IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Boys In Service

A new new address we have received is that of A/C Donald Michaelis, Santa Ana Army Air Base, Santa Ana California, Squadron 28.

Pvt. Robert Marty of Camp San Luis Obispo, California is enjoying a furlough with the folks at home.

Dear Madam: I would like to submit an item for your "Boys in Service" column. It concerns Midshipman Anthony B. Agathen, formerly of Eagle. I happen to be one of his roommates and know that he reads the "Quill" every week. He modestly refuses to submit the information himself, but I believe that it would be of interest to your readers.

Midshipman Agathen is one of 180 men selected by the Supply Corps of the Navy to receive one year's special training at the Graduate School of business administration at Harvard University. This course combines the regular four-month supply corps training with the Harvard Graduate Course in Business Administration and is expected to prepare this group of men to serve the supply corps in any capacity, rather than in just one or two specialized zones of activity.

This is the first time in the history of the United States Navy that such a lengthy and all-inclusive training course has been offered to Supply Corps Officers.

Midshipman Agathen has been at Harvard since January 29 and will receive his commission as an Ensign on June 1st, but will remain in school until January of 1944.

I am not sure whether you are aware of the fact that Midshipman Agathen was transferred to Harvard from the Columbia University Deck Officers' School December 7, 1942 and it was there that he was chosen for this particularly desirable duty.

Yours, Truly,
Chas. N. Zellers.

H. M. Loibl

In this issue of the Quill it is our sad duty to chronicle the passing of the Publisher and Editor of our little paper, Henry M. Loibl. To those who knew him and who had been associated with him in life it would be futile to enumerate the many fine qualities which he possessed. He was widely known as a banker, newspaper publisher and an active democrat and a leader in this community. Every ready to assist where or whenever needed.

It is not surprising that he with a group of men organized the Bank of Eagle, which grew from a business which was capitalized at $8,000 to an institution which later was capitalized at $65,000 and of which he later became president. In 1902, a year later, he assisted in the launching of another industry, the Eagle Telephone Co., which at the time it was sold by the Company to the North West Telephone Co., was the largest sub-license company in the state.

During the Cleveland administration he served as postmaster for four years. He also held many village offices. He was born in Eagle on a small farm west of the village, the son of Wolfgang and Augusta (Wage) Loibl, being one of a family of 7 children, all of whom have preceded him in death except one sister, Theresa Kyle of Lincoln, Neb. He was educated in the grade school here, finishing at the age of 14 and for several years followed the pursuit of farming. After a few years he came to the village and later purchased a home where he and his sister Magdalena resided until her death, when Mrs. Kyle came to stay with him. Mr. Loibl was born August 12, 1862 and would have been 81 years old in August. The funeral will take place at St. Theresa's Catholic church Friday morning 9:30 a. m., and burial will be in the family lot in St. Theresa's Oak Knoll cemetery. Thus closes the chapter in the life of another of our respected pioneers.

FIRES

A closed season for setting fires in the open has been voted by the Town Board of the Town of Eagle, between April 23, 1943 to June 1, 1943.

Permits for burning may be obtained from the following persons: James Welch, John Didecker, James Bovee, Geo. Peardon, C. E. Cruver.

C. E. Cruver, Town Clerk.

FOREST FIRES

People are going to see a lot of the slogan: "Our carelessness, their secret weapon," this year in an intensive effort to prevent forest fires. The late spring has been a handicap in many directions but it prevented April from becoming a month of high hazard. The slogan is well worth remembering through the month of May as fishing seasons get under way.

RUSSIA: Sparring Tactics Still sparring like prize-fighters seeking advantageous openings, the Red and Nazi armies on the fast- ing Russian front held each other off in preparation for the cudgeling blows that will fall when dry ground makes movement possible.

Military activity was confined to minor skirmishes. In the Kuban valley of the Caucasus, the Russians mounted attacks which resulted in the capture of a series of pillboxes and trenches from the German defenders.

In the Donets river area the Germans attempted another offensive in the Izyum sector, but were repulsed, a Soviet communique said. North of Chuguev in the Kharkov area, Russian artillery was credited with dispersing a German infantry batallion.

AIR RAIDS: Sardinia to Stuttgart From Sardinia to Berlin, Prussia, Allied bombers struck a Axis-held Europe with increasing fierceness as the tempo of "softening up" raids continued to rise.

Among spectacular raids was the vast British foray against the big German industrial city of Stuttgart. Observers reported that planes on this raid could be heard roaring across the British Channel toward the continent for an hour and a half.

Who's News This Week

Delos Wheeler Lovelace

Consolidated Features—WNU Release.

NEW YORK. — In army circles they rate Maj. Gen. Harold L. George as one of the best impromptu speakers in the service. He likes to talk, his colleagues will tell you, and does it easily and well. He's the chief of the air transport command of the army air corps, and has been ever since its formation last July.

Out in Australia the other day he likened the feats of his fliers to the tales of Jules Verne, and it wasn't so long ago that he was plying with delight how his men had flown the equipment for a 24-bed hospital to Nome, Alaska, after a fire had destroyed its lone hospital. Just a year ago when he was made head of the ferry command of the army air corps, his major task was getting new planes from the factories to wherever they were needed. Now he has that problem and a whole lot of others, such as flying troops and essential supplies overseas.

He first learned about flying in World War I. A native of Souer- ville, Mass., he was a student in the law school at National university on April 8, 1917. A month later he was a second lieutenant of cavalry. Fall found him training to be a flier, however. He won his wings in March, 1918, and the following September he was in France as a bombing instructor at Clermont. Before the Armistice, he had been assigned to the 103rd aero squadron. After the war, he resumed his studies and won his LL. B. in 1920. His heart was in the army, however, and in 1921, he went back, this time to stay.

Since his return he has been stationed at a lot of places. Kelly Field, Texas, the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, out in Hawaii, and down at Maxwell Field, Alabama. They made him a captain in '32 and a major in '39. Meanwhile he had done plenty of flying.

Fit and braced and with keen blue eyes, he looks every inch a flier. He'll be 50 this summer, but he seems a lot younger, despite gray- ing hair.

THE man who has been swinging Bolivia into war against Chile & Co. is a fighter and a believer in orderly government. Enrique Penaranda won his way to the top as a military leader in the Chaco war against Paraguay.

Bolivia's President Can Swing Mailed Fist When Needed

When General Penaranda was elected chief executive in March, 1940, he depended on the ballots of his countrymen, not the muskets of his troops. For some years before that (the only way to land in the presidential palace was by coup d'etat, his political opponents, on hearing the returns from the polls, decided old methods were best. The general promptly showed them he was still a warrior, and inaugu- ration day found him talking of- fice as scheduled and expressing his faith in democracy.

Born in the La Paz district 50 years ago, he entered his country's West Point in 1907 and graduated a second lieutenant three years later. He became a captain in '17, a major in '21, and a colonel in '32. The start of the war with Paraguay shot him swiftly to the top and three months after hostilities began he was made commander in chief.

FREE FRENCH circles offer a double barreled explanation for the failure of the United States to clear up the middle of Martinique and Vice Admiral Robert.

Martinique's 'Four Families' Control All but Mr. Pele

The vice admiral is pro-Robert, but anti-everything else save the Four Families. These, they explain, boast of being the only truly white families on the island.

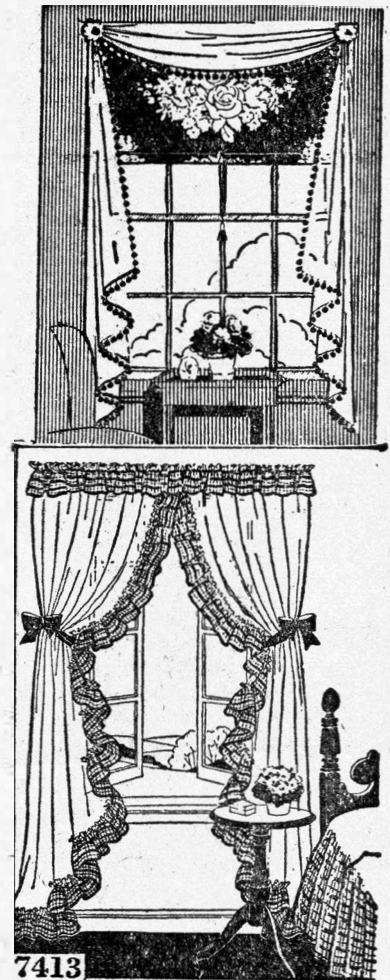

The four families are in complete control, it is claimed, of 27,000 natives and Martinique's economic ex- istence.

The vice admiral could, if he would, make any deal without consulting Vichy to which he still vows loyalty. Vichy gave him full power in the French Antilles and authority to con- clude any arrangement with the United States. He entered the French navy 50 years ago.

The admiral after an old French custom, has an assortment of names —George Achilla Marie Joseph. He is 68 years old now, with a white, outjutting spade beard, and a tem- per some describe as not unlike a hornet's.

Whether Martinique's Social Reg- ister is limited to a mere quartette of families is, probably, debatable, but independent reports of Vice Ad- miral Robert's speech made last year at Fort de France certainly made it and him anti-American. He gave the "greed of Americans" a fine going over.

TUNISIA: 34 to 3

As the Allied armies closed in on the Axis' last mountain bastions in Tunisia, the gravity of Marshal Rommel's supply problem was shown by the heavy German reliance on aerial transport from Sicily.

Typical of the potency of the American aerial offensive was a raid on Axis rear bases at Castelvetrano and Milo in Sicily in which 84 enemy planes were destroyed with the loss of but three American aircraft.

With the Mediterranean at their back, the forces of Rommel and Col. Gen. Von Arnim were hemmed into an area less than the size of Connecticut in Northeast Tunisia. The Axis did, however, have the advantage of holding mountainous positions difficult for the Allies to storm.

The strongly fortified ports of Tunis and Bizerte were the Allies' final goal. Operating under the supervision of Commander-in-Chief Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the British First Army in the North, American and French forces in the center and General Montgomery's British Eighth army on the South steadily closed the trap on the Axis.

MEAT: Ceilings Deferred

Following through on President Roosevelt's directive to "roll back" the cost of living items found too high, OPA Chief Prentiss M. Brown suspended until May 17 the price ceiling schedule on beef, veal, lamb and mutton.

BUENOS AIRES: Seven members of the crew of the scuttled German pocket battleship Graf Spee escaped during a leave here from an internment camp on Martin Garcia island, government sources were informed. Authorities were reported searching for the men. More than 300 Nazi sailors from the ship have escaped since they were interned in Argentina three years ago.

and shell fish. Among items on the credit side, OWI calculated, 30 per cent more chickens, 57 per cent more margarine, 13 per cent more frozen fruits, 7 per cent more wheat and 13 per cent more rye. Listed among food supplies that will be about the same as last year were: Fresh and frozen fish, eggs, fluid milk and cream, lard and other cooking fats, fresh citrus fruits, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

RUSSIA: Sparring Tactics

Still sparring like prize-fighters seeking advantageous openings, the Red and Nazi armies on the fast- ing Russian front held each other off in preparation for the cudgeling blows that will fall when dry ground makes movement possible.

Military activity was confined to minor skirmishes. In the Kuban valley of the Caucasus, the Russians mounted attacks which resulted in the capture of a series of pillboxes and trenches from the German defenders.

In the Donets river area the Germans attempted another offensive in the Izyum sector, but were repulsed, a Soviet communique said. North of Chuguev in the Kharkov area, Russian artillery was credited with dispersing a German infantry batallion.

AIR RAIDS: Sardinia to Stuttgart

From Sardinia to Berlin, Prussia, Allied bombers struck a Axis-held Europe with increasing fierceness as the tempo of "softening up" raids continued to rise. British, American and Russian planes had simultaneously taken the offensive.

Among spectacular raids was the vast British foray against the big German industrial city of Stuttgart. Observers reported that planes on this raid could be heard roaring across the British Channel toward the continent for an hour and a half.

Nazi radio broadcasts were the authority for reports that Red air forces had raided Kuenigsburg in East Prussia three times within a five-day span.

American Flying Fortresses continued to destroy Axis shipping facilities with punishing attacks on the port of Cagliari in Sardinia.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

BUENOS AIRES: Seven members of the crew of the scuttled German pocket battleship Graf Spee escaped during a leave here from an internment camp on Martin Garcia island, government sources were informed. Authorities were reported searching for the men. More than 300 Nazi sailors from the ship have escaped since they were interned in Argentina three years ago.

BERNE: Germany which meted out aerial punishment to Britain three years ago has learned what a bitter experience it is to be on the receiving end of Allied bombings. A statement quoted here from the Strasbourg Nachrichten says: "We must admit the war has taken a turn we had not foreseen. Sad too, is the fact that we have no means of preventing air raids."

FIRST-AID
AILING HOUSE
by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

You may not be able to replace worn or broken household equipment. This is war. Government priorities come first. So take care of what you have . . . as well as you possibly can. This column by the homeowner's friend tells you how.

DOUBLE-GLAZING

Question: I intend to double-glaze my steel casement windows instead of putting on storm sash. Naturally, extreme care would have to be used to avoid soiling the glass. What do you think of the possibility of condensation between the glass, causing spots on the surface of either pane?

Answer: The possibility of condensation between the two sheets of glass will depend entirely on how well you seal the spaces between the two pieces of glass. Eventually, the inside surfaces of the glass will become soiled by infiltration, making it necessary to remove one pane of glass in each frame for a thorough cleaning. You can get a double glass that is factory sealed, with a dehydrated air space between. Ask your glass man about this.

Time to Paint

With the winter months behind, your home may be due for a coat of paint. Surface dirt should be brushed off with a wire brush, then wipe off with rag. Blisters should be scraped.

Dark Woodwork

Question: The woodwork in my house is oak, finished quite dark. I wish to paint it ivory, semi-gloss. How should I go about doing this?

Answer: For the best job, remove the present finish with varnish remover, which will soften the finish enough to be scraped off. Clean off all traces of the remover with benzine—being very careful of fire. Sandpaper, wipe off dust and then refinish with two undercoats of ivory and the semi-gloss enamel. An alternative method is to roughen the old finish by sandpapering, wipe off dust, apply a sealing coat of shellac—thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol—and then one undercoat of ivory, to be followed by the final coat of enamel.

Wood Floor in Basement

Question: During the past two years a new wood floor has been laid twice in our basement, and each time the wood decayed. What can be done to stop the floor from warping and rotting within a year?

Answer: I presume that it is a cement floor. For a good job, you could use the following method: First, mop on a coating of liquid tar or asphalt. Then put down a layer of heavy asphalt or tar-saturated felt, overlapping the sheets half their width, with a mopping of liquid tar or asphalt between the laps. The wood flooring, in parquet-like blocks, then is laid in an asphalt mastic cement. Most flooring contractors are familiar with this method.

Faded Curtains

Question: Grayish-tan crash window drapes were drawn most of the time, so that the folds exposed to the sun became faded, the underfolds remaining as they were originally. What can I do to them to get a uniform color?

Answer: Have the curtains dyed a slightly darker shade. If done by a reliable dyer, the color will be uniform.

Cracked Door Panel

Question: I have a cracked panel in a bedroom door that I should like to fill before giving the door a coat of flat white paint. How can I fill the crack?

Answer: You can get a prepared crack filler, which is on sale at hardware and paint stores. Or you could try filling the crack with thickened paint, scraped from the upper part of a half-used can. After drying, smooth with fine sandpaper.

Clean and Bright

You can believe in honor till you have achieved it. Better keep yourself clean and bright, you are the window through which you must see the world.—George Bernard Shaw.

Selfish Thought

"What are you thinking of?"
"Oh, nothing much!"
"Don't be so self-conscious."

Was He Surprised!

"Who was that pretty little thing I saw you with last night?"
"Will you promise not to tell my wife?"
"Surely, I promise."
"Well, it was my wife."

Literate Fellow

"I must find another tailor. This one reads too much."
"Reads too much?"
"Yes. Every time he writes to me he begins, 'On going through my books!'"

No Moss on It

"What's that stone in Ann's engagement ring, Joyce?"
"A rolling stone, my dear. I had it once."

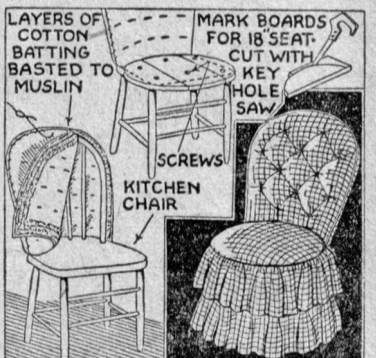

Last Chance

"Well, we have exhausted reason, logic, common sense, and justice; what more can we do?"
"I guess we'll simply have to go to law."

An antique is something no one would be seen with if there were more of them, but which everyone wants when no one has any.

The Real Problem

Hubby—Have you ever wondered what you would do if you had Rockefeller's income?
Wife—No, but I have often wondered what Rockefeller would do if he had mine.

HERE is how you can play Fairy Godmother to a kitchen chair. Pad the back as shown here, using at least three layers of cotton batting for the front of it and one for the back. Next, cut an 18-inch circle of cardboard and use it for a pattern for marking the shape of the round seat on boards or plywood. Cut out the wooden seat and screw it to the chair. Save the cardboard pattern.

ating places for their meals. The public serving of food in most industrial centers at times is far from satisfactory. Restaurants and quick lunch places are overcrowded, short of help, and frequently do not remain open during the hours when the swing or night shift workers need service. Also, these places sometimes are not concerned with the nutritional value of the food they serve.

The 18 million makers of Victory gardens this year will be able to get the garden tools and fertilizers they need, but not all types of commercial fertilizer may be available, although stores are carrying plenty of the Victory garden fertilizer prepared according to a special wartime formula. New garden tools will be adequate but the styles of individual implements will be fewer and less fancy.

Conservation Notes

One of the first major tests of the new Wisconsin outdoor season will come May 1, when the trout season opens on the Brule river and other streams that empty into Lake Superior. The early northern season has always been popular with trout fishermen from all sections of the state.

It is apparent that fishing interest is being aroused later than usual this year because of belated winter conditions. Northern lakes and streams have remained ice-bound several days longer than usual this year and most fishermen associate fishing with balmy weather. Trout fishing, like most other fishing, starts generally in the state on May 15th.

BRULE STUDY
The Brule river is due for extremely close scientific scrutiny this year under a development plan put into effect by the conservation commission. With the aid of university fish experts the commission expects to have more complete knowledge of fish movement in the famous streams, numbers and kinds of fish caught, and reasons for changes in fish production. Weirs have been constructed in the river and a check will be made of the number, varieties and sizes of fish that are taken by fishermen.
