day of French unity dawned.

Happily received by the DeGaulleists, were Giraud's decrees nullifying all Vichy laws discriminating against Jews, restricting the activities of labor unions and banning Freemasonry.

Even before the Giraud decrees and the resignation from his government of ex-Vichy officials, Fighting French leaders meeting in London rejoiced that events in North Africa had taken a more favorable turn and that Giraud's invitation to DeGaulle for a conference would meet a friendly reception.

Further evidence of the increasing unity of French interests was the action of French Guiana's government in breaking away from Vichy control and joining forces with General Giraud. This South American possession had previously been under control of Axis-minded Adm. Georges Robert, high commissioner at Martinique.

POLITICS: Banned for OWI

Accused by administration critics of propaganda boosting President Roosevelt for a fourth term, personnel of the Office of War Information were cautioned by Director Elmer Davis to refrain from partisan political activity.

ELMER DAVIS

Conceding that the OWI had indulged in propaganda on behalf of the administration in an article in the bureau's overseas magazine, "Victory," Davis denied that there was any other evidence to support the charges.

"Our sole function is to contribute to winning the war," Davis pointed out in a memorandum to OWI's 3,000 employees. "We must take care that the utility of this office is not impaired by any action of ours, whatever injury to it may be attempted by others."

SOUTH PACIFIC: Japs Show Concern

Even as Premier Hideki Tojo was warning the Japs that "the war situation is becoming more serious," Secretary of Navy Frank Knox declared that Japan has lost 1,857,000 tons of shipping, or one-third of her tonnage at the beginning of the war. "The journey to victory is just beginning," Knox, however cautioned.

While Japan was thus exhibiting signs of concern over the war's trend, American warplanes continued to blast at the westward movement of enemy troops and supplies to the islands above Australia, attacking Jap coastal vessels off western Dutch New Guinea.

Further to the south and east, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's air forces kept up a steady pounding on the big Japanese base at Rabaul in New Britain. Other United Nations airmen attacked enemy outposts in the Kai islands between Australia and New Guinea.

DETROIT: New tires using steel instead of fabric cord at an estimated saving of 15 per cent in rubber were examined by Rubber Director William M. Jeffers on a tour of a tire factory here. Dr. Sidney M. Caldwell, scientist of the firm, said only two plies of steel were necessary, compared with 10 of cotton or nylon, making possible a thin casing and minimum friction.

LONDON: More than 30,000 Germans were among the approximately 75,000 Axis casualties in the battle beginning at El Alamein, Egypt, on October 23 and lasting until November 5. There were likewise 7,200 German prisoners, according to a statement issued by War Secretary James Grigg. Grigg said British casualties in the battle were 13,600, or 18 per cent of Axis losses.

Milk Production

In the spring the farmer's fancy
turns more seriously to thoughts of quality milk production. Because of changeable weather conditions, the
quality-minded farmer is eager to see
results of the sediment and methylene
blue tests made at the factories to
which their milk is delivered, according to A. T. Bruhn, acting chief of the dairy division, state department of agriculture.
Under the quality improvement program, plants have agreed to make the
tests at least twice a month and report
results to their patrons. They find that this procedure meets with favor with
farmers, especially under changeable
weather conditions, and that the tests
serve as a reliable guide to quality in buying milk. Plants that make these tests and reject all milk falling below
the accepted standard have little difficulty meeting the demand for high
quality dairy products.
After a farmer has used reasonable
care to produce good milk he is entitled to the best available prices for
the product made from his milk. For this reason he will resent the addition
of any poor quality milk to the
same vat in which his good milk is
held because even a small amount of
poor milk may result in lowering the
quality of all the finished products
made from that milk and make it impossible to demand top prices on the
dairy market.
The careful producer will object to
any carelessness on the part of the
plant operator or maker which will result in contamination of his milk after
it reaches the plant. A quality program on any farm will be of little value unless it is supported by quality
work at the dairy plant and at all other
farms delivering to the same factory.

Milk Production

In the spring the farmer's fancy
turns more seriously to thoughts of
quality milk production. Because of
changeable weather conditions, the
quality-minded farmer is eager to see
results of the sediment and methylene
blue tests made at the factories to
which their milk is delivered, according to A. T. Bruhn, acting chief of the dairy division, state department of agriculture.
Under the quality improvement program, plants have agreed to make the
tests at least twice a month and report
results to their patrons. They find that
this procedure meets with favor with
farmers, especially under changeable
weather conditions, and that the tests
serve as a reliable guide to quality in
buying milk. Plants that make these
tests and reject all milk falling below
the accepted standard have little difficulty meeting the demand for high
quality dairy products.
After a farmer has used reasonable
care to produce good milk he is entitled to the best available prices for
the product made from his milk. For
this reason he will resent the addition
of any poor quality milk to the
same vat in which his good milk is
held because even a small amount of
poor milk may result in lowering the
quality of all the finished products
made from that milk and make it impossible to demand top prices on the
dairy market.
The careful producer will object to
any carelessness on the part of the
plant operator or maker which will result in contamination of his milk after
it reaches the plant. A quality program on any farm will be of little value unless it is supported by quality
work at the dairy plant and at all other
farms delivering to the same factory.

Cucumbers for Pickles

Cucumbers for pickles are not to be restricted in the program which make food a munition of war, according to an announcement by Mr. F. Olney Brown, of Chicago, president of the National Pickle Packers Association.
Growers and packers of cucumber pickles were alarmed when the United States Department of Agriculture sent out a press notice which included cucumbers as being in the non-essential food list, said Mr. Brown. The alarm was needless and not well founded, as the news released in Washington applied only to cucumbers for market and early spring crops, particularly in the Southern states.

Pickles may be packed in 1943 to 100% of 1942 under the Closure M-104
and tin is to be allocated for export of Government purchases as at present, said Mr. Brown. The armed forces are continuing to take a large percentage of the 1942 pack, and want still larger quantities in 1943. Pickles form a prominent part of the diet for armed forces. We have a job to do in producing all the pickles for 1943 that can possibly be turned out, both for contribution to the armed forces and for food for civilian trade.

Reports have been received by the National Pickle Packers Association
that in many instances county agents of the U. S. D. A. have discouraged farmers from contracting for pickles, basing their action on the departments press release of last October, and incorrectly assumed that the release referred to and including pickling cucumbers as well as cucumbers for the fresh market. We urge all members who run into this trouble, said Mr.
Brown, to instruct their field men to contact such agents and point out that no such official authority has been received by them from the Washington office of the A.A.A. for curtailment of the pickle crop, and to urge farmers to continue to grow pickles, as the crop is essential for use of the armed forces.
