SNAPPY FACTS
ABOUT

Chewing gum and rubber tires have something in common. They both are the products of latex-bearing trees. The chicle latex, from which chewing gum is made, has a high resin and low rubber content. Rubber latex has the reverse characteristics. Chicle and Castilla rubber trees are found in much the same areas in Central America.

Synthetic rubber factories that have been under tests by E. F. Goodrich engineers for close to a year. When synthetic rubber becomes available in sufficient quantities, farmers may expect such tires on their tractors.

A Russian rubber-bearing plant is now being successfully grown in the United States. Its value in the American rubber program, however, is still undetermined.

Tire recycling has proved its worth. It is now being done before the tread rubber of the tire is completely worn.

Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating—and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter acids/uric acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pain, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

American arms, ammunition and equipment were a potent factor in stepping up the fighting strength of French armies aiding the Allied cause in the Tunisian campaign. Above, Gen. Henri Giraud (center), French high commissioner of North Africa, is seen inspecting U. S. war equipment sent for French army use.

VENGEANCE:

For Jap Executions

Stern punishment for the Jap military leaders responsible for the execution of American fliers captured after last year's raid on Tokyo was promised by President Roosevelt, who said the United States would "hold personally and officially responsible" all those who participated in these crimes and bring them to justice.

That the Japs' barbarity was a confession of their vulnerability to air attack was clear. This was underscored by Tokyo broadcasts threatening to execute American fliers captured on future raids over Japan.

The reply to such threats was given by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the air forces, who told his fliers:

"Let your answer to their treatment of your comrades be the destruction of the Japanese air force, their lines of communication, and the production centers which offer them the opportunity to continue such atrocities."

To this Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the Tokyo raid a year ago added: "Soon our bombers will be there again, striking at the heart of Japan until the empire crumbles and they beg for mercy."

RUBBER:

Showdown on Oil Use

Rubber continued to be a controversial subject as William M. Jeffers, rubber director, came to grips with Robert P. Patterson, under-secretary of war, and Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator, in a dispute over the use of gasoline in the synthetic production program.

Patterson, supported by Ickes, charged in a statement that Jeffers was weakening American air strength against the Axis by reducing combat supplies of high octane gas for the benefit of the civilian synthetic rubber manufacturing schedule.

Still at odds with Elmer Davis, OWI director, over publicity releases on the rubber program, Jeffers briskly took on his two new opponents declaring that their charges called for investigation to bring out the true facts to the public.

PACIFIC:

U. S. Fliers Busy

From the Aleutians to New Guinea, American airmen continued their assaults on Jap airfields, shipping and ground installations.

Liberators, Mitchells, Lightnings and Warhawks made 15 raids on the enemy at Kiska, carrying the total of forays on this menacing Jap installation to more than 100 in the course of a single month.

In the Solomons, Yankee fliers battered Jap positions in four air raids, attacking Toneri harbor and Kieta and smashing at Kahili and Munda.

From Australia, Allied aircraft made 10 forays in a single day, destroying enemy planes and strafing Jap base installations and occupied villages. Rabaul and Ubili, New Britain, the Sador area of New Guinea and Laga on Timor island were the principal targets.

TUNISIA:

Nazis Counter-Attack

Fighting stubbornly to delay the inevitable day of reckoning, Axis troops sought desperately to prevent the Allied armies from further narrowing their last hold in Tunisia.

On both the north and south fronts, German counter-attacks were followed by successful Allied thrusts that wrested mountainous terrain from the enemy and forced the Axis armies nearer to their last-stand positions.

In the north, the British First army pushed southeast after repelling major enemy assaults in the Medjez-el-Bab sector, destroying more than one-third of the Nazi tanks opposing them.

In the north, General Montgomery's British Eighth army made important gains in the strategic hill country north and west of Enfidaville which brought it closer to Tunis.

Meanwhile, bombers of the Allied tactical air force kept up constant attacks against the few remaining Axis-held airfields.

RUSSIA:

Caucasus Front Active

Continuing to employ "strive at any cost" tactics, German armies in the Caucasus kept up full-scale attacks against the Russians in the Kuban delta despite heavy losses and lack of success in the early stages.

Two objectives were included in the Nazi plans, military observers believed. One was to relieve Soviet pressure on the enemy's bridgehead at Novorossisk. The other was to build up the momentum of a drive that might be the prelude to a new Axis spring offensive.

As the fighting increased in intensity, the activity of the opposing air forces was stepped up. German communiques reported that the Luftwaffe was strafing Red supply bases on the Black sea coast. Soviet communiques revealed that while Red airmen had broken up one enemy effort to ferry reinforcements across the Black sea to Novorossisk, the Germans had succeeded later in providing substantial reinforcements for their army in the Caucasus bridgehead.

POSTWAR FINANCE:

Congress Holds Reins

Voting to extend for two years the President's authority over the $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund, the house adopted an amendment designed to prevent the use of this money in the $5,000,000,000 international banking fund proposed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau for a postwar world bank.

The senate had previously withdrawn the President's power to devalue the dollar while approving continuance of his power of the stabilization fund.

In effect, the house amendment introduced by Representative Reed of Illinois gave congress control over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and the proposed postwar banking fund. House leaders indicated that congress would provide funds for the latter, in the event it was set up.

U-BOAT DAMAGE:

More Ships the Remedy

Calling submarine losses of United Nations' shipping "heavy but not disastrous," the Truman senate committee revealed that approximately 1,000,000 tons a month were sunk last year—or more than the total tonnage built by the United States and Britain combined in 1942.

Adding that losses were reduced in the latter months of the year, the report declared: "The submarine menace can and will be effectively met."

Most effective answer to the U-boat threat will be increases in new construction of merchant ships and escort vessels this year, the committee said. The report estimated that between 18 and 19 million deadweight tons will be built in 1943, compared with 8,000,000 tons last year.

Increased speed for newly constructed ships was promised through the building of new Victory models and the redesigning of Liberty ships to permit speeds of 15 to 17 knots compared with 11 knots for the present design.

VACATIONS:

Public Must Co-operate

Summer vacations by train for Americans remained a probability in spite of a ruling by the Office of Defense Transportation that no additional summer train service requiring the use of Pullman sleeping car equipment would be authorized. Rail officials expressed the belief that regular services would be sufficient to accommodate vacationists if the public is willing to accept inconveniences and co-operate by spreading travel throughout the week.

Only exception to the curtailment policy, the ODT stated, will be "coach trains operated in the period between Saturday noon and Sunday midnight utilizing primarily commuter equipment otherwise idle in that period and additional trains of semi-commuter type operated on other days of the week within a radius of approximately 50 miles of a terminus."

All other requests for extra coach or parlor-car train service for daily, tri-weekly or week-end summer operations will be denied, the ODT indicated.

DRAFT:

Payrollers on Call

Probability that many of the 840,000 draft-eligible men on government payrolls would be inducted into the armed forces was seen in the selective service's ruling that federal workers could not be deferred for occupational reasons except through examination of individual cases by a special presidential committee.

Up to the present, thousands of government workers had been given deferred classification as essential.

Selective service announced that effective May 15, the 6,500 local boards must submit monthly to Major General Hershey, for transmission to congress, the names and numbers of federal employees classified as 2-A or 2-B, the classes of deferment for occupational reasons.

POISON GAS:

British Ready

Prime Minister Churchill had warned the Nazis several times previously that the use of poison gas on any front would result in immediate retaliation by the British. Now he cautioned the enemy again, adding ing that he had received reports that "Hitler is making preparations for using poison gas against the Russian front."

Munitions centers, seaports and other military objectives throughout the whole expanse of Germany, he said, would be the target of British gas attacks should the Nazis use this weapon against the Russians.

Increasing Allied mastery of the air plus the fact that Britain had stepped up its chemical warfare preparations in the last year lent an ominous note to the British statesman's warning.

WAR BUILDING

With the completion of the major part of the building construction necessary for full-scale armament production, a shift of men and materials from construction to other fields is now under way, the department of commerce reported.

The department estimated a decline of 32 per cent in new construction in the first quarter of 1943 compared with the last quarter of 1942. New construction amounted to $2,200,000 in the first three months of this year.

ANY pretty flowered print may be combined with the side strips of sheets that are good after the center part has worn out. A good section may be cut from the center bottom too. The diagram at the left gives all the dimensions you need for making a spread for a double bed from the good parts of three old sheets put together with six-inch strips flowered cotton material of about the same weight.

Here, the figured goods is in a pink and white pattern that is especially effective with the white muslin. It is also used to trim the curtains made from old sheets. Another interesting color note is the mats of the pink and white material used for the row of framed photographs over the bed. It also edges the full white lamp shades.

Household
Hints

A paper plate glued to the bottom of a paint can will catch all drippings from the can and serves as a rest for the paint brush besides.

Use a stiff wire brush to remove crumbs and other particles from the burners of a gas or electric stove.

Worn bath towels may be cut in squares or circles for washcloths. Either crochet an edge around them or bind with washable cotton tape.

An old pair of curling irons makes an excellent gripper to use in dyeing garments. You can grip the material firmly and swish it about in the dye bath and it will not slip off as it sometimes does when a stick or something of that sort is used.

Butter will spread more smoothly and go further if a little hot milk is creamed with it.

When washing a coat sweater or cardigan, sew up the buttonholes to prevent stretching.

Aluminum pots and pans leave their marks on the surface of sinks and enamel drainboards. Such marks can be prevented by placing a rubber mat on that part of the sink most likely to come in contact with the aluminum, or they can be removed by using a mild cleaner applied with a damp cloth.

Put Health Into Menus With Vitamins Plus

Crisp greens give you plenty of vitamin A, B and C. Assemble them in your salads and get plenty of health insurance—you don't need points to shop for these.

What's the pep appeal of your meals these days? It should be better than ever before with spring vegetables dotting the markets colorfully in greens, yellows and reds. Many vitamin and mineral laden fruits are just coming into season so you homemakers should have no trouble getting your quota of two fruits, two vegetables and a citrus fruit into your family's diets.

In winter it is sometimes extremely difficult to meet that nutrition requirement because of the scarcity of vegetables and fruits and their consequent high prices. Now, though prices are higher than last year at this time, they are abundant, and most of us can afford to spend the extra money required to buy them.

Perhaps, you have a garden this year. You're probably planning to put up most of the produce, but you always have some crops available for immediate consumption such as lettuce, tender green shoots of onions, etc. In some parts of the country it's a bit early for some of these to make their appearance, but when they do, up and at them!

Homemakers are fortunately becoming more and more conscious of the importance of fruits and vegetables in the diet, and the more so they become, the more healthy will become each generation of Americans. Even those of you who have been deficient in these foods during the growing years will get much benefit from including these foods in your diet. A heavy meal calls for the light, crisp, "just right" feeling which fruits and vegetables supply.

Remember vitamins and minerals work hand in hand to give your body health and to keep it in good workable order. Most vegetables have many of both minerals and vitamins. It is interesting to know that greens (lettuce, parsley, watercress, turnip greens, etc.) are rich not only in iron that makes for good, rich blood, but also in vitamin A which promotes good health of skin, eyes, and keeps you buoyant and full of energy. The greens get a nice big star for being rich in Vitamin C, necessary for health of teeth and bones, and for quick healing of wounds.

Don't be surprised when the greens come in for a nice share of honors for vitamin B, also. That's the vitamin necessary for normal nutrition.

Easiest way to keep most of the vitamins intact is to serve the vegetables raw—as you would in a salad. The same goes for fruits. Don't let either of them soak in water or stand uncovered in the refrigerator—the vitamins seem to evaporate quickly, especially in the case of vitamin C, so easily lost by cooking or leaving exposed to air.

Lynn Says:

Fresh as a Day in May: So will be your foods if you keep them properly refrigerated. Desserts to cool you off and keep your appetites unjaded, if they're to be frozen, belong right in the freezer. Meats and fish are safest kept right under the freezer in a meat-keeper if you have one.

Milk, cream and beverages are stood alongside the freezer unit. Custards, puddings, butter and staples fill the middle section nicely, are easy to get at.

Leftovers, foods prepared ahead, salads, some fruits and berries are well refrigerated when kept on one of the lower shelves. The humid or crisper means just that for it keeps those fresh fruits and vegetables crisp and well refrigerated.

The storage bin at the bottom of the refrigerator is usually non-refrigerated, and gives splendid storage to cereals, crackers and extra beverages.

Keeping vegetables well refrigerated insures at least a good degree of vitamin preservation. Keep them covered, too!

Arrange your crisp raw fruits and vegetables attractively. If you'd like to have some fun, really, then take out the old geometry text, and follow some patterns you find therein—they're fine inspiration for attractive appearing vegetable and fruit dishes.

Cottage Cheese-Vegetable Salad.

- (Serves 6 to 8)
- 2 cups cottage cheese
 - 1 garlic clove (optional)
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons chopped chives or green onion
 - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 - 1/4 cup chopped celery
 - Paprika
 - 2 cucumbers
 - 1 medium sized onion
 - 2 large tomatoes
 - 2 carrots
 - French dressing
 - Salad greens

Rub mixing bowl with clove of garlic. Add cottage cheese, salt, and paprika. Fold in chopped chives, pimiento, celery.

Turn into a bowl that has been rinsed with cold water. Chill in refrigerator. Unmold on center of large salad plate, surround with watercress, thin cucumber slices, onion rings, carrot flowers, tomato wedges. Serve with french dressing.

A salad bowl that's popping full of health with its tomato slices (vitamin C) lettuce (vitamins A and C), bananas (A, B, C), green peppers (A and very much C).

Here's a vegetable that makes a main dish when combined with macaroni:

Green Pepper Stuffed With Macaroni.

- (Serves 6)
- 6 green peppers
 - 1 cup cooked, elbow macaroni
 - 1/2 pound grated American cheese
 - 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 1/2 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt

Cut a slice from top of green pepper, scoop out, and cook in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Drain. Mix remaining ingredients, saving 1/2 of cheese for top. Fill peppers with mixture, stand upright in pan and sprinkle remaining cheese over top. Bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes.

Jaded appetites will respond quickly if you serve this delectable cool pudding:

*Orangeade Refrigerator Pudding.

- (Serves 9)
- 1 tablespoon gelatin
 - 1/4 cup cold water
 - 1 1/2 cups orange juice
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 2 egg whites
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 4 cups oven popped rice cereal
 - 1/2 cup melted butter
 - 1/4 cup sugar

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat orange juice, sugar and salt to boiling point. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which sugar has been added.

Crush cereal crumbs fine and mix with melted butter and sugar. Distribute evenly in bottom of a square pan and press down firmly. Pour in orange mixture. Chill in refrigerator. Cut in squares when firm, and serve with whole orange slices and whipped cream, if desired.

Cracks in Varnish

Question: Why should tiny cracks have developed on my furniture? My piano and dining-room furniture have these all over. These cannot be from low temperatures, for in cold weather I keep my heat at about 76 degrees. Also, I have pails of water on all the radiators. How can the furniture be refinished?

Answer: Cracks of that kind are very fine and usually only on the surface of the varnish. The cause is in sudden changes of temperature. Seventy-six degrees is rather high for ordinary living conditions, and when everything is heated to that temperature, the cracking appears when the temperature drops, as would be the case at night, or on the opening of a window. The damage can be overcome by light rubbing with fine sandpaper, to be followed by wiping with turpentine to remove the dust, and then applying a thin coat of varnish.

Loose Windows

Question: Our windows are very loose in their frames. How can they be tightened?

Answer: The room side of the groove in which the sash slides is formed by a strip of molding that is nailed to the window frame. This strip can be taken off and replaced to press more tightly against the sash. When windows are loose, by far the best cure is to put on metal weatherstrips of the kind that fits into grooves cut in the edges of the sash. This not only stops all rattling, but keeps out drafts and dust. For good results these strips should be put on by specialists, who have the necessary tools.

Killing Tree Roots

Question: "Having cut down a large tree, how can the roots be killed so that we can plant another?"

Answer: Roots can be killed with salt and by other means, but nothing could be planted until enough time had gone by for the chemical to be carried deep into the ground by the rain. Your best move will be to dig out the roots to a depth of two feet or so. The roots that remain will rot out and not interfere with the new growth. As an alternative, you may find someone in your neighborhood who has a mechanical stump-puller and can do the job for you.

Galvanized Gutters

Question: Will you advise me regarding paint for galvanized gutters and spouts? They have been up for two years, unpainted. We want to put on the proper priming coat before having this metal work painted along with the house.

Answer: After cleaning and removing traces of rust, if any, coat the gutters and spouts with a good quality red lead paint. Allow a week to ten days for this paint to dry. Follow with house paint.

Insulating a Cottage

Question: In building a one-story and attic wood cottage with four rooms and bath on the first floor, what kind of insulation (rock wool) would you advise? Could I do the job myself?

Answer: Use any one of the standard brands of rock wool, and since the house is in the course of construction, batts should be used. All the work can be done by yourself. Use batts with a vaporproof paper covering.

Dry Rot

Question: What is the cause of dry rot? What should be done to check and prevent it?

Answer: Wood exposed to continuous dampness stimulates a fungus growth in the wood, which turns it into powder. A thorough circulation of air or coating the lumber with a coal tar creosote or other chemical wood preservative will check the condition. All rotted wood must be scraped off before applying the preservative.

Rust Remover

Question: How can I remove rust from my smoothing iron? How can I take a rust stain from a silk slip?

Answer: For your iron, soak the rust with kerosene, and rub with fine emery paper. At an automobile accessory shop you can get rust removing liquids that are very satisfactory. For the slip, you can use iron-rust soap, to be had at a drug store.

Cleaning Brickwork

Question: Carpenters burned tar paper in a new fireplace, and the bricks are black with soot. How can it be removed?

Answer: Scrub with a thin paste of a scouring powder with water and ammonia. Rinse well.

Use 50,000 Words Daily; 600 Ways to Say 'God'

According to a statistical expert, during 15 hours of wakefulness a man speaks, hears, reads, and thinks of words to the tune of 50,000 a day.

Certain native dialects are famed for sundry peculiar distinctions in speech. In this connection the British and Foreign Bible society tells us that whereas a verse in the third chapter of St. John runs to 15 words in English, 51 are required for it by the people of Mare, in the Loyalty Islands, and by those in Burma who speak Kachin. More remarkable still, there are 600 ways of pronouncing the word "God," some of them very lengthy.

Regarding humorous brevity in the British house of commons, it would still be difficult to rival the maiden speech of Lord Guildford, a son of Lord North. On rising to address the chair he was so blitzed with fright that he gasped out: "Sir—"; and promptly sat down again!

The gaily enameled unit insignia you see on a soldier's lapels and overseas cap are reproductions of his regimental shield displayed in the center of the eagle on his regimental flag. It's a part of U. S. Army tradition. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) It's a gift from the folks back home, that always rates cheers. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

Aviation Cadets

By agreement between the Army and the Navy, men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six, inclusive, may now volunteer for induction into the armed forces for training as Aviation Cadets pilots, navigators, and bombardiers—through local Aviation Cadet Examination Boards and Selective Service Board.

Applicants for training in the Army Air Forces according to Major, James Cunningham President of Milwaukee Aviation Cadet Examining, will first be examined by this Board to determine their suitability for Aviation Cadet training. They then may volunteer for induction through Selective Service Boards.

The Aviation Cadet preliminary examination is both mental and physical, though no definite amount of formal schooling is required. The mental examination is of the multiple-choice type, designed to show that the applicant has the background and ability to undertake training with some assurance of success.

Physical requirements are in general those required of Reserve officers for commissioning in any component of the Army of the United States.

The Army has inaugurated a new training plan for Aviation Cadets which begins with preparatory pre-flight training at selected colleges and universities. Trainees there take a five months course which includes study of English, geography, modern history, physics, civil air regulations and basic military indoctrination.

At the conclusion of this college training period, Aviation Cadets receive basic training as pilots, bombardiers and navigators.

Graduates from Aviation Cadet training are appointed second Lieutenants or flight officers in the Army Air Forces. They may receive as much as $327 monthly if they have legal dependents, in addition there is an initial allowance of $250 for uniforms.

Not So Sweet

Some food officials say the public has been fed sugar-coated pills regarding the true facts. Most of us in Palmyra have no delusions on the subject and know that black marketing in poultry is flourishing, fish concerns charging high prices for modestly priced food, tomatoes selling as high as $7 and $10 a bushel in Florida, the disregarding of price ceilings everywhere! Sure we know about all of this—without the sugar. As a nation of sizzling steak eaters, butter hounds and pastry artists, who are giving our usual diets a set-back. Our garbage pails don't look so prosperous, either. Women folks aren't needing courses on hip reducing and though many men will fondly think back to the good old days of loosening the belt after dinner, there might not be so many of them developing advanced cases of heart trouble from over eating. We have altered eating habits because we have had to do so. Potatoes are scarce in many sections, which is enough to prove the point. Grain and meat raised this summer will be taken in a large quantity by the army and to feed other nations later on. Can our farmers take care of all of us? This needs the cooperation of the victory gardeners, the resourcefulness of housewives. Sure we can take the pill sugar coated or not, and probably be better for the medicine in the long run as we recuperate from our illness.

And Some Say This

With more hands doing rural chores this summer we might bring up the subject of that stint of milking for discussion and as a study for those who anticipate entering into the field. Many a man has his idea of the right and wrong method of attack and you will find controversy over whether to stoop, squat or sit as you strip or squeeze. It is the same as the argument between dunkers, features to show whether you are an amateur or a professional at the game. Some farmers will tell you that stool sitting is a sissy way of milking and that the real hand squats on the ground with the pail on the ground, which gives the cow an advantage if she isn't pleased with the proceedings. But it seems the man who grips the pail between his knees, uses a one-legged stool—is it!

Children in War Time

This is the second in a series of articles designed to acquaint the readers of the Enterprise with the work of the Children's Aid Society of Wisconsin, our private, non-sectarian child welfare agency which reaches into every county of the state, providing homes and care for those unfortunate children, who, through no fault of their own, are dependent, neglected, or unwanted.

We bring you this series at a time when we are all more aware of the need for protecting the boys and girls who will be responsible for the future security of the nation we are all fighting to preserve.

Some day perhaps Susan's new Dad and Mommy will tell her about her real parents—her tall young father, who gave his life in the far Pacific and her pretty mother who died soon afterward, ostensibly from pneumonia but no doubt a little bit from heart-break, too.

The young couple had no near relatives or friends who could care for a two-year old girl. So a Wisconsin Judge committed little Susan to the Children's Aid Society of Wisconsin for adoption.

Susan immediately was given a complete physical examination and some necessary dental care by a doctor and dentist of the Society's staff. A staff psychiatrist gave Susan intelligence tests suitable to her years, so that her mental capacity and natural aptitude could be determined. She loved the tests and crowded with glee as each new one was presented.

Then the Society's workers began the thorough-going investigation that precedes each adoption. They traced the family history of both Susan's parents. They visited many homes of men and women who had applied for a child to adopt. They studied these prospective parents, their health, their habits, their home life, and their general suitability as parents for Susan.

Finally they found the right couple—a war worker and his wife who wanted Susan just for herself and what they could do for her. Their own little girl had died at birth. The doctor said there would never be another.

It was love at first sight between Susan and her new parents.

War Time Marketing

Something new has been added to war-time marketing. It's the necessity of shopping with an open mind; for today there's just one thing a woman can be sure of when she markets—there'll be something on her list she won't be able to get, either because the grocer is out of it or because it costs more points than she has to spend.

Meals carefully planned with an eye to nutrition, as most women are planning them today, can be easily thrown off balance when some items can't be obtained and others must be hastily substituted. But if foods are thought of in nutrition groups, instead of as individual items, balancing the menu is more easily accomplished.

Nutritionists and home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture divide into seven groups the foods which should be eaten every day, as follows: Group 1—green and yellow vegetables; Group 2—oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit, or (sub-group) raw cabbage or salad greens; Group 3—potatoes and other vegetables and fruits; Group 4—milk and milk products, such as cheese; Group 5—meat, poultry, fish or eggs, or (sub-group) dried beans or peas, nuts, peanut butter; Group 6—bread, flour and cereals; Group 7—butter and fortified margarine.

Inability to obtain the desired green or yellow vegetables on the list should cause no trouble. There are so many of them to choose from (at least 24 green and 9 yellow in common use) that lack of one simply means substituting another.

When the citrus fruits or tomatoes of Group 2 are not available, the meal planner can fall back on the raw cabbage or salad greens in the sub-group 2. In addition she can fill in with some of the green or yellow vegetables of Group 1, or with the other fruits of vegetables of Group 3, such as cantaloupe, loganberries, pineapple or strawberries when they are in season. These will provide at least part of the nutritive elements in which the citrus fruits are so rich. Since Group 3 is made up of all the remaining fruits or vegetables of Group 3, such other groups, there is plenty of choice here if one item or even two or three are unavailable.

When there are scarcities in the milk groups, Groups 1, 5 and 6 help out. Group 1 with green or yellow vegetables, Group 5 with meat, fish, poultry, eggs, dried peas or beans and Group 6 with bread and cereals. From these the body can obtain many of the elements found in milk. And if meat points have run out, more foods from the meat sub-group, more dried beans, peas or nuts, can be used, as well as more milk products.

If there are scarcities in Group 7 butter and margarine—plan on eating more green or yellow vegetables (Group 1) or more eggs (Group 5). These will provide the Vitamin A and some of the energy which are such important elements of the fats group.

Proper Conduct

Talk about good-will ambassadors, our vote goes to the American soldier boys who are having to learn how to live by and get along with many strangers, the British, Egyptians, Chinese, French, Indians and even to head-hunters in the Solomon Islands! There are so many customs and rituals that must be respected and followed that our boys have much to learn. In order to carry on peaceful relations and avoid international misunderstandings the government has issued pamphlets to its fighting forces with instructions concerning some of the most important facts as to manners of conduct and pronunciation of various foreign words. A soldier must follow these to be regarded as a friend and even so there are bound to be instances when misunderstandings will arise. But such happens right here. There are so many customs and rituals! The main thing, of course, is for the soldier not to think of himself as better than the foreigner, to act toward him as to a friendly American back home and this alone will probably go farther to cementing relationship than any book of instruction.

It Still Pays

You may be unaware, but not the newspaper business. There are reasons inflicted by the war which make this so. But we are wondering if perhaps the national advertisers who have let their product ride for the time being, aren't making a mistake, the same as a local firm might who says that circumstances do not warrant the boosting of sales at the present. The first World War proved certain facts to advertisers that should be remembered and one of them was that the firms who continued to keep their name before the public during the war afterwards quickly built up a better business and reaped the profits of their foresight. A number of companies who let advertising slide were forgotten men and names after the war. True that many commodities are scarce but furniture stores are still having a good year, some of them their best, for when you have something to sell today remember that there are additional buyers with more money to spend. Garages are busy with repair work, though gas is reduced it is still advertised! Wage envelopes are covering much purchases and since purchasing and advertising go hand in hand, it is only good sense to keep the name and the product in print.
