

Celebrate Golden Wedding at Eagle

EAGLE — Some 50 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Breidenbach were married at St. Theresa's Catholic church in Eagle.

The couple recalled fond memories of the past years last Sunday during a golden wedding celebration at their home in Eagle where they have been lifelong residents.

"IT WAS LIKE being married all over again," they commented. "The original wedding attendants, the bridesmaids, and groom attendants were present at the celebration."

Out of town guests came from as far away as South Dakota. Fourteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren were present as well as the family of six children.

Mrs. Breidenbach, 75, and her husband, 76, were happy to see all the children there, three sons, and three daughters. It was almost a perfect marriage.

THE CHILDREN are now Mrs. Ole Boe (Margaret), Milwaukee; Mrs. Arthur Stocks (Evangeline), Eagle; Mrs. Roy Piper (Kathryn), Eagle; William Breidenbach, Warren Breidenbach, and John Breidenbach, all of Milwaukee.

Wedding attendants present were Mrs. Erney Hay (Kathryn Kramer) of Trent, South Dakota, maid of honor at the wedding; and Frank Breidenbach, Eagle, the best man.

Bridesmaids at the celebration were Mrs. Herbert Stikles (Rose Kamer) of Waukesha; and Mrs. Clarence Stubbs (Mary Kramer) of Whitewater. Groom's attendants present were George Breidenbach, Burlington, and Bernard Breidenbach, Palmyra.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Farmer Waxdollar, Flandreau, South Dakota; Mrs. Theresa Huston, East Troy; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boos, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. William Kramer, Fort Atkinson; and Mr. and Mrs. John Kramer, Rome.

Guests also came from Milwaukee, Waukesha, Sullivan, North Prairie, Mukwonago, and Eagle.

Butterfat Sales Increase Income of the Dairyman

(Editor's Note: The following is the third in a series of five articles on efficient farming in Wisconsin.)

MADISON — Wisconsin dairy farmers know that you "can't always tell by looking" whether a cow is a top milk producer.

But dairy farmers keep on looking for the best producers. And most of them rely on more than guess work on just how well the cows are doing. They keep careful records.

FARM management specialists at the University of Wisconsin have pretty well established that a farmer's income anced rations fed according to production. It also means a hay and pasture quality improvement program.

FINALLY production can be improved with better general management and care. Cows respond to good treatment, including proper housing, sanitation, and regularity in feeding and milking.

A farmer must raise some questions, just how far he should increase butterfat.

For example, as cows are fed for higher production, their response becomes less and less as increased units of feed are consumed. There comes a point where it costs
