With the resignation of four of our teachers, Palmyra School is teeming with conjecture and rumor as to what will happen this fall when school is again opened. We hope the situation can be straightened out without the necessity of curtailment of grades as some seem to think will happen. In these times, with gas rationing and the need for education more than ever before a must on the child program we should regret the loss of a single high school grade in our school. In an interview with Mr. Sullivan of the school board, Mr. Sullivan said that he was very optimistic about the replacement of teachers that may leave.

Uncle Phil Says:

A MAN needs two kinds of brains. One to say witty, brilliant things and another kind to keep him from saying them in the wrong place.

Once the foresighted farmer planted his watermelons in the center of the cornfield, but with all those airplanes overhead—where now?

If the time doesn't suit you, suit yourself to it.

As a man thinks, so he is, therefore some people never are.

A woman is always perfectly sure she is right until it comes to backing up her opinion with money.

It is only the very rich who are emphatic about the futility of riches.

Some men are known by their deeds—others by their mortgages.

Animals Not Stuffed

Despite their appearance, many animals in museums are not stuffed, says Collier's. In the American Museum of Natural History in New York city, for example, all the mammals in the North American Hall, including bison, moose, elk and musk oxen, are mounted on hollow forms and are so light in weight that they can be lifted easily.

Hooked Fish

Fish suffer little if any pain when they are hooked, for there are very few nerves about the jaw which could cause the sensation of pain. Some trout have been known to be hooked two or three times in the same day—by anglers using the same type of bait.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allies Tighten Tunisia Trap on Axis; Russ Offensive in Caucasus Menaces Germans' Bridgehead at Novorossisk; FDR Envisions Postwar Youth Service

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Adm. William F. Halsey, commander of the U. S. naval forces in the South Pacific (right) is shown as he conferred with Hon. Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to the U. S., following Nash's arrival at Allied headquarters recently. Nash visited Halsey during an inspection tour of Pacific islands in which New Zealand troops are active.

TUNISIA:

Smooth Teamwork

Irresistibly the Allied offensive in North Africa had rolled on toward Tunis and Bizerte.

Like well-co-ordinated teams the various commands performed their tasks. Principal objective of the British First army had been the Axis last mountain barrier before the plain of Tunis in the Medjez-El-Bab sector. Chief assignment of Lieutenant General Patton's American troops had been the overwhelming of three enemy hill positions on the road to Bizerte. And although the American forces ran into heavy counterblows in their enveloping tactics around Mateur and Tebourba, they had continued to drive ahead.

While these two strategic movements were being carried out as a prelude to a combined Allied assault, French troops in the south executed a maneuver that had cut the Pont-du-Fahs-Enfidaville road and exposed the flank of the Axis troops facing General Montgomery's Eighth army.

While the Germans faced the inevitable decision of final surrender or annihilation their commanders were using every possible device to slow down the Allied advance. Resistance against the British First army had stiffened sharply at the crest of Bou Aoukak mountain, overlooking the valley to Tunis.

RUSSIA:

Battles in the Air

While Berlin reports announced that a large-scale Russian offensive had been undertaken against the Nazis' Kuban bridgehead in the Caucasus, Moscow communique said that aerial fighting was the principal activity along the far-flung front.

This aerial activity had various significances on various sectors. In the Caucasus, the Russian strategy was to wear down Nazi air power and thus enhance the Red army's efforts at dislodging the Germans from their bridgehead around Novorossisk.

In east Prussia, Red aerial bombing assaults were directed at breaking up concentrations of German troops and supplies being prepared for Hitler's spring invasion.

REFUGEES:

U. S. - Britain to Aid

Plans to ease the plight of war refugees in areas outside of occupied Europe and to reject any measures that might involve bargaining with Germany were believed by observers to have been embodied in a set of recommendations agreed on by delegates to the Anglo-American conference on refugee problems, held in Hamilton, Bermuda.

Observers indicated that the conference's recommendations include the temporary relocation in Africa of 80,000 refugees now in neutral countries until the end of the war, as well as provisions for the feeding and care of refugees unable to leave neutral countries.

TRAINING:

For Postwar Youth

The idea that the youth of America, making use of industrial plants and military camps might well give a year's service to their government in the postwar era was advanced by President Roosevelt.

Declaring that his recent inspection trip of war activities had convinced him that the armed forces and the home front factories are in their stride, the President said he was wondering what could be done after victory is won, with camps and plants in which millions have been invested. While he had no specific program to offer, he emphasized the benefits in physical condition and mental alertness that men and women in service and war-work uniforms had realized in the last few months. He indicated he thought their training should be extended to all young men and women in some form after we win the war.

Any program that might develop, he said, probably would be only partly military.

COAL SHOWDOWN:

FDR Moves Swiftly

Blunt had been President Roosevelt's warning to John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, to end the tie-up in the nation's soft coal fields.

The need for blunt action, however, had been clearly evident, for even at the moment the President had threatened to use his powers as commander in chief to prevent interference with the war effort, 75,000 miners already were on strike and a walkout of the entire 450,000 bituminous miners had been threatened.

Terming the miners' walkout as "strikes against the U. S. government itself" the President said that such action was clearly a violation of labor's "no-strike" pledge.

JOBS VS. PAY:

Essential Shifts OK

As the War Manpower commission extended its employment stabilization program to the entire nation, workers anywhere in the United States were permitted to shift from one essential job to another at higher pay, provided such transfers "enhance the war effort."

Previously such job shifts could take place only in 70 areas covered by the WMC's regional stabilization programs. The commission's action was taken after representatives of organized labor had protested that job transfers under the former regulations favored workers in the stabilization areas at the expense of workers in other regions.

Under the new plan, any worker in an essential industry may transfer to a higher-paying job in another essential industry if he obtains from his employer, from the U. S. employment service office in his area, or from his local WMC office, a "statement of availability" which declares that his transfer will benefit the war effort.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

CHORES: Smith college students will be called upon to give one hour's service daily, without remuneration to the college in the hope of eliminating the necessity of an additional fee to meet rising cost, President Herbert Davis announced.

BEER: A beer rationing system limiting purchasers to 36 pints a month has been decided upon by the Ontario liquor board.

MEMOIRS: Paul Reynaud, former French premier now lodged in a small dark cell in a prison in the Pyrenees is spending his time writing memoirs.

MARKSMANSHIP: Allied medium bombers scored a direct hit on a 2,000-ton Japanese vessel in the Arafura sea, north of Australia, the United Nations headquarters announced.

WITHHOLDING TAX: Painless Extraction

Soothing words to taxpayers faced with rising federal levies were spoken by Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee who declared that the 20 per cent withholding provision of the pending pay-as-you-go tax bills "will not result in a single extra dollar being taken from the taxpayers' pocket-book."

"The proposed 20 per cent withholding is only a method of collecting currently all or part of the taxes imposed by the existing tax laws," he said.

Mr. Doughton said that from some persons will be withheld more than is needed to pay their taxes and from others, less. Refunds will be made later if too much has been withheld.

"All salary and wage earners will be called upon to file a regular income tax return on March 15," he said. "The amount which has been withheld from their wages will be credited against the actual tax owed."

RUSS-POLES: Issue Is Territory

Issue Is Territory

Territorial differences came to the fore as the principal issue at stake in the Polish-Soviet controversy, although the break in diplomatic relations had been caused by a demand of the Polish government-in-exile for an investigation of the alleged massacre by Russians of 10,000 Polish troops in the Smolensk region.

In a statement which neither opened nor closed the door to reconciliation, Premier Sikorski affirmed the Polish government's policy of aiming at friendly relations with Russia, but challenged the Soviet's right to claim the western Ukraine and western Belo-Russia.

The Poles demand a return of the eastern part of the territory they ruled before their 1939 collapse. The Russians who took this land over, and were in turn routed by the 1941 German invasion, say that the land is historically theirs.

Whether the controversy could be breached remained a problem for United Nations' chancelleries to worry about.

ALEUTIANS: RCAF Joins Raids

American airmen keeping up their marathon bombing tactics in the Aleutians were joined by Canadian pilots flying U. S. Warhawk fighters in attacks on Jap-held positions on Kiska.

Whether the bombings were a softening-up prelude to American land and naval action against the Aleutians or a diversion to hamper enemy activity observers did not know. But they were unanimous in their opinion that any assault on the Jap-held Aleutian positions would be considerably more difficult than had the American offensive against South Pacific Guadalcanal.

A naval communique said that the continuing raids, made by Liberator and Mitchell bombers and Warhawk and Lightning fighters scored damaging results on the main camp area and runway on Kiska.

MASSACRE: Japs Ape Nazis

Employing the same terroristic technique that their Nazi partners had used in massacring the inhabitants of Lidice, Czechoslovakia, Jap troops slaughtered every man, woman and child in the coastal areas of China where many of Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's fliers had landed after the bombing of Tokyo.

This latest sequel to the Japs' execution of some of the American fliers captured after the raid was related by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, in an address in San Francisco.

Reports covering the Chinese "Lidice" were received from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who declared that the Japs had reproduced on a wholesale scale the horrors which the Nazis had inflicted in Czechoslovakia.

BOOM: Postwar View Bright

A potential era of "unparalleled prosperity" faces the United States as soon as the war ends, the department of commerce reported.

"The major potentials," the report said, "will be present the day after victory is won—employment on an unprecedentedly high level, the greatest productive plant of all time, national income at a peak hardly dreamed of in pre-war years, with a large accumulated savings and an unmeasured demand for goods denied to the consumer by the war's exactions."

One "big problem," the department asserted, is to prepare now to so manage these factors as to translate potentials into realities, adding that this is "primarily the job of private enterprise, aided and supported by government."

TEEN-AGE: Workers Aid War

More than 3,000,000 boys and girls between 14 and 18 years of age will hold full or part-time jobs this summer, Katherine Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the department of labor, said.

Miss Lenroot urged local communities to protect the health of boys and girls of high school age who are combining school with part-time jobs, working through vacation, or entering full-time jobs.

Smart Dual-Purpose Blanket Chest You Can Easily Make and Cover

A SMARTLY founced blanket chest with contrasting cushion seat as a convenient seat; and extra covers are right at hand on chilly nights.

Plan the size of your chest to fill your needs and space. It may be made of one-inch pine and should be about 17 inches high without the cushion. Make the founce with double fullness—that is, twice as long as the space it is to fill after it is gathered. The cushion may be filled with cotton padding, feathers or down.

If your time is limited cut the vegetables into smaller pieces than usual; they will cook more quickly.

Since crisp cookies and crackers soften if kept with bread and cake, keep them in airtight tins or boxes of their own.

Youth Took Lesson to Heart With Feet Down!

"Charles," said the sharp-voiced woman to her husband on the train, "do you know you and I had a romance on a train?"

"Never heard of it," said Charles. "Don't you remember it was a pair of slippers I presented to you the Christmas before we were married that led to our marriage? You remember how nicely they fit, don't you? We were going to a picnic, you had your feet on a seat, and when you weren't looking I took your measure. But for that pair of slippers I don't believe we'd ever been married."

A young man sitting opposite with a girl, immediately removed his feet from the seat.

When armored knights met, it was customary for each knight to raise the visor of his helmet as a means of identification. This gesture has come down through all armies in the form of the salute. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. With men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard, actual sales records in their service stores show that Camel is the favorite. It's one of the favorite gifts with service men. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

Watch Your Kidneys!
Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood... But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than waiting. Doan's Pills, Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Floors Have Darkened

Question: I have hardwood floors that are about six months old. They were shellacked. When the floors were new I applied paste wax on an average of once a month. The floors are now beginning to darken. Will you let me know the best method to restore the floors to their original color?

Answer: The floors have been overwaxed, and the thick layer of wax has picked up dust and dirt. To clean the floors, moisten a piece of cheesecloth thoroughly with liquid wax (not self-polishing) and go over the floors with this, turning out a clean part of the cloth frequently. Work with clean cloths only. Then apply a thin coat of paste wax and polish the floors by rubbing well. Floors should be waxed about twice a year. Around doorways it may be necessary to do this more frequently.

Chimney Cleaning

Question: My furnace burns anthracite coal and I have a wood burning fireplace in frequent use. How often should the chimneys be cleaned? What is the best way?

Answer: The burning of hard coal does not leave much of a deposit in a chimney. For your fireplace, open the damper and hold a mirror in such a position that the length of the flue is reflected in it. You should be able to judge whether or not the chimney needs cleaning. Cleaning is usually needed once every three or four years. For cleaning, close the opening of the fireplace with a piece of heavy canvas or otherwise. An old tire chain is then let down the top of the chimney and swung around as it descends. This will scrape off all soot and any possible loose obstructions.

Ready-pasted wallpaper is proving a boon to homemakers during these days of shortage of all types of labor. Applying the wallpaper is simply a matter of unrolling it on the wall.

Rough Farm Road

Question: I have a road leading up to my farm that is about three-tenths of a mile long, all upgrade, and about eight feet wide. It is of gravel and deeply rutted from previous traffic and now has a high crown, which makes travel difficult. I would like your opinion on the best and cheapest way to put the road in condition.

Answer: The road should be leveled off and made smooth. In some communities you can get a road contractor with road equipment who could do this work properly and quickly. After smoothing the road, an asphalt binder should be put over the gravel. Your local road commissioner can give you the names of road contractors and makers of asphalt binders.

Radiator Size

Question: What is a formula for determining the correct size of a steam radiator for a room?

Answer: One formula allows one square foot of radiation for each two square feet of glass, one square foot of radiation for each 20 square feet of outside or exposed wall, and of each 20 feet of cold ceiling, and one square foot of radiation for each 200 cubic feet of contents. Increase this by 25 per cent for a north or northeast room. This formula is only a foundation; it should be varied according to house construction and to local conditions.

Magazine Feed Boiler

Question: Will you give me your opinion of a magazine feed boiler using buckwheat coal on a one-pipe, hot water heating system?

Answer: It is an economical and satisfactory type of boiler, requiring little attention. Make certain, however, that the boiler is large enough.

Her Own Bolero

IT'S true, not every little girl can boast a bolero dress of her own! This one is something very special with its heart-shaped neck, huge pockets and bow-tied belt. The bolero itself might be worn with other dresses.

Pattern No. 8207c is in sizes 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 years. Size 4 bolero and dress take 2 1/4 yards 35-inch material; 4 yards rick-rack.

It's handy to have someone hold the skein of yarn on outstretched arms while you wind it into a ball. But if no one is present to perform this service for you, simply slip the skein over the lamp shade, loosen the top screw, and wind away. The shade will turn as you wind.

Is the number of your house clear and plain to the passing public? Perhaps it needs a freshening up with some black or gold paint and that is all that is wrong with it. Friends, delivery boys, and letter carriers will all appreciate a plain, easily found number. In some suburban districts the number is painted in white on the curb, making deliveries a simple matter.

If there is a tear in your lace curtain, tack tissue paper over it, loosen the tension on your sewing machine, and stitch back and forth across the paper both ways until it is covered. A strong durable mesh will result. Paper may easily be removed when the curtain is laundered.

The best coat linings are made of slippery material which will help to get the coat on and off easily.

Stirring air into hot food during cooking or sieving increases vitamin destruction by oxidation.

Hitless Ball Games

Of the more than 27,000 major league baseball games played since 1920, only 21 were hitless and only one man, Vander Meer, pitched two, and both in the same week for the Cincinnati Reds, says Collier's. The first was against Boston on June 11, 1938, and the second was against Brooklyn four days later.

60 Was Basic Number
Unit in Ancient Babylon

The ancient Babylonian numerical system had 60, not 10, for its basic unit, reports Dr. George C. Cameron, University of Chicago archeologist who has been deciphering thousands of clay tablets.

While 10 can be factored evenly only by one, two, five and itself, the Babylonian unit had the advantage that it could be factored by one, two, three, four, five, six, ten, twelve, fifteen, twenty, thirty and itself.

25 Tons of Violets for One Ounce of Perfume

Ever since the dawn of civilization woman has used perfume as an allure. At one time, when baths were looked upon as both unhealthy and ungodly, perfume was a necessity, but since then women have used it as an added attraction, something that accentuated their femininity.

Some of the best perfume came from France, Italy and the Balkans. In those countries perfume-making was a very important trade, and millions of roses, jasmine, violets, and other flowers were harvested. These were bruised, boiled, and pulped until they had given up their oils.

The petals were boiled in water, the steam caught and condensed, and the essential oils skimmed from the surface. It was an expensive process, too, for it took 3,500,000 roses to make one quart of pure perfume. One ounce of pure violet perfume was the result of the compression and pulping of 25 tons of blooms.

A certain fat is used in the process, but the composition of it is kept secret by the distillers.

When the oil was finally extracted it was very strong, and a single ounce of it would be sufficient for many thousands of bottles.

That was the reason pure perfume was so very expensive, but scientists have discovered how to make synthetic perfume that smells just as nice and lasts just as long.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT

Airplanes now transport workers and supplies to South American rubber forests in hours. Until war placed rubber on the "have not" list in the U. S., weeks and months were consumed in carrying supplies to the rubber tappers.

When one considers that for more than 20 years car and truck owners were encouraged to abuse their tires, through various forms of road hazard guarantees, it must be acknowledged that a laudable patriotism is being shown by them now in conserving their rubber supplies.

Remember the days when 20 pounds pressure per cross section inch was the standard inflation recommendation for rough riding and flats were the order of the day.

A new highway has been constructed to the Merapeta gold mines in Peru. But rubber is the most important item being carried over it.

A Week of the War

Allied forces in Tunisia have taken most of the important hills protecting the way into the coastal plain around Tunis in a full-scale offensive that has brought the British about 20 miles from Tunis. The British Eighth Army has advanced from the South against stiff resistance, as the Americans have come within 25 miles of Bizerte. Thousands of land mines planted by the retreating Germans were cleared by United States forces as they captured Sidi Nsir.

The battle line which stretched from Djebel Dardys on the North, where the Americans took three hills, to Djebel in the South, was rapidly contracting as the Axis armies retreated under heavy infantry and tank attacks of American, British, and French troops. Although there are no signs of collapse, the enemy has been forced to make withdrawals from his most heavily fortified positions, and the Allies have kept up destructive air raids on troop concentrations and ammunition dumps behind the enemy lines. In a spectacular battle, Allied aircraft intercepted a convoy of 20 huge Merseburg-323 transports each capable of carrying 120 men and shot down all of them.

General Eisenhower's headquarters reported that Axis losses in Tunisia from January 1 to April 15 included 66,000 killed, wounded or captured-250 tanks, 3,000 vehicles, and 425 guns destroyed or captured 1,754 planes destroyed, 278 probably destroyed, and 586 damaged -- a total of 2,618 put out of action. Losses at sea were also great. It was reported that a single United Nations submarine flotilla had sunk 85 Axis ships in the Mediterranean since November 8.

IN THE PACIFIC Canadian airmen joined Americans in raids on Kiska, strong outpost of the Japanese, which was bombed 142 times in April. The largest of the Ellice Islands, Funafuti, has been occupied by United States forces. It is about 450 miles south of the Gilbert group where the Japanese have heavy fortifications. Date of the occupation was not revealed, although it was announced that the marines had taken the island without resistance.

Chungking declared that the Japanese had advanced as far as Yuki-kwen in Southeastern Shansi.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

The Polish cabinet meeting in London, drafted a reply to Russia which was couched in moderate language and left the way clear for the British and Americans to attempt to restore normal relations between the Soviet and the Polish government in exile.

Russia suspended diplomatic relations with Premier Sikorski's government over a German propaganda story that the Reds had executed 10,000 Polish officers.

Saboteurs are active in Europe. Norwegian patriots blew up four ships and a lighthouse in Oslo Harbor. It was reported that an attempt had been made on the life of the Nazi governor of Warsaw and that there had been a wave of attacks on Nazi soldiers in Greece.

WEEKLY DIGEST

From March 15 to April 15, Wisconsin women contributed 12,599 pounds, or more than a quarter million pairs, of nylon and silk stockings to the war effort, the War Production Board says.

They'll be used in the manufacture of parachutes for the air forces and powder bags for the big guns. Collections of waste fats and greases dropped slightly in Wisconsin during March, but are expected to increase during April, WPB says.

March collections totaled 165,414 pounds, compared with 167,645 in February. The state is far behind its monthly quota of 478,500 pounds, WPB points out.

Appointment of Phil Henry Griffin, Ladysmith local board chairman, as district director of the Office of Price Administration at LaCrosse completes the new setup under which Wisconsin, except for 10 northwestern counties, was divided among district offices at LaCrosse, Milwaukee, and Green Bay. District boundaries extend across state lines at some points.

Operators of commercial vehicles are reminded by the Office of Defense Transportation to report to their ODT district office by May 5 any equipment unused during the last 14 days of April.

Dollar and cent ceiling prices have been placed on war model overalls, overall jackets, and dungarees, OPA announces. Retailers, as well as canners and wholesalers, are required to take an inventory of the affected items when a change is made in the point value of rationed foods, OPA says.

The OPA's continuing battle against rising prices in Wisconsin was highlighted by a court action at Manitowish, where the Green Bay district office obtained its first injunction against a violator of ceiling prices. The injunction was issued against a Two Rivers butcher.

Seventeen Wisconsin residents are included among a total of 104 persons certified by the Regional War Labor Board at Chicago as panel members to hear labor dispute cases. The OPA announces that new 1942 passenger automobiles of the $2,500 class now may be purchased without a ration certificate.

Motorists must display gasoline ration stickers plainly on windshield or car window, OPA warns.

We'll Not Forget

The horrible part of the war, atrocities, come to us in force with the disclosure of the Japanese executions of some of the American flyers who raided Tokyo. And there will still be people who will say propoganda. If the Japanese acknowledge these killings as a method of keeping America from raiding Tokio again, then the Japanese aren't well acquainted with the American disposition for instead of frightening us it will have the opposite effect and we are apt to undertake some spring cleaning over that way that will make the Nips more uncomfortable. This case does prove one thing, to those who have not faced the war squarely in the path--that we are dealing with criminals, unprincipled enemies with the Germans and the Polish, Russian and Yugoslav prisoners, the Japanese with our American flyers. Those who suggest we deal with the Japanese by treating our prisoners of war in the same manner, are placing us in a class with the butchers. What good is to be as bestial and cruel as they who committed the crimes? No, to pawns, rather than to the ring-leader who committed the crimes? No, our way must be to work that much harder for victory, to buy more bonds, work at our lathes that much longer, build more strongly, in order to bring to trial those guilty ones that they may stand before a world court be judged and punished for their blood acts. This is the civilized, democratic way. Our nation will not forget, and we warn against any further inhuman acts to our boys.

Weekly News Digest

A GREAT AMERICAN IDEAL

It took us a long time to build a memorial to Tom Jefferson. It was dedicated last week on the 200th anniversary of his birth. Perhaps one reason why it took so long to build this memorial was that it is harder to recognize ideas than deeds.

Washington and Lincoln, for example, made dramatic contributions but Jefferson's contribution was an ideal. Jefferson began a great tradition. He refused to accept the 18th century ideas as he believed that man was a rational animal. Consequently, he believed that government must recognize the sanctity of the individual.

That meant that governments had to derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. That meant that government had to be responsible to the popular will. It meant that government could exercise only the powers conferred on it by a sovereign people.

That was an explosive idea and today we fight to give it new strength. Our Centennial celebration of Jefferson's birth brought us back to the great tradition, brought us back to fight against tyranny out of which we were born.

That fight continues today and we are renewing our faith and our strength and our courage out of the spiritual resources of the past. Jefferson believed in the people. He never believed that government could supplant the people.

The federal government helps in the solution of our problems, but its help is only partially effective. The answer to our problems is found back home. That is where democracy functions. Freedom cannot be conferred on any people. Freedom is a capacity for self-government. It grows as it is used. It does not come from an all-powerful government.

Perhaps the greatest influence which will come from this war will be a revitalization of the great Jefferson tradition. The Jefferson tradition is a dynamic factor in world history today. His legacy is reviewed today at a time when millions of people are reaching for freedom.

Jefferson's idea that government must operate only with the consent of the governed and that government is set up for the good of the individual members of society is a golden thread running throughout American history. It was appropriate that a memorial to Jefferson was dedicated in Washington in the midst of a great struggle to maintain the basic ideals in which he believed.

INFLATION FIGHT ON At a time when the Treasury launched its new securities sale drive, the Chief Executive issued a hold the line anti-inflation order which drastically curbed the power of the government agencies to grant price of wage increases.

The new order virtually freezes prices and directs Price Administrator Brown and Food Administrator Davis to take immediate steps to place ceilings on all commodities affecting the cost of living and to reduce prices which are excessively high, unfair, or inequitable.

The OPA has already overhauled some of its controls to bring them in accord with the new hold the line order. SECOND WAR LOAN DRIVE The second war loan drive designed to raise 13 billion dollars began last week and the goal for sales to non-banking subscribers was set at 8 billion dollars.

The idea in setting this goal was to absorb an equal amount of excess income in consumer purchasing power which might otherwise force up prices. If a large proportion of these government securities go to private investors, and are paid for by current income - then the drive is a success.

If the Commercial banks take most of the offerings, then the financing program will not be a success, regardless of how much money is raised. The reason for this is that the sale of government securities to commercial banks raises the volume of purchasing power in the form of bank deposits. That has an inflationary effect. It means that more money is made available for spending without a similar increase in the amount of goods available for purchase.

When securities are sold directly to private investors and are paid for out of private income, then no new purchasing power is created. The sale of securities to private investors means that funds are shifted from the bond buyer to the government. That means that the buyer has less cash to spend. This decreases the inflationary pressure. The Treasury recognizes this and has attempted to create a wide variety of security issues to meet all of the requirements of any investment group.

It is generally agreed that people should not be urged to sell their existing investments in order to purchase new government issues. The idea to utilize idle balances and to devote a larger percentage of current income to purchases of government securities.

THE PHEASANTS Thousands of pheasant eggs are being produced daily at the State Experimental Game and Fur Farm, Poyonette, incubators have gone to work, and the first of the pheasant chicks will be going to cooperators within the near future. Weather conditions have delayed the production of pheasant chicks but the farm is now approaching its full stride. In spite of war conditions sportsmen's grounds are carrying on with their pheasant programs and conservation department now has applications for practically all of the young birds that subjects to turn out.

Leonora straightened the objects on her desk with great care. She had put her desk at the end of her room facing the door so that when her mother came in she would have to cross the whole room under Leonora's stern executive eye to get to her. From movies and pictures in the newspapers Leonora had gotten a good idea of how the desk of a busy woman of affairs should look.

With an important scowl, Leonora picked up a sheet of paper. Now she was two people—herself, the busy woman, and her own stenographer. "Miss Simpkins, take a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, will you?" she murmured under her breath.

"Yes, immediately," she murmured back at herself. Leonora cleared her throat and looked at the ceiling for inspiration. Miss Simpkins bent over the sheet of paper hanging on the words about to fall. "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," — "Got that?" — "Yes, madam."

"I am — ahem — thirteen years old and anxious to be of all possible service to the country at this time, ahem! "I earn a weekly income of from $1.37 to $2.12 by helping with the housework and by shovelling snow. I am at present in possession of one War Savings Bond and am buying stamps weekly. I want to become a member of the 10 percent Club. I feel it to be — ahem — not only my duty, but my privilege? ("How do you spell privilege?" asked Miss Simpkins. "Don't bother me with these details," said Leonora)—my privilege as an American to invest at least ten percent of my income in War Bonds.

Yours truly,"
