Airplanes and Pilots in World War I, and Now

Our army and navy had only 55 planes when the United States entered the first World war. And 51 of these had been pronounced obsolete by the advisory committee on aeronautics.

The Allies had, all told, about 700 planes at the start. At the close of the war, Great Britain had 14,000, France had 12,000 and the United States, 10,000. At the war's end, Germany had about 11,000.

In 1914, there were only about 1,000 trained pilots in the world. Four years later there were more than 100,000. Today there are more than a quarter of a million.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

A chain of rest stations is rising across northern Brazil along the route of workers trekking into the Amazon Basin gateway of Belém to increase collection of wild rubber. They provide medical aid and other human comforts to the 50,000 additional workers being recruited for the Amazon rubber forests.

The rubber normally used in one month's manufacture of baby pants can make 2800 rubber lifeboots for ocean-going planes.

A check of 7,200 farm-owned trucks showed that only 25 per cent of the tires on them were good; 54 per cent were fair; and 21 per cent were in poor condition.

Allies' Italo-Balkan Moves Factor In Baffling Axis on Invasion Plans; U. S. Moves to Solve Corn Shortage; Russ War Stepped Up on Orel Sector

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

MEDITERRANEAN:

Balkan Powder Keg

The summary closing and opening of the Turko-Syrian frontier within a 48-hour span by the Allied command had presaged new and important military moves, as the Mediterranean area from Italy to the Balkans had tensed for oncoming action.

Increasing evidence that the Axis' much-vaunted Balkans bastion might be a powder keg instead came in the form of reports from Ankara that Rumania had sounded out the Allies on armistice terms. From Ankara, too, came steadily mounting proof of Turkey's closer friendship with the United Nations. The appointment of Brig. Gen. Richard G. Tindell as American military attaché in Ankara and the dispatch of a contingent of Turkish fliers to America for special training were significant steps in this direction.

Reports from Axis sources had reflected increasing official bafflement over the Allies' next moves. After telling its listeners of "many landing craft concentrating from African coasts toward Pantelleria and the massing of a million troops for an Italian invasion," the Rome radio had broadcast a report that "large British forces were concentrating along the southern frontier of Turkey."

Observers for months had known that large numbers of Allied troops had been training in Syria. Lying in the eastern corner of the Mediterranean, Syria offered an effective base for operations against Crete, the Italian-held Dodecanese islands, Greece proper or other Axis points in the Balkans.

BUREAUCRATS: Congress Compliments

The much-criticized home front government bureaus were given a friendly pat on the back and a virtual clean bill of health when the house appropriations committee approved appropriations of $2,939,441,504 for 18 civilian war agencies, including the Office of Price Administration and the Office of War Information.

In making public its highly complimentary report on the work of these agencies, the committee admitted that mistakes had been made and will be made, but denounced those who criticize "without knowledge of the tremendous burdens thrown on agency heads and of the great strides made in putting the United States on a war footing."

"The type of criticism that serves only to create public distrust in the agencies is not helpful to the war effort," the committee's report said.

OIL PACT: Navy Cancels Deal

The tempest over the navy department's contract with the Standard Oil Company of California for operation of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve subsided when Secretary Frank Knox announced cancellation of the agreement.

The decision to cancel followed a legal ruling by the department of justice that the proposed arrangement exceeded the authority granted by law, a navy announcement said. Norman H. Littell, assistant attorney general, testifying before the house public lands committee, said that a department report sent to the White House had concluded that the navy's agreement with the oil company was "illegal and invalid."

Colonel Knox declared that his own investigation of the agreement established that "no improprieties had been employed by either party to the negotiations."

CORN: '42 Loans Called

First steps in a program to solve the increasingly serious corn supply situation came when the government formally called loans on 47,000,000 bushels of 1942 crop corn effective July 15. The government had previously used deliveries of grain through liquidation of 1938-41 loans to restore the operations of two closed-down processing plants.

The corn loan move was described as "only an immediate palliative, not the final answer to the problem," and it was stated that efforts to find a solution would continue.

The government's action came as the War Food administration and Commodity Credit corporation received a request from the Corn Industries Research foundation for either complete lifting of federal price ceilings on grain or the imposition of ceilings on hogs. Meanwhile J. B. Hutson, director of the Commodity Credit corporation, said that 25 million bushels of privately owned corn in grain elevators would be seized for plants manufacturing by-products for war uses, unless "crops can be moved off farms."

RUSSIA: Orel to Forefront

A stepping-up of land activities was reported on the Russian front with especially heavy fighting reported in the Orel sector. Here, Russian troops defending a strategic newly won bridgehead were reported to have beaten off eight German counter-attacks.

It was reported that strong formations of Soviet planes had broken up German formations supporting Nazi tank and infantry units. The Germans, however, were reported bringing up reinforcements in an effort to forestall the possibility of Russian flanking movements against Orel, strategic Nazi-held base midway between Moscow and Kharkov. Heaviest fighting was reported in the vicinity of Mtsensk, 30 miles northeast of Orel.

Russian air forces continued their efforts to disrupt Nazi supply concentrations by striking at four railroad junctions over which German supplies and reinforcements must move for the Bryansk-Orel-Smolensk area. The junctions were Roslavl, Ucheha, Vladislavka and Novozybkov.

PACIFIC: 13-to-1 Record

With all indications pointing toward major sea and land engagements looming in the Pacific, air activities still held the center of the war stage in this theater.

Most dramatic of all engagements was that fought out over the Solomons when American planes shot down 77 Jap aircraft over Guadalcanal while losing only six of their own. This 13-to-1 score turned in by American combat fliers in the Solomons who have heretofore included army, navy and marine pilots was regarded as the best ever recorded in a single air action anywhere.

But Allied planes were not idle elsewhere. Liberator bombers made their second heaviest raid of the war on Jap-held Kendari, on Celebes island, 850 miles northwest of Darwin, Australia, damaging airdromes and destroying planes parked on the ground.

In China, a military spokesman for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek charged that the Japanese again were employing poison gas in their operations in Suiyan province. Meanwhile Chiang's forces claimed new successes, including the recapture of strategic towns south of the Yangtze river.

SHIRTS: New York laundries indicated that the dirty shirt may become fashionable there when they announced they would not accept more than 5 shirts per family a week.

BATTLE COST: The conquest of Pantelleria cost the United Nations only 40 airmen, Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemyer, chief of the U. S. air staff, reported.

TRANS-OCEAN: Munitions Minister C. D. Howe announced that a Canadian transatlantic air service will soon be started, carrying mail and official passengers overseas.

AMITY: Argentina desires to draw close to "the great republic of the United States" in every way possible, Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell, war minister, declared.

TAXES: 50 Billion Goal

Secretary Henry Morgenthau disclosed that the treasury would trim its request to congress for more new taxes down to $12,000,000,000 instead of the $16,000,000,000 originally planned. Nevertheless, this would be enough to raise the public's overall tax bill during the 1944 fiscal year to $50,000,000,000.

Declaring that the Treasury's goal was to pay half the annual war costs "as we go," Mr. Morgenthau estimated that this goal is $4,000,000,000 less than President Roosevelt's January budget objective.

Treasury recommendations for raising the additional revenues were slated for submission to congress before its proposed summer recess.

RATIONING: Eight New Plans

Louis J. Kroeger, OPA rationing official, disclosed that eight new rationing programs are being prepared by the Office of Price Administration and may be instituted within the next year.

Mr. Kroeger told a house appropriations committee that two of the ration plans will be placed in force immediately, but that six others, including coal rationing, are contingent on directives from other government agencies. The two programs definitely scheduled cover cooking and heating stoves, and a new system of allotting foods to all types of institutional users, including hotels and restaurants, which will not affect consumers directly.

Except for coal, the other prospective rationed items were not listed, but Kroeger said they included goods for which the government officials see a definite possibility of shortages in the next fiscal year. Eggs; milk and other foods have been mentioned recently by government food experts as possible candidates for rationing.

RUSS-POLES: Postwar Assurances

Assurances of Soviet aid in restoring a strong and independent Poland after the war were given by Premier Josef Stalin of Russia.

Stalin's promise was contained in a message sent to the first Congress of Polish patriots in Russia who told him that "we will not allow persons who strive to drive a wedge between the Polish people and the Soviet union to trouble the water."

Observers noted that the Polish government-in-exile had no part in the exchange of amenities between the two peoples. Russia recently broke off diplomatic relations with General Sikorski's group in London, because of charges by the Poles of Russ executions of Polish army officers and counter-charges by the Soviets of pro-Axis espionage by the Poles.

EUROPE: Air Blitz Continues

Even as English King George V was inspecting the Allied armed forces in North Africa, air forces of the United Nations were preparing for the war's next decisive move by softening-up forays against Axis positions from western Europe to the Eastern Mediterranean.

In a single six-day offensive, British and American bombers hammered destruction on nine different major German cities. These included Cologne, Dusseldorf, Munster, Wilhelmshaven, Cuxhaven, Bremen, Bochum, Kiel and Oberhausen. Heaviest assault was reserved for Cologne, industrial capital of the Rhineland and the third largest city in the Reich.

In the Mediterranean, American and British bomber fleets swarmed over Sicily, attacking five major Italian air bases and maintaining a day-and-night marathon of disaster to the Axis. The Allied fliers attacking Sicily reported tough fighter opposition and strong anti-aircraft fire, contrasting sharply with the lack of Axis opposition over Pantelleria.

PAYROLLERS: 300,000 Cut Urged

Charging that the government payroll has more than tripled since the First World War and that the government could get along with 300,000 fewer employees, a joint congressional committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures recommended that the Civil Service commission act to eliminate unnecessary personnel.

"Wasteful personnel practices," a committee report said, should be prevented by a complete reorganization of personnel servicing and management functioning.

The beneficial effects of a merit system during the past two years, the committee charged, "have been impaired and federal funds have been wasted through the negligent attitude of personnel officers and operation officials."

WAR GOODS: Allies Double Axis

How United Nations' war production is forging fast ahead of the Axis was told by WPB Chairman Donald Nelson.

The United Nations, he informed a house appropriations committee, are now producing $125,000,000,000 worth of arms and war supplies a year—almost double the Axis rate of $65,000,000,000. He said that American military production will reach a peak rate of $90,000,000,000 a year in 1944.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

For a spring dessert how about rhubarb shortcake? Serve rosy rhubarb sauce over slightly hot biscuits made with a bit of sugar added to flour.

When stubborn particles of meat and vegetables stick to the inside of the grinder, run a small piece of dry bread through the grinder. The bread acts as a chaser, and saves work in the dishpan.

Mayonnaise used on sandwiches should be thick enough to prevent its running out at the sides.

One-fourth teaspoon lemon juice added to each cup of heavy cream will hasten whipping.

The setting of a jelly can be hastened by placing the mold in a pan of cold water.

A cloth dipped in linseed oil and wiped over a polished surface will improve the appearance.

Frozen meats should not be thawed before cooking. Soaking them to hasten defrosting impairs the flavor.

A piece of wax tied in a rag, and rubbed over the hot iron before ironing, will help it to run along smoothly, and prevent its sticking.

Use Woven Rags for Rugs and Cushions

MANY an American of pioneer background can remember when all the floors in the house except the parlor were covered with woven rag rugs and carpets. Today the local weaver with a rug loom is flourishing in many communities.

The modern weaver has an assortment of colors in warp and filler that may be used with the rag that you have prepared in the manner shown here. About one and three quarter pounds of sewn rags will be required for a square yard of carpet. Rugs may be either cotton or wool but do not use both in the same rug. The rags should be soft and clean and hems or uneven finishes should be removed. Dye white rags the colors you wish to predominate.

NOTE—It is possible to make a great variety of floor coverings from odds and ends of things on hand. Books 9 and 10 of the series offered with these articles contain fascinating new designs for hooked and braided rugs. In Book 7 there is a rug made from old felt hats and school pennants. Books are 15 cents each. Order booklets direct from:

Use a Water-Bath for Canning Tomatoes, Fruits (See Recipe Below)

Try Canning!

Many homemakers who have never done so before will be hard at work doing some old-fashioned "putting up" this summer. Not only will it be economical to put up your own Victory garden's surplus, but also it will be a vital step in stretching those precious points next winter.

Canning's simpler today and much of the spoilage that occurred formerly can be prevented if the homemaker checks the causes of spoilage. There's a reason for every type of spoilage, and what's more important, every one of them can be prevented if she's careful.

First, it's not smart to use left-over produce that you wouldn't eat at the table. Select only prime fruit and vegetables in perfect condition. Best quality goes into commercial canning, and so it should for home canning. Get out into the garden early in the morning to get vegetables and fruits and can immediately, or if you market, tie a bandana on your hair and go out early in the morning to get your produce while it's still fresh.

Cleanliness is another important factor. Remember that food spoils for other reasons than that the jar is not air-tight. More spoilage than you ever dreamed of can result from not washing the food properly and discarding bruised or imperfect vegetables and fruits. Be sure to peel the food, if it is to be peeled, so that no dirt and the bacteria that lurk in it get rubbed in the product as it is peeled.

Work as quickly as possible with the food once it's started on its way to the can. Flat sour, which occurs in vegetables, can often develop in vegetables, for example, if the jars in which the pre-cooked food is placed stand too long before processing. Too much delay in handling food from one step to the other may cause a great loss of vitamins and mineral.

Do as much preparation ahead of time as possible like checking equipment and getting together jars which are examined for imperfections and nicks. Wash all jars and caps in soapy suds (not in cool dish-water after the breakfast dishes!) and scald or sterilize them.

Select Day for Canning. If there's a huge quantity of food to be canned, it would be a good idea to round up as many friends and neighbors to help, and to do the canning on a community basis. In many towns, pressure cookers which

- Your Canning Shelf
- *Tomatoes
 - *Beets
 - Green Beans
 - Spinach
 - *Peas
 - Corn
 - *Recipe given

are necessary for canning non-acid vegetables, are available at the canning center. Then, if all produce must be canned in a single day, it will be necessary to recruit as much help as possible from others in your community and give them your time when needed.

Canning day should be canning day only, not laundry day, general cleaning and baking day, too. It's better, too, not to be overly ambitious and try to do three bushels of tomatoes, all in one sweep, for you will do better with a small quantity, and feel less tired, even though it may take several days in which to finish.

Processing Foods.

Fruits and vegetables need processing which means the application of heat to the product for a certain definite period of time. You just can't put fruit into jars, seal and store and expect them to stay in perfect condition.

Water-Bath Method.

In some cases, when pressure cookers are not obtainable, a water-bath may be used for vegetables and meats. However, the water-bath is more preferable for tomatoes (which are acid, and technically a fruit) and fruits.

To make a water bath, use a large wash boiler or deep vessel fitted with a rack made of laths, perforated material or galvanized wire. Have a tight fitting cover.

Place prepared jars on the rack which must hold them at least 1/2 inch above bottom of the canner. The water bath should be filled with boiling water which comes at least an inch or two above the tops of the jars. Jars on the rack should not touch each other. Start counting processing time as soon as water around jars begins to bubble, and keep it boiling during entire processing period. If necessary, add boiling water, if it boils away, for the water must always be boiling at least an inch above the tops of the jars.

Here are some recipes for common fruits and vegetables:

Tomatoes. Scald tomatoes in boiling water 1 minute. Soak in cold water 1 minute, peel, core, quarter and pack into clean, sterile jars. Add no water. Add a teaspoon of salt to each quart of tomatoes. Put on band and screw band firmly tight. Process in hot water bath for 35 minutes.

Peas. Shell, grade peas, using only prime quality. Pre-cook 3 to 7 minutes depending on size. Pack loosely, adding hot water to within 1 inch of top. Adjust cap and process in pressure cooker, 60 minutes at 10 pounds, or 180 minutes in hot water bath.

Beets. Use small, uniform beets. Wash carefully. Leave the roots and stems long. Boil 15 minutes. Plunge into cold water, remove the skins and pack into clean jars. Add 2 teaspoons of salt and sugar mixture to each quart jar if desired. Fill to within 1/2 inch of top, with boiling water. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in hot-water bath 120 minutes or in pressure cooker 40 minutes at 10 pounds.

STORING PAINT

A reader has sent in the following: "When preparing a partially empty can of paint for storage, first clean all paint from the sealing surfaces of the can and lid to insure an airtight closing of the lid. To prevent the trapped air in the can from evaporating the paint solvent, shake the can vigorously for a few seconds to saturate the trapped air thoroughly with the solvent. Thus, when the can is stored the air cannot absorb any more solvent and film cannot form. Stand the can upside down for storage, so that the joint around the lid will be sealed.

Condensation on Walls

Question: Some time ago my stucco house was brick-venered. No air space was left between the walls. During rainy or humid weather the walls sweat and stain the wallpaper. Is there a preparation which can be applied over the plaster to prevent sweating? If so, can the walls be painted or papered over this solution?

Answer: No kind of paint will stop the condensation. The answer to your problem is insulating board applied over furring strips to provide the air space that now is lacking and to minimize differences in temperature. It will help to dry out the air of the house if you leave the fireplace damper open during rainy weather. Additional ventilation also would help.

Turning Circle for Cars

Question: What is the minimum diameter necessary for a turning circle in front of our house to accommodate any type of car? We plan to make an island in the center containing an old millstone.

Answer: For large passenger cars the radius of the outside curb should be 28 feet, and the radius of the inside curb 16 feet. This will accommodate small trucks.

Finish for Shingles

Question: The wood shingles on the walls of our house were put on ten years ago and now are in need of attention. One painter advises restaining, another suggests painting. Which do you recommend?

Answer: After ten years the stain undoubtedly is weathered out of the wood, and the shingles either can be painted or stained. The choice of the finish is up to yourself.

Fireplace Plans

Question: Where can I get plans for building a stone fireplace for a frame cottage?

Answer: I do not know of any publication for this. But you can get ideas by looking over back issues of Better Homes and Gardens, American Home, and similar publications, which have many illustrations of fireplaces. You can see back issues at your public library.

Oil in Flue Passages

Question: I have heard that spraying the flue passages of a boiler with oil will prevent rusting during the summer months. But won't this oil cause an explosion when the heat is turned on in the fall?

Answer: Not unless the flue passages are soaked too heavily with oil. Running a low fire for a half hour or so will evaporate the surplus oil.

Remodeling

Question: Where can I get leaflets on the remodeling of old houses?

Answer: Send five cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., and ask for Farmers' Bulletin No. 1749, which has the title "Modernizing Farmhouses." You can also get information from your local office of the Federal Housing administration.

Preparing to Paint

Question: I wish to paint our window frames on the outside, and am rather pressed for time. The frames are quite dirty. What is the quickest way of cleaning them so that I can paint them immediately after?

Answer: It might be enough just to brush the dust off. If not, you could use a wire brush and wipe with turpentine.

Cracked Boiler

Question: Can a crack in a cast-iron boiler be welded satisfactorily?

Answer: Yes, it can be. You can get a mechanic with a portable welding outfit to come and do the job. Inquire of a heating contractor, a steamfitter or a plumber.

Protecting Tools

Question: How can I keep my tools from rusting? I keep them in both a metal and wooden toolbox in a damp basement.

Answer: After using, rub them all over with vaseline. Before using again, wipe well.

Ducks Grounded, Millions Die; Beavers to Rescue

Wild ducks are temporarily "grounded" in late summer of each year, usually in August. At this turn of the season the young have not yet learned to use their wings and, in molting, the mature birds have lost their propelling wing feathers.

Some years millions of ducks die during this period when nesting grounds suffer drought and birds are stranded away from water. Beavers often come to the rescue... save thousands of ducks by damming up outlets to lakes or streams.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's aims at the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

We'll Win

"... Our Country." Each day the news from battle fronts all over the world bring news of brilliant victories of our army and navy.

But how about the home front. Are we winning over here. We hear stories of how the Axis is cashing in on our demoralizing strikes, race riots, etc.

In May, Jefferson County failed to reach her quota in War Bond Sales and in June we are not doing much better.

What excuse can we offer for this failure? Income tax? No. We have always paid an income tax, not so much in former years, but we did not earn so much in former years.

Our banks are bulging with deposits and still the sale of War Bonds, the Best Buy on Earth goes begging.

And in this case, George just wasn't there. It's strictly up to all of us to get into this fight and win.

Colleges Carry On

The first full year of instruction in the country's schools and colleges is coming to an end and we see youth exclaiming campus togs for military regalia in many cases.

Many colleges have offered war courses and the college campus has been abloom with uniforms of various and diverse branches of the service.

Every American on this fourth of July has a son or a brother, a sweetheart or a husband, a relative or a friend, in the services, and each of us realize that it is up to us on the home front to keep production going to a maximum on the farm and in the factory.

Keep Busy

One good reason, if no other, for keeping busy, is that there isn't much time left for finding fault with folks and perhaps that is the answer.

The bombing of Germany by the allied air forces is seriously crippling German war-making power.

Japan and Germany are being kept so busy repelling attacks that we in this country scarcely realize how fortunate we are in being able to mobilize all of our war-making power free from attack.

Small Business

Going deeper into war manufacture we have had a better understanding of the three fields that have been prospering, such as labor, agriculture and large industry, some mildly and some wildly.

The situation changes back and forth here in Washington. One week we hear that fathers with children will be drafted beginning in August.

Of course, there is nothing definite on the subject. It all depends upon how many men are needed for the services.

Present prospects are for near-record oat production in Wisconsin this year, according to the Crop Reporting Service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture.

Weather and planting conditions in the state this spring were favorable to the oat crop. At the beginning of the month reports from Wisconsin farmers indicated that the crop was in far better than average condition.

June 1 estimates of oat production in Wisconsin indicates that the crop may be over 103 million bushels, which would be more than three million bushels larger than the 1942 production.

Widespread use of the high-yielding Vicland oats will again be a factor in the larger prospective production.

Oat production in Wisconsin this year, if present prospects materialize will be 37 percent above the 1932-41 average while the acreage will be only one percent above average.

The oat acreage this year is estimated at 2,582,000 acres, about 150,000 acres above the 1942 planted acreage and 20,000 acres above the average acreage for the 10 years 1932-41.

Senator Wiley

In a few days we will celebrate the birthday of the nation. On the Fourth of July in 1776 a resolute group of farmers, lawyers, and small business men wrote their names to the document called the Declaration of Independence.

At that time the nation consisted of thirteen colonies along the Atlantic seaboard with a population of about three million—about the same population as now lives in Wisconsin.

We have come a long way since those days when there were no airplanes, radios, railroads, cement highways, steamboats, autos, gasoline engines, telephones or telegraphs.

But there were thinkers in those days—folks who thought clearly, who loved liberty and justice and who dedicated their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor, carrying out that Declaration of Independence.

Since that eventful day, America has grown to become the foremost nation of earth and the British nation whom we fought then has now become our ally in a world struggle.

Every American on this fourth of July has a son or a brother, a sweetheart or a husband, a relative or a friend, in the services, and each of us realize that it is up to us on the home front to keep production going to a maximum on the farm and in the factory.

We know that if production breaks, the boys on the front line won't have the wherewithal to fight and there will be more Bataan and Corregidor. With adequate production of war materials and food, there will be more victories and peace will come.

With God's help we will carry on through to victory, making sure that our children and the children of America for all time to come will possess and enjoy liberty and freedom.

The bombing of Germany by the allied air forces is seriously crippling German war-making power.

The Pennsylvania miners in going back to work averted a very serious stoppage in the production of much needed war material.

Japan and Germany are being kept so busy repelling attacks that we in this country scarcely realize how fortunate we are in being able to mobilize all of our war-making power free from attack.

In the Far East our equipment in the air and on the sea is superior to that of the Japanese. Japan is beginning to feel seriously the blows which are being struck at her.

Italy is quaking in her boots. It is highly questionable whether she will be able to take the punishment which is now being imposed upon her much longer.

Though the war outlook appears brighter, we must remember that for a long time it appeared very bright for Hitler. Therefore, we must not let up in our efforts to win through to a speedy victory.

The situation changes back and forth here in Washington. One week we hear that fathers with children will be drafted beginning in August.

Of course, there is nothing definite on the subject. It all depends upon how many men are needed for the services.

July Fourth, 1943

Perhaps it was a bit different then the way we celebrated the Fourth of July. A lot of messages were brought to the public from platforms of oratory, many campaign speeches were furthered from stands festooned with bunting, freedom cited in heroic epics from Concord through Cornwallis, the school children squirming as the ceremony went past comfortable "sitting time." Whether the meaning of the day dealt with our struggle for political independence, as it originally did back in 1776, or whether the day signified that the human race should be free and not slave, made the event enough for remembering. Then Independence Day was a firecracker holiday with all the trimmings. There will still be the speakers who will draw a number of listeners, still oratory regarding the necessity of unity for a united people in a United States among United Nations. True liberty-loving people will continue to pursue their right to happiness even though gas rationing may keep them from attending a July Fourth celebration. We may not be observing the holiday this year, sticking to the drills and lathes as the factories cry hurrah by turning out the weapons that are used to make future independence a certainty. Maybe the yearly 4th of July picnic has been called off because the automobile has gone to war and so have many of the drivers. But what of it, this curtailment of picnics, lack of public speeches, restriction of cars on the highways? In the hearts of all of us, stamped in letters of red, white and blue, sounding notes as loud as firecrackers, soaring in spirit as high as clouds over Bataan and Corregidor, floundering victorious through a jungle mud, writing in blood, still beats the cry, throbs the urgent plea for liberty for all, unity and no substitutes. This is the way today, we celebrate the glorious Fourth, and deeper imbedded in all of us is the reverence for what this day stands.
