LIST OF DONORS TO THE SOLDIERS' KIT COMMITTEE

We are presenting a list of 219 donors who have contributed $2,060.88 to the Public Morale Soldiers' Kit Committee during the past year. It consists of 117 different organizations; 45 individuals from Induction Area No. 1, which includes the south one-half of Waukesha County. Some organizations have contributed four and five times during the year. The contributions have been from $1 to well over $100 from several of the local service clubs. This last one does not include the names of many persons who contributed through a bake sale recently held.

During the same period the organization has disbursed $1799.91; leaving a balance on hand on January 1, 1943 of $360.97. Not one cent has been paid for services and practically all large firms have supplied merchandise at invoice cost.

During this time there has been distributed to men in service approximately 105 kits and an additional 250 stationery kits mailed to men in all parts of the world. About 765 kits were given to boys who were inducted and the balance were enlisted boys.

The committee has welcomed the boys as they have been called for induction in the past 12 months, and coffee, rolls, and donuts have been served since April to an estimated 1,000. The committee has mailed hundreds of birthday cards and promotion cards wherever names and addresses were available. Interested citizens in Mukwonago, Eagle, Dousman, North Prairie, and Genesee Depot are assisting in a fine way.

NEWSPRINT CUT COMING

Readers may find it hard to get a copy of their favorite newspaper after April 1, when the second 10 percent cut in newsprint paper is likely to be effective. WPB's Printing and Publishing Division believes the supply of newsprint, if equitably distributed, prevent undue hardship on any publication. A newspapers essential service in wartime is important and it is hoped will not be materially lessened by this necessary reduction in materials.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Tea for You, With Delicious Cranberry Pastries! (See Recipes Below)

... And Cookies, Too!

You may not serve tea, and you may not even have coffee, but you still like that pause in the afternoon with a few good friends, to mull over the happenings of the day, to get philosophical over the events that touch all of us. But have that pause whenever possible, even if you have just fruit juice and a few cookies or cakes. It's as important as the bigger things you do.

Have a hot or cold drink as the climate dictates, flavor them with honey if the sugar supply is low. Some supplies of tea are still obtainable for the hot or iced beverage, if you use the coffee ration at breakfast.

Chocolate and cocoa are obtainable now and then and make excellent hot beverages. Made with milk, they're nourishing, too. And if you make them with canned milk they're delightful. Somehow, the canned milks have an affinity with chocolate beverages.

Fruit juices have been a summer standby, but you should discover their winter uses, too! Hot lemonade is delightful as are combinations of lemon, orange, grapefruit and pineapple juice.

Those of you who like spending cold afternoons in front of the open fire will enjoy a small glass of a cool drink with a few tasty cookies. For this purpose, try mixing equal quantities of cranberry and orange juice or apricot and pineapple juice served in pretty glasses with cookies.

Small cakes and cookies are an attractive accompaniment with refreshing drinks. Our first one today is a sugar-saver, butter-saver, quickly and easily made:

- Cranberry Fingers.
(Makes 24 fingers)
- 4 tablespoons butter or substitute
  - 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 3 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 egg
  - Milk
  - 1 1-pound can jellied cranberry sauce

Grated rind of 1/2 orange

Work shortening and sugar into flour, and mix to a light dough with beaten egg and milk, using only enough milk to moisten. The mixture should be dry rather than wet. Divide into two portions. Roll one portion to an eighth of an inch thickness, place on a greased cookie sheet, and spread with crushed cranberry juice. Sprinkle with grated orange rind. Wet edges and cover with remaining dough, rolled to fit, pressing edges firmly together. Brush with milk, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderately hot (375-degree) oven about 30 minutes. When cool, cut into finger strip size for serving.

Oranges enter the picture again, this time combined with maple syrup to make a drop cookie:

- Orange Drop Cookies.
(Makes 60 cookies)
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
  - 1/4 cup butter or substitute
  - 1 cup maple syrup
  - 2 eggs, beaten
  - 2 cups sifted flour
  - 3 teaspoons baking powder
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream together orange rind, shortening, maple syrup. Add beaten eggs, then flour sifted together with baking powder and salt. Drop the batter by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot (375-400-degree) oven and bake about 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Molasses 'n apple butter were favorite ingredients of cookies in grandmother's time, and now they come in for a grand encore:

- Old-Fashioned Molasses Cookies.
- 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 2 teaspoons baking soda
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon ginger
  - 3/4 cup butter or substitute
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1 egg
  - 1/4 cup apple butter
  - 1 cup molasses

Sift together dry ingredients. Cream together butter and sugar, add egg and beat together until light and fluffy. Add apple butter and molasses and blend together thoroughly, then mix in sifted dry ingredients. Chill for 2 hours or more.

Roll as thinly as possible and cut into large cookies. Place on a lightly greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 10 minutes. These cookies are crisp when baked, get soft if stored in tin for a day or so.

Honey and sour cream are an unbeatable combination in a cupcake, and here they are lined up with spices for an extra deliciousness:

- Honey Spice Cupcakes.
- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
  - 1 cup brown sugar
  - 1 cup honey
  - 3 egg yolks
  - 2 cups flour
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 2 teaspoons ground cloves
  - 2 teaspoons allspice
  - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1 cup thick, sour cream
  - 3 egg whites

Cream butter, add sugar and honey, creaming well. Add egg yolks, one at a time and beat well. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with sour cream, beating after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes or in two greased cake tins.

Your icing for the cupcakes should be a halo of white swirls of honey icing which will not crack—and can be whipped up in a hurry:

- Royal Honey Icing.
- 1 egg white, stiffly beaten
  - 1/2 cup honey
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

To the stiffly beaten egg white, add honey slowly, beating continually until icing will stand in peaks. Fold in flavoring.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

You may not be able to replace worn or broken household equipment. This is war. Government priorities come first. So take care of what you have... as well as you possibly can. This column by the homeowner's friend tells you how.

UNWELCOME RADIO PROGRAMS

Question: Please answer this, as I am almost insane. Two years ago I had my house shingled and the chimney cleaned out. Since that time the radio seems to come down the chimney from all surrounding houses. It keeps me awake until one and two in the night, and I can't find any way to stop it. I am too busy to sleep days, and no one seems to know any way to stop it without injury to the furnace or fireplace. I dread the night, and I cannot stand it much longer.

Answer: That is one of the freak phenomena that occur sometimes when a house is located near a high-powered radio station. By listening to the announcements, you can identify easily the station from which the programs are being sent. When you have done that, telephone or write to the station and request that the engineering staff send you a technical expert to come and correct the condition and let you have some peace.

Plaster Cracks

Question: My new home, completed last November, is developing many fine cracks in the plaster. They appear over doors and windows and alongside the archways. What is the reason? Can this condition be corrected when the walls are painted? Or will the cracks return after a short time?

Answer: The cracking may be caused by the settlement of the house, which may continue for several months. When the cracking has ceased, fill the cracks with a prepared patching plaster, being sure to follow directions on the container. If cracks develop again in the same places, they may indicate structural weakness at these points. To correct such a condition you should engage a good builder. He can strengthen the weak areas in the framing around the openings.

Refinishing Mahogany

Question: I want to refinish old mahogany and would like to fill the pores and achieve a moistureproof, heatproof and alcohol-proof finish that is dull. What should I use?

Answer: Remove the finish down to the wood, then clean it and smooth the surface, if necessary. Apply liberally a mahogany-colored paste wood filler, thinned with turpentine to the consistency of thick paint. After 15 minutes or so, wipe off the filler across the grain with burlap or coarse cloth. When the surface is hard and dry, smooth it by rubbing lightly with number 000 sandpaper. Wipe off the dust and finish with three coats of a quick-drying, dull or rubbed-effect varnish.

Oil-Burning Boiler

Question: Would you advise me to install a coal furnace and water-heating stove for a four-family house and to shut off the oil-burning boiler because of the oil shortage? Can one have both? Who can advise me on the change?

Answer: Before installing a coal furnace you should investigate the possibility of converting your present boiler to coal. Call in your local plumbing or heating contractor, or ask a coal dealer to recommend a contractor. The Anthracite Industries, Inc., Chrysler Building, New York, sends out important information regarding conversion from oil to anthracite.

Casein Paint

Question: I would like to know if it is all right to use casein paint on a gilded radiator? I want it to blend in with the color on the wall. Also, could you paint a fireplace of wood with it? Can it be washed?

Answer: Casein paint is intended for masonry, not for radiators or wood. When applied to masonry, it can be washed after it has dried. You can get a special paint for radiators in various colors. This is an oil paint, and your radiator will give off more heat with oil paint than with metallic paint. Your fireplace also can be painted with oil paint.

Removing Paint

Question: How can I remove paint from the spirals of a maple bed? Liquid removers run off or dry.

Answer: Some paint dealers sell prepared paint remover in paste form. If they cannot supply it, make a paste of powdered whiting or fuller's earth, and a solution of trisodium phosphate, a cupful to a quart of water. Apply a thick layer of this mixture and keep moist until the paint has softened. Remove the paste; if any paint remains, take it off by rubbing with fine steel wool. Rinse with clear water and allow the wood to dry.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Price Rule Planned to Prevent Inflation

Control of Wages, Costs, Prices Will Close Gap Between Bigger Income and Much Less Goods

TAXES AND BONDS TO ABSORB PART OF IDLE PURCHASING POWER

"Step right over this way, ladies and gentlemen," barks the Farm Sale Auctioneer, "and we'll sell 25 head of the best cattle in Brown county." Over to the feed lot moves the milling crowd of people who have come to the farm auction. The bidding starts: "What am I offered for this prize-winning Guernsey cow? $25? Do I hear thirty? Thirty-five? I have thirty-five. Who'll make it forty-five? Now who'll make it fifty-five . . ." And so it goes. Maybe the cow sells for $55 and maybe she sells for $100. It all depends on how much money the bidders have, how many cows there are for sale, and how badly anyone wants a cow.

If you have ever attended a farm auction sale, you can understand why the greatest need of today is for economic stabilization. For the principles which govern a farm auction sale are not much different from those that govern the buying and selling of all commodities.

Suppose that John Brown, who has a small farm at the edge of town, has recently got a job in a defense factory. His wages, added to his ordinary farm income, give him more money than he has had for many years. With that money Brown intends to get himself more good livestock and he goes to the farm auction to buy some cows. He can bid more for cows these days than formerly and he raises the bid beyond the true value of the animal. Other farmers will either have to exceed his price or go without cows.

Buying Urge Stimulated.
Now, suppose that thousands of John Browns get well-paying jobs with wages higher than they have ever drawn before. They don't all live on farms. Many of them live in towns, small cities, big cities. And they want to buy many things besides livestock. They want to buy foods of all kinds, clothing, furniture, jewelry, luxuries of all kinds. With their newly acquired wealth they will pay fancy prices for anything they want, even though they may not need it at the time.

And then, just remember that while all these people are wanting to buy things, the factories of the United States are forced to devote most of their facilities to making guns, and tanks, and bombs, and planes. Other things must wait. Clothing, furniture, household goods, become scarcer and scarcer. Prices skyrocket. Wages can't keep up. And right there you have inflation.

Inflation Dizzy Spiral.
Inflation is a dizzy spiral that goes ever higher and higher unless something is done to slow it down. The opposite of inflation is economic stabilization—which means that your dollar will buy about as much of any commodity tomorrow as it does today, as much next week as it does tomorrow. Everybody acknowledges the value of economic stabilization. To get it, the government is doing its best to apply the brakes to this devastating inflation spiral.

These brakes are seven—seven controls on income and expenses.

1. Heavy taxation to pay war

- costs and reduce spending by every person.
- 2. Price ceilings for food, goods and rents.
- 3. Stabilization of wages and salaries.
- 4. Stabilization of agricultural prices.
- 5. Increased savings through buying of war bonds.
- 6. Rationing of scarce goods to insure fair distribution.
- 7. Discouragement of the use of credit or installment buying and the encouragement of the payment of debt.

Why Control Is Needed.

First, let's see why control of wages is necessary. If history teaches us anything, it is that wages never can keep up with

JAMES F. BYRNES
Price Czar

In the hands of James F. Byrnes, former Supreme court justice, has been entrusted the job of stabilizing the nation's economy so as to prevent a runaway in wages and prices which would lead to the disaster of inflation.

prices. As a worker finds he has to pay more money for food, clothing, shelter and the other necessities of life, he insists on getting more money for his work. His employer has to raise his wages, because other employers are needing men and they, too, are paying more. Farmers lose workers to factories and to the armed services, and they also offer high wages. Some farmers, attracted by the high wages in factories, leave their farms. Thus it goes—higher prices, higher wages to pay those prices, then still higher prices, still higher wages, and so on in a never-ending inflationary hurricane. That's why wages must be controlled.

The present law says that wages cannot be raised without authority to do so. That doesn't mean that a man who does more work tomorrow than he did today won't get paid for it. He will. If he is capable of doing a more highly skilled job tomorrow he will also get more wages than he did today. If, under a merit system, he earns a raise,

Farmers Pool Resources to Maintain Production
The tremendous increase in industrial activity in the big cities has caused a corresponding rise in wages and attracted a large portion of the farmers' working force. To hold on to his help and to meet the record demands of the government for food, the farmer has been compelled to raise wages. Rise in wages usually is followed by higher prices and demands for still larger wages. Unless the trend is checked, a disastrous inflationary spiral sets in. Price stabilization is intended to control both wages and prices and prevent the two from getting out of hand. Because of the shift of labor from the farm to the factory and the demands of the armed services, many agricultural communities will be compelled to pool their working forces to keep up, let alone increase, their production.

Nation Will Have Textiles for Its Needs

Enough textile to take care of the nation's needs will be available this year although a 10 per cent drop in production may occur, the Textile, Clothing and Leather division of the WPB has reported.

Conservation measures already in force should supply the increased military and foreign requirements, the division said. Last year, these sources took almost one-third of the record production of 13,500,000,000 linear yards.

he will get it. If he works for an employer with fewer than eight employees, he can get an earned raise. But, by and large, raises in pay for doing the same job with the same skills and the same output will not be allowed.

Salaries Limited. No man may draw more than $25,000 a year, after deducting federal taxes, a measure designed to prevent anybody from profiteering on the war. You see, even the boss cannot raise his own salary when he wants to. So much for wages. They had to be stabilized to stabilize prices.

Then consider the necessity for price stabilization.

It would be unfair to workers to fix their wages if prices were not also regulated. Accordingly, the government began taking price stabilization measures as far back as May, 1940. At present around 90 per cent of the things people have to buy are under some form of price control. Obviously, there may have been some temporary injustices done to producers, manufacturers, and distributors of goods by the price control regulations. For that reason, there will undoubtedly have to be adjustments in some prices from time to time. But—in the long run—prices will be maintained at a reasonable level where every man, woman and child in the country will be able to get all that is needed.

Why all the other curbs on inflation?

More Money, Less Goods.
This year the total earnings of all the people engaged in war and civilian production will be about 130 billion. That much money will be available to pay taxes, to spend, and to save.

But we cannot possibly produce at present price levels 130 billion dollars worth of food, clothing, furniture, household utensils. As a result the rest of the money will not be able to buy any consumer goods. Federal and state taxes will take another 15 billion. The people will save possibly as much as 30 billion, including war bond purchases. But that still leaves about 85 billion dollars to bid for the purchase of not more than 77 billion dollars worth of things, at current prices that consumers want. If price controls fail to hold, people will resort to bidding against each other for the available goods on the market. If that happens, there will be "black markets," places where unscrupulous persons sell goods at exorbitant prices regardless of the laws.

Equal Distribution.

Rationing provides assurance that everybody will get his fair share of the goods that are earned by such programs. Otherwise, the person with the most money would tend to bid up the price and to secure an unfair share of the available supply. No one would deny that this must not be allowed to happen.

The success of this anti-inflationary movement rests jointly on the government, the law-enforcing bodies, and in the greatest measure, upon the general public. Unless the people in general realize that these brakes on inflation are their only guarantee of stabilizing the cost of living, it will be impossible to enforce them.

Through 1943, and as long as the war lasts, every man, woman, and child in America must try his level best to prevent the cost of living from rising. We can do it if we try. We can refrain from trying to "beat the ration" on scarce goods. We can get along with reasonable stocks of all goods. We can aid in salvaging everything that will contribute toward the winning of the war—rubber, metals, grease, paper, and other materials as they are needed. We can also save every penny and every dollar that we do not need for decent living and put it into war bonds immediately. And last, but not least, we can do without many things if we have to.

Last Report

Fulfillment of his duties as price administrator was claimed by Leon Henderson in a report to congress which marked his retirement from the office.

"I was directed to stabilize prices. That directive was obeyed," the report said.

"I was directed to establish prices alike to buyer and seller. That directive was obeyed.

"I was directed to stabilize rents. Rents have been reduced and stabilized.

"I was directed to distribute scarce goods on a basis of fairness to all. That directive, too, was obeyed."

Henderson's review of these directives and their execution no doubt was aimed at criticism of his activities as the OPA head. It was his task to impose regulation heretofore foreign to America.

Mr. Henderson warned that the "honeymoon" period of business expansion which has lifted profits far above normal peacetime levels has come to an end and that ahead lie increasing difficulties. Costs are increasing month by month with pressure on price ceilings.

While the extremely favorable profit position has provided industry with an ample cushion to absorb these pressures within the framework of stable prices, according to Mr. Henderson, "For the future, economic stabilization requires a more rigorous policy."

IF THERE is one piece of furniture for which our own period will be famous it is the low coffee table. Our own generation has discovered that low tables are not only convenient but give a greater feeling of space in a room than high ones.

Here is a little coffee table that is as modern as tomorrow. You can make it yourself from a three by four foot piece of half inch plywood with straight cuts of the saw. It requires not one scrap of hardware. Just cut the three sections according to the dimensions given here; place the slot of the narrow piece of the base through the slot in the wide piece; put the

Crop of the Sea

Submarine gardens on the Pacific coast which thrilled visitors in glass-bottom boats in peacetime are now being visited by men in diving helmets, picking clumps of sea fern from the lush underwater growths. This is agar sea fern, one of the very essential products that Uncle Sam wants these war days.

Agar-agar, the gelatin made from the fern, gives smoothness to ice cream and contains cheeses. More important, it's the one essential gelatin for which no substitute has been found, in making laboratory tests of drinking water, milk, and food to safeguard American civil and military health.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS

Manufacturers and merchants sense the power of the press. Early they began using it to carry their advertising facts and ideas into homes. And they found it a most profitable way in which to tell their story to buyers. And the buyers in turn found it profitable to deal with those who were willing to state in print the values and services they offered.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The importance of group riding as a rubber conservation practice has been demonstrated in Pontiac, Mich., where today 20,000 workers roll to war plants in 4,000 cars instead of the 15,000 cars they used daily earlier this year.

2,300 cities and towns with a total population of 12½ millions depend entirely upon automobiles for passenger transportation.

In 1896 The B. F. Goodrich Co. made the first fabric clincher type automobile tire in the 36 x 4 size.

A ton of rubber a year is the collection of the average Brazilian wild rubber gatherer. This explains why men power is the crux of the South American natural rubber problem.

Dairy Sanitation

Occasional warm days heralding the approach of spring will cause many problems in the dairy industry during the next few weeks unless farmers handle milk very carefully, according to A. T. Bruhn, senior dairy inspector for the state department of agriculture.

Cows will be wading in muddy barnyards and will require extra care to keep their udders and flanks clean. Daily cleaning of the barn will become a necessity.

While the main highways of Wisconsin are usually in good condition, many of the roads leading from them to the farms are almost impassable during the early months of the year, causing delays in milk deliveries. If the milk arrives at the plant very late it is usually held over until the following day for processing.

In some communities deliveries are made every other day. Unless such milk is produced under extremely sanitary conditions, is properly cooled, and is protected during transit from the farm, it will be difficult for the plant operator to manufacture a high quality finished product, Bruhn declares. The milk must also be kept clean and cool at the plant until it is ready for processing.

On the farm, good milk can be produced with little difficulty if a few simple rules are followed. Milk utensils will need to be washed carefully, placed on a rack in a clean, odorless storage room, and sterilized just before milking time with a chlorine solution. The careful dairymen will then dampen a cloth in the remaining solution and wipe the cows' udders and flanks after they have been cleaned. Cows will be fed after milking so the dust will have time to settle. They will be milked in a clean, well-ventilated barn. Freshly drawn milk will be removed from the barn immediately, and cooled quickly in a tank of fresh cold water, preferably in a milk house and kept cool until the hauler delivers it to the plant.

A Week of the War

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17, 1943 — The battle for Guadalcanal, which ended at sundown Wednesday, February 10, represents a complete American victory. Just six months after the Marines' initial invasion of the Island American forces surrounded the last remaining Japanese, captured large amounts of armaments and equipment and took unchallenged control of the entire Island. The conclusion of the fighting was announced by Maj. Gen. Alexander Patch, Commander of American forces in the Solomons.

The strategy which forced Japanese capitulation was described by Secretary of War Stimson. A flanking movement was carried out at sea with naval support, and U. S. Army forces were landed at the northwest tip of the island. After this landing, accomplished about February 4-5, the Japanese were pinned on a 15-mile strip of beach near Cape Esperance. The American forces which landed west of the Japanese, and other American troops approaching overland from the east, joined on February 9 at Cape Esperance after overcoming the Japanese forces.

The value of this victory was outlined recently by Secretary of the Navy Knox. Complete American domination of Guadalcanal, said Mr. Knox, has both negative and positive value. It brings U. S. forces within striking distance of some of Japan's most important bases, and it denies to the Japanese the opportunity to raid U. S. communications in the area.

But Guadalcanal is not the only victory the United States has won in the South Pacific. A little better than two weeks ago, Gen. MacArthur announced the crushing of the last organized enemy resistance in Pagan New Guinea and Papua became the first complete geographical unit to be won back from the Japs. Since that time, U. S. forces have been moving north along the north-eastern coast to New Guinea, preparing for the next step in the campaign—the battle of the Huon Gulf. On Thursday, February 11, a communiqué from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported that allied troops, charging under cover of a heavy artillery barrage, hurled the main Japanese force six miles back in the Wau region of the northeastern New Guinea front, inflicting one of the severest setbacks the Japs have since they moved against Wau airbase from Mubo, approximately 23 miles to the northeast.

Air warfare continues in the Pacific with U. S. Army and Navy planes attacking Munda on New Georgia Island, Celebes in the Dutch East Indies, Kolombangara Island in the New Guinea group, and Kiska in the Aleutians. A new Dutch squadron is now operating with Gen. MacArthur's air forces, and last week this squadron was part of a formation that sank or damaged six Japanese ships and shot down five or six intercepting planes, in a series of shattering attacks on an 1,800 mile front covering the entire Australian zone. Several of these raids were aimed at Dubo, Japanese-held port in the Aroe Islands between New Guinea and Australia, and the third raid virtually wiped out this strategic port.

EISENHOWER IN COMMAND
 Consolidating allied forces on the North African front, Lt. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was made a full general and formally assumed his new post as Commanding General of the African theater. About 400,000 passenger car tires were saved by tire inspections during the first two months. These tires required immediate repairs and would have been beyond repair for future use if they had not been taken out of service.

Dust accumulation of several months on electric light fixtures can absorb as much as 50 per cent of the available light.
