IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Boys In Service

Somewhere In England:
Dear Folks:

I imagine by this time some of my letters have reached you, especially the one with the money orders. One for $100.00 and one for $50.00. If you haven't received the money write and let me know, so I can trace them or make an attempt at it. I have been transferred to another country so I won't be able to look up Earl and Skid and the rest of them. I sure wish I would have known they were here, I would have liked to have seen them.

Well, I finally got assigned to another outfit and never dreamed to be so fortunate as to hit such a well organized and so old a Battalion as I did. I like it here so far and the fellows in the Battery have been swell to me. They put me in the motor section but I doubt very much if I will be able to hold my rating as most of the men have been with the army all the way from 3 to 10 years and really got everything down pat.

We got free cigarettes on the boat, but as yet haven't received any here, but don't worry about cigarettes and such stuff as I can buy them a lot cheaper than you can, not only that, but we haven't any place to spend our money. I go to the show about every other night or so and once in a while they have U.S.O. shows, so I guess we have plenty of entertainment. Tell Joyce that I will write as soon as I find time. I plan on sending home some more money around the first of the month, so be on the lookout for it. The other two fellows and I parted and it is pretty hard trying to get acquainted with the new fellows, but they have been very friendly with me. Well, I guess I'd better sign off now as always, Laurel.

Sgt. Laurel G. Stubbs, Serv. Btry, 4th F.A. Bn. APO 932, care of Post Master San Francisco, California.

The following V-Mail letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Parsons from their son PFC. Robert Parsons who is now somewhere in England.

Dear Folks: How are you? I hope fine. Well I am a long way from home now. I am somewhere in England. It sure is a prettv country over here but I bet its the same as was when you were here. I am still doing the same kind of a job only they drive on the wrong side of the road and does that ever seem funny to do that, after driving all these years back home. They have some nice horses and cattle over here. The only thing I don't like, it rains a lot just about every day. If I ever get a pass and know where my uncles live, I would go to see them. I got a letter from Lois and one from Phil and one from you folks yesterday and three from Lois today. Well, don't know what else to write so will close. With love to all, Bob.

MARQUETTE HOLY HOUR

Marquette University R.O.T.C. and V-12, of the U. S. Navy, will participate in the "Holy Hour for the Welfare of Our Country," at Marquette Stadium, Sunday August 15 at 7:45 p. m. The intention of the Holy Hour, for Americans of all faiths, with no admission charge, is for the spiritual and temporal welfare of our Country.

Extremely impressive during the benediction is the extinguishing of all stadium lights, as some 30,000 to 40,000 candle lights, in the hands of the audience, shine thru the darkness.

The three meditations, by the most Reverend William P. O'Connor Bishop of the Superior diocese, are:

1. The Word of Truth
And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

2. The Word of Love
A new commandment I give unto you; that you love one another, as I have loved you, that you also love one another.

3. The Word of Peace.
Follow peace with all men and holiness: without which no man shall see God.

Music will be by the C.Y.O. Band of Kenosha, under the direction of Peter Nicolai, and by the Milwaukee Festival Singers, under the direction of Thomas H. Stemper.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Follow Rules to Make Canning Easy (See Directions Below)

Fruit Canning

It's time now to begin putting up fruits for next winter and fall to help stretch those ration points and to make sure your family is going to get the two fruits a day required by the nutritional yardstick.

Be wise and watch the fruit trees or berry vines or markets—wherever you get your fruit—to see that you get it for your canning at just the ripe stage. Fruits should be firm-fleshed, ripe but not over-ripe and in prime condition. Remember canning does not improve any product; it merely preserves it for later use, so it follows that you get out of the can only what you put into it.

Methods for processing fruit for canning in order of their desirability are hot-water bath, pressure cooker, steam cooker, open-kettle. Although many homemakers prefer the open kettle for the fruits, the degree of spoilage is so high and the vitamin loss so great that it is less desired than processing in the jars.

Hot Water Bath.

For a hot water or boiling water bath as it is sometimes called, utilize a large deep vessel. Fit it with a rack of some kind that will hold the jars 1/2 inch from the bottom of the canner. Be sure the vessel is deep enough so that when the jar is immersed in the boiling water, the water comes to within 1 to 2 inches over the top of the jar.

Oven Canning.

Many homemakers like to use the oven for canning fruits and tomatoes. This can be successful if the oven you are using is thermostatically controlled and will keep the required temperature of 250 degrees. The jars should be set on a rack, at least 2 inches apart—starting with a cold oven. The jars should not be allowed to touch the sides of the oven. If a second batch of jars is going in after the first batch, the oven does not have to be cooled.

After the jars are placed on the rack, turn on the switch or light the oven. Start counting processing time as soon as the oven is

Lynn Says:

Canning Pointers: Most fruits are canned by the cold pack method, but apples, pears, pineapple and quinces are pre-cooked in their syrups to give them that lovely, transparent look. Most homemakers are using the light syrup—three cups water to one cup sugar—for canning. If you can't afford any sugar, use fruit juices in place of the sugar, and then sweeten the fruit when ready to use. Or, if you can't make up all the jellies and jams because of lack of sugar, put up the juice and make it into jelly during the winter when you do have sugar. Honey syrup may be used in canning fruits, but expect to have a slightly different flavor to the fruit and somewhat darker appearance. Use a large kettle in cooking honey syrups because they have a tendency to boil over and foam while being cooked.

turned on. Temperature should never exceed 250 degrees. Higher temperatures cause liquid to boil out of jars and evaporate.

Cooling and Testing Jars.

If you have used a self-sealing lid on the jars canned, do not invert them after taking from the canner. Instead, set them upright on several thicknesses of newspaper or clean towels, away from drafts and let them cool. After the jar has thoroughly cooled, remove the screw band and re-use it again and again. To test for seal, tap the lid of the jar with a spoon, and if you get a clear, high ringing note you can be certain that the jar is well sealed.

Fruits for canning are most often cold-packed, rather than hot-packed as are non-acid vegetables. Select fruit only in prime condition, ripe rather than over-ripe. Wash it thoroughly, then prepare as for table and pack in jars. Fill with hot syrup to within 1/2 inch of the top. Process according to the time table.

Precook fruit 5 to 10 minutes in syrup before packing in jar.

Fruit Juices.

Many homemakers who will be unable to put up all the jellies this summer may put up fruit juices and make them into jelly later. Canning fruit juices either for jelly or other uses is a fairly simple matter, and processing is usually done in a hot water bath, at a simmering temperature, 180 degrees F.

Flavor of the fruit juices depends upon the fruit selected. The juice of fully ripened fruit should be used. Partially ripened fruit lacks flavor whereas over-ripe or bruised or decayed fruit will make sterilization more difficult.

Extracting Juice.

The cold process method must not be used if the fruit is extracted for jelly making. It is far better to heat the fruit or berries. Do not add much water, particularly for soft fruits and berries. Simmer at very low heat—do not boil—until the juices start running.

Strain the fruit juices through a cotton flannel bag, and fill sterile jars to within 1/2 inch of the top. Adjust cap, and process in hot water bath for 30 minutes.

Working as quickly as possible will save the flavor of the juices and make it more desirable for jelly-making.

If you have a canning problem, write to Miss Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago, Ill. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

STONE FOUNDATIONS

IN PUTTING up a building of any sort, it is never wise to have wood in direct contact with the earth. Sooner or later trouble will be sure to come from the rotting of the wood through dampness or from attack by termites or other insects. Some kinds of wood such as cypress and redwood are resistant to trouble from rotting, but in time, even these are not entirely immune. In anything but a shack, the parts in contact with the earth should be of masonry, with well made poured concrete the first choice. When alterations to an old building or re-grading around it may bring the wooden parts into contact with soil, it is best to replace the woodwork with concrete. Sometimes it is possible to protect the wooden parts with a concrete wall, but for safety, this should be waterproofed with a coating of tar.

Soundproofing

Question: I live in an old house with a party wall. My neighbors begin their day when I am ready to retire. Is there any way I can have a room insulated against sound?

Answer: Thorough soundproofing is not possible, but fair results may be had by lining the noisy wall with a double layer of insulating material. Fur out the wall with 2 by 4 inch studs, nailing them in place at the floor and ceiling. Nail a one-inch (or thicker) insulating blanket between the studs and then cover the wall with an insulating wall-board.

Shingle Stain

Question: What is the formula for mixing shingle stain?

Answer: Mix in the proportion of four parts raw linseed oil, two parts coal-tar creosote and one part japan drier. For colors other than brown, tint with color-in-oil thinned with linseed oil to the above formula.

Lumber for Bookcase

Question: I wish to make some wall bookcases. What wood could I use other than white pine? Would maple be too hard for me to handle?

Answer: White pine is easiest to work with. Maple, birch or oak can be used, but these woods are harder and cutting would not be so easy.

Fuel Oil Stains

Question: How can stains of fuel oil be removed from asbestos shingles on the outside of a house?

Answer: Wash repeatedly with a solution of washing soda in water; three pounds to the gallon.

Painting Screen Door

Question: Which side of a screen door should I paint so that people cannot see through it from the street?

Answer: For best results and appearance, paint both sides.

Painting Over Casein

Question: What should I do to walls which are now finished with casein paint, before applying oil paint?

In the Breadbasket

Stories about progressive schools continue to roll in, one being concerned with a little boy who proudly brought home a picture of Abraham Lincoln which he had mounted on a piece of cardboard.

"Did teacher tell you anything about this man?" the boy's father asked. The little boy said yes, she had. Well, did he remember what she had said? The little boy beamed and replied: "She said: 'Paste him in the middle.'"

Depths Much Greater Than Heights on Earth

The surface of the earth comprises approximately 196,950,000 square miles. Of this 139,440,000 are water and 57,510,000 are land. The fertile soil on the earth amounts to about 32 million square miles. The average elevation of the land above sea level is 2,800 feet. The average depth of the ocean below sea level is 12,450 feet. The highest point of land is Mt. Everest in Indo-China, 29,141 feet. The deepest part of the ocean yet discovered is off the island of Mindanao in the Philippine group—35,400 feet. There is a difference of 64,541 feet or nearly 12 miles between the deepest part of the ocean and the highest point of land.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Capture of Palermo Pockets Axis Army in Sicily's Northeastern Corner; Allied Activity in Pacific Is Intensified; Nation's Employment Reaches 38 Million

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

American fliers moved closer to the Japanese mainland when they bombed Paramushiro, which lies below the Kamchatka peninsula of Siberia, 1,200 miles from Tokyo. Hits and near misses were reported on Jap ships lying in the harbor.

SICILY:

Pocket Axis

The second stage of fighting in Sicily found the Axis forces retiring from the western reaches of the island as the Seventh American army of Gen. George S. Patton moved into rapid occupation of the territory. The Yanks' seizure of Palermo sealed off the Axis troops in the northeastern corner of Sicily. As Patton's army hemmed the remaining Axis forces of approximately 100,000 men in from the west, Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army pounded at the enemy's line on the southern extremity of the trap, at Catania.

Units of the celebrated Herman Goering division put up a stiff fight on the outskirts of Catania. In this section, the broad Catania plain is criss-crossed by several rivers, making tank and motorized operations difficult; and many shallow creek beds and thick grain fields gave German machine-gunners good cover for defensive fire.

While the fight raged in Sicily, British naval and air units bombarded the sole of the Italian boot at Crotona.

CIVILIAN GOODS:

Increase Possible

The government's effort to get a more effective production for the war might result in a reduction of certain programs and free materials for civilian goods, War Mobilization director James F. Byrnes said. That, however, is a hope and not a prediction, Byrnes cautioned. Byrnes' statement came on the heels of a revelation that the munitions program was being cut down in some lines because our growing air power was amply protecting Allied industries abroad from destruction from bombing, and thus reducing their demands on U. S. plants for material.

According to Byrnes, the various war agencies are studying their purchasing programs, to confine procurement to articles most useful in the light of recent combat developments. Where cancellations or reductions in orders may be feasible, the possibility exists that material spared will be used for civilian goods.

EMPLOYMENT:

38 Million at Work

As the labor department announced that over 38 million people were currently employed in non-agricultural establishments, the war department revealed that it had authorized the release of 4,500 men from the army for work in copper, zinc and molybdenum mines.

According to the labor department, current employment was 1,663,000 over that for the same period a year ago. Despite the fact that the manufacturing and public utilities and transportation industries put on 162,000 workers recently, total employment was only 66,000 more than in May of this year. Since May, the construction industry has laid off 99,000 men.

The war department said failure of the metal mines to secure the necessary amount of workers left only the army as a reservoir of men with the requisite skills for the pits.

SOUTH PACIFIC:

Range to Dutch Indies

Ranging 1,200 miles to the west, American heavy bomber formations struck at the Japanese naval base of Surabaya in the Dutch East Indies.

Tumbling down on an oil refinery, docks, warehouses and railway installations, 500 pound bombs caused heavy damage, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said. The action marked the first air raid on Surabaya since that former Dutch base was pounded by the Japanese early in the war.

The raid on Surabaya was part of intensive Allied activity in the South Pacific area. As American troops worked closer through heavy jungle to the Japanese air base of Munda on New Georgia islands in the Solomons, medium and dive bombers and fighter planes kept up a rain of explosives on the embattled enemy troops guarding that stronghold. In one day alone, American airmen made 250 raids on the Japanese positions.

ROME:

'Priceless Treasures'

Declaring "... Despite the precautions that may be taken it is almost impossible to avoid, on this sacred soil of Rome, the destruction of venerated edifices," Pope Pius XII deemed it "... our duty once more to raise our voice in defense of the priceless treasures that constitute the ornament of Christian and human endeavor," following the Allied bombing of the Eternal City. In citing the historical, cultural and religious importance of Rome, the pope said "... All that we put before competent authorities on several occasions in clear terms, recommending to them in the name of human dignity and of Christian civilization the inviolability of Rome." Then stating that he had hoped the papal authority would have proved sufficient in addressing a plea for the immunity of Rome, the pope said "... But alas, this so reasonable hope of ours has been disappointed."

RUSSIA:

Reds Whittle Bulge

Throwing the full weight of their might into the drive, the Russians bore down on Orel from three sides, while embattled German troops fought desperately to prevent being cut from the rear.

While the battle of Orel raged, the "Anti-Nazi German National Committee" in Moscow appealed to the German high command to overthrow Hitler and negotiate a peace with the Russian government. Although presumably composed of former German army officers, the "national committee" bears a liberal sprinkling of former leaders of the Communist party of the old reichstag.

At Orel, the Nazis were holding a big bulge eastward, from which they could strike out against the rear of the Reds' northern or southern armies. Russian troops made notable progress cutting across much of the bulge in the north, but the Germans were offering stiff resistance on the southern front.

For their part, the Germans made no effort to minimize the power of the Russian drive. They contended their strategy called for a continuation of the struggle so as to wear down the Reds' strength.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

NEWSPRINT: The price of newspaper on which newspapers are printed, will be raised $4 a ton, on September 1 by order of the Office of Price Administration.

"INVASION" MONEY: Government printing presses are turning out specially designed paper money for use of American servicemen in countries they occupy.

BABY CARRIAGES: Baby carriages ("prams") are scarce in England. Women are advised to use them only for airing the baby.

FIGHTING FRENCH: Allied victory will bring about dissolution of the "Fighting French," Gen. Charles de Gaulle stated recently. A liberated France will mean the end of the mission of his organization.

FARMS:

1.3 Per Cent Idle

A total of 76,704 farms with an acreage of 6,484,292 lay idle in the United States when the decennial census was taken in 1940. The number represented 1.3 per cent of all farms in the country.

New England and the Middle Atlantic states showed the greatest percentage of abandonments, with one out of every 20 farms idle. This compared with Iowa's report of one out of every 2,000.

Abandoned farms averaged 85 acres against the 174 acres for operating tracts. Depleted soil and crop failures accounted for one-third of the vacancies, and there were many departures for employment in industry.

Almost 57 million acres of land lay idle on producing farms, census figures also showed.

CASUALTIES:

Light, So Far

War and navy department casualty lists issued for the first year and half of the war totaled 16,556 men killed in action or from wounds, and 31,343 missing. The missing, it was explained, may either be dead or prisoners, but final tabulation must await the war's end.

Casualties were almost equally divided between the services. Of the known dead, 8,412 are navy, marine and coast guardsmen, while 8,144 are army men. However, the army's record of 21,076 missing doubled the navy, marine and coast guard's figure of 10,267.

As the services' casualties were announced, word was received of the death of Maj. Gen. William P. Upshur of the marines and Capt. Charles Paddock in the crash of a naval plane near Sitka, Alaska. General Upshur was commanding general of the marines for the department of the Pacific, while Paddock, who had served on General Pershing's staff in the First World war at the age of 18, was world famous as a sprinter, having set 94 records from 1920 to 1929.

POULTRY:

Army Takes Over

Under the second war powers act, the Office of Price Administration ordered the detention of poultry trucks on eastern highways and the requisitioning of their stock for the army.

OPA took the action, it said, after black market operations had interfered with the army's purchase of poultry in the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia area, largest fowl producing section in the East. According to OPA, much of this meat was being sold to dealers over the price ceiling.

Dealers from whom the poultry was requisitioned, were paid the prevailing ceiling price.

MINERS:

Seek Contract Approval

With the War Labor board rested the task of determining the fate of the new wage contract entered into between Illinois' United Mine Workers and bituminous coal operators, providing for a daily payment of $1.25 for time spent traveling underground. Differences over such compensation was the chief cause of three walkouts, leading to government seizure of the pits.

In addition to providing portal-to-portal pay, the new two-year contract outlaws strikes and lengthens the 35-hour week to 48 hours. Under present conditions, the miners now receive $7 daily for a seven-hour shift, but the new pact would award them time-and-a-half for the eighth hour each day and for the full eight hours on the sixth day.

Besides WLB approval, the agreement is dependent upon the Office of Price Administration's authorization of an increase in coal prices to offset the wage settlements.

LABOR:

Demands Roll-Back

Meeting in the White House, organized labor served notice on President Roosevelt that it would not continue support of his anti-inflation program unless prices were rolled back to the September 15, 1942, level.

Charging Price Administrator Prentiss Brown with having failed to execute the government's roll-back program, labor representatives declared they would open a pressure campaign for his removal from office unless plans were set in motion to push current prices back.

The labor leaders said further dalliance on roll-backs would lead them to repudiate the wage stabilization program, in which wage increases have been limited to 15 per cent over the January, 1941, levels. Living costs have jumped approximately 21 per cent since that time, they said, outstripping income by at least 6 per cent.

WAR BONDS

With 23 billion dollars already raised from non-banking investors since last December, the government announced plans for a new 15 billion dollar war bond drive to start in September. Individuals, corporations, insurance companies and other non-banking sources will be eligible for the purchase of the various denominations of savings bonds, notes and certificates.

In the two previous drives, banks bought over 10 billion dollars of securities.

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

TODAY'S living room is often furnished with streamlined pieces that have served a more humble purpose. Almost any plain washstand or dresser may be given long smart lines by adding open shelves at the ends. Here a top of plywood with a plain moulding around the edges extends across the stand and shelves. By adding a plain baseboard and a coat of paint the piece is finished with a modern air. The paint should match the woodwork.

The diagram at the upper right shows how to make the wall decoration from a remnant of flowered chintz. If you use an old frame, the chintz picture may be given the appearance of an oil painting by applying several coats of varnish.

Note: The remodeled washstand is from Book 10 of the series of homemaking booklets prepared for readers. Book 10 also contains more than 30 other things to make from things on hand and available materials. Booklets are 15 cents. Address:

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The annual consumption of gasoline on highways, which has a bearing on rubber consumption, jumped from 8,500,000,000 gallons in 1925 to 22,000,000,000 gallons in 1940. Some figures to keep in mind when gasoline shortage is mentioned today.

In general, guayule rubber has the same qualities and characteristics as plantation tree rubber, except that it has a high resin content, about 20 per cent, compared with 4 per cent in tree rubber.

The first manufacture of rubber footwear outside of the United States took place in 1856 in Scotland.

No More Dust Bowls

The production goal for farmers for 1944 will set an all-time record but there is no need to tilling the land that might return us again to the dust bowl period and to a financial and social disaster. We do not need to destroy the grass areas in order to produce more grain. These should continue to produce cattle and the tilled crops cared for in sections not subject to erosions by wind and rain. We learned our lesson and do not intend to run into such a catastrophe again. Soil conservation has carried us forward. In order to practise that land that was once the dust bowl we must not remove the trees and grass, silt traps, to till it for crops. That ground must be covered for our own good, our soil defense program for the future. Because the droughts and dust storms might be just a memory, the inhabitants must not become careless and let go the precautions they have taken. We are a nation of farmers, that is the foundation of our country's wealth. Our land is the heart of our nation and without preserving it and protecting it we cannot live too long as a great nation. The vastness of the states is reason to believe that there is enough room elsewhere to grow crops. We can meet the requirements asked of us, to grow and plant on a gigantic scale, we aren't going to lose our heads however and endanger the future by permitting soil erosion to threaten the generations to come.

The Friendly Month
August has been the month for garnering grain, husking corn, the harvest humming in much of rural America. This holds true with regard to county fairs in many sections. The time is ripe for rural families visiting, calling on farm families to exchange views and cultivate old friendships. This year the visiting won't go on so far from home but it will mean that agriculture shows will get a following. What of an America without her county fairs! There will still be blue ribbons tendered finest cattle, best jelly, prettiest quilt. Who doesn't get pleasure in viewing the prize tomato, largest potato, craziest shaped squash?? Maybe we all have a certain amount of "country" in us, no matter how far we go from the farm or how cosmopolitan is our taste.
