Child Welfare Council

The Waukesha County Council for Child Welfare met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Burton, Eagle, and elected several officers for a two-year term. They are: Mrs. Charles Schuele, Oconomowoc, first vice president; Mrs. Allen D. Young, Waukesha, recording secretary; Mrs. Wm. Kuntz, Merton, treasurer; Miss Mary Lowere, Delafield, auditor; Mrs. Earl Parsons, Menomonee Falls, historian.

Mrs. Henry Yuds, Sussex, who was elected last year as president for a two-year term, presided, and named her standing committee chairmen; health, Mrs. W. Howard Price, Bethesda; Welfare, A. T. Jacobson, Menomonee Falls; Hospital, Mrs. Allen D. Young, Waukesha; publicity, Mrs. W. A. Freehoff, Waukesha; prizes, Mrs. Winston Brown, Pewaukee; finance, Mrs. William Kuntz, Merton; membership, Mrs. Charles Schuele, Oconomowoc; sunshine, Mrs. James Connell, Pewaukee; seal sale, Mr. Robert Probert, Dousman.

All members of the board sent in these various are working earnestly for Waukesha County.

The treasurer reported a balance of $1,748.43 and reported that Miss Clara Schwandt's budget from June, 1942 to January, 1944, is $1,080, and Miss Harriet Bakers budget for the same period, $1,100.

Miss Schwandt who is county children's worker, and Miss Baker, who is county nurse, reported on their work. Miss Baker reported that four townships have completed their immunization program: Lisbon, Menomonee, Brookfield, and New Berlin. She stressed the hope that the remaining townships will follow shortly. The council is giving $10 to each township that completes the plan.

The Baby Clinics held at Dousman and Muskego regularly and sponsored by the council have been a great success.

Mrs. Brown announced that 153 prizes are being given to schools and pupils for their outstanding work in seal sales.

Eagle residents were asked to give brief memorials to Mrs. Louella Parks Edwards, a resident of Eagle up to the time of her death and who was the founder of the County Council for Child Welfare. The secretary read an obituary which Mrs. Burton wrote at the time of Mrs. Edwards' death. The budget for the coming year was named the Louella Edwards Memorial Fund in honor of its founder.

Among guests Tuesday was Mrs. Engelbreton, Lac La Belle, only woman of the county board. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Burton and her co-hostess, Mrs. G. G. Fitzgerald.

The next meeting will be July 20 with Mrs. A. T. Jacobson and Mrs. Earl Parsons, Menomonee Falls.

Hens Need Pasture

"Forty years ago we were noticing just a salad, in the summer poultry bill-of fare.

Forty years ago we were noticing that a little green feed improved the poultry ration. But since then we've learned that pasture is, in fact, the whole backbone of summer feeding," explains Barry Hayes, University of Wisconsin poultryman.

He estimated that 90 percent of Wisconsin's flocks have access to some sort of green feed or another. "But I doubt if 10 per cent of our poultrymen realize that the pullet doesn't just 'mince'; she grazes, like cows, sheep and other pastured stock."

Green feeds are rich in vitamins, something not to be overlooked. But right now they're even more important for the protein they supply. Pasture supplements soybean oil meal and livestock products as a high-quality protein, Hayes observed. As for cost, it has no competitor among these other feeds.

The Wisconsin poultry authority reports that growers have saved up to 20 cents on each feed dollar through pasturing the flocks.

He is recommending that feeders be moved frequently when the flock is on pasture, to keep the chickens ranging. The colony house or range shelter should be moved to avoid bare spots around it.

An acre of good range will carry about 200 growing pullets, and is worth $30 for this number, Hayes estimates.

Save Kitchen Fats

Housewives of Jefferson county are reminded that there is urgent need for waste kitchen fats. In Wisconsin, the household fat and grease program is lagging seriously, and for that reason every housewife in the state is asked to save at least one tablespoonful each day. Strain the waste fats, put in a container and place in a cool place until you have saved enough to make it worthwhile to turn in to your meat dealer or any authorized collection depot. Many of the leading meat dealers in Jefferson county now have attractive window displays. The new salvage posters point out the need for more waste fats.

It's the patriotic duty of every housewife to save household fats and grease. So, lend your support to this program, and you'll be playing an important part in the war effort.

Even Cupid Is Living Up To the Rules These Days

Being of a very kindly nature, the foreman of the munition plant took a great interest in the love affair of one of his pretty "munitionettes."

Then one day he was surprised to hear that it was broken off. But that very evening he was even more surprised to see the young lady in question out with the newly discarded young man.

"Why, Doris," he said chidingly, "I thought you had finished with that young man. And here you are out with him."

"That's right, I have," was the reply from Doris; "but I had to give him seven days' notice, didn't I?"

Colored Concrete Floor

Question: In coloring a concrete floor for a sun parlor, is it best to mix powdered coloring with the concrete when the floor is made, or to wait until the floor is finished and then paint it?

Answer: If the right kind of coloring is used, powdered color mixed with the concrete when the floor is made is permanent and will not wear off. However, the color should be of a special kind that is proof against the effects of lime in the cement. Lime-proof colors are on sale and should be insisted on. They should not be used in a greater proportion than 10 per cent of the weight of the cement. For a floor that is not in contact with the earth and therefore permanently dry, color can be had with ordinary top quality floor enamel. The manufacturers' instructions should be carefully followed. A penetrating dye made for the purpose can also be had.

Damp Walls

Question: My house is stucco on hollow tiles. The wallpaper in many places shows wet spots the shape of the tiles. What can I do about it?

Answer: The inside plaster is evidently applied directly to the tile, instead of being applied on lath or furring strips. The plaster therefore, becomes as cold as the tile, and the wet spots are due to condensation. The only real way to cure the trouble is to replaster the house, using lath on furring strips, or a form of insulating board, to be had at a lumber yard, to be applied over your present walls. No form of paint or any outside treatment will do, for neither one will provide the insulation that is necessary.

Broken Birdbath

Question: What will mend a broken birdbath? The bowl cracked in the frost. What will stick it together so that it will hold water?

Answer: Bring the bowl into the house so that it will dry out. Then coat both sides of the break with white lead paste and bind the parts tightly together. After hardening, which will take three months or so, the joint will be watertight. If you do not want to wait as long as that, and a yellowish tinge of the cement makes no difference, make a cement powdered litharge and ordinary glycerine. This acts quickly and is thoroughly waterproof when dry.

Removing Wallpaper

Question: Can wallpaper be removed from plasterboard?

Answer: That could be done by soaking with water, but using no more water than will be needed. If you use too much, you may soak off the paper finish of the plasterboard. At best, the plasterboard surface will be left rough. To smooth it, put on a coat of shellac, which in drying, will stiffen the paper surface of the board, which can then be rubbed smooth with sandpaper. It is then ready for papering.

Sagging Floor

Question: In an old house that is to be remodeled, the floors are sinking and buckling, apparently from crumbling foundations. How can they be strengthened? Is the situation hopeless?

Answer: The trouble may start with poor foundations, which can be renewed by a good mason. Trouble may also be from the rotting of sills, beams, and other wood parts, or from termite attack. The case is by no means hopeless. Consult any good contractor.

Porch Floor Supports

Question: In a stucco house the frame and stucco porches are supported on piers even with the surface of the ground. Wood under the stucco touches the ground and has begun to rot. If the wood is replaced by concrete, must the foundation be deep? The piers now extend below the frost line.

Answer: Evidently the piers are made of concrete or masonry, and could be used as supports for beams of concrete. Foundation walls would not be needed.

Waxed Floors Get Dull

Question: What is the best way to care for my waxed floors? They lose their shine so quickly after being waxed and polished with an electric polisher.

Answer: Perhaps you have used too much wax. Remove it, then apply two thin, even coats, polishing each one well after hard-drying. Frequent waxing should be necessary only at doorways. For the rest of the floor, twice a year is enough. Frequent use of the electric polisher will keep the floors looking well.

There's a Parting There

This story, told in a letter from a soldier in Africa, makes one smile:

"One of our men, posted near an African village, was on lone duty when a darky native came to his camp.

"The native was admiring the hair parting of my soldier friend. Would the white soldier make a parting for him?"

"Being at a loose end, the soldier tried his hand at it; but, try as he would, he could not part that matted darky head. At last he got out his razor, and, to the darky's delight, he shaved a parting for him!

"Reaction to this was that early next morning there were 10 darkies at the camp wanting 'a shaved hair parting, sah.'"

AROUND THE HOUSE

After you have removed old wallpaper, wash the walls with warm water to remove the old paste. Rinse slightly and let the walls dry perfectly before putting on the new paper. This extra work pays.

When soil in which house plants are potted, becomes more like clay than loam it may be lightened by adding sand to it. Plants grow best in this kind of soil.

To separate lettuce remove the core, then let water from faucet flow into the head until pressure of water forces leaves apart. If still firm let head stand in cold water to cover.

Ground or chopped meat needs much colder storage and keeps a shorter time than other meat.

Glass Lifeboats on Way? Will Float Indefinitely

Lifeboats built of glass have been made possible by the discovery of a new type of glass which floats like cork. It is called foamlite, and it is claimed that it could be an alternative for cork, balsa wood, cellular rubber or kapok.

The new glass can be sawn or drilled with ordinary tools. Because of its closed-cell structure it will not absorb water and will float indefinitely.

It is produced by fixing ordinary glass mixed with a small quantity of pure carbon. At a certain temperature the glass softens and the carbon turns into a gas—very much as baking powder or yeast behaves when bread is being baked. By proper selection and exact temperature control, it is possible to obtain rigid slabs in which the cells are uniformly small and entirely sealed.

Sew-On Chair Covers
In the Smart Cottons

SEW-ON covers of chintz or other smart cottons are always neat and trim and, since the pieces are all sewn to the old upholstery of the chair with rather long stitches, it is not difficult to remove the cover for washing or cleaning. If washed at home it is much easier to handle separate pieces than an entire slip cover.

A sew-on cover should be pinned with a 4-inch tuck-in around the spring seat and 1-inch seam allowances. Use tailor's chalk to mark stitching lines and indicate pieces to have welting stitched to edges. Here, welting is used for the side seams of the inside center back section; across the front of the seat; for the top and bottom of the outside; and all around the front of the arm sections. The sketch shows how welting and unwelting pieces are sewn in place. The welting hides the stitches if you use heavy duty thread matching the cord covering.

NOTE—The new BOOK 10 of the series of booklets offered with these articles gives other valuable pointers on making both sew-on covers and removable slip covers. BOOK 9 gives directions for repairing the springs of chairs before covering them. BOOK 9 and 10 are 15 cents each. Send your order to:

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Attu Victory Brings U. S. Nearer Tokyo; Flood Damage Menaces Food Production; Labor Stirred by Lewis Bid to AFL; Churchill: 'Bomb Jap Cities to Ashes'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Feted from one end of the country to the other for his exploits in shooting down the record number of 26 Jap planes, Marine Capt. Joseph Foss received from President Roosevelt the Congressional Medal of Honor for "outstanding heroism and courage above and beyond the call of duty." Photo shows, left to right: President Roosevelt; Mrs. Mary Foss, mother of the air hero; Captain Foss and his wife, June, adjusting the medal around his neck.

ALEUTIANS: Tokyo Gets Nearer

The Japanese government had prepared the civilian population of Nippon for the fall of Attu through the medium of a report indicating that the last defenders of the Aleutian Islands outpost were making a death stand against attacking American troops.

While the Japs were singing their Attu swan song, reports from Washington had disclosed the strategic moves that had succeeded in bottling the enemy up. Two American columns, landed on opposite sides of the island, had joined and trapped the Japs on a narrow front on the northwestern end of Attu.

Japs Warn Reds

As American air power thus moved closer to Tokyo, the Japs showed their unrest. Apparently the success of Allied bombings of Germany had stirred the Japanese government to the dangers ahead should the United Nations be permitted by Russia to use Siberian bases.

The result was a Tokyo broadcast reported by the British warning Russia that "if in the future she ever put her Siberian bases at the disposal of the United States, the Japanese army will resort to a blitzkrieg and will deal upon her the heaviest blows Russia has ever known."

AFL TO LEWIS: 'Come Back Home'

Unpredictable John L. Lewis knocked at the door of the American Federation of Labor carrying in his hand an application for the readmission of his United Mine Workers. Just eight years before he had torn the parent union asunder in the greatest labor schism in history. That the door would be opened wide to the errant Mine Workers was evident from AFL President William Green's announcement that the federation's executive council was considering Lewis' application in an "orderly and sympathetic way." Green said he personally welcomed the miners and reminded the public that for seven or eight years he had said the latch string was out and he wanted the miners "to come back home."

What effect Lewis' move would have on the present peace negotiations between the AFL and the CIO which Lewis founded and later quit, was not immediately evident.

EUROPE: Air Blasts Continue

In the wake of ebbing flood waters that had swept disastrously through Germany's industrial Ruhr valleys from the Eder and Moehne dams, shattered by RAF bombs, American Flying Fortresses inflicted further punishment on the Nazis in attacks on submarine and shipbuilding yards at Kiel and Flensburg, 40 miles away.

Air Force communicantes said the unescorted bombers had left both targets in flames and shot down many enemy fighter planes that had tried to ward them off.

FLOODS: Peril Farm Output

Ruined crops, inundated cities, damaged homes and casualties from drownings resulted from the disastrous flood that started in Midwestern farm states and spilled south from rivers and streams flowing into the Mississippi river.

As emergency crews and troops had toiled to check the rise of flood waters and hold down damage from breaks in Mississippi river levees protecting rich farm lands and war plants, weather bureau officials attributed the flood to unprecedented May rains.

In Illinois alone the continuing rains had destroyed 100,000 acres of corn, wheat and oats. Other states reported serious crop destruction were: Indiana, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma. The flood losses represented a critical threat to the nation's epochal wartime food production crusade. The damage resulted not only from crops already in, but from serious delays in planting corn and other vital cereal crops.

CLOTHES: May Avoid Rationing

Rationing of clothing and other textiles may be avoided as a result of plans worked out between officials of the War Production board and retail clothing dealers, it was announced in Washington.

Under the new plan the WPB will make possible increased production of more essential types of clothing and textiles. At the same time retailers have promised to develop certain practices and develop new methods designed to relieve pressure on the industry.

"We believe we can avoid clothes rationing and other textiles this winter and perhaps indefinitely, if we get adequate support from the public," said an official statement.

CHURCHILL: 'Hitler First; Japs Next'

War to the death on Japan, but defeat of Hitler first was the recipe for complete United Nations' victory prescribed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his historic speech before congress.

Answering congressional critics who predicted that Britain would leave the burden of defeating Japan to America, Mr. Churchill pledged the empire to war side by side with the United States "while there is still breath in our bodies and while blood flows through our veins." He promised, further, that British air power will join with American to bomb Jap cities and war industries, adding: "In ashes they must surely lie before peace comes to the world."

He defended present United Nations strategy founded on the judgment of President Roosevelt, himself and their military advisers that "while defeat of Japan would not mean the defeat of Germany, the defeat of Germany would infallibly mean the ruin of Japan."

Greater aid for both China and Russia were promised by Churchill.

GAS CRISIS: Middle West Next?

As the gasoline supply crisis mounted along the Atlantic seaboard, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown decreed a complete ban on pleasure driving in 12 eastern states, part of another and in the District of Columbia.

The states affected by the ruling were Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. In addition eight eastern counties in West Virginia were affected.

Previously the OPA had sought to curb nonessential driving through a voluntary "honor system."

That additional restrictions loomed ahead was indicated by Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, who said that the East would have to cut its gasoline consumption still further and that new restrictions may be put into effect in the Middle West so that some gasoline may be diverted from there to the seaboard area.

FOOD CONFERENCE: Postwar Goals Outlined

Continuance of food rationing after the war, the creation of a global agricultural commission and the assurance that the people of the world will be better fed in the postwar period were among goals agreed upon by delegates representing the "big four" of the United Nations—the United States, Great Britain, China and Soviet Russia—attending the food conference at Hot Springs, Va. In addition the delegates were said to be in agreement on declarations advocating continued agricultural expansion throughout the period of post-war relief, on a statement favoring the reduction of world tariffs and on educational measures to promote better nutritional goals.

Although no binding agreements linked the delegates, Paul H. Appleby, undersecretary of agriculture and acting chairman of the American delegation, said that representatives of 44 governments attending the conference had come forward with offers of co-operation.

FARM IMPLEMENTS: Bigger Output Ahead

Production of farm machinery in 1944 at an estimated rate of 80 per cent of the average annual output in the 1940-41 period, and unlimited production of repair parts was approved by the War Production board.

Release of the official order awaited completion of a farm-to-farm check being made by the War Food administration to determine specific machinery items needed by 6,000,000 farmers, Paul Henry, head of the WFA's production equipment branch, revealed.

Concentration of the farm equipment industry previously ordered in a WPB directive, is to be eliminated. Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, announced that "concentration is a dead duck." Thus large farm equipment manufacturers whose sales are over $10,000,000 are permitted to come back into production.

RUSSIANS: Reds Press Hard

Even as former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies was engaged in conferences with Russ Premier Joseph Stalin in furtherance of his second and historic mission to Moscow, Red armies were reported by the Germans to have launched major attacks on four points along a 1,100-mile section of the Eastern front from the Volkhov sector to the Kuban valley in the Caucasus.

In the Caucasus campaign Red army troops shattered two Nazi attacks, according to a Soviet report, and blasted 14 boatloads of Nazis attempting to retreat over the Kuban river.

In the vicinity of Novorossisk, last remaining Axis bridgehead in the Caucasus, Russian forces continued their pressure, breaking up Nazi tank assaults and tightening their offensive ring around the key city.

CANNED FOODS: More for Civilians

Civilian supplies of canned fruits and vegetables will be increased by approximately 30,000,000 cases from the 1943 pack because of reduced military demands for these commodities, the War Food administration announced.

Whether the new allocation would result in a lowering of point values for canned goods was not known. Officials said this would depend on the size of the 1943 fruit and vegetable pack.

What is the most welcome gift you can send to a man in the service? Well, surveys among service men themselves show that one of the favorite packages from home are cigarettes. And first choice among men in all the services is Camel, based on the actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens. Though there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are.—Adv.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Considering cost of oil, gas, tires and upkeep, it is estimated that the cost of driving the average car for 1000 miles at 45 miles per hour is $22.03. At 25 mph the cost is cut to $14.38 and at 35 mph it is held to $17.58.

Malaya and the Netherlands Indies were the only sources of natural rubber in the world which had been successfully exploited to an important extent prior to the present war.

Rubber and gas rationing did not drastically cut motor truck operations last year. Official figures show that during 1942 trucks hauled an estimated 48 billion ton miles of freight on main rural highways, compared with 46.7 billion in the more normal 1940.

Overheard a discussion in Palmyra of the revival of the art of letter writing, due to the increase in correspondence, during the war. This may develop or it may be that the thing is temporary and that we will return to the telephone or telegraph afterwards.

A Week of the War

Last week was a relatively quiet one in the war. The battle for Attu Island entered its final phase. Allied planes kept up a steady rain of bombs on Axis Mediterranean ports and European production centers.

When the week opened, the trapped Japanese garrison on Attu had been split up into three groups—Isolated pockets harassed continually by low flying American fighter planes.

The Japanese have fought back, but their retaliatory bombing raids have had little effect on the American advances. Secretary of War Stimson, holding a press conference in Washington, said these attacks were carried out with bombers which appeared from and departed for the West, and suggested that the planes were operating from bases in the Kurile Island group.

Incomplete reports of American casualties in the struggle for Attu show 127 killed, 399 wounded and 118 missing, Secretary Stimson, in giving out these figures, said Japanese losses were believed to be heavier.

Bad weather, which aided the Americans in their initial landing subsequently hampered their progress in the campaign, interfering with naval artillery and aerial bombardment. The army has been advancing steadily under conditions of sleet and snow, but freezing temperatures and heavy fog have prevented the full use of supporting air power.

The heavy pounding of Allied bombings was inflicted over and over last week on Italy's most important ports. Harbor installations, supply centers, rail and road facilities, airfields, warehouses, ships, in Sicily, Sardinia and Italy felt the destructive might of Allied planes.

After several days of limited activity, forced upon them by bad weather, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's allied fliers, using one-ton bombs, raided the Japanese bases at Lae and Madang, and attacked a long stretch of the New Guinea coastline.

Twenty-eight tons of explosives and fire bombs were dropped on Lae, on Huon Gulf along the Northeast New Guinea coast. Fires visible 75 miles were set in supply dumps and direct hits were scored on two grounded enemy planes. The planes at tree-top height strafed Japanese installations with 12,000 rounds of machinegun fire.
